Agnew In Formosa For Talks

SUN MOON LAKE, Taiwan (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek reviewed the security situation in Asia tonight during a private meeting at Chiang's mountain retreat.

Agnew came to this island bastion off the Chinese mainland to reassure Chiang that American overtures toward Communist China will not compromise U.S. defense commitments to Nationalist China.

The conference took place only a few hours after Agnew arrived on Taiwan from South Korea. It is the second stop on Agnew's Asian tour which will take him to South Vietnam, Thailand and probably Cambodia.

CHIANG VIEW

Chinese officials said Agnew asked Chiang Kai-shek to give his view of the world situation, particularly events in Asia.

Agnew in turn explained to the Nationalist Chinese president some of the domestic problems facing the United States, particularly the economic and financial ones, according to the officials.

Agnew also told Chiang that President Nixon "hopes before too long to have the privilege of visiting you." He did not elaborate as to whether Nixon was planning a trip to Asia in the near future.

Aboard his plane en route from Seoul to Taiwan, Agnew told reporters all American troops would be pulled out of South Korea when the South Korean Army is modernized, possibly within the next five years. In Seoul he told South Korean President Park Chung Hee that 20,000 U.S. troops would be withdrawn from Korea by next June, leaving about 45,000 on Korean soil.

"President Park understands this and he accepts it," Agnew said.

'BASIC ACCORD'

Agnew said "We reached a basic accord and I reassured the president that we intended to stand behind the mutual defense treaty of 1945."

Agnew's jet landed at Ching Cken Kang Air Base near Taichung, 110 miles south of Taipei. He shook hands with some of the 200 American military personnel at the base then drove to Sun Moon Lake for the meeting with the Nationalist Chinese president.

"After a rainfall, the soil is firm." This is an old Maryland expression which Agnew used to emphasize the solidarity between the United States and South Korea.

MARCH FOR RIGHTS — Members of Washington, D.C.'s National Women's Strike Coalition took to the street today in their demonstration for equal rights. As the picture was taken they were headed down Connecticut Avenue. It was all part of a nationwide call today for liberation of the "second sex." In Marin, women planned marches at the Northgate Shopping Center as well as the Civic Center.

San Rafael Sewer Work Is Tied Up

Spring Start Is Forecast; HUD Is Principal Holdup

San Rafael's sewer improvement project, for which voters on June 2 approved a $1,105,000 bond issue, will not get under way before next spring.

This is in spite of the fact that the city has been ordered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control District to complete the first three phases by Nov. 1 of this year. None of these three phases has yet been started.

The delay results from a combination of circumstances, but the principal holdup has been by the Housing and Urban Development Administration in approving a $289,000 federal grant to supplement the bond money. Approval has not yet been received, although city officials said today it "is expected any day."

Although the project will not be started until much later than proposed in the timetable approved by the water quality control district, it will be completed a year before that timetable ancipated, according to Ely Caillouette Jr., city engineer. And the earlier completion — along with the later start — will result from HUD requirements.

This, Caillouette explained, is because HUD requires that the entire project be done as one piece, rather than in a series of stages under separate contracts as had been planned by the city and approved by the water quality control board. It will mean that the whole improvement project will be done in 1971.

There are several "ifs" in the schedule.

First is whether the water quality control board will approve the late start as justified by earlier completion. It could insist that the city sell its bonds and get going on the project without HUD money. Caillouette said, however, that the district is being kept informed of what the city is doing and he expects no lifficulty from it.

Second is whether the bonds sell. The issue, as approved by the voters, must be sold at "approximately 6 per cent" interest. At the time the ballot measure was drawn up, City Mgr. James H. McCown said he had been assured by financial houses that San Rafael city bonds should sell at 6 per cent or less. Since then, interest rates have climbed a bit more, and McCown indicated

Novato Hikes Tax 24 Cents

The Novato City Council last night adopted with little discussion a final 1970-71 budget of $2,125,700, an increase of $6,000 over the preliminary budget adopted in July.

Changes in cost estimates reduced the budget $4,000 at one point, but $4,000 for termite control in city buildings and $6,000 for a special census recount in April 1971 were added to the budget.

The total tax rate for fiscal 1970-71 was set at 99 cents per $100 assessed valuation, an increase in the tax rate of 24 cents over last year's rate.

The rate includes 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation to finance the five-year street improvement program recommended to the council in the Aug. 18 meeting.

If, however, the voters approve a $3.25 million bond issue for street improvements — choosing to finance improvements with bonds rather than tax revenues — that 30 cents will be applied to bond interest and redemption.

The council last night adopted an ordinance setting the bond issue election for Nov. 3.

The council also approved a tax rate statement to inform voters of annual tax rates required to support the bond issue if passed: 25 cents per $100 in 1970-71, increasing annually to a high point of 48 cents in 1975-76 and dropping to 44 cents in 1976-77, first fiscal year after the last sale of bonds authorized.

San Anselmo Tax Rate Set At $2.35

The San Anselmo City Council last night set the tax rate for fiscal 1970-71 at $2.35 per $100 assessed valuation — an increase of 10 cents over last year.

The figure includes the maximum amount, $1.52 for the general fund, 18 cents for the library fund, 10.5 cents for the parks fund, nine cents for the recreation fund, 35.5 cents for the retirement fund and 10 cents for the storm drain fund.

The rate passed 4-1 with councilman Woodrow V. Capurro arriving at the meeting at 9:15 p.m., just in time to vote against the rate and read a prepared statement.

The former mayor accused the council of not providing for the best services at the lowest cost and avowed that the $2.25 tax rate could have been retained.

"As I said before budget hearings started, I would vote against any increase in the tax rate," he read.

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson also read a prepared statement, his defending the tax rate increase.

He said the average homeowner will pay between $120 and $125 in property tax to the city and pointed out the numerous responsibilities the city meets with the money.

Cutting back on local spending would lead to further encroachment on local government duties by state and federal governments with "the eventual emasculation and death of local government," he said.

He asked irate taxpayers to aim their blasts at federal and state bodies that have usurped the revenue sources.

Women March For Equal Rights; Protests Take On Varied Forms

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Demonstrations to free women from their "second sex" role got under way slowly today and emerged in varied forms.

In New York demonstrators passed out a parody of the New York Times—a product of the National Organization for Women, which was called the NOW York Times.

The columns contained an interview with "Nick Dixon," alleged head of a masculinist group, a movie review of a film rated "W", meaning women must accompany men, and a sports story by "Ruth Babe."

A noon program was planned by the NOW in San Rafael. Members of NOW have announced they will pass out pamphlets in the Northgate Shopping Center and at Civic Center. They intended to select a "prettiest supervisor" during their Civic Center tour in order to score the absurdity of beauty pageants, according to NOW spokesmen.

Some of the feminist strategy seemed puzzling. In Pittsburgh, four women pelted windows of a radio station with eggs before they drove off in a car. Studio officials said they were unable to figure it out unless they had offended some listenders by airing a feature called "Great Women in History."

Later, a speaker at a Pittsburgh suffrage rally told a cheering crowd of bra-less and blue-jeaned listeners that her group threw the eggs because a disk jockey "dared" them to try something on the air.

Women's Liberation devotees in Indianapolis, Ind., ran into a problem with the predominantly-male government of the city — no permit for their planned 15-minute street production entitled "Male Ego." They said they might stage it anyway.

Charlotte, N.C., women handed out leaflets in the downtown area, informing the public they were not calling for a strike, but for "educating women" about their problems.

Things got off to a free-swinging start Tuesday night when Dr. Edgar Berman —who has said women's physical differences from men might render them unfit for policy-making jobs —debated Dr. Estelle Ramsey, a professor at Georgetown University Medical School, a woman.

The woman said Dr. Berman is wrong. In fact, she said his theory is "like saying if my grandmother had wheels she would be a station wagon."

In Houston, a ladies group called the "Bow-Wows," gagged and bound male broadcasters Tuesday and "threatened to tear up their music sheets." They won time on KPRC radio from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. today.

Milder tactics were planned in New York City, where women said they received assurance from police they

Senate Refuses To Bar Defoliants In Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused today to bar further use in Vietnam of chemicals to destroy forests that shield Communist troops and crops that feed them.

Rejected was an anti-herbicide amendment offered by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to the $19.2 billion defense procurement bill.

After disposing of the Nelson amendment 62 to 22, the Senate looked toward a vote sext Tuesday on a proposal by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., to force U. S. withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1971. It appears destined for defeat. Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a long-time war critic, said today he would vote against it.

In the debate on Nelson's amendment to stop use of defoliants and crop-killing chemicals, he suggested that the United States was "endorsing the concept of starvation warfare."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, defended the practice.

"So long as there is any possibility that the lives of American boys, as well as those of our allies, can be saved by using herbicides, there can be no justification for arbitrarily depriving our military commanders of the option of selective application of this material," Stennis said.

Nelson charged, in a speech to the Senate, that the United States has embarked on an unprecedented war on the environment of Vietnam. He said in eight years U.S. troops has sprayed more than 100 million pounds of herbicides—roughly six pounds for every man, woman and child in

Wholesale Prices Drop This Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices have declined this month for the first time in two years, the government said today. A sharp drop in prices for farm products was cited as the reason.

The Labor Department said in preliminary estimates that wholesale prices declined overall by 0.5 per cent in August although the key industrial commodities index rose by 0.2 per cent.

Wholesale prices for farm products, which rose 1.6 per cent in July, fell 4.5 per cent in August, officials said.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said that with seasonal factors taken into account, the wholesale index had dropped 0.2 per cent this month.

With seasonal factors figured in, the drop in farm product prices was placed at 2.5 per cent.

The rise in the industrial commodities index, considered one of the more stable barometers of economic conditions, stayed at 0.2 per cent, even with seasonal adjustments.

The Treasury's chief economist, Assistant Secretary Murray Weidenbaum, said the dip in the over-all wholesale index was "another indication of progress in the administration's efforts to curb inflation."

"It tends to confirm the continued slowdown of the rate of inflation," Weidenbaum said. "For the six-month period ending in August, the wholesale price index has registered a rise at the annual rate of 1.2

HIDING — Youngsters hiding from monsoon rains under an umbrella have found only one way to deal with the situation. Some obviously prefer to use it as an excuse for a little walk in the buff. This scene was snapped at Stung Chrall, a village on Route 4 in Cambodia about 80 miles south of Phnom Penh, the capital.

New Red Attack Expected

SAIGON (UPI)—Field reports today said more than 1,000 Cambodian troops were digging in at a village nine mles north of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh for a new wave of Communist attacks.

In South Vietnam, communique reported five Americans killed in widely separated action, two of them when U.S. artillerymen accidentally shelled their own lines.

VITAL LINE

UPI correspondent Frank Frosch, in a dispatch from Phnom Penh, said three battalions of Cambodian infantry were reinforcing positions in the village of Prek Tameak for assaults by North Vietnamese units expected tonight.

Prek Tameak, described as a vital link in Phnom Penh's defenses, has been the scene of heavy combat for more than a week.

Fifteen Cambodian defenders were reported killed and at least 33 wounded in a battle at Prek Tameak which ended early today.

2,000 SOLDIERS

"We killed a lot of the enemey," a Cambodian battalion commander told correspondent Frosch. But he gave no figures and newsmen saw no Communist bodies. A Cambodian spokesman said 2,000 Communist soldiers are in the Prek Tameak area.

In three battles in the Prek Tameak area in a week Cambodian troops report killing at least 900 Viet Cong. Cambodian losses were placed at 37 killed and 177 wounded.

Cambodian air force fighter-bombers are supporting the infantrymen at Prek Tameak. There have been no reports of U.S. air strikes in the area, although American policy permits such operations.

Albert Easy Winner In Oklahoma Primary

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas easily won renomination to their offices in primary elections Tuesday.

But former six-term Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus faced a runoff in the democratic primary for governor after mustering about 38 per cent of the vote against seven opponents.

Primary elections were held in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Alaska Tuesday. Interest centered on races for governor. There is only one Senate seat at stake in Alaska.

Albert's victory in the Democritic primary in Oklahoma was tantamount to election because he has no opposition in November. It also means he likely will be speaker of the House next year, assuming the Democrats retain a majority in Congress.

In Arkansas, Rockefeller easily rolled over three opponents in the GOP primary, but his real test will come in November when he probably will face Faubus, governor from 1955 to 1967, whose name became a national household word during the 1957 crisis over the integration of Little Rock schools.

Faubus defeated Rockefeller in 1964, but retired in 1967.

Faubus in the Sept. 8 runoff primary will face either attorney Dale Bumpers or Attorney General Joe Purcell. Bumpers was slightly ahead of Purcell as the count neared completion.

In the Oklahoma democratic primary for governor, former Tulsa County prosecutor David Hall fell short of the required majority vote, and faced a runoff with State Sen. Bryce Baggett. The winner of the Sept. 15 runoff will run against GOP Gov. Dewey Bartlett.

In Alaska, Gov. Keith Miller, who stepped up to the governor's chair when Walter J. Hickel became interior secretary, won the Republican gubernatorial nomination over Rep. Howard W. Pollock. Former Gov. William A. Egan received the Democratic nomination for governor by defeating Larry Carr.

Wendell Kay won the Democratic senatorial nomination over Joe Josephson and will face Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, in November. Stevens was a landslide winner for the GOP nomination. Frank H. Murkowski won the Republican nomination for Alaska's lone seat in the House, defeating C. R. Lewis, a member of the John Birch Society's national council. Nick Begich was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. no pickup

Bomb Rips Judge's Car In Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A bomb which exploded when he turned the ignition key of his station wagon seriously injured District Judge Frederick Nelson, a candidate in Tuesday's primary.

It was the latest in a series of attacks on Tulsa law officials.

Nelson, who led a field of three in the Democratic primary in his bid to serve his first full term on the bench was admitted to a hospital in serious condition Tuesday but reported in satisfactory condition today.

A young boy across the street saw the blast and said it blew the car hood 100 feet high. Police Commissioner Brad Sheer said his investigators estimated it would take four or five sticks of dynamite to cause such a blast.

Sheer said officers knew of no threats made against Nelson and he recalled no controversial court decision the judge had made that might have provoked the bombing.

A reward fund for the bomber's capture totaled $35,500 by early today, including $25,000 from the Tulsa County Bar Association.

Peace Talks Mark Time; Aide Consults

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

U.N.-sponsored Middle East peace talks, only 24 hours old, marked time today while the Israeli representative went home for consultations.

In Cairo, the rift between Egypt and most of Palestinian guerrillas appeared near an end following a meeting between U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser and guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat. Sporadic fighting was reported Tuesday between Arabs and Israelis along the Lebanese and Jordanian fronts despite the 90-day cease-fire that started Aug. 7.

With the diplomatic action centered at the United Nations in New York, U.N. Mediator Gunnar V. Jarring met twice with the Israeli representative to the talks Tuesday and once each with the representatives of Egypt and Jordan. Following the meetings, Israel's U.N. ambassador, Joseph Tekoah, flew to Jerusalem for consultations. He said he would return as soon as possible but he was expected to be gone at least three days.

In Cairo, diplomatic sources said the meeting between Nasser and Arafat, head of the Al Fatah guerrillas, ended in a positive note. Arafat, they said, apparently was convinced the U.N. negotiations were not a "sellout" by the Egyptians.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Court Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments in October on the constitutionality of the voting rights act, and has indicated it would try to rule on its most controversial section — the vote for 18-year-olds — before the provision takes effect Jan. 1.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger issued a brief notice Tuesday agreeing to rule in the case and setting a hearing for Oct. 19 on four test cases involving the 18-year-old vote, a ban on literacy tests and a limit on state residency requirements for presidential elections.

The statutes were passed as amendments to legislation extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act. Four states — Texas, Oregon, Idaho and Arizona — have challenged one or more of the provisions or have been sued by the Justice Department, and all four cases will be combined at the Oct. 19 hearing.

Kennedy Estate

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The late Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President John F. Kennedy, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, bequeathed most of his vast fortune to a mental retardation foundation named for his other son.

Kennedy's will, on file in the Palm Beach County Courthouse, does not specify the exact amount of his estate when he died Nov. 18, 1969, but his worth was estimated at $300-$500 million in the early 1960's.

Except for his wife Rose and two sisters, Kennedy left most of his holdings to the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation based in Washington, which finances research in mental retardation. The nonprofit organization is named after the former ambassador's eldest son who was killed in World War II.

Seven Airmen Killed

BANGKOK (UPI) — Seven U.S. Air Force enlisted men were killed Tuesday night when an express train struck a bus in which they were riding. Seven other airmen were injured, three seriously.

The bus driver and another Thai were injured.

The dead and injured airmen were stationed at the airport, about 15 miles north of Bangkok, where American military aircraft are based.

Riot In Naples

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Riot police fought running battles for several hours early today with thousands of fans of an acrobatic motorcyclist who calls himself "Agostino the Mad." It was the third consecutive night of disorders in central Naples.

At least a dozen more persons were injured, bringing the toll to more than 50 during the past three nights. One of the injured was a policeman who shot himself when he dropped his pistol, police reported.

Scores of tear gas cannisters were hurled into the crowd. A cloud of tear gas hung in the still air over the heart of the city when Neapolitans went to work today.

Philippine Bank Has 73 Vice Presidents

MANILA (UPI) —Philippine congressmen looking into the operations of the state-run Philippine National Bank have been told the bank has 73 vice presidents.

The breakdown shows the bank has one executive vice president, three senior vice president, 13 (standard) vice presidents and 56 assistant vice presidents.

Near Collision

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy said today three of its carrier-based jet attack bombers narrowly missed colliding with a British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) jetliner carrying 124 persons over the South China Sea Tuesday.

The Navy, in a statement made public here, said "three U.S. Navy A7 jet aircraft and a BOAC jet airliner passed close about 140 nautical miles east of Da Nang at 1:35 p.m. Saigon time Aug. 25."

"None of the aircraft involved physically touched one another and none of the Navy aircraft were damaged. There were no injuries to the Navy personnel."

Amsterdam Fight

AMSTEDRAM (UPI) — About 100 Dutch sailors and marines, apparently angered by groups of young people loitering in Dam Square, site of a World War II memorial, used their belts and fists Tuesday night to clear the area.

The servicemen's action was immediately denounced by Premier Piet S. De Jong and the Navy command. A spokesman for the premier said, "no group in the Dutch community should be allowed to take the law into its own hands."

After the marines left, the young people returned. Police moved in and, for the second night in a row, clashed with youths who tore up paving stones and looted nearby stores. Police said one person — a West German — was arrested and one civilian slightly injured.

This Fiddler Wins

WEISER, Idaho (UPI) — "Fiddlers never amount to anything —they always wind up as drunks or bums," Alvin Sanderson's father told him in 1909. Sixty-one years later, Sanderson won his third straight title here as the best senior division old-time fiddler in the nation.

Notary Assigned

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The office of the secretary of state today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Marilyn J. Carter of 130 Cresta Drive, Apt. 3, San Rafael.

Two Perish In Blaze At Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Flames flashed through a Market Street hotel Tuesday night, killing two persons and injuring seven others.

Cause of the blaze that started on the second floor of the four-floor structure was not immediately determined but Fire Chief William Murray estimated damage at $100,000.

Both persons killed were on the Grand Central Hotel's second floor and both were so badly burned that they could not be recognized.

All of the seven persons injured were treated for smoke inhalation.

today he is less confident — though still hopeful — that the big issue can be sold at "approximately 6 per cent."

Third is whether engineering detals can be completed in time for a January bond sale. Caillouette said it may be necessary to "farm out" some of the engineering to Dan Coleman Associates, who did the preliminary engineerng study which was the basis of the project.

Fourth is whether a contractor can complete the whole project between the rainy seasons in a single year. It will mean that a lot of San Rafael streets will have to be torn up next summer, Caillouette admitted.

The schedule — if none of the "ifs" upsets it — now is as follows, according to McCown and Caillouette:

Sell the entire bond issue in January; call for bids on construction in March; complete construction before the rains begin in the fall of 1971.

One part of the project may be started this year: a $275,000 pumping station at Second and Irwin streets, which was designated as part of phase one in the original plan. This is to be installed by the San Rafael Sanitation District, whereas the sewer line replacements that make up the rest of the project are city responsibilities.

The pumping plant might be under way by now except for difficulties over working out the location with the California Division of Highways, Caillhouette said. The original location turned out to be where the state planned widening of Irwin Street in connection with its highway improvement project. The station then had to be redesigned, and its emergency power plant relocated. Caillouette said final design is under way and bids should be called within a month. He estimated construction will take four months.

Phases two and three, which the water quality control district had decreed must be done by Nov. 1, would relieve an annual problem of sewage boiling out of manholes by reconstructing lines on D and Bayview streets and from there to Francisco Boulevard, and on Irwin, Mary and Park streets, Grand and Mission avenues.

Residents of those localities, Caillouette conceded ruefully, probably will have to put up with the familiar, odorous difficulty for one more winter.

Meanwhile, however, one requirement of the water quality control district has been met by the San Rafael Sanitation District with enlargement of the sewage treatment plant. This, said Caillouette, should mean that the treatment plant will not be bypassed at all next winter, despite intrusion of storm water. In the past, exceedingly heavy rains have put so much water in sanitary sewer lines that the plant could not handle the flow and some was sent directly into the bay.

Legislators Are Welcomed

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah today officially welcomed 1,700 legislators from the 50 states and four major trust territories who have arrived here for the 23rd annual National Legislative conference.

Following the governor's opening remarks, the state lawmakers were scheduled to hear from U.S. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., Colorado Gov. John A. Love, and the mayor of Indianapolis, the Honorable Richard G. Lugar.

The purpose of the conference is discussion and examination of the problems of urban affairs, human resources, natural resources, the environment, welfare, crime, science and technology.

Pollution Alarm On Mississippi

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrial firms are daily dumping 4,800 pounds of potentially dangerous lead into the Mississippi River between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La., an Interior Department official told a Senate hearing today.

Assistant Secretary Carl L. Klein testified that the Louisiana Stream Control Commission was preparing hearings at which offending firms would be asked what they would do about it and when.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, head of a Senate subcommittee on environment, demanded that Klein state what the Interior Department was going to do.

DEBATE

Vietnam — over more than 5½ million acres of Vietnam.

"This nation may well have set an ecologic time fuse in Vietnam that will reverberate down the life chain causing widespread destruction by wiping out forms of plant, animal and aquatic life that can never be replaced . . ." he said.

"If our role is to defend Vietnam, how can we risk destroying the environment in which they must survive when we leave?" he asked.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., opposed the amendment contending herbicides were of "critical importance in saving American lives in Vietnam."

He took issue with Nelson's claims that one of the herbicides used in the anticrop program caused defects in chicken embreos and hamsters in laboratory tests. McIntyre said the chemical — called 2-4D —was not concentrated "to any applicable degree" in plants tested.

He said "no increase in birth defects from the herbicide program" showed up in tests that followed the "accidental" spraying of rubber plantations in Cambodia.

The Nixon administration reserved the right to continue using herbicides and tear gas when it asked the Senate last week to ratify a 1925 treaty banning germ and gas warfare.

Nelson asked the Senate to reverse the administration decision.

Tuesday, the Senate considered — and quickly rejected 52 to 35 — an amendment to lay the groundwork for an all-volunteer army and an end to the draft.

The proposal, made by Hatfield and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was designed to attract thousands of new recruits with a $3.2 billion across-the-board military pay hike.

Although opponents attacked the voluntary army as too expensive, unworkable and unfair to poor blacks who would be lured to fight wars for rich whites, antidraft sentiment was still alive. Several members predicted Nixon would run into trouble if he asks Congress next year to extend the draft beyond its June 30 expiration date unless Vietnam withdrawals are speeded up.

WOMEN

could march down Fifth Avenue at 5:30 p.m. with only one lane left open for traffic.

The Secret Service announced Tuesday it had selected the first seven women to serve on the White House police force, explaining, "there are places where only women can go."

President Nixon today hailed the 50th anniversary of American woman's suffrage and gave a boost to the Women's Liberation Movement strike goals.

In a proclamation saluting the 19th amendment giving women the vote, Nixon said "...let us also recognize that women surely have a still wider role to play in the political country.

"And in respect for American women," he added, "let all of us work to bring this about."

A White House aide said, furthermore, that barring any hitches the President will sign the equal rights amendment if it crosses his desk. The long sought amendment barring denial of rights because of "sex" passed the House by an overwhelming vote and is pending in the Senate.

Pat Nixon and her daughters Tricia, 24 and Julie Eisenhower, 22, had no activities or plans in connection with women's equality rallies being staged throughout the country today. Her aides point out, however, that Mrs. Nixon has "always supported equal rights for women."

Elliot Richardson, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said his department has "tended to apply a double standard in judging their (women's) performance."

Acting Secretary of State U. Alexis Johnson proclaimed Federal Women's Day in his department and announced formation of a women's program committee to pursue equal opportunity.

Among the officials less enthusiastic about the day was San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who said, "I don't understand this struggle, I'm trying to get a handle on it. What is it they want done differently?"

AGNEW

conference aboard his jet plane that he expected to discuss what he called obligations and limitations of the defense treaty between the United States and Nationalist China when he met with Chiang.

Nationalist China has been disturbed about the Nixon administration's attempts to improve relations with Communist China and recent decisions by the White House to ease trade restrictions against Peking.

Agnew was expected to tell Chiang that these policies will be continued, although the United States will firmly uphold its obligations under the 1954 defense treaty with the Taipei government.

The visit to Nationalist China is the shortest segment of Agnew's Asian tour. Agnew was to have breakfast with Chiang Ching-kuo Thursday, pay a final courtesy call on Chiang Kai-shek then leave for Saigon a few hours later.

Agnew is expected to make a quick sidetrip to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, a short flight from Saigon. Official sources in Phnom Penh said Tuesday Agnew would visit Cambodia but there has been no announcement from the vice president's staff.

Agnew made a fighting speech to American GIs and Korean troops who man the truce line that winds its way for 155-miles through the bleak hills separating South Korean and Communist North Korea.

"I can assure you that having stood together in the adversity of the Korean War, the United States has no intention of running out on its commitment," Agnew said in a speech to troops at Camp Wagner near the armistice line.

Kyunghyang Shinmum, a Seoul newspaper, said South Korea asked Agnew for military aid worth $3 billion and a written guarantee that the United States would act immediately if North Korea attacked as it was in June, 1950.

The 0.5 per cent nonadjusted decrease in the over-all price index was the first decline since August, 1968, when it went down 0.4 per cent. On an adjusted basis, the decline in August was the first drop since a similar 0.2 per cent decrease in April, 1967.

"The sharp decline in the unadjusted index for farm products reflected particularly important decreases for hogs, fresh and dried vegetables, eggs and cattle," the report said.

"Lower prices for processed foods and feeds (which went down 0.4 per cent) were confined principally to meats and processed poultry."

Changes in the wholesale price index often precede upward or downward trends in the consumer price index—covering retail prices. The Labor Department reported last week that the July consumer index registered a 0.4 per cent unadjusted rise.

This month's wholesale price increases for fuels and power had the most significant influence on the advance in prices for industrial commodities, the Labor Department said. The industrial index covers all nonfarm product and food and feed items.

"Electric utility rates were raised and prices were boosted for bituminous coal, residual fuels, distillates and gasoline," the report said.

Metals and metal product prices declined for the second consecutive month but machinery and equipment prices continued to advance. Among building materials, there were increases for ready-mix concrete; asphalt roofing, soft wood lumber and soft wood plywood a drop in prices for hardwood lumber and hardwood plywood.

Philip Gives Couple A Lift

LONDON (UPI)—When newlyweds Brett and Julia Parker finally thumbed a ride during a rainstorm in northwest Scotland recently, they found themselves stammering their thanks to Prince Philip.

"We immediately recognized him," Mrs. Parker, 22, said Tuesday night. "And he was much more handsome than I expected."

She said it was only after she and her husband, also 22, got into the Landrover that they realized the driver in the dark glasses was the husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

During a 12-mile drive with the prince and his male companion to a nearby ferry, Mrs. Parker said it was Philip who did most of the talking.

Innocent Plea To Crash Death

Lois Louise Wood, 67, of Forest Knolls yesterday pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor that caused the death of motorcharge of driving in a manner cyclist William George Relihan, 23, of San Anselmo on June 29.

The collision between the Wood car and Relihan's motorcycle on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Forest Knolls also injured a passenger on the bike.

Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth set Jan. 4, 1971 for jury trial in the case.

Theater Emptied

Approximately 200 patrons were evacuated from the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley last night after a man phoned the box office about 8:45 p.m. and announced a bomb had been planted.

Fall Swim Program Is Now Assured

Operation of the annual fall swimming program of the Cotati School District was assured last night when the school board voted $275 from reserves to pay the salaries of instructors.

The trustees, upon facing a budget squeeze earlier, had asked the City of Rohnert Park to provide the lessons free of cost, but opponents said students could just as easily take lessons during the summer.

However, the city agreed to pay other program costs if the school district would finance instructors' salaries.

The Cotati School District board also:

MORE FUNDS — Heard a report that funds from AB 525 signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan will provide an additional $34,300 next April. Business Mgr. James Davidson said the figure is based on the estimated average daily attendance of 1,715 students.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Marilyn Pensabene as a teacher at the Thomas Page School.

POLICY — Adopted a new policy directing that the board president take office immediately after election at the organizational meeting.

Assessment Figures On Target

According to the state Board of Equalization Computations, Marin County's assessed values come to 22.2 per cent of actual market value.

This, said Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, is eight-tenths of a per cent off the actual figure of 23 per cent which the assessor's office uses for tax computation.

The board of equalization figures show some counties' assessed valuations are as low as 15 per cent of actual market value.

The assessor explained that this is how the state arrived at its figures: In 1968, the state sampled 270 parcels of property in Marin. The figures arrived from those samplings were updated to compute what the state believes are actual market values in Marin for 1970. From this updated figure, the state finds that Marin's assessed values are now 22.2 per cent of actual market value.

Broemmel said it is rare to find the state figures coinciding exactly with the ratio (23 per cent in the case of Marin) used by each county.

The state keeps tabs on county assessed valuation so that a county does not drop its values for the purpose of getting more state aid; for example, as an impoverished school district on grounds that the assessed value per child is far below state average.

Rotary Club To Hear School Candidates

Four candidates vying for two seats on the Sausalito School District Board in a special election September 15 have been invited to speak before the Sausalito Roary Club tomorrow at noon in the Alta Mira Hotel.

Candidates Robert R. Lyon and Robert A. Thompson of Sausalito and Royce Mc Lemore and Robert E. Fisher Jr. of Marin City will discuss school distrivti ssues and answer questions.

Hanoi's Chief Paris Negotiator Returns

PARIS (UPI(—North Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Paris talks, Xuan Thuy, returned today after an eight-month boycott and said he was bringing "goodwill and a serious attitude" to the deadlocked peace conference.

OBITUARIES

Marshall F. Collins Dies At 53

Marshall F. Collins, 53, a nine-year Novato resident and civilian employee of Hamilton Air Force Base, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Collins retired after 24 years federal service as a civil engineer on June 25.

A native of Kentucky, he came to Novato in 1961 from service in Tripoli, Libya. He had also served in military and civilian positions in Panama and Iceland.

He lived at 37 Queva Vista.

Surviving are his wife, Jewel C. Collins; a son, Marshall E. Collins Jr.; a daughter, Patricia A. Hembling, and two grandchildren, all of Novato.

He was a member of the First Missionary Baptist Church of Williamson, W. Va., the Society of American Military Engineers, International Association of Laryngectomies and the Lost Cord Club of Northern California and a life member of the Affiliated Government Employees.

The family prefers contributions to the Lost Cord Club of Northern California, San Francisco.

Funeral will be Friday at 2 p.m. at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, followed by burial at Marin Memorial Gardens.

HAZEL PAULSEN

Hazel L. Paulsen, 72, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after an illness of six months.

A native of Fort Bragg, she was educated in Geyserville and moved to Petaluma in 1915. Mrs. Paulsen was a member of the Women's Auxiliary to the Veterans of World War I, Barracks No. 199, and the Pythian Sisters.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

LEO LUCERO

Leo Lucero, 78, of Petaluma, a retired real estate broker, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

A native of Colorado, he was educated in San Francisco and had been a real estate broker since 1929. Lucero operated his business in Petaluma, Santa Rosa and San Francisco, retiring three years ago. He had lived in Petaluma since 1950.

Lucero attended the School of Mineralogy at Santa Rosa Junior College. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Funeral will be Friday at 10 a.m. at the chapel. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

FRANCES YORK

A paid death notice in yesterday's Independent-Journal erred in saying burial of Frances W. York of Mill Valley would be held in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery today. Burial was at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. York died Monday in a local hospital after a long illness.

JUANITA AKERLY

Funeral for Juanita Willard Akerly of 17 Huntington Way, Petaluma, will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Akerly, 64, died Monday, apparently of natural causes, after collapsing in her home. She was a former San Rafael resident.

Youth Released; Time Credited

Gary Hoyte Wooten, 22, of Bakersfield, arrested in Bakersfield Friday for failure to appear in Marin Municipal Court for sentencing on a misdemeanor credit card forgery count, yesterday was released on his own recognisance.

Judge Hadden W. Roth told Wooten to appear Oct. 2 for probation report and sentencing on the charge of which he was convicted April 28 after a court trial.

Wooten, held without bail in Bakersfied and Marin county jails since his arrest told Roth that his attorney and the probation department had failed to notify him of scheduled court appearances. He said he is now working as a Kern County radio station advertising salesman.

The judge said that if any jail sentence is imposed on the credit card count, the time he has spent in jail will be taken into account.

$7,000 Comes From Tiburon General Fund

The $7,000 which the Tiburon City Council put into a drainage improvement fund came from the city's general fund and not from a bond posted by Tiburon developer Fred G. Zelinsky, as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal.

The council did, however, specify that $2,500 appropriated earlier to finance a drainage study would come from Zelinsky's money and not from the general fund.

Novato Works Out Policy On Housing

The Novato City Council last night established a precedent for requiring low and moderate income housing in developments in the city.

The action came as a condition of approval of master plans for the San Marin East development.

The developer, Standard Growth Properties, offered only token resistance to the requirement, saying that provision for low-income housing was feasible and desirable but that the requirement should not be made until a policy to apply to other developers is adopted.

Planning Director Brian Mattson said that the planning department was working on a plan for a consistent policy to require low and moderate houisng in developments, and citizens and special interest groups suggested several possible means of obtaining such housing.

The requirement for San Marin East was for 100 units to meet standards of one of two federal programs for low and moderate income housing or standards to be arrived at in consultations between the developer and planning commission.

"It's true that we do not have the requirement now," Mattson said, "But as a result of the county's housing element we now have a data base from which to work . . . it is incumbent upon the city to begin to plan for it."

Roger Strawick, vice-president of Standard Growth Properties, said that he felt the need for low-income housing in San Marin East could be met without making it a condition of development because the city and developer both recognize the need.

"We will accept the condition but don't feel that it is reasonable," Strawick said.

A representative of the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All, Margaret B. Azevedo, a Marin County planning commissioner, advocated adoption of a declaration of intent to develop policies for inclusion of low and moderate income housing in developments along with the requirement.

Edward T. Ryken of 11 Viejo Way suggested that federal programs other than grants for construction of low and moderate income housing, such as project supervision and completion under the "turnkey princile" by ythe Federal Housing Authority be explored.

He also suggested that block leasing and operation by the FHA or by interested organizations such as the Ecumenical Association for Housing be studied, saying that the goal of obtaining low and moderate income housing could be reached in several ways he didn't mention.

Several other citizens advocated the requirement to include low-income housing in San Marin East and establishment of fixed policies to encourage building such housing.

The city acceded to the developer's request for designation of a service station site northwest of Highway 101 and San Marin Drive, and the developer accepted the planning commission's requirement of street improvements on a portion of San Marin Drive, entering the development from the east to resolve other differences on the master plan.

Councilman George C. Quesada voted against the plan because of reservations about the grading requirements of the plan, he said. Councilmen Douglas M. Merrill, Wayne Womack and Joseph Gargiulo voted for approval of the plan.

The Novato City Council Also:

POLICE TRAINING — Accepted a check from the state of California for $1,324, half the cost of the training program recently completed by the Novato Police Department to meet police officers standards of training criteria set by the state. The rebate was made upon completion of post requirements.

SHORT STOP — Directed City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to prepare a letter requesting denial of an application by the Short Stop Market, 1410 South Novato Boulevard, to the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board for a general off-sale liquor license. The action was in response to police department recommendations and demands from citizens based on the market's record of three arrests and fines since January 1969 in connection with the sale of beer and wine to minors.

SPRAY POOL — Recorded completion of construction of a park spray pool and lagoon in Pioneer Memorial Park by contractors.

CATV TAPS — Tentatively approved a request from Western California Telephone Co. to allow installation of cable television taps above ground in San Marin Housing Unit No. 9, contingent upon obtaining permission from affected property owners.

PIZZA HUT — Refused by 2-2 vote to rescind an interim ordinance prohibiting construction on properties west of Machin Avenue between Grant and De-Long avenues or to rescind the part of the ordinance referring to property on which Ben Ostlind has plans for construction of a Pizza Hut restaurant.

SCOWN LAND — Awarded a $9,908 contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti contractors for improvements to Scown Lane. Second lowest bid was $10,499 from De Martini-Smith contractors.

FLOOD CONTROL — Approved a resolution passed by the Marin County Flood Control and Water Control District delineating county and city responsibilities for maintenance of flood control drainage systems in the Novato area.

SITE CLEARING — Adopted a resolution directing that site clearing be required of applicants for use permits for demolition work.

TRANSPORTATION STUDY — Announced that the city is seeking persons experienced in transportation or engineering fields to apply through the city clerk for appointment by the county planning director as Novato's representative to the County-City Planning Council balanced transportation study committee.

WILSON AVENUE — Introduced ordinacnes for adoption Sept. 8 annexing three properties between Wilson Avenue and McClay Road, south of Vineyard Road and prezoning the three properties and two properties at the northwestern corner of Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road. The properties, classified agricultural by the county, will be prezoned single family residential or planned residential by the city if the ordinances are adopted.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned at 2:10 a.m. today, continuing all other items on the agenda until Sept. 8.

More Turkeys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers are raising 8 per cent more turkeys this year than in 1969, and prices this fall may be down from last year's average, the Agriculture Department said today.

Rivas Trial Submitted To Judge

In keeping with previous unorthodox procedure, the Rivas murder trial was submitted yesterday to the judge who heard it, without closing oral argument.

Superior Judge Thomas F. Keating gave prosecution and defense attorneys a total of 40 days to file briefs summing up their arguments and citing points concerning possible sentences that could be ordered for the defendant.

Ronald Rivas, 21, has been on trial for three weeks on a charge that he shot to death his father, Fidel I. Rivas, in the family home at 59 Raposa Vista, Novato on July 17, 1969.

VERDICT DUE

Judge Keating yesterday said that whatever his verdict, due at a still unspecified date early in October, it would not be a finding of first degree murder. The other possibilities range from second degree homicide through manslaughter to acquittal.

The judge instructed defense attorneys Robert Carrow of Novato and Robert Bell of Santa Rosa not to submit points on the sanity phase of the case, pending his verdict on young Rivas' guilt. The youth had pleaded both not guilty and not guilty by season of insanity. The judge, however, said the defense could present points on its arguments that Rivas suffered diminished capacity to form judgment, in light of the slain father's long history of tyranny over his wife and the family's 13 children.

Final witness in the case yesterday was Alma Zang of San Rafael, sister of the late San Quentin Prison warden Clinton Duffy. She testified to the family's troubles with the father during the several years she has known the Rivases.

FILES AMENDMENT

Just before the trial opened, Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony, who prosecuted the case, filed an amendment to the indictment alleging that Rivas — previously charged simply with murder — had in his possession a deadly weapon at the time of the act.

The effect of this, Judge Keating told newsmen yesterday, principally is to alter the minimum imprisonment that could be ordered by the California Adult Authority should Rivas be convicted and sent to prison.

The trial, which opened with jury selection, was turned into a bench trial before the judge alone during its first day, and has featured continuous alternation of defense and prosecution witnesses in place of the more formal routine usual in felony trials.

Driver Sustains Minor Injuries

A 31-year-old Marin General Hospital employee was treated at the hospital today for a cut eyebrow suffered in an auto accident at 12:20 a.m. in Larkspur.

Police said Geneva Lee Purvis of 110 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, was eastbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Del Norte Circle when a car driven by Ronald W. Moran, 28, of 578 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, turned left in front of her and the two autos collided.

PET ROOSTER JOINS ROCK CONCERT

Whether or not this pet rooster grooved on sounds at a Washington, D.C., rock festival is not known. He was, however, taken along yesterday by a young rock music fan to Washington's Mall where 8,000 gathered for a concert which producers said was one of a series being performed across the country in preparation for a movie about the free-wheeling way of life of many American youths.

Some Needy Held Missing Free Lunches

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nearly a seventh of California's needy school children are cut off from the national free lunch program, a federal court suit charged Tuesday.

In question is a provision that individual schcol boards take part in the program under which surplus foods are provided at low cost by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The California Rural Legal assistance, in the suit, cited the case of Leandro Gutierrez, a farm worker with eight children in the Healdsburg-Windsor area of Sonoma County.

Four of his children are assigned to the Windsor School which does not take part in the program, although the Healdsburg school does and both are under the same school board.

Among the defendants was State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty who agrees it is unfair to exclude needy children.

The program, Rafferty said in an allied suit, is "unduly arbitrary" and "totally ignores the needs of the hungry."

"The results depend not only on our efforts but those of the 1,100 school districts in California," he said.

Lettuce Prices Soar In Harvest Strike

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI)—Lettuce prices are surging upwards as a strike called by Cesar Chavez' farm workers union crimps the harvest in California's fertile Salinas Valley.

Joe Carcione, a produce wholesaler 100 miles away in San Francisco, said a crate of 24 heads of iceberg (head) lettuce sold for $6 on Tuesday rather than $3.

The wholesaler also predicted that celery bunches would cost 15 cents, instead of 10 cents, in markets and said cauliflower and broccoli were temporarily not available.

Should the walkout continue, price increases are bound to spread since the valley, which calls itself "America's salad bowl," produces 70 per cent of the nation's lettuce.

As the second day of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers orgainizng Commitee (UFWOC) strike ended, growers estimated they had accomplished about a third of the usual daily harvest of lettuce, carrots, celery, cauliflower, broccoli, tomatoes and strawberries.

The previous day they had estimated the harvest at 25 per cent.

At least three persons were injured and 31 arrested as Chavez' followers picketed, shouted "a Huelga" (strike) and waved their red and black eagle banners.

Most of the arrests, Monterey County sheriff's deputies reported, were on trespassing and blocking traffic charges.

In dispute is whether Chavez' organization or the Teamsters shall represent field workers in this area. The two unions have agreed that the UFWOC shall bargain for field workers in other areas but that pact did not cover growers who previously had signed Teamster contracts here.

Driver Satisfactory

Mary B. Roberson, 64, of Vallejo, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with head, shoulder and chest cuts suffered yesterday at 8:10 p.m. when her car struck a fence on Lakeville Highway, south of Petaluma, the California Highway Patrol said.

Youths Seek Vacancies Applicants

Marin County youth commissioners, trying to fill vacancies created by youths leaving for college, will meet again at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Civic Center to make recommendations for appointments.

Chairman Mark W. Tracy said the commissioners could not make the recommendations last night because the complete list of applicants was not available. He said the former youth coordinator, Gwen M. Monroe, had the list in her files, and she did not attend last night. L Charles Smith, Miss Monroe's successor did attend.

Cathi Prebil of San Rafael and Madelyne Angress of Marshall have resigned from the commission to attend college. Chairman Tracy will also leave for college in mid-September.

Next Tuesday the commissioners hope to nominate three candidates for each of the three vacancies. The Marin County Board of Supervisors will make the appointment from the list of nomines submitted by the youth commission.

There are records of a piranha fish reducing a 100-pound animal to a skeleton in less than a minute, says the Miami Seaquarium.

Advocates Of Sexual Freedom Launch War

Sexual freedom advocates of the Bay Area yesterday launched all-out war against prosecutors and sheriffs of five counties, including Marin, wth a 20-page lawsuit filed in the United States District Court in San Francisco.

The suit alleges that Penal Code sections 286 and 288a, dealing with oral copulation and other "unnatural" acts, are unconstitutional and asks the court to stop prosecutors and police from enforcing the sections.

Among the complainants are Charles M. Blair and his wife, Dorothy A. Blair, who are identified as residents of Nicasio and members of the Sexual Freedom League Inc. of Berkeley.

The Blairs contend they "have a strong predilection and desire from time to time in the privacy of their home to engage with one another in sexual acts proscribed by section 288a."

Citing a long list of "governmental intrusion" on the privacy of homes, the Blairs allege they fear police "will burst violently into plaintiffs' marital chambers while such plaintiffs are privately and consensually engaged in acts denounced by Section 288a." They complain that because of this fear, "plaintiffs are inhibited from engagng in these intimate sexual practices within the privacy of their own home."

Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos were among Bay Area officials served yesterday with the papers and ordered to answer the complaint within 20 days.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who must defend the Marin officials, said he had just received copies of the complaint and has not yet determined his course of action. "This will require considerable research," said Maloney. "We'll probably talk it over with attorneys in other counties named in the suit."

The plantiffs include the Society for Individual Rights, Sexual Freedom League, Modern Sex Institute and several individuals.

They are represented by a series of attorneys headed by B. J. Beckwith of 1049 Bush Street, San Francisco.

Named as defendants are officials in Marin, San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, and San Mateo.

The suit lists eight different claims, each contesting the constitutionality of penal code sections dealing with sex acts and homosexuality.

Two men, Larry Littlejohn and Ernest W. Reed, who describe themselves as homosexuals living together in San Francisco, allege that laws should apply equally to homosexuals and heterosexuals.

The Sexual Freedom League contends that "sexuality should be enjoyed and experienced fully and frequently between couples, irrespective of gender, in a pleasurable variety of ways, "and the ambit of sexual activity should be circumscribed only by anatomical design rather than by local concepts of ethics, morals or religion."

Man Is Found Dead At Home

William Michael Webeck, 57-year-old shoe salesman, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the bedroom of his Terra Linda home yesterday about 4:30 p.m.

Coroner's Investigator Keith C. Craig said that Webeck had attached a long swimming pool vacuum cleaner hose to the family station wagon which was parked in a carport and had run it into the window of his bedroom.

Born in Illinois, Webeck had lived 15 years in Marin County. He was a salesman for Karl Mosher shoe store in Mill Valley.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

1 To 9 Per Cent Pay Hikes Are Passed Out

Mill Valley City Council last night granted pay raises to employees, department heads and the city manager, ranging from 1 to 9 per cent.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham was granted a 9 per cent increase to $1,642 a month by a 4-1 vote with Councilman Jean S. Barnard dissenting.

It was pointed out that when Cunningham was hired in May 1969, at $18,000 a year, his salary was to be reviewed after six months, but wasn't, so this was his first pay raise.

Mrs. Barnard felt the pay hike should have been to $1,610 a month.

Employees were granted the median salaries paid for similar jobs in 17 California cities plus 1 per cent.

Cunningham explained this would give police and firemen a 6 per cent pay raise, public works and parks and recreation employees, 3 per cent, clerical employees, 3 per cent, and employees already at the median, only the 1 per cent.

Pay raises for department heads ranged from 5 to 8.5 per cent, with councilmen voting on each raise separately.

They voted unanimously to grant Police Chief Dan Terzich a 7.5 per cent pay hike to $1,319 a month; Finance Director Carl W. Reynolds, 6 per cent to $1,300 a month; Fire Chief Joseph E. Regalia, 8.5 per cent to $1,300 a month, and Parks and Recreation Director Don L. Dimitratos, 5 per cent to $1,287 a month.

Councilmen voted 3-2 to raise the salary of Planning Director Harvey M. Bragdon 5 per cent to $1,454 a month with Mrs. Barnard and Robert H. Andresen dissenting.

They voted to grant Public Works Director Ross J. Benson 7.5 per cent pay raise to $1,225 a month with Andresen dissenting.

Cunningham estimated the pay raises and increased fringe benefits, including increased health insurance benefits, would cost about $65,000.

Councilmen voted unanimously to increase the retainer paid City Atty. Leland H. Jordan from $600 to $700 a month.

They voted 4-1 to increase the retainer paid City Engineer Stanley M. Bala from $775 a month plus mileage to $925 a month without mileage and approved a new pay rate schedule for engineering costs. Andresen dissented.

Councilmen voted that the salary of Librarian Alberta L. Handenson, who started work in May at $11,800 a year, remain unchanged.

No Bonanza If War Ends —Mailliard

Cities shouldn't expect a "big bonanza" in federal funds if the Vietnam War is ended, according to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

Many of the military costs would continue since men would remain in service and be paid, he commented last night while visiting the Mill Valley City Council. (For Milliard visit to San Anselmo, see story, page 14.)

Mailliard's comments came in reply to a question from Councilman Jean S. Barnard whether termination of the war would result in more money "filtering" down to cities.

There has already been substantial saving from reducing military expenditures, but "it would be less than realistic to expect a big bonanza," he said.

The defense budget is down $7 to $8 million, but that "spread over the entire country won't mean much for Mill Valley," Mailliard contended.

He agreed that when federal funding gets into "categorical aids," such as education, it becomes involved in bureaucratic red tape and small communities haven't got the personnel even to apply. "It's too costly to apply."

In a lot of instances the federal government acts as a tax collector, channeling funds back to state and local governments, and this is not the best arrangement, he said.

"Every time it cose to us via Washington, we lose something," said Councilman Robert H. Andresen.

Nixon Selects Lebanese Envoy

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon has nominated William B. Buffum, 48, a career diplomat from New York, to be ambassador to Lebanon.

The nomination coincided with the opening of Arab-Israeli peace talks at the United Nations. Buffum has been serving as deputy U.S. representative to the United Nations with the rank of ambassador.

If approved by the Senate, he will succeed Ambassador Dwight J. Porter, who is being reassigned.

General Motors Eyes Price Hikes

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., the world's largest automaker, has indicated it may join its American competitors in a price hike for 1971 cars and trucks.

GM confirmed Tuesday tentative billing price raises on its 1971 model trucks will be about 6.3 per cent for light and medium models and about 4.9 per cent for heavy trucks.

Car prices, however, will not be announced until just before the new models hit the showrooms late in September.

Ford Motor Co. earlier announced a 6 per cent price hike in advance billing on trucks and a 5 to 6 per cent increase on cars.

Chrysler Corp. set tentative truck prices up 3.8 per cent and hiked new car price tags 5 to 6 per cent.

Toll Over 100

BANGKOK (UPI) — Officials said today the death toll may rise to more than 100 from torrential rains that have caused flooding in Phrae, Phetchabun and Uttaradit provinces.

Mill Valley Council Labors To Slice 10 Cents Off Tax Rate

The Mill Valley City Council labored through its proposed $2,002,703 budget for 1970-71 last night, seeking ways to pare it down and reduce the tax rate.

When the session ended near midnight, the council had sheared 10.3 cents from the estimated tax rate, but it was still 50.5 cents higher than the present rate.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke calculated at the close that the rate was at $2.93 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget included pay raises for city employees ranging from one to nine per cent.

The council lowered the expected tax rate by cutting $23,470 in expenditures and adding $15,500 in expected revenues, other than property taxes.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham had estimated at the start that on the basis of latest assessed valuation the tax rate would be $3.03, and the council proceeded to whittle that figure.

The largest cut was $13,000 for planning the city's proposed small craft harbor, $5,000 for a land use plan and $8,000 for a precise plan.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said these expenditures could be deferred since the community hasn't yet determined exactly what it wants at the harbor area.

Other cuts were $3,000 from the fund for a parking lot at the recreation center, $2,000 from the fire equipment fund; $1,500 from the city clerk's advertising account; $2,770 from the reserve for planning and zoning, $1,000 from the fund for partitioning in the city offices, and $200 from the travel and conference fund in the parks and recreation department budget.

Wickham complained that outside of the harbor planning cuts, "we haven't cut anything to speak of."

The mayor had proposed general reductions totaling $13,000 in the library, recreation, golf course and drainage allocations, but failed to get backing.

Andresen had suggested cutting $10,000 from the sewer line budget and the $12,000 for a juvenile officer in the police department, but failed to get backing.

Cunningham consistently pleaded for reserve funds noting that the budget didn't contain a contingency reserve. He said however that the expected revenues would exceed the planned expenditures by $28,000.

Mayor Wickham said the $28,000 in effect would be a reserve and Andresen contended there were some "built-in" reserves in the proposed budget.

Cunningham said the general fund "is really being clobbered," and an emergency during the year would put the city into a financial bind.

Councilmen agreed to wind up budget matters at a special meeting, tentatively set for tomorrow with the time unsettled.

Moses Smith Is Freed Pending Complaint Review

Moses H. Smith Jr., 33-year-old estranged husband of a Belvedere heiress was freed from Marin County Jail late yesterday after the district attorney's office said it needed more time before it could prepare any complaint on the case for which he was jailed Monday afternoon.

Smith had been booked for investigation of attempted murder and held in lieu of $50,000 bail after his wife, Kathryn Jean Lohman Smith, told West Marin sheriff's deputies that her husband tried to strangle her with a scarf and his hands. The scene reportedly took place during a reconciliation meeting in her cabin at Inverness.

The district attorney's office told Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth at 4:50 p.m. yesterday that it needed more time before a complaint could be filed. Judge Roth released Smith, providing he paid a $15 traffic warrant, which Smith said he could do immediately.

Mrs. Smith, who also has a $150,000 home at 8 Buckeye Road, Belvedere, is involved in a legal dispute over conservatorship of her $200,000 estate. Her brother, Edward B. Lohman of Piedmont, has sought to have her declared incompetent to manage her inheritance.

That matter is proceeding through Marin Superior Court.

Smith, meanwhile, had gone to federal court in San Francisco, with a civil complaint that the brother, his attorneys and Marin County officials including the district attorney tried to break up his marriage.

The 20,000 members of the Hutterite sect now living in the United States and Canada share fewer than 20 surnames, says National Geographic.

Almonte Board Still Against Area At Cove

Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District have restated their position that a treatment plant in Tennessee Cove is not the answer to sewage disposal problems in Southern Marin.

Secretary John J. Crncich said the board on Monday directed him to write a letter to the Marin Municipal Water District emphasizing Almonte's feelings on the Brown and Caldwell engineering study, which recommends construction of the Tennessee Cove plant.

"The proposal is not a realistic solution," Crncich said. The Brown and Caldwell report five years ago estimated the cost at $7.5 million, and it would run twice that amount now, he said.

Crncich said the board also questioned the report's proposal that all Southern Marin sanitary treatment plants be abandoned. They felt that the recommendation should be studied.

Directors also decided to initiate smoke testing of the district's sewer lines. Smoke forced into the mains would leak out at breaks and faulty connections, Crncich said.

Some Marin Phone Calls To Cost Less

Some telephone calls will be cheaper for Sausalito, Belvedere and Tiburon residents beginning Oct. 22, 1971, the Pacific Telephone Company's San Rafael district manager said today.

Jack E. Eddy said calls from Belvedere and Tiburon to Richmond and most of San Francisco, which now cost two message units for a three-minute call and one unit for each additional two minutes, will be toll-free.

The company charges 4.05 cents for each message unit.

Calls from Sausalito to most of San Francisco will also be toll-free, Eddy said.

No other Marin calls will be affected.

The telephone company's action was in response to a 1938 Public Utilities Commission order that service between exchanges less than eight miles apart be on a flat-rate basis.

Action Asked On Reed Creek Floods

Directors of the Homestead Valley Sanitary District have appealed to the board of supervisors to do something to alleviate winter flooding in the Reed Creek area.

President James G. MacNichols said the board Monday authorized him to make the plea to Supervisor Michael Wornum on behalf of "the 15 homeowners who get flooded out every winter. They live in an area bounded by Evergreen and Miller avenues and Reed Street."

The district wants the county to do routine maintenance work such as the removal of debris from Reed Creek.

"We've been seeking this relief for several months. With the possibility of more flooding this winter, something should be done to alleviate the condition," MacNichols said.

24 Injured When Boat Catches Fire

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (UPI)—Twenty-four persons were injured Tuesday night when a sightseeing boat, the Flying Saucer, caught fire and exploded in Great Egg Harbor Bay.

None of the injured was in serious condition and only one, Gertrude D. Schmell, 70, Quakertown, Pa., was hospitalized.

Marin Hospital District directors learned last night that the district has received a legacy of $20,000 from the estate of Sarah A. Shaw, a Mill Valley woman who died in April, 1969.

Ray K. Bolinger, Marin General Hospital administrator, told the directors that Miss Shaw had left the money to be used as the board decides. No decision was made last night about how to spend it.

Miss Shaw, a retired practical nurse, died at 92 at her home at 33 Lovell Avenue.

The directors last night also heard a report on a halfway house planned for adolescent girls who have been treated for mental illness.

San Francisco attorney Murray Richards said that he is establishing a nonprofit corporation to maintain the house on a 1.4-acre site he owns near Marin General Hospital.

He plans to start with five girls and will not house those who have had problems with drugs or who are delinquent.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

STUDY — Signed a contract with Gorsline Associates for a population study of Marin in order to update the hospital master plan; the cost of the study is not to exceed $9,000.

APPOINTMENTS — Made temporary appointments for the Marin Community Mental Health Center, of Dr. George Bachy Rita as in-patient and partial care director; Dr. James Blevins, out-patient care director, and Joan Kelly, children's services director.

GRANT — Asked for a $20,000 grant from the American Cancer Society for development of a program for "continuity of care" of cancer patients discharged from the hospital.

ABSENT — Dr. Gwendolyn M. Campion, board chairman, was absent, and the meeting was chaired by Thomas K. Procter, vice chairman.

Humboldt Judge To Preside

Judge Robert N. Connors of Eureka, Humboldt County, Municipal Court today began a three-week stint on the Marin Municipal Court bench.

He was to preside over the criminal calendar this afternoon, after hearing small claims this morning.

Judge Connors was assigned to the Marin Municipal bench by California Chief Justice Donald R. Wright, effective today through Sept. 17.

He will help fill the gaps created by the retirement next Monday of Judge Hadden W. Roth, and the vacation of the court's presiding Judge Peter Allen Smith. Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. is to return Monday from his vacation.

David R. Batyn, judge in the West Marin Judicial District and a private attorney, has been sitting on the municipal bench three of four days a week during most of August, but now has returned to his other duties.

Tate Defense Unity Crumbles A Little

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The defense unity in the Sharon Tate murder trial showed signs of crumbling Tuesday when the attorney for Charles Manson tried to extract testimony damaging to codefendant Patricia Krenwinkel.

The line of questioning by Irving Kanarek drew objections from other defense counsel and an angry protest from Manson himself, who asked permission to dismiss the burly attorney and represent himself.

"I have no control over this man," Manson told the judge. "I tell him I don't want him to ask certain questions and he asks them anyway.

"I have no rapport with him. I can't communicate with attorneys—with any attorney I have ever met—and I have met quite a few," the 35-year-old ex-convict said.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older denied Manson's request, as he has several times in the past.

The controversy arose during testimony by County Coroner Thomas T. Noguchi, who said under cross-examination by Kanarek that Miss Tate's house guest, Abigail Folger, was so severely stabbed no doctors could have saved her.

Kanarek apparently was trying to show that had the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, intervened or sought medical help, the victims might have lived.

"Since Miss Folger had six individual stab wounds which each classify as fatal, I doubt very much her chance of survival would have increased even if she had medical attention," Noguchi said.

Under California law, the testimony of an accomplice to a crime must be corroborated by scientific evidence.

Since the trial began, Kanarek has been trying to show that Mrs. Kasabian was an accomplice who did nothing to prevent the slayings, and therefore her testimony against Manson must be backed up by other evidence.

However, since the defendants have been trying to maintain an "umbrella" defense, they objected to any line of questioning which seemed to pinpoint an individual defendant.

Innocent Plea In Candy Case

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Fritz Thus, whose juvenile candy salesmen were cited twice in San Anselmo in July, pleaded innocent yesterday in the municpail court of the Oakland-Piedmont Judicial District to two counts each of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and three labor code violations.

Thus, head of Student Opportunity of Lafayette, is to appear in court again Aug. 27 for setting of a jury trial.

Thus, who was clearing more than $8,000 a month from the street sales, according to police, also pleaded innocent to employing youths under 16 to peddle, failure to provide employees with statements of earnings and allowing minors to work more than eight hours a day.

Oakland police said Thus had been warned in February that he would be prosecuted if his roving young candy salesmen were caught in Oakland again.

Two boys were apprehended Aug. 12 bearing Student Opportunity identification cards and Thus was charged with both violations, police said.

San Anselmo police warned Thus in early July that his activities violated the anti-peddling ordinance in that city, but his employees reappeared in July 27 and were ordered from town with a warning.

Thus has been free on $2,000 bail since he turned himself in to police Aug. 17.

Gas, Beer Sale Permit Denied

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — An appeal for a use permit to sell gasoline and beer at a Petaluma location was denied yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors.

Bud and Rose Mabry appealed a July 9 decision of the board of zoning adjustments denying their use permit application for a store at 5381 Redwood Highway south.

Supervisors said the use would improperly extend a commercial district.

Jury Trial Set In Pot Selling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A jury trial has been set for Nov. 16 in U.S. District Court for five men arrested in Mill Valley on suspicion of selling about 180 pounds of marijuana to narcotics agents.

Charged with possession and sale of pot are Eric F. Millican, 21, of Long Beach; John A. Papia, 21, of Mill Valley; Thomas N. Hammer, 21, and Sheldon P. Levy, 21, both of San Francisco, and Ramon Buchayer, 29, of Larkspur.

The trial will be before Judge Alfonso Zirpoli.

The marijuana seized in the May arrest was valued at $120,000 at street prices, narcotics agents said.

Laird Reveals Soviet Pacific Missile Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Wednesday the Soviet Union conducted its first test in the Pacific last week of intercontinental ballistic missiles carrying multiple re-entry vehicles.

He said he did not know at this point whether they were actually developed weapons. But Laird said if they were, it would give the Russians a breakthrough.

Three Are Injured In Two Accidents

Three teen-agers received minor injuries in two accidents yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

Treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut left leg was Charles Franklin Trimble Jr., 16, of 10 Glen Drive, Fairfax. Debbie Lynn Clark, 14, of 60 Piper Lane, Farifax, was treated for multiple scrapes.

Trimble, eastbound on Mission Avenue at 2:03 p.m. on a motorcycle, collided with a car westbound on Mission Avenue making a left turn onto E Street, according to police. Trimble and his passenger, Miss Clark, were thrown from the motorcycle.

Trimble was cited for not having a driver's license and the driver of the other car, Veronica Ruth Beckner, 40, of 15 Portola Avenue, San Rafael, was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Paul Joseph Doyal, 15, of St. Vincent's School for Boys, received a scraped right knee when he fell from his bicycle at 4:05 p.m. after colliding with a car at Las Gallinas and Sky View Terrace. Doyal was taken by police to St. Vincent's School for treatment.

The car, driven by Suzanne Marie Morgenstern, 18, of the University of California at Irvine, was making a left turn from Las Gallinas onto Sky View, according to police, when Doyal hit the car with his bicycle.

Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing has been set for next Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for Grace Patricia Halloran, 24, of Novato, who is charged with committing arson in her home on Aug. 18.

Divers Search For Sea Scout

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Coroner's divers searched today for the body of a San Francisco sea scout who ignored warnings and dived into the Sacramento River to untangle a line from his boat.

Deputies said Danny Hightower, 15, drowned Tuesday despite efforts of two fellow scouts to rescue him.

when a market takes the stamps away they're taking away a lot more than just stamps.

Blue Chip Stamps are something you sort of take for granted when you do your grocery shopping. In fact you take them so much for granted that you might not even notice when your market stops giving them. You get home. Unpack all the groceries. No stamps. So next week you ask and are told they are no longer giving them. There you are with your half-filled stampbooks and half-filled dreams . . . and you know the stamp people won't give you half a percolator or half a scatter rug. Well, Mayfair still gives stamps . . . Triple Blue Chip Stamps with the above coupon. You see . . . stamps don't cost much. No matter what some folks would have you believe. Blue Chip Stamps cost us about 15¢ on a $10 sale. In other words, the price of a jar of mayonnaise doesn't change a penny with or without stamps. What it really means when a market takes the stamps away is that something else is about to go away too. Sometimes its service. Sometimes hours. Sometimes your choice of brands. When you're asked to save on your own for those things you need around the house a funny thing starts to happen. The small change doesn't add up like the ol' stamp books used to. When the chips are down, just remember, Mayfair is still chipping in . . . with Triple Blue Chip Stamps. It pays to save them.

Mailliard Advises Hub Council Not To Accept Concrete Ditch

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, during an unannounced visit to the San Anselmo City Council, last night advised them to delay accepting a flood control project for Corte Madera Creek rather than accept the concrete ditch solution long opposed by the council. (For Mailliard visit to Mill Valley, see story page 10.)

Invited by the council to explain the likelihood of a change in federal policy towards alternative solutions to flooding, the congressman said, "I think if I were sitting in your seat, I would delay rather than accept something damaging to the community."

Mayor James F. Reed asked him if any legislation is pending that would allow the Army Corps of Engineers to consider protection of the environment as well as controlling flooding as economically as possible.

Mailliard said he could promise none, but noted that the government is gravitating towards willingness to pay for aesthetic values as well as efficiency.

Mailliard's opponent, in the November general election, Democrat Russell R. Miller, 32, of San Francisco, attempted to discuss political differences on the flood control issue, but Reed immediately squelched the attempt.

Although Mailliard was 40 minutes late to the discussion because he stopped at the Mill Valley City Council meeting, the council managed to convey its intransigent opposition to a concrete channel.

John F. West, a county planning commissioner and a former San Anselmo planning commissioner, said the Corps of Engineers is required by law to build the cheapest, most efficient channel that has no risk of failing and the lowest maintenance cost.

That narrows the choice to a concrete ditch, he said. He noted that the peak water flow at the Lagunitas station in Ross last year was 3,800 cubic feet per second, but the Army is building for 7,800.

"It's not going to do us any good to say we don't want a concrete ditch and damn the engineers," he said. He suggested working on the Washington policy makers before flooded residents get fed up and demand the ditch.

Councilman Warren R. Perry led off: "We of San Anselmo are concerned that to this point we have not been offered an alternative to the design downstream (concrete) and still have corps participation."

The Corps of Engineers can fund the cheapest project, a concrete channel, but local governments must pay the difference — as much as $1 million — on more expensive versions.

Perry said 100 per cent flood control relief would cost a tremendous price — replacement of a green belt through the town with an unsightly ditch — and urged Mailliard to push "the ecology view of flood control."

Mayor Reed elaborated: "What I am hopeful of seeing us do is build bypass channels and leave the creek in its natural state."

Kenneth L. Anderson and Lewis W. Stewart urged Mailliard to move for more attention to aesthetics in Washington.

However, Mailliard pointed out that attention to aesthetics costs money and reduces the number of projects that can be funded. "You have to compromise to a certain extent among the competing interests," he said.

His opponent Miller, speaking before Mailliard's arrival, said, "I think the concrete slab approach is one that is not compatible with Marin County or compatible with what's been going on the past few years ecology-wise."

He said that, if elected, he would pressure the Army engineers to change their policy and work for legislation allowing leeway for aesthetics.

The discussion was on the agenda as a report by County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost on flood control in the Ross Valley Flood Control District.

Frost said that work downstream in Ross and Kentfield would not affect water flow in San Anselmo.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

HIGHWAY — Instructed Anne West and Capurro, city representatives on the City-County Planning Council, to back a proposed computer study of a Highway 17 extension through San Anselmo as part of the balanced transportation study to gain ammunition for fighting the extension. Representatives were also instructed to push for a connection between Sleepy Hollow and Terra Linda plus consideration of the environment in all aspects of the study.

ATTIC CLEANING — Empowered a committee of four headed by Mayor James F. Reed to sort materials in the attic and carriage house in Robson-Harrington Park and discard worthless flammable material in accord with insurance requirements.

GAS TAX — Put over to the Sept. 8 meeting a letter supporting a constitutional amendment that would permit diversion of gas tax funds to smog control and mass transit uses in response to a letter from Rep. Randolph Collier, R-Yreka, asking opposition to the amendment.

PARKING — Passed a resolution restricting parking in city lots to passenger autos, motorcycles and trucks of less than three-quarter ton, all without "For Sale" signs on them, in an attempt to bar buses being used as rolling homes.

STRUCTURE — Added swimming pools to the definition of structure during the first reading of an amendment to the municipal codes. Exempt are ground level structures excluding pools.

ELECTION — Gave second reading to an ordinance consolidating a special election for propositions for a new fire engine and street improvements with the November general election.

JUDGE — Ordered prepared for the Sept. 8 meeting a resolution backing City Atty. John G. Buresh to replace slain Judge Harold J. Haley of the Marin Superior Court.

STRIKE — Refused to take action on a request by the Labor Support Committee for San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 that the council urge the Independent-Journal to submit to binding arbitration.

BAND — Commended the Marin musicians' union for the free music provided by Bill Sache's Concert Jazz Band at a fund-raising affair in Robson-Harrington Park Sunday.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next regular meeting Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Next Session Is Monday On Novato Plans

The next study session of the Novato Downtown Committee and Planning Commission on the Sedway-Cooke downtown plan and program will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the council chambers of the Novato Community House.

The meeting, previously scheduled for Thursday, will consider sections of the Sedway-Cooke preliminary report dealing with transportation and proposed Highway 101, Novato Downtown Center and Novato Creek, physical form and appearance of the downtown area and the Reichert Hills sub-area.

If time allows, other areas may be discussed, according to Brian Mattson, planning director.

GOP Committee Asks Protection Of Courts

The Marin County Republican Central Committee last night urged the county's judges and supervisors to "move swiftly" to protect the courts from a repeat of the violence that led to the death of Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three of his abductors.

The committee's resolution, adopted at its monthly meeting in the Civic Center, called for "the procedures and means by which those citizens and officials connected with the discharge of judicial functions in our country be absolutely protected from harm from the lawless element of our population which seeks to impair and destroy our judicial system."

The committee, acknowledging its "deepest sorrow and heartfelt regret" for the death of Judge Haley, adjourned in his memory.

Fine, Probation On Weed Charge

Thomas Russell Combs, 25, of Mill Valley, yesterday was fined $25 and placed on two years' summary probation on a misdemeanor marijuana possession charge.

Arrested Aug. 7 in San Rafael, Combs originally was charged with felony pot possession, but pleaded guilty to the lesser charge last week in municipal court.

Fund Reception Set For Reagan

A joint fund-raising reception for Gov. Ronald Reagan and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, candidate for the State Board of Equalization, will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Sept. 8 at the Ross home of D. H. Gabrielsen, Lagunitas Road and Glenwood Avenue.

Tickets for the reception, to be attended by the governor, are being handled by the Marin County Republican Central Committee headquarters, 915 Lootens Place, San Rafael.

The governor and Kettenhofen also will hold a joint reception on the evening of Sept. 9 at the Flamingo Hotel, Santa Rosa.

Eleven per cent of the more than 30,000 police in the Philippines are college graduates.

Petaluma Police Probe 104 Theft, Felony Reports

Petaluma police investigated 104 felony and theft reports during the month of July, including two aggravated assaults, six burglaries and two auto thefts.

Seventeen thefts over $50 in value were reported and 60 thefts under $50 in value. Police listed 24 thefts as solved. The department also noted that both stolen cars were recovered and arrests made for both aggravated assaults. None of the burglaries was solved.

A total of 87 major offenses were reported, exactly the same number as in July of 1969.

The department received 959 complaints and reports and issued 297 moving traffic citations. Eleven injury accidents were investigated.

Planning Panel Hits Mobile Type Offices

In a foreshadowing of action to come, the San Rafael Planning Commission last night voiced its unanimous opinion that the use of mobile homes or trailers for offices should be restricted to the "prebuilt mobile home" type and limited to temporary use only.

The recommendation was in response to a request by Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner after his report on the subject.

Hotchner stated that city ordinance covers such mobile offices, and that he and the city engineer feel that provisions should be added to the city code specifying dimensions, inside facilities and general use.

"I feel that these structures should be especially manufactured for this purpose rather than the shacky type that can be seen in used car lots, corporation yards and Christmas tree lots," said Hotchner.

His additional statement that he did not mind kitchen and bathroom facilities, but did not want people sleeping in these offices elicited smiles and the general assent of the commission.

Summing up the commission's opinion, Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding commented that all future applicants whould take note that future use will be limited and individuals should not seek special consideration as to time extensions.

The commission also unanimously approved, upon the motion of Kay, amendment of the Family Care Facility's permit for the care of six children instead of five. Commissioner Joseph J. Garbarino praised Henderika Slager, owner of the facility at 593 Montecillo Road, for her manner of operation, which he said had elicited no complaint.

The commission also unanimously granted architectural approval of Rhine Co. of San Rafael's request to build a three-story apartment house of 34 units at 216 Marin Street, commissioner James Dougan making the motion. The structure is to be over 32 parking spaces.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

POOL EQUIPMENT — Approved installation of a pool heater and filter at property of Vincent and Doris Maita, 1868 Las Gallinas Avenue.

PLASTIC SIGN — Granted approval for illuminated plastic sign to be built at San Rafael Nursery.

SERVICE STATION — Granted use permit and architectural approval for expansion and modification of existing service station at 1722 Fourth Street.

HELD OVER — Carried over proposed amendment to rules of order.

Curfew Works In Riot Area

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (UPI)— A curfew brought quiet to this Detroit suburb early today after police battled an estimated 1,000 young persons in a second night of disturbances over the closing of a park.

More than a dozen persons were arrested during the skirmishes Tuesday night which saw 200 police use tear gas and clubs to rout rock-throwing crowds, some only 14 or 15 years old. Most of the youths were white.

Mayor James Cline declared an overnight curfew late Tuesday and said it would go into effect again at 7 p.m. today until 5:30 a.m. Thursday.

Plea Date Slated On Marijuana Count

A motorist accused of marijuana possession and facing $193 in traffic warrants has been ordered to appear again in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday, to be represented by the public defender for plea entry.

Wayne Kay Willison, 30, of Guerneville, was arraigned yesterday after being arrested Monday by a San Rafael police officer who stopped Willison's car for lack of tail lights. Police said what appeared to be marijuana was found in the car and on Willison's person.

Stern Letter On Crusade Fund Uses

Member organizations of the United Bay Area Crusade yesterday received a stern letter from UBAC President Robert C. Harris telling them they will not receive funds if their programs are not deemed "relevant."

Harris, who sent the letter following approval of the five-county board of directors of UBAC, said that programs no longer needed because of population changes or which had been taken over by government agencies will be dropped.

Further, UBAC will insist that private clients be charged for services such as family counselling if they are able to pay.

The letter also said that UBAC will require consolidation of agencies providing identical programs.

Along with the strict guidelines for organizations now members, the letter reiterated that non-member agencies who are qualified should apply to UBAC for membership. This is in accord with UBAC's policy of attempting to limit campaigns for charity, he said.

This year UBAC will attempt to raise $16,850,000 for 190 health, welfare and youth agencies in five counties.

Guilty Pleas To Pollution Counts

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Two firms pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to releasing ammonia in Soquel Creek during the weekend.

A game warden said the chemical released by the Soquel Meat Co. and Mountain Refrigeration Co. killed about 20,000 baby steelheads.

Sentence in the misdemeanor offense was deferred for three weeks.

Neighbor Reports

Gerri Mlodzianowski, 330 Fawn Drive, San Anselmo, has reported that a broken water pipe that caused damage in her home was reported by a neighbor, not her father-in-law, and the pipe had been broken for an hour before discovery, not several days as reported in Monday's Independent-Journal.

Radio Station Relay Building Is Bombed

MONTEVIEDO (UPI) — Five Tupamaro terrorists, members of the same organization holding an American and a Brazilian hostage, bound and removed a watchman, his wife and five children from a radio station transmitter before bombing it Tuesday, the watchman said today.

Israel Beltrami said he was surprised by four men and a woman while watching television with his wife, their three children and two of their friends. The armed attackers bound them all with wire and took them to a nearby woods.

Shortly thereafter, Beltrami said, he heard an explosion in the transmitter and he saw the terrorists flee in two French-made pickup trucks. The transmitter, located about 10 miles from Montevideo, was off the air for two hours and 28 minutes.

Police said the terrorists planted five bombs. Three exploded but did not cause serious damage.

The Uruguayan government has refused to negotiate with the Tupamaros for the release of U.S. farm consultant Claude L. Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian consul Aloysio Dias Gomide, 41.

The terrorists shot to death an American police adviser, Daniel A. Mitrione, 50, of Richmond, Ind., on Aug. 10. The government had refused to ransom Mitrione by releasing an estimated 150 jailed guerrillas.

On Tuesday, President Jorge Pacheco Areco called in members of the diplomatic corps to pledge the use of all his power to fight the terrorists.

Two Booted For Editing Paper

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—An underground newspaper that lasted two issues before its $200 in capital ran out has resulted in the expulsion of two Santa Rosa Junior College students.

A third editor is on disciplinary probation.

Trustee Willard Rush said Tuesday the three were disciplined because the failed to use an adviser, failed to list a sponsoring organization in the last issue and used language and illustrations "offensive to some people."

Separate Trial Is Scheduled For David Hilliard

OAKLAND (UPI)—David Hilliard will be tried separately from four other Black Panther members charged as a result of a shootout with Oakland policemen.

Judge Harold Hove in Superior Court made that ruling Tuesday, saying that Donnell Lankford, Terry Cotton, Wendell Wade and John L. Scott would be tried together.

All are charged with intent to kill, assault on a policeman and attempted murder in the 1968 West Oakland shooting.

Hilliard is the party's chief of staff.

Boby Hutton, 17, the Panthers' treasurer, was killed in the fight. Two policemen and two Panthers, including novelist Eldridge Cleaver, were wounded. Cleaver fled the country, jumping bail.

Two others arrested have been convicted.

Four Fatal Stabbings

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The slaying of a sacred cow in the Hazaribagh district of Bihar state touched off violence that resulted in the death of at least four persons, the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported today.

Meeting Set On Saving San Marin Recreation Club

A special meeting of San Marin Rerceation Club members to discuss means of preventing closure of the club will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the club.

The club's owner of record, Sunset International Petroleum Corp., is undergoing bankruptcy proceedings, and the holder of a $250,000 first deed of trust has expressed lack of interest in continuing operation of the club, according to club member Donald M. Van Dyke.

Van Dyke said that a legal representative of G. and R. Associates has said that the company will gain title to the club, subject to a tax lien for $28,000 in back taxes and that it will close the club unless arrangements can be made to operate it without further expense to the company.

Payment of about $17,000 to purchase furnishings and other personal property of the club, which would otherwise go to creditors of Sunset and payment of a 20 per cent installment on back taxes must be made to keep the club open, Van Dyke said.

An interim operating agreement to insure club property as a result of keeping the club open would also be required, he said.

Purchase of the club has been attempted by the San Marin Improvement Association, of which Van Dyke is president, but the association has no plan for keeping the club open, he said.

Kentfield Board To Consider Bids

The Kentfield School District board will hold a special meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School to consider bids received for the planning, paving and grading of Adeline E. Kent School.

This is the only item on the agenda, according to the district board.

Constabulary Slates Mill Valley Concert

The Frontier Constabulary, a country rock group, will appear in concert Friday at 9 p.m. at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Methods For Canning Fresh Peaches

Whether a little or a lot is saved by canning peaches depends upon the cost and quality of the fruit. Either way you come out ahead. Select sound, firm, fully-ripe, unbruised, well-flavored medium-sized peaches, sweeten them as you like.

If posible, choose freestone peaches for canning. They are easier than cling to pit and peel. You will need 2½ to 3 pounds of peaches for each quart to be canned.

A canner is a deep kettle or pot for processing (means cooking) jars of food. It must have a lid and be deep enough for water to cover tops of jars one or more inches without boiling over. It also needs a rack to hold jars a bit above the bottom. If you have no rack, use those small wires which come with plastic food bags to fasten together screw bands of two-piece metal caps (not wide mouth) to fit bottom of canner. Fold over, rather than twist, ends of wires. The creation will be wobbly, but it works and doesn't hurt the bands.

A STEAM-PRESSURE canner may be used as a water bath, but it is better to substitute a pot lid for the pressure cover. If cover is used DO NOT fasten it down and DO leave vent wide open. If deep enough, a pressure saucepan may be used in the same manner. Some persons process peaches under steam pressure but doing so involves the dual dangers of overcooking and failure, due to the short processing time, to drive enough air from the jars to insure a strong vacuum seal.

Use regular home canning jars. Re-using commercial food containers is risky business, a the sealing surface of many of them is not right for a home canning lid.

Do these things before preparing peaches:

Examine jars and wash in hot, soapy water. Do not use wire brush, scrubbing pad, or any other metal object. Metal scratches glass, and scatches cause breakage from thermal shock. Rinse jars and leave in hot water until needed; they do not need boiling. Put lids in small pan and pour boiling water over them — set aside until needed.

MAKE SYRUP — ¾ to 1 cupful is needed for each quart of fruit. For 5½ cups of medium-sweet syrup, use 3 cups cane or beet sugar to 4 cups water. Boil 3 or 4 miutes and keep hot until needed. More or less sugar may be used; and if you like the taste, you may use honey as one half of the sugar. Light corn syrup may also be substituted for one half of the cane or beet sugar.

Fill canner half full of water and put over heat. Have ready more hot water if needed to cover jars after putting them into canner.

Measure cold water into a container and add 1 tablespoon each of salt and vinegar for each 2 quarts water. This is to drop peaches into after each is pitted and peeled.

Put kettle of water on to heat for scalding peaches.

Sort peaches. Set underripe ones aside to can another day; overripe ones will do for jam.

Wash, rinse and drain peaches.

Run cold water in sink for cooling fruit after scalding.

Unless you have a wire basket, put 8 or 10 peaches in center of large square of cheesecloth, gather up the four corners, and lower peaches into boiling water. Let stay ½ to 1 minute to loosen skins; then, quickly dip into cold water — do not let stand in water.

WHEN NUMBER of peaches estimated for a canner load have been scalded, handle one peach at a time, cut it in half, discard pit; and if you want a product of highest quality, use a teaspoon to scrape out the red fibers. That pretty "pinky-red" usually becomes a dingy brown after canning; it doesn't darken the rest of the peach. Remove skin and drop peach into the salt and vinegar water.

Pour about ½ cup hot syrup into jar to drive air upward. Add peaches in overlapping layers, cut side down, to fill jar to ½ inch of top; then, add enough hot syrup to cover peaches. Gently run knife down between jar and fruit to bring any air bubbles up. Be careful not to scrape side of jar. During processing some — but not all — air is forced from the jar. If too much is left in, the fruit may discolor or the jar fail to seal; ½ teaspoon ascorbic acid added before jar is closed helps fruit hold color. Ascorbic acid mixtures should be used as directed on the can. Wipe off anything spilled on top or threads of jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight enough to hold lid firmly against top of jar.

Slowly lower jars into steaming water. Keep every jar upright so that the entire bottom will touch the water at the same instant; this lessens the danger of breakage. Put lid on canner and bring water to a full — but not furious — boil; then, start counting processing time. Keep water boiling at an even rate.

WHEN PROCESSING is completed, remove jars and stand them a few inches apart — out of a draf. — to cool. Wait about 12 hours, remove bands, and press center of lid; if it is down or goes down and stays, the jar is sealed. If jar has not sealed, check top for nicks and fragments of food. If jar is okay and there is little or no impression of top of jar in the sealing compound, either the band was not screwed tight enough, the jars not properly processed, or the neck of the jar was too short for the band. If there is a deep impression in the sealing compound, leaving too much air in the jar or a nick in the sealing surface is most likely the cause of trouble. If there is a nick, turn peaches into another jar and reprocess with fresh lid for 15 to 20 minutes.

Go Traveling In The World With Ground Beef Dishes

Nourish the traveling bug that develops when the temperature warms by embarking on a tasty trip to a foreign land. Take the tour via ground beef, excellent with flavoring of any continent. It's available without prior reservation and at reasonable rates.

Travel can be varied as one may go via meat loaves, pies, balls, casseroles or other mixtures. Many countries can be included in the timetable. Italy is an easy stop-over with lasagna and Armenia with cabbage rolls. But our near neighbor Mexico is a logical first on the schedule.

Mexicali Meat Pie is typical of this region according to Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This is a chili-flavored ground beef pie with a cornmeal crust.

She also recommends a visit to Germany on this passport-free trip. Meat Balls Heidelberg capture the lively air of this riverside town with beef, caraway seed, vinegar, bread, sauerkraut and potatoes — all German favorites.

MEXICALI MEAT PIE

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon lard or drippings
- 1 can (16 ounces) chili with beans
- 1 cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup cornmeal
- 4 to 6 tablespoons lard
- 2 to 4 tablespoons cold water
- ½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Cook ground beef, onion and green pepper in lard or drippings until ground beef is lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Combine ground beef mixture and chili. To make pastry, mix flour, salt and cornmeal. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add water and mix lightly floured surface to ⅛-inch thickness. Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Crimp edges. Spoon ground beef mixture into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) 15 minutes. Sprinkle with shredded cheese and continue baking 5 minutes. 6 servings.

BEEF BALLS HEIDELBERG

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 1½ teaspoons caraway seed
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1½ cups rye bread crumbs
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ⅓ cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 can (16 ounces) sauerkraut
- 1 can (14 ounces) potatoes, drained
- Chopper parsley, if desired

Mix ground beef, caraway seed, vinegar, crumbs, onion, milk, egg and salt. Shape mixture into 18 balls about 1½ inches in diameter. Brown slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add sauerkraut and potatoes and cook slowly 10 minutes or until heated through. Sprinkle chopped parsley over top, if desired. 6 servings.

Chicken Cooked With Wine Flavoring

For company dinner or just for family enjoyment, first-day-farm-fresh chicken is always a favorite. Served and seasoned with California Chablis, Family Style Skillet Chicken pleases both guest and hostess because the whole flavorful meal can be prepared ahead and refrigerated while everyone enjoys the day's activities.

Chicken is an economical food that never seems to lose its appeal. Perhaps it's because there are so many delightful ways to add new flavor and distinction. One of the favorite ways is to accent the mild chicken flavors with California Chablis or another white dinner wine. Though the alcohol in wine vaporizes during the simmering, the wine's essence remains in the chicken and sauce to give it new character and distinction.

The same wine (or a different California white) at the table increases the enjoyment of the meal — accenting again the subtle flavors. Chablis is one of that state's distinctive white dinner wines.

Chablis and other white dinner wines are most often served well chilled. Usually two hours in the refrigerator will bring them to satisfactory temperature. However, when several bottles are being chilled at the same time it is well to allow an extra hour or so and store the bottles in a way that allows cold air to circulate around them.

Once the wine is selected and put in the refrigerator to chill, attention turns to the chicken. If there are family or holiday activities, preparation may be done in two parts, or the whole efficient operation may be done at once.

FAMILY STYLE SKILLET CHICKEN

(4 or 5 servings)

- 6 to 8 pieces cut up/frying chicken
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
- ½ teaspoon seasoned pepper
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- ½ cup Chablis
- ½ cup chicken broth
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 1 large tomato, sliced
- 1 cup sliced mushrooms
- ¼ cup pimiento stuffed green olives halved
- ¼ cup thinly sliced green pepper

Toss chicken pieces with flour, paprika, salt and pepper. Brown slowly in skillet in heated oil. Add wine and broth; add onion. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Add tomatoes, mushrooms, olives and green pepper. Continue cooking, covered, 15 minutes longer or until chicken is tender. Taste and add a little additional salt, if needed. Serve with boiled potatoes dressed with chopped parsley.

Here is another excellent wine treatment for chicken.

BAKED SESAME CHICKEN

(Serves 4 to 5)

- 1 (3-lb.) frying chicken.
- ⅓ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup oil
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds

Have chicken cut up for frying. Sift flour with salt, paprika and pepper, and dip chicken pieces in it. Brown slowly in heated oil. Sprinkle with onion, pour wine over, and sprinkle with sesame seeds. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes, until tender. Thicken drippings with a little cornstarch if desired.

A wine flavored accompaniment is an excellent way to add even more sparkle to a chicken dinner. A vegetable aspic salad and tapioca cream dessert are especially good when accented with California wine.

VEGETABLE ASPIC SALAD

(Makes about 6 servings)

- ½ cup beef or chicken broth or water
- ½ cup California Burgundy or other red dinner wine
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 envelope plain gelatin
- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce with onions
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup grated carrot
- 1 cup finely shredded cabbage

Combine broth, wine, wine vinegar and gelatin. Heat, stirring, until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat, add remaining ingredients. Spoon into individual molds or small ring mold. Chill until firm. Serve on crisp salad greens with your favorite dressing.

ORANGE TAPOICA CREAM

(Makes 5 to 6 servings)

- 1¾ cups milk
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- 1 egg, separated
- ¼ cup California Muscatel
- 2 large oranges

Combine milk, 2 tablespoons of the sugar, salt, tapioca and lightly beaten egg yolk. Cook, stirring frequently, until mixture just reaches boiling. Remove from heat. Beat egg white until stiff, and beat in remaining sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time. Fold into hot pudding. Stir in wine. Cool, stirring once after about 15 minutes. Peel oranges and section. Fold oranges into cream mixture. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Party Style Pork Chops Are A Treat

Pre-portioned and well-liked, pork chops are worthy of festive occasions as well as family meals.

Rib or loin pork chops are a good choice for any special menu.

DINNER PARTY PORK CHOPS

- 6 pork rib or loin chops, cut ¾ to 1-inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tablespoons raisins
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- 1 can (8½ ounces) sliced pineapple
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 avocado, peeled

Brown pork chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper. Add water and raisins. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until well done. Remove chops. Mix sugar and cornstarch. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Add pineapple syrup and vinegar to sugar-cornstarch mixture and stir into cooking liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Return chops. Cut pineapple slices in half crosswise and add to chops. Cut avocado into 12 wedges and place on pineapple slices. Spoon sauce over all. Cover and cook slowly 5 minutes. 6 servings.

Fruits To Wash

Wash and dry fruits that have smooth, firm skins —apples, pears and plums —before storing them in the refrigerator. Do not wash grapes, berries or cherries before storing. Instead, wash them just before using.

Crisper Capacity

When buying a refrigerator, check the capacity of the crisper —capacity usually is stated in quarts, but also determine if crispers are deep and long enough to hold the vegetables you purchase most often.

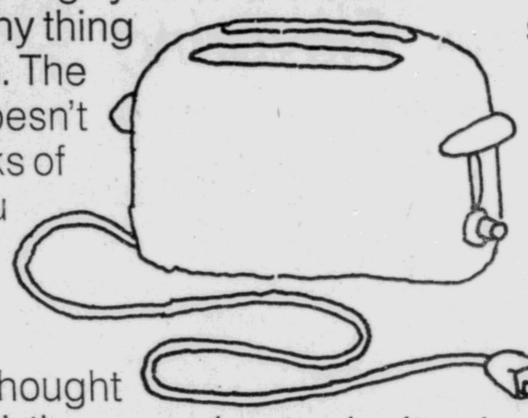
When a market takes the stamps away...

Stamps don't cost much. No matter what some folks would have you believe...Blue Chip Stamps cost your grocer about 15¢ on a $10 sale. In other words, the price of a 45¢ jar of peanut butter doesn't change by a penny with or without stamps.

What it really means when a market takes the stamps away is that something else is also about to go away. Sometimes it's service. Sometimes hours. Sometimes the choice of brands. The discount market is no longer a full-service market.

And when you're asked to save on your own for the things you need around the house, a funny thing starts to happen. The small change doesn't add up like books of stamps. And you don't seem to get that toaster as fast or as easily as you thought you would. And the new sheets don't come along quite as often.



For some of us, the best thing about stamps is that they help us to save. Stamps literally save us a lot of money.

So when a market tells you they're saving you money by giving up stamps, ask them what else they're giving up.

Stamps are a valuable service to a shopper. They go along with the other advantages you expect from a full-service supermarket. And no matter what some folks would have you believe, it pays to shop where you get them.

BLUE CHIP

An Original Nuptial Dance And Vows

Before the wedding ceremony began the 50 or so guests lounged on the shady garden lawn of the Ross hillside home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson and enjoyed the music of two flutists and a violinist.

A girl wearing a long velvet skirt picked flowers from the garden, and one barefoot man sat yoga-style sketching the proceedings.

Then the musicians changed pace and suddenly the bride appeared. Penelope Lagios, artistic director of San Francisco Dance Theatre, was wearing a long green panne velvet dress and a white and green sequin mask with black feathers. Then the bridegroom, Kelly Johnson, general manager of the San Francisco Dance Theatre, came into view wearing a brown panne velvet toga and matching white mask .

They danced "a biographical dance of our relationship," reflecting their commitment to dance and commencing their marriage. Interpretation was highly personal to the couple, and it ended with a long embrace broken when Penelope's eight-year-old daughter, Leda, brought forward the rings.

She had been sitting at the "altar," a spot in the center of the lawn marked by two bouquets of flowers.

The three then exchanged kisses and embrasses and returned to the "altar" where the nuptial rites were read by the Rev. John Graulich, who is associated with the Unitarian Fellowship of Marin.

He read selections from Shakespeare, an Elizabeth Barrett Browning sonnett, a poem by E. E. Cummings and D.H. Lawrence's "The Pain Of Loving Is Almost More Than I Can Bear."

Then he popped open a champagne bottle and shared a glass with the couple who had been lounging before him with the daughter during the ceremony.

Afterward guests sat on the lawn chatting and eating turkey, fruit salad, breads, Greek pastry and drinking champagne.

Penelope is the daughter of Mrs. Eugenia Kilgore of San Francisco and George Lagios of Patras, Greece, and Kelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Henderson is a member of the Board of Trustees of San Francisco Dance Theatre.

LOUNGING ON the lawn as the Rev. John Graulich reads the nuptial rites are the bridegroom, Kelly Johnson, general manager of the San Francisco Dance Theatre, the bride's daughter by a previous marriage, Leda, and the bride, the former Penelope Lagios, artistic director of the San Francisco Dance Theatre.

PERFORMING A "biographical dance of our relationship" are Penelope Lagios and Kelly Johnson, who were married Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson in Ross. The bride, wearing a long green panne velvet dress and a green and white sequin mask with black feathers, and the bridegroom, in a brown panne velvet toga with a matching mask, reflected their commitment to dance and the commencement of their marriage in the dance performed prior to the reading of the nuptial rites.

'SILENT SUPPORT'

Is Women's Lib For Real?

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Is the Women's Liberation Movement a flash in the pan?

Was the strike today just a chance to let off steam? The answer to both questions is no.

Women's liberation crusaders who are working for legislative changes don't expect to go away until they thoroughly have rocked the status quo.

Some proofs:

—Betty Friedan, organizer of the National Organization for Women, NOW, and founder of the National Women's Strike, sees it as just the beginning. NOW's membership shot up 100 per cent in the last six months, from 3,000 to 6,000 in 102 cities. Ten per cent of the membership is male.

—Mrs. Bruce Benson, president of the league of Women Voters, told UPI from her home in Amherst, Mass., that the women's fight has penetrated Amerian society deeper than the picketing and demonstrations that get headlines. Mrs. Benson feels there is a lot of "silent support" — a silent majority that supports the liberation-equality movement but doesn't sound off.

—THOUGH NOT IDENTIFIED with NOW, the Young Women's Christian Association, in triennial convention this year, pledged to beef up its crusade for a better deal for women, calling for everything from abortion reform to child-care assistance for working mothers.

—Robey Lyle, secretary of the Lucy Stone League, an organization crusading for equal rights for women since females got the vote, doesn't approve of radical tactics but admires the speed with which the women's liberation movement is moving. Among other things, the Lucy Stoners want women to keep their maiden names when they marry.

Even before Betty Friedan let her strike cat out of the bag last spring, the journal, College and University Business, turned over one issue to women's rights.

Authorities cautioned higher education leaders the woman-power movement of the 1970s had as much storm potential as the Black Power movement of the 1960s.

The educators called for greater opportunities for women in high places in the universities and for changes in course offerings and hours — especially to suit the needs of students who also were mothers.

The matter of women's liberation early this year also came in for attention by other journals, including the American Scholar, journal of Phi Beta Kappa.

THE MOVEMENT got its biggest shot in the arm when the House passed equal rights legislation. It still must go to the Senate, rate a presidential signature and then gain approval by several dozen state legislatures.

The House also has before it a proposal to allow husbands to give their wives $25 a week to put in a pension fund — that's $1,300 a year pension fund.

If this proposal ever sees its way through the legislative halls, the money hubby gives wife won't be counted as taxable income that year. It will have the effect of reducing his federal tax bite.

Some index of the penetration of the movement into U.S. society also comes from an analysis of sponsors recruited for the National Women's Strike Coalition for Equality. They included an official of the national board of the YWCA, Helen Southard; Reps. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii and Shirley Chisholm D-N.Y., and Bella Abzug, Democratic nominee for Congress from New York and head of Women Strike for Peace.

Other sponsors are powers in the League of Women Voters, Radical Feminists, and Women Feminists in the Arts. Also in the ranks: attorneys, doctors of education, municipal officials, theologians, actresses, authors, playwrights.

LIBERATION FEVER, which started showing in the late 60s, even struck nuns. Notable among their cries for freedom now was a chorus of "oh, yes, we will" by a whole convent full of them in Los Angeles — rejecting an official pronouncement they could not change from medieval costumes to contemporary clothes.

Among the nuns, there's Dr. Jacqueline Wexler — who left her job as president of St. Mary's College in South Bend, Ind., adopted street clothes, left the order, married, moved to New York and, fully liberated, once more, is the president of a college — this time Hunter College in Manhattan.

Liberated nuns in street clothing took jobs as detectives, joined the Peace Corps, and otherwise left their cloisters. Once the equal rights legislation got started through Congress, male-only bars were invaded and a housewife on Long Island moved to join the fire department.

The University of Oklahoma announced next summer women will be admitted to its Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps.

And rather than waiting to be picketed into a reform of its abortion policies, the Defense Department directed its worldwide military hospitals to provide abortions and surgical sterilization service for all military personnel and their dependents, regardless of state or local laws.

Two physicians, one of whom may be a psychiatrist, must agree the procedure is necessary — either medically indicated or for reasons involving mental health.

In a spot survey nationwide, UPI bureaus found women's liberation activity ranging from hot to cold. In West Virginia, there is no evidence of bra-burning or anything else.

IN THE ST. LOUIS area, there are about six women's lib units and most of their activities have been discus-

She Voted That First Time In 1920

Miss Margaret Hatch of Mill Valley, now 75 and a member of the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, voted in 1920, when American women got their first chance to cast a ballot nationally.

"I'm sure that I voted that first time . . . but I just don't actually remember doing it," she says. "I have voted in every election for the past 50 years.

"In the 1920s we had quite a bit of propserity, a carefree time; that was why we were not as concerned with politics as we were 10 years later," recalls Miss Hatch, who moved to San Francisco 50 years ago and to Mill Valley in 1935.

"In that age young people weren't so close to politics as the young are today.

"I was typical of a lot of young people — the product of family and work. I was much more interested in my own personal career as business librarian for the Standard Oil Co. of California and coming to the Bay Area to see and do and learn about San Francisco, and I had the general enjoyment of life that the young have.

"It was not until 1930 that I and my friends became interested. We did know young people who were affected by the depression, and the 1930s gave us a real start in paying more attention to politics.

Miss Hatch joined the League of Women Voters about 1950 because it was "doing such good work."

"I really became interested in the political scene, but it was not until I retired in 1959 that I could go to meetings.

"Today's young people hear much more about politics and it affects them. I think it's fine that they are more close to politics today."

Miss Hatch says she never marched in suffrage parades, as did the late Mrs. William Kent of Kentfield, whose husband was a Congressman at the height of the suffrage movement. Mrs. Kent's enthusiasm for women's rights landed her in jail, but what really bothered her was that her husband used his influence to get her out.

The League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, which honored the memory of Mrs. Kent at its heritage tea last year on the 50th anniversary of its founding,

Linda Rankin To Be Bride In Petaluma

The Rev. and Mrs. Henry N. Rankin of Petaluma have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Dennis Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hansen, also of Petaluma.

The future bride is the sister of Jonathan and Wesley Rankin and the granddaughter of Ernest R. Rev of Santa Rosa. She was graduated from Petaluma High School and attended Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and Santa Rosa Junior College. Linda is employed by Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma.

Also a graduate of Petaluma High School, Dennis attended Santa Rosa Junior College and will be a student at Sonoma State College in the fall. He is the brother of Juliana Hansen of Petaluma, Mrs. William Thoma of Mill Valley and Norman Hansen of Penngrove. His grandmothers are Mrs. Clara Hansen and Mrs. Arthur Evans, both of Petaluma.

A Cop's Wife Describes His Life From Her Point Of View

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for telling a reader that the actions of one bad cop aren't representative of all. Here is a little something I hope you will print, in answer to her:

What Is A Cop?

Most of the time, perhaps, he's just a fellow in a uniform who waves you through a busy intersection. Then suddenly one day he is also the man whose fast, skilled hands on an inhalator bring your baby boy back to life.

He's the fellow who gave you a parking ticket that day you didn't see the sign. But he's also the one who pulled your parents out of their burning, smashed car.

He's the man who spoke tough the time you went through the stoplight. But he's also the genial, friendly guardian the kids joke with at the school crossing.

He's the good Samaritan who knows first-hand of the hardships in your town, and who digs down into his own thin wallet for the price of a hot meal for the youngsters left without food.

He's the bearer of sad tidings when tragedy comes; the untangler of traffic in blizzards, the Solomon who settles squabbles between neighbors.

He's the head of a family, who walked into a darkened warehouse the other night and dutifully let the men back in the shadows fire the first shot.

It's comforting to know, as we sit in our easy chairs on a stormy evening, that over 200,000 Americans like him have been willing to pin on a badge and agree to make our troubles their careers. — A COP'S WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

We are glad to see our daughter dating a nice likable boy, as she has been rather introverted and didn't seem to have as many good times as she might.

However, without making this boy feel unwelcome, how can we tactfully get him to leave when his afternoon visits stretch past our dinner hour?

Is it unreasonable to suggest that our daughter tell him it's time for her to help with dinner. He seems to have no deadline. — INEXPERIENCED

DEAR INEX:

A boy usually gets the message when the girl's mother calls her in for dinner, especially if she adds, "Johnny, can you join us?"

(And if he takes the invitation rather than the hint — well, nice try anyway. Maybe he'll invite her out for hamburgers tomorrow.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Several weeks ago I wrote to your column about the importance of young and old learning to float on their backs before they even learn to swim, and to be especially sure they're adept at floating before they attempt any long-distanc swimming. I didn't see my letter printed, so I'll try again.

Too many people misjudge distances in lakes or rivers. They tire, then they become frantic. Thus drownings occur in tragic numbers.

Swimming is the best and most enjoyable sport of all, but so many panic in unknown situations because they don't realize how long they can float. — OLD SWIMMER

DEAR O.S.:

As one old swimmer to another — you're right. More swimming rules; always practice the buddy system, and if you're trying for distance, have a boat or life belt handy. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so f you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Central Marin League president Mrs. James Good of San Rafael was interviewed on radio KTIM to commemorate Suffrage Day and the national League which grew out of the suffrage movement.

Mrs. Kenneth Kaulum of Mill Valley, Southern Marin league president, said that the league locally was lending support to the Equal Rights Amendment, now headed for a vote in the Senate.

Is The Drinking Water Safe?

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — In 1965, some 20,000 residents of Riverside and Madera in California drank tap water and got sick to their stomachs. Several died.

In 1968, one-third of the 600 residents of Angola, N.Y., drank tap water. They got sick too, although none died.

Last year, the varsity football squad at Holy Cross College in Massachusetts drank sewage-contaminated tap water. Every member came down with stomach disorders.

The message is obvious. Our water is worse than it should be. It's been bad for years. It's not bad everywhere, but in some places it's unfit to drink. And we're not doing enough to make it better.

THE MESSAGE took a long time to register. But last week, signs appeared that consumers and government are beginning to wake up.

For example, the New England regional director of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare warned some 35,000 Vermonters to boil their water before they drink it.

"The situation is very serious," he said. "Vermont has relied on the pristine purity of nature all these years and didn't realize these contaminants were creeping in."

He was responding to a U.S. Public Health Service report that 69 Vermont water systems are serving up water that is "undesirable — unfit to drink."

The PHS studied 969 systems, supplying water to 18 million Americans across the nation. It found that 14 per cent of these consumers — nearly three million — are drinking inferior water. For 900,000, the water was rated potentially hazardous.

THE PHS found that only 59 per cent of the systems deliver water that meets federal quality standards. But even if his community supplies pure water, the consumer must beware of pollution from household plumbing — which showed up in disproportionate amounts in 36 per cent of the study's 2,600 in-the-house samples.

Many of the problems plague small water treatment systems the worst. Big-city water supplies usually are of adequate quality. But even so, PHS investigators discovered two systems, each serving more than 50,000 persons, which neither disinfect, clarify, nor even buy chlorine-treated water.

Water experts dicussed these and other problems last week at the fifth International Water-Quality Symposium in Washington. One of the participants was Dr. Jack I. Bregman, former deputy assistant Secretary of the Interior for Water Quality Research and now a private consultant.

"THE FURTHER we go into it, the more unpleasant surprises we're going to get. Even water experts did not know the extent of mercury pollution until they read recent disclosures in their own newspapers," he said.

However, Bregman added, the situation can only be helped by massive doses of publicity. This will turn government's attention to a cure.

There is little the federal government can do to affect water quality directly; the only water systems it monitors are those which supply water to the trains, planes, buses and trucks which cross state lines. It is at the local-government level, where water purification actually takes place, that the consumer should make his voice heard.

"On an immediate basis," said Bregman, "the consumer can demand that his local community properly analyzes his local drinking water."

"The average citizen has to yell and scream and protest — and let his Congressman know he wants something done."

Five Women In The Tulsa 'Fun And Games Department'

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — They call themselves the fun and games department.

They are the five women members of the Tulsa Park and Recreation Department, and they make up a majority. There are only two men, so guess who runs the show?

The females are responsible for playgrounds, playfields and recreation centers in their respective districts.

"It is a strange but interesting job," says Mary Frances Morrisey, a radio production graduate of Tulsa University with a minor in journalism.

"It's kind of like the landlady of a huge apartment complex," Mrs. Morrisey said. "We're called upon to do everything from going underground to adjust a water spray, write work orders and rescue straying children who find themselves locked in one of the centers at closing time."

The fun and game girls also make deals.

One came in the solving of a problem — where to get some weight-lifting equipment. They contacted some men in a small apartment near a recreation center.

The men didn't have room for their equipment so they were persuaded to leave it at the center where everyone gets the benefit of the body-building exercisers.

Courses at the centers range from slimnastics, painting, ceramics, oil painting, wrestling, archery, swimming, guitar, flag football and basketball.

This season the fun and games bunch has added a youth theater company. The company provides opportunities for young people to explore every area of the performing arts and bring together teen-agers and young adults who have an interest in theater.

"Recreation is an end in itself," says Mrs. Morrisey. "But it should also provide education, physical and mental health and social contact."

"Just plain getting along with each other" is important, she says.

"If you go into one of these programs with just recreation in mind, you can end up with one that does not accomplish anything more than just 'something to do.'"

She sees recreation as a sort of "social rehabilitation" and something which should be done by choice in leisure time. If a person is forced to do it, then "it ceases to be recreation."

The women admit they have their work cut for them. They are called on for a variety of chores from climbing into manholes to hurrying up a ladder to check an air vent. All, while wearing nylons.

Mrs. Morrisey is the recreation publiciay "man" and says she finds time to play golf, ski, play tennis, go boating and play the guitar.

The other women in the fun and games cast:

—Darlene Batt, a descendant of Chief John Ross of the Cherokee Nation. A college graduate, she also is a cattle rancher and someday hopes to convert her ranch near Tulsa into a semi-dude spot.

—Juanita Harris, mother of four and grandmother of two, also practices the recreational way of life she preaches and helps operate. Camping, boating, swimming and jogging occupy her spare time.

—Julie Bliss, with a degree in social work, has five children and between them and her job still finds time to swim and play golf.

—Donna Pond, the department's program specialist, raises quarter horses as well as Doberman show dogs.

Novato Business Men And Women To Honor New Teachers Tuesday

The Novato Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold their annual get-acquainted champagne reception for new teachers and business men and women in Novato from 4:30 to 6 p.m., Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

Mr. and Mrs. John Trumbull are co-chairmen for the reception for the 33 new teachers in the Novato Unified School District. They are planning to have a host for each new teacher.

MOTHERS OF Multiple Sibling Club members will meet tomorrow at 7:45 p.m. at the Petaluma home of Mrs. Clarence Conklin.

Mrs. Richard Gambonini is the new president of the MOMS Club,and other officers are Mmes. Clarence Conklin, first vice president; Robert Allan, second vice president Larry Hampton, secretary: Fred Owens, treasurer; Gerald Ricksecker, editor of "Multiple Press."

THE KICK-OFF luncheon for the Mill Valley Community Church Club's annual "opportunity sale," which is being held for the 45th year, took place today in the parish hall of the church.

Members started at 10 a.m. with a work party setting up the sale preceding the noon luncheon.

Triple C president, Mrs. Joseph Brewster, announces that Mrs. Arthur Kermoyan will be chairman for the sale to be held Sept. 2 through 5 in the parish hall during the hours of 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. except on Saturday, when hours will be 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Home-made baked goods will be available throughout the sale.

A FASHION show will be held in the patio area of Pacheco Plaza in Ignacio Saturday from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. The show will be a benefit for the Ignacio Teen-age Club. Models will include club members, adults and small children. No admission will be charged for the community event.

Women's Lib—Working For Changes

sions, what one member calls "conscious level raising, dealing with their hangups about themselves."

Some women have been soliciting signatures on statements of support for a law prohibiting male and female designations on want ads and hope to get 10,000 signatures.

Groups in Missouri feel the movement is a little slow compared with East and West coasts and Chicago.

In South Carolina, the Grimke Sisters Union, a liberation group in Columbia, issued a statement in April that it would demonstrate at a beauty pareant and an AAU basketball tournament there. However, the demonstrations didn't take place.

The women said beauty pageants degrade women. The charge is a frequent one among women liberators nationwide.

In San Francisco, local women's lib picketed a meeting of the American Catholic Bishops in May. The male reporter who called for a progress report was told — "We will not speak with a male reporter."

Evidence of women's lib growth in the Minneapolis, St. Paul area: a member of the women's artists group and women against male supremacy says the best measure of impact of the movement is a doubling in the last three months of the circulation of the Twin Cities Female Liberation Newsletter. It is the umbrella for five liberation groups.

GROUPS HAVE picketed a Minneapolis newspaper to oppose its policy of separate male and female ads. Also picketed: a sauna. The management, said the pickets, misused women. Most noticeable is the wrath unleashed on Twin Cities billboards, denouncing the way ad agencies use women's bodies to sell products. One billboard was dotted with spray paint and/or holes.

In Atlanta, NOW has about 100 members, mostly 25 to 50 years of age, professional women generally —social workers, teachers, government employes.

Campaigns have centered on equal pay for equal work and a protest to a department store manager about an all-male restaurant. The women are working privately for equal employment, for an end to female and male help wanted ads.

The biggest recent thing was picketing of the Salvation Army after that organization refused to grant support to a woman lieuenant who was the sole support of children. The army said pensions apply only to men.

No bra-burning in Atlanta. "Personally, I don't think bra-burning is relevant," said Mrs.Kemmon Garofalo, of NOW. "If bras were banned tomorrow, women still wouldn't be liberated."

In Iowa, there are women's lib chapters on the University of Iowa and Iowa State campuses, Ames and Cedar Falls, respectively. The president of the Iowa Civil Liberties Union is leader of the liberation movement in the state.

Susan Abercrombie, public relations director of NOW in Pittsburgh, Pa., said her group feels it is more important to find out what is really going on in the movement than to hold demonstrations.

THE NOW GROUP had 15 representatives from Pittsburgh in Washington, D.C., to support the constitutional amendment for equal rights when it came to a vote in the House.

The start of equal rights legislation on its way to becoming a part of the constitution appears to be the biggest gain of the women's lib movement so far. But it may open a Pandora's box.

Legal experts argue that women wanting equal rights also are asking for equal responsibilities. And that would appear to include the draft.

Jacquie Ceballos, on the national board of NOW, mother of four, and separated from her husband, commented on the question of equal rights to be drafted:

"If women are sent to war there probably won't be so much slaughtering of people. Those who give life and nurture it won't want to slaughter.

"But there are those in the movement who say —how do we know that women, when they get the chance, won't be just as vicious as men?"

Oregon Wedding For Miss Klass

Living in Portland, Ore., are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wall, who were married Saturday at Christ Episcopal Church in Lake Oswego, Ore.

The bride is the former Diana W. Klass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klass of Corte Madera.

Maid of honor was Jill Sweningsen of La Habra, and bridesmaids were Susan Harper of Sherwood, Ore., Selina Mwadira of Salisbury, Rhodesia, and Donna Reeve of Berkeley.

J. Robert Wall of Corvallis, Ore., was his brother's best man and guests were ushered to their seats by Diana's brother, Fred Klass Jr., and the bridegroom's brothers, William P Jones of Estacada, Ore., and Tim Wall of Coos Bay, Ore.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church. The couple went on a wedding trip to Glenden Beach, Ore.

Diana was graduated from La Habra High School and Lewis and Clark College in Portland. Charles is a graduate of Marshfield High School in Coos Bay and Lewis and Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Jones of Coos Bay are the bridegroom's parents, and Mrs. Steven Hanson of Longview, Wash., is his sister.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

SIMPLY FOLLOW THE ARROWS

Marin artists Michael Bry and Carol Herschleb apply final dabs of paint to exit signs for the Sausalito Art Festival, planned for Sept. 5, 6 and 7. Art exhibits in the morning and evening hours will precede late night music concerts. Sponsors of the festival, to be at the Sausalito Arts Association Center, 630 Nevada Street, ask that patrons use the Sausalito-Marin City turnoff from Highway 101 to leave and enter Sausalito from the north. Parking will be available at the Martin Luther King School, where shuttle buses will originate.

Marinwood CSD Rejects Fee Proposal

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night rejected a bid by sponsors of a fund-raising event to obtain a reduction in fees charged for use of the community center.

The Marinwood Sunny Hills Guild had asked the board to lower the minimum $50 for four hours fee to $35 because the guild plans to use the center only two hours.

Genevieve T. Bolding, business manager and secretary of the district, reported that the board felt granting the fee variance would set a precedent for such actions, and denied the application.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

VEHICLES — Adopted a policy stating park and recreation vehicles can be used only for district business and cannot be driven more than 100 miles from the district without permission of the board.

TREE — Approved a proposal for cleaning and filling a partially hollow oak tree in the community park at an estimated cost of $200.

FEES — Increased fees for the tiny tot program from $9 to $11 for district residents and $11 to $14 for nonresidents for the eight-week sessions, but postponed discussion of possible fee increases for recreation programs until Sept. 22 because directors Charles H. Roach and Richard O'Brien were absent.

PARK — Agreed to get in touch with Golden West Savings and Loan Association about the possibility of the association deeding a 6.2-acre parcel of property adjacent to the community park to the district for park use.

Driver Sentenced On Two Charges

James Hudson Lenhart, 38, of Novato, arrested by the California Highway Patrol on misdemeanor marijuana possession and misdemeanor drunken driving after a June 1 chase from Highway 101 down Third Street in San Rafael, has been fined and given a weekend jail sentence.

He was placed on two years' probation, fined $250 and ordered to spend five days in jail on weekends.

Marin City Council Seek Helping Funds

The Marin City Council is seeking funds to help pay the $150 cost of incorporation papers for the community, according to Jack C. Williams, community coordinator.

Persons interested in donating to the cause may contact the Marin City Council office at the Manzanita Center in Marin City, he said.

Led by the one-two punch of a husband-and-wife team, proponents of public access to Corte Madera creekside lost one battle but won another at last night's meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission.

The war, however, was continued to Sept. 8.

The skirmish was over commission consideration of applications by John Moran for variances and architectural approval for a 10-unit apartment development on the north bank of Corte Madera Creek.

The commission first voted against granting the variances and then decided it really hadn't understood the motion.

Commissioner Charles Curley re-explained his motion to grant requested front and rear variances with the condition that a requested sideyard variance be modified to keep the building's roof out of a public utilities easement.

The commission then voted to reconsider the application and Commissioner Leonard S. Rubin switched his vote to join Curley and Victor Donati in granting the variances.

Opponents of the apartment plans, led by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tartaul of 45 via Belardo, Greenbrae, redoubled their efforts as the commission took up consideration of the architectural approval applications.

While they did not win rejection of the application, they did snare a continuance of the application until after a special commission meeting next Tuesday to study in general overall plans for the north bank of the creek.

More than 70 people jammed into Larkspur City Hall for last night's meeting, but most of them remained calm and silent through the discussion.

Ann Tartaul read a prepared statement urging the commission to be mindful of "long standing public rights and interests" in the creek area and requesting the city to take action to acquire public use of a small triangular piece of state-owned propetry between the Moran property and the creek, as well as to acquire public access from the nearest public roads to the state land.

Her husband, armed with maps, diagrams, legal citations and facts, also urged the commission to negotiate to obtain public access tot he state property and suggested it could possibly be over the public utilities easement adjoining Moran's property.

He cited a city council directive to the commission that disputes over ownership should be settled in favor of the owner of record and asked Moran if he was the owner of the property.

Moran replied he was, but Tartaul persisted. "Of record?" and Moran admitted he was not the owner of record, but said he had purchased the property and the deeds were signed, but only the formality of recording the transaction was left undone.

Tartaul told the council that the applications for architectural approval state the application must be signed by the recorded owner, but special city attorney Albert Bianchi said there was nothing in city ordinances to back up the requirement.

Moran reminded the commission and audience that there were still lots adjacent to his for sale and suggested anyone so inclined could purchase them for recreation area.

After two-and-a-half hours of discusion of the Moran applications, Picetti moved the architectural approval application be put over to Sept. 8 and the commission agreed unanimously.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

POTTERY SCHOOL — Granted a use permit and architectural approval for a pottery school and outdoor kiln at 484 Magnolia Avenue. The commission denied the application last month because of inadequate parking facilities, but granted it last night when the applicant, Michael Walsh, presented plans providing the required parking.

RENTAL OFFICE — Granted architectural approval to the Schultz Investment Co. for an apartment rental office at Sir-Francis Drake Boulevard and El Portal, but withheld approval of exterior materials until a building permit is applied for.

DRAINAGE — Granted an extension to Sept. 15 from the Sept. 1 deadline for completion of an erosion control system in a ravine above the Escalle property. The system was required under a grading permit previously granted to the Tiscornia Estate.

MEETING — Adjourned to a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at city hall.

3,779 Passengers Ride Ferry On First Full Day

The Golden Gate Bridge District's new ferry between Sausalito and San Francisco carried 3,779 passengers yesterday on its first full day of weekday service.

The vessel, Golden Gate, was to have started weekday service on Aug. 17, but an engine failed early in the afternoon, shutting down the operation until Monday afternoon.

All 21 departures from each terminal were on schedule, reported the district's transit manager, Donald White. The heaviest passenger loads, about 375 persons, were on the 3 and 5:30 p.m. departures from the Ferry Building in San Francisco.

White said that 21 persons took the 6 a.m. ferry from Sausalito, 124 took the 7:20, and 90 took the 8:35, for a total of 235 commuters.

Novatan Treated For Auto Injuries

A Novato man was treated at Marin General Hospital at 3 p.m. yesterday for injuries suffered in an auto accident in San Francisco.

Joseph Moser, 51, of 213 Montego Key, suffered a fractured rib, the hospital reported. Details of the accident were not available.

Arrest Leads To Forgery Suspect

A San Anselmo man wanted by San Rafael police on suspicion of forgery yesterday was booked into Marin County Jail after being arrested Sunday by Sonoma County sheriff's deputies on a traffic charge.

LeRoy Raymond Willey, 39, of 50 Express Street, was held on $500 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Willey rented a car from the Rossi and Hook service station at 902 Irwin Street last Friday, using a lost credit card and signing the cardholder's name to it, police reported.

HOUSECLEANING IN CASCADE CREEK

Framed by a tree's shadowy leaves, workmen scoop silt from Cascade Creek in Old Mill Park, Mill Valley. The work is part of annual preparations for high creek water during the winter rainy season, according to Ross Benson, city director of public works. Similar activity is expected around Marin as wet weather approaches.

Bel Marin Keys Hikes CSD Rate

Bel Marin Keys residents yesterday voted 183 to 86 to increase the community services district tax rate from $1.25 to $3 per $100 assessed valuation.

The district board had set the special election to obtain funds for a silt control project in the Bel Marin Keys lagoons.

Turnout at the polls repesented 53 per cent of the district's 412 registered voters. A simple majority vote was required for passage.

Funds are to be used initially for aerial and topographic surveys followed by a detailed engineering study to determine the type and amount of dredging and other remedial work required to keep the lagoons and connecting waterways clear for navigation, according to Betty L. Zoeller, the board secretary.

The tax rate increase is expected to produce about $71,000 revenue this fiscal year, and $59,000 is available for dredging now, she said.

Suit Filed To Acquire Seashore Lake Ranch

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The U.S. Attorney's office yesterday filed suit in U.S. District Court to acquire the 2,513-acre Lake Ranch in the heart of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The suit seeks condemnation of the entire ranch, including six parcels which have already been sold a prices four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

Rodney H. Hamblin, assistant U.S. attorney and head of the office's land division, said 19 parcel owners and partners are named in the suit in addition to the principal ranch owner, A.W. Sweet of Coos Bay, Ore.

He said the condemnation proceedings were being instituted because negotiations between ranch ownership and the National Park Service have been unfruitful.

If a price cannot be agreed upon out of court, Hamblin said, the case will be tried and a price set by a jury.

The suit does not ask immediate possession of the ranch, he said. Under a policy adopted this year, the government can drop condemnation actions if it believes subsequent jury award is excessive.

Power Failure In North San Rafael, Terra Linda

Many residents in north San Rafael and Terra Linda were late for work this morning because of a large power blackout between 3 a.m. and 5 a.m.

There were 1,800 customers without electricity due to a failure of a 12,000 volt underground cable, said Electric Supt. Leonard O. Robertson of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The company had power restored to 1,500 of the customers by 4:40 a.m. and the remaining 300 by 5:05 a.m., Robertson said.

The cable failed somewhere between E and H street, said Robertson. The outage affected Sun Valley, Rafael Highlands, Rafael Meadows and parts of Terra Linda.

Another failure of a 12,000 volt underground cable came at 7 a.m. today in Unit 1 of the Northgate Shopping Center, cutting power to 50 customers. It was restored at 8:35 a.m. Robertson said.

The cause of both cable failures has not been found, he said.

8-Year-Old Cyclist Injured In Accident

An 8-year-old Fairfax boy was to see his own doctor for injuries suffered yesterday when the bicycle he was riding collided with an automobile.

Fairfax police said Gregory J. Beasley of 16 Napa Avenue suffered a cut face and scrapes on his chest in the collision with a vehicle driven by Lawrence E. Clark, 37, of 1287 McGregor Drive, Petaluma, at 3:10 p.m. no Mono Avenue near Broadway.

State Prison For Would-Be Pusher Of LSD

Andrew Samuel Perri, 21, one of six persons arrested in a 1968 raid on a plush San Anselmo home reportedly equipped for mass production of drugs, today was sentenced to state prison for one-to-five years.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Superior Court refused to accept probation officers' recommendations for probation for the Haight-Ashbury, San Francisco, resident. Perri was convicted by a jury in July of offering to sell 2,000 LSD tablets for $2 each to an undercover narcotics agent.

"This drug destroys the mind and kills . . . there is no more dangerous drug," the judge declared.

Gardiner also ordered $20,000 bail forfeited on a co-defendant, Hamilton B. Henry, 23, who also was found guilty by the jury last month but who has been missing since being freed on bail.

As Perri was led away by bailiffs today, a dozen young men and women in hippie garb left the court, some sobbing openly.

Inmates At Quentin Continue To Strike

San Quentin Prison inmates today again refused to return to their jobs in prison industries after a night of smashing windows and toilet facilities and burning mattresses.

Inmates from two of the prison's four cell blocks did report for their jobs as usual today, according to Irving O. Ritter, business manager at the prison, but most inmates from the other two did not.

Ritter said men from the four cell blocks were taken to the dining room for breakfast at different times this morning, rather than all at once as usual.

Men from the north and west blocks, which had only minor participation in yesterday's work strike, were allowed to go directly from breakfast to their jobs.

South and east cell block inmates were returned to their cells following breakfast and each inmate was asked individually if he wanted to go to his job. Most of the men refused, Ritter said.

Last night, about 100 basins and toilets were destroyed, mattresses burned and windows broken in B section of the south block, Ritter said.

The closing of B section, which houses problem prisoners who are segregated from the rest of the prison population, was among demands presented to Warden Louis S. Nelson during a 10-minute strike Monday.

A strike of 800 men yesterday was ended when guards fired tear gas into the prison yard where the men had congregated.

Pair Seeking Marine World Trip Funds

For many low-income Marin City children whose parents cannot afford vacations or even short trips to recreational areas, summer can be a pretty dull time of year.

And when these youngsters return to school and are faced with the inevitable essay on how they spent their vacation, they have nothing to report.

To make this a memorable summer for between 100 and 150 youngsters two Marin City men who work with young people are attempting to organize a trip to Marine World in Redwood City.

If Daniél Hayden of the Marin City Pre-School and Otis Ames of Project Breakthrough can find the needed $300, the children will go, by bus, on Saturday, Sept. 5.

The two men are going door-to-door in Marin City and other Southern Marin communities asking residents to contribute a dollar toward the trip. Persons wishing to contribute can contact Ames at the Project Breakthrough office or Hayden at the Manzanita Children's Center.

Bagley To Appear On 'Sounding Board'

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, will appear on the KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" tomorrow at 9 a.m. to report on the closing session of the State Legislature and answer questions called into KTIM during the live broadcast.

The program will be repeated by tape-recording, Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

HENRY MARSHALL
New post

Oregon Post To Assistant Tam Principal

Henry A. Marshall, assistant principal of Tamalpais High School, has been named principal of Jefferson High School in Portland, Ore., for the coming year.

Marshall, 37, joined the Tamalpais High staff in 1961 as a biology and physical education teacher. He later was named attendance supervisor and administrative intern before being named dean of boys.

He served as assistant principal the yast year.

He has been associated with a number of youth and civic groups and in January 1969 was named "Bay Area Big Brother of the Year" by the Big Brothers group for his work with youth.

Marshall has been living in San Francisco with his wife and four sons.

Suspect Booked In Weed Probe

A 26-year-old Sausalito man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday for investigation of marjuana cultivation after police discovered a number of the plants when they came to his home on another matter.

Alfred Louis Cito of 35 Lincoln Drive was arrested after police, seeking him on a $45 traffic warrant from Merced County, found five planters containing marijuana plants in the living room of his house.

Five other young people in the house were booked on the same charge, then later released when no complaints were filed.

Cito was freed on $1,000 bail to appear Sept. 1 in Marin Municipal Court.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Two persons received minor injuries yesterday in a motorcycle accident on Paradise Drive near the Tiburon Marine Laboratory, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Marie A. Croze, 21, of San Francisco was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes. The cycle's driver, Ernest F. Howard, 20, of Manhattan Beach, Los Angeles County, suffered cuts and scrapes in the mishap, but apparently did not seek hospital treatment.

Howard told officers he was southbound on Paradise about 4 p.m. when the vehicle skidded in gravel while rounding a curve and fell on its side.

$300,000 For Flood Controls Is Approved

Almost $300,000 worth of flood control improvements in Tamalpais Valley and in the Alto Bowl won the go-ahead from the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The work will be financed by the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone.

Charles L. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said Marin Avenue Creek in Tamalpais Valley will be cleaned, levees installed, and a pump station built at the end of Ross Drive and Linda Way. Cost will be $20,000 to $30,000.

An old box culvert along Patricia Lane near Alto School will be replaced with a new concrete culvert at a cost of about $40,000. A 16-inch concrete pipe will be installed along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks north of East Blithedale Avenue in Alto to drain water from Scott Valley into Richardson Bay. This will cost about $212,000.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

CLAIM — Rejected a $1,547,390 claim by Robert E. McKee Inc., of El Paso, Tex., general contractor for the Hall of Justice, for damages allegedly incurred by McKee because of delays in the construction of the building and including funds withheld from McKee's contract to cover items not completed to the satisfaction of the county.

FLOWER FAIR — Received favorably, but deferred action until next Tuesday on a proposal by Gerald Cahill of San Anselmo that the Hall of Justice and administration wings of Civic Center be used for a flower fair.

WINDFALL — Accepted a $98,000 state subsidy for the county probation department's intensive supervision program, which was discontinued last year. Thomas F. Campanella said this money will be provided even if the county does not reactivate the intensive supervision program. Supervisors decided to use this amount to lower the county tax rate this year.

STRIKE — Continued until next Tuesday a request by the Marin County Human Rights Commission that the county support several clergymen urging the Independent-Journal and striking San Francisco Typographical Union 21 to the bargaining table. County Administrator Alan Bruce said the human rights commission asked for the one-week continuance.

COMMENDATION — Approved a resolution commending Ronald L. Usher for "outstanding work" during his five years as Corte Madera town manager. Usher will leave Sept. 4 to become city manager in Juneau, Alaska.

LIENS — Authorized liens to be placed on two pieces of property for weed cleanup performed by the county. William Timmer will be billed for $230 for his property at Las Gallinas Avenue and Merrydale Road, San Rafael; and R. J. Kutsky $273.25 for cleanup of vacant land at the corner of Camino Del Mar and Drake Way, Inverness.

IN MEMORIAM — Adjourned in memory of Silvio F. Oliva, 83, Novato ranch owner, who died on Aug. 10.

Bel Aire Group Resets Meeting

The Bel Aire Flood Control Zone advisory board meeting, set for tonight has been postponed until Monday.

Charles L. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said the board could not muster a quorum for tonight. The Monday meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at Bel Aire School to discuss hiring a consultant to study the Bel Aire flood control master plan.

Auto Insurance Denial Suit Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California State Automobile Association objects to selling insurance to persons who are not fluent in English, a federal court suit charges.

The California Rural Legal Assistance, in a suit filed Monday, asked $102,000 in damages for Arturo Vasquez, 40, and Andres Cruz, 52, both of Healdsburg.

Both Spanish-speaking men said they had been turned away because they are not fluent in English.

Rezoning Is Approved For Teacher Association Office

An office building for the California Teachers Associaton will be allowed in Santa Venetia on the south side of North San Pedro Road, next to the Marin Jewish Community Center.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved rezoning from the present agricultural to an administrative-professional district by 3-to-0 vote.

The decision reversed a July 27 decision by the Marin County Planning Commission, which deadlocked 3-to-3 and thus turned down the rezoning.

Bert Skaggs of Concord, executive director of the California Teachers Association Council of Marin, said he will occupy the office with several assistants and a couple of secretaries. The CTA will buy the 1.7-acre property from Dr. R. J. Tikker.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he had received no opposition from residents of the area.

"The use of this property is so closely related to other offices in the area such as the Catholic Social Services office that I marvel why this couldn't have been granted by a use permit," said McInnis.

Lightning Provides Dinner Of Sparrows

MONTEARCHI, Italy (UPI)—A bolt of lightning struck a cypress tree today and dropped dinner into the laps of farmers.

They picked up 560 sparrows killed by the lightning. Sparrows are a delicacy in Italy and are eaten usually roasted with mushrooms.

Gottlieb Back In Court In Deeding Ranch To God

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—Folksinger Lou Gottlieb is asking an appeals court to make a ruling that will probably require the wisdom of Solomon and the patience of Job.

At issue is who owns the Morningstar Ranch — Gottlieb or God.

When authorities took Gottlieb to court for allowing allegedly unsanitary hippie shacks to be built on the ranch, he drew up a deed transferring title to the Almighty.

Last Friday, after a lengthy delay, Sonoma County Superior Court Judge Kenneth Eymann issued a final ruling that Gottlieb was still the true owner.

God did not fit the law's definition of a grantee as a personage "capable of taking title," Eymann said.

Tuesday Gottlieb, acting as his own attorney, asked the District Court of Appeal to overturn the ruling.

Integration Plan Includes Part Of Marin

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco, ordered to integrate its schools, wants to include Marin, San Mateo and parts of Santa Clara counties in such a plan.

Alan Nichols, board of education president, made the request in federal court Tuesday before Judge Stanley H. Weigel who said the board was "propagandizing . . . instead of meeting the (integration) questions head on."

The judge took the matter under study.

"If an integration plan is to be stable, effective, financially feasible, educationally sound, and of lasting value, it must encompass more than the city limits of San Francisco and its school district," Nichols' brief asserted.

"It should include substantial portions of both Marin and San Mateo counties, and perhaps the northern part of Santa Clara County," he continued.

"It would be naive to anticipate that a significant number of school districts in other counties will respond favorably to a request from the San Francisco Board of Education that they voluntarily participate in such a plan," the brief added.

"I expect that only the power of this court will be possible to enlist their participation," the brief said in asking 60 days to draw such an integration plan.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked the court to order the board to submit a total integration plan for elementary schools here by January and to implement it by January of 1971.

Riles Hit For Lack Of Billboards

Riles, Rafferty's challenger for the post of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, denied the charge and accused Rafferty of making race "the spear point of his campaign."

James Stratten of San Francisco, Northern California campaign chairman for Rafferty, held a news conference Tuesday "to denounce this decision by Mr. Riles as an insult to black and white."

Stratten, a Negro, said the sole source of his information was a nationally syndicated column by Frank Mankiewicz and Tom Braden. The column, which did not identify its sources, said Riles' advisers had decided the candiate should not put his picture on billboards. Riles issued a statement saying, "We do not even know whether we can afford billboards yet. Their actual design is a full step away."

"What Max Rafferty has done," Riles continued, "is to use the mechanics of phony press conferences as a peg to bring up the race issue."

"I am a Negro," said Riles. "My supporters and my campaign organization are neither flaunting nor hiding the fact. I am campaigning as anyone else would for this high office. In contrast, it's obvious that Max Rafferty already has advanced the spear point of his campaign —that being race."

A spokesman for Riles noted that the candidate used his picture on billboards during the primary campaign, and said no policy change has been made for the general election race.

Stratten "demanded" that "Riles repudiate his white campaign managers." He added that if Riles "thinks the white people of California will vote against him just because he is black, he is painting the entire white population with the bigot brush."

Hearing Reset On Drug Raid

Preliminary hearing scheduled yesterday for five men arrested in a June 30 narcotics raid at a San Rafael motel has been reset for Oct. 6.

Municipal Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday set the new court date for Charles Clarence Garcia Jr., 33 of Kentfield; Roe A. Newbill, 43, of Novato; Nathan Shind, 25, of Novato; Lawrence Paul Samuels, 24, of Novato and Peter Simon Kaufman, 29, of San Anselmo.

All are charged with posession of narcotics and possession of marijuana.

Fairfax Council Should End Feud For Sake Of City

They're feuding again on the Fairfax City Council.

We hate to see this happen. Fairfax deserves better. It is one of Marin's most charming cities, and — in spite of the impression one might get from city council meetings — has many of Marin's most friendly people.

But over the years, feudin' and fightin' among city officials have handicapped Fairfax's progress. And a new round of the same is well under way.

WE SEE NO reason for it.

Mayor Frank J. Egger, Councilman Robert H. Souza, and new Councilman Lee Nelder want the city to have a fulltime administrator again.

Councilmen Francis J. O'Connell and Cornelis van Vliet think the present setup, with Frances Lestanguet doubling as city clerk and administrator, is satisfactory.

That is a simple difference of opinion. There is nothing wrong with it. There should be differences of opinion on a city council. Any time that no difference appears in the meetings, you may be pretty sure the councilmen are getting together to fight things out somewhere else, making backroom deals to preserve a show of unanimity before the public — not that the five members really are always in agreement.

BUT DIFFERENCES of opinion are not allowed to be simply that on the Fairfax City Council. They become feuds.

Councilman O'Connell has charged Councilmen Souza and Nelder with under-the-table scheming. He has charged that the move to again hire a city administrator is designed to embarrass Mrs. Lestanguet so that she will quit her job, and that there have been schemes also to goad City Atty. Wallace S. Myers and Police Chief James R. Orr into resigning.

Souza in reply has charged that O'Connell and van Vliet have drawn Mrs. Lestanguet "into their partisanship."

The feud that should not be a feud cannot help the government of Fairfax. Caught in the middle, in a very unfortunate position, is Mrs. Lestanguet, wose longtime service in the city clerk's office has amply shown her dedication to the city government and the city's welfare.

FAIRFAX'S PREVIOUS venture into city administrator government did not turn out very well. How much of its failure should be charged to the man hired for administrator and how much to the council with whom he had to work cannot be determined. But undoubtedly both bore their share.

We were not pleased with Councilman Souza's suggestion that the current feud should be settled behind closed doors on the pretense of going into closed session "for hiring." Too much has been done behind closed doors in Fairfax government. O'Connell's blast, though intemperate, was not wholly without foundation.

THE FIVE COUNCIL members owe it to the people of Fairfax to try to work together — and to do it honestly, openly, in the city council meetings where the decisions should be made in the presence of the public.

Surely all five are big enough men to make the necsesary effort, to bury their petty feuds and work together for the good of the city. If they're not, they shouldn't be on the council.

Few Tears Shed Over Loss Of Governor's 'Tax Reform'

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The defeat of Gov. Ronald Reagan's billion-dollar tax shift program brought no surprise, despite the one-vote margin which caused it to go down the drain for 1970 at least — and probably for the next four years, as it now seems to be beyond the realm of possibility that Democratic candidate Jss Unruh nose out Reagan in November.

Nor does it seem to be a possibility that the makeup of the senate will shift sufficiently to give the Reagan forces the extra vote needed to turn the tables next year. If anything, the Democrats stand to gain rather than lose ground this year, as well as in 1972.

This means a probability that in the next couple of years the state could have imposed upon it a tax reform compromise which would be worse than the Republican version turned down this year, for the simple reason it would be an out and out tax increase.

The bugaboo of a tax increase next year grows more compelling as inflation continues.

ALTHOUGH REAGAN has attempted for four years to cut down expenditures of the state, he has met with no success, as each of his budgets has been larger than the preceding one. True, Reagan's activities undoubtedly have kept costs and expenditures from rising as much as they might under unbridled spending, but the overall costs continue to increase.

But getting back to the tax reform problem and its defeat, there were not many tears shed over its demise.

The vast majority of the people would have suffered a tax increase had it passed, for the simple reason the shift from property taxes to income and sales taxes eventually would have been eaten up by property tax increases, despite curbs proposed in the law. Consequently, the property taxpayer would have been no better off in the long run than he is at present.

This was proved two years ago when an abortive sample of tax reform was voted, and the relief that was supposed to have been forthcoming was more than eaten up by local government tax increases.

THIS WAS WHY no one got really excited about the so-called tax reform program sponsored by the Reagan administration. Once burned, the public is bound to look with a certain amount of skepticism at new gimmicks which can do nothing except increase taxes.

If the governor and the legislature really wanted to reduce taxes or at least hold the line against annual increases, they would engage in cooperative program to skim the cream off government and reduce services to needed capacities.

Until such time as this occurs, if it ever does, there is no hope that the taxpayer can look forward to anything except more of the same confiscatory taxes.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Three Wrongs Don't Make Right

The explanation of the Marin supervisors latest capitulation to still another employees' raise demand merely confirms what most of us have known for some time, and the supervisors should have known in the first place — that they had no business granting raises this year of "only" 5 and 6 per cent to 862 employees, some of whom were already receiving $19,200, not to mention the group already in the $20,000 to $30,000 reange that were voted TWO whopping raises at one time. Or does belonging to a union or being a government employee guarantee continued raises and financial safeguards regardless of the state of the economy and taxpayers' pocketbooks?

Three wrongs do not make a right. Instead of compounding inflation problems and again letting the taxpayers down, why would it not be better to rescind all previous raises thereby deflating the managerial employees' demand — none of whom would quit anyway? And if they did, what better way to start paring government payrolls?

Unlike Mr. Robert A. Roumiguiere, I am not convinced. And will not be until someone can explain why government spending and salaries should be exempt from customary restrictions necessitated by economic recession; and why property assessments and planning commission budgets should continue to increase despite a slump in real estate activity.

At the current rate, taxpayers will never get relief until there is a drastic change in the reasoning going on out at Frank Wright's Palace.

Runners Failed To Notify City

As a member of the parks and recreation commission of Tiburon, I was somewhat disturbed by the letter from Thomas J. Sernka concerning the annual Tiburon Run held recently. To my knowledge, no contact with the city was attempted by the runners of their organization (AAU?).

On the contrary, a race run from Paradise Park through the downtown area of Tiburon, Belvedere, and on to San Francisco was held recently. Letters of the intent of the group were sent to the city council, and after some discussion appropriate routes and times were agreed upon.

I believe the City of Tiburon is not against having such races through its area, but that the limitations of traffic suggest that some prior agreement be reached with the runners as to times and places that will be mutually satisfactory.

Please, Mr. Sernka, would you and/or your organization come to the City of Tiburon a month or so before the race? We can arrange for restrooms, parking, etc. Tiburon is not only for tourists.

Grand Jury Words Were Disregarded

In 1964 the law enforcement committee of the Marin County Grand Jury, of which I was chairman, submitted the following report:

"Much of the time of this committee was spent in the study of San Quentin matters as related to knifings and stabbings. This is of serious concern to Marin County because it takes approximately 25 per cent of the superior courts' time and even more time on the part of the district attorney's office. As a matter of fact during this past year more than 60 per cent of the grand jury meetings were devoted to San Quentin stabbing matters . . . .

"We recommend a San Quentin committee as part of the future grand juries should be appointed to study the problems arising at the prison as this institution alone warrants such attention . . ." such attention . . . "

To my knowledge none of these recommendations were given a second thought. Most certainly the ridiculous and unwise matter of transporting prisoners to the courts many times each month would have been looked into. And who can say, Black Friday may never have happened.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A resort owner took advantage of a sudden thunderstorm to confide in a vacationist, waiting to go out on the lake and do a little fishing, "I don't know what to make of my wife these days," he confessed. "Since her 70th birthday, it seems to take her forever to lift our rowboats over her head and carry them down to the lake!"

John Gould warns folks who imagine they can change the mind of a citizen of the New England states. He cites one town meeting where the school superintendent wanted some change or other and pointed out that eight neighboring communities had already made the change. An irate back-bencher hollered, "Whadda we care what they do some place else?" His logic was so appealing that the proposal was snowed under, 53 to 8!

THE DRUMMONDS

Women's Liberation Movement Has Good Reasons For Campaign

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It is time for smart alecks and arrogant males to quit throwing spitballs at the Women's Liberation Movement.

It is earnest and important business.

Women's Lib has its minority of far-outs and trivialities. But it has a strong case against the oppressions that a male-run society has long imposed upon women.

"We want more than to belong to a man," says Verna Tomasson writing in Look magazine about her sex. "We want to belong to mankind."

Well said. We agree.

THERE ARE TWO main thrusts to the Women's Liberation Movement today.

One draws its energy and power from the National Organization for Women (NOW), formed in 1966. It has the very practicable and sound objective of equal opportunity and equal rewards for women in today's society.

The other draws its inspiration from the more radical left which wants to remake society totally.

WOMEN'S LIB seeks to reshape the attitudes and action of society to allow women to be anything their individual talents will let them be; and no less.

That's a lot and as it should be. But it will take more than stirring words to achieve the climate to make this possible.

This is why the nationwide strike engineered by the National Organization for Women is designed not to immobilize the nation but to mobilize the conscience of society to recognize that the "rights of man" mean the rights of all men —and all women — equally.

NOW's immediate goals are wide-ranging; and for good reasons. They are rightly hitting out at all obstacles which keep women unwillingly at home and at the bottom of the job market. They want total enforcement of equal employment opportunities under civil rights law. They want revision of the tax laws to permit full deduction of payments made to child-care centers. They want consistent business policies on maternity leaves, revision of divorce and alimony laws and equal pay for equal talent.

THE DISCRIMINATION against women in the professions of science, engineering and medicine is profligate. This at a time when the national resource in scientific brains is in short supply. The Women's Lib leaders feel an oppressive, punitive, selfish unfairness when they look at these facts:

Out of a total membership of 870, only eight women are in the National Academy of Sciences.

The National Register of Scientific and Technical Personnel is 91 per cent male and the National Academy of Sciences is 99 per cent male.

The average pay for all Ph.D. chemists in 1968 was $15,600. For women Ph.D. chemists it was $11,500.

The disparity in pay adverse to women in the Federal Civil Service is 6 per cent. In private nonprofit organizations, like the large foundations, it is 47 per cent.

NO WONDER the National Organization for Women is marching the streets to proclaim that "NOW" is the time to bring women into full participation in the mainstream of American society."

The more radical New Left groups in the liberation movement reject what they consider patchwork reforms. They want a "total restructuring of society" though they do little to define what they mean. They say they want, as a beginning, a fundamental assault on marriage and the family. They contend it is "motherhood which keeps women downtrodden and guarantees their oppression."

Even here, events are coming to the aid of the liberation movement. The population-pollution crisis is forcing a look at woman's role as bearer of children. Dr. Lee A. dubridge, until recently the President's science adviser, is urging that the U.S. population growth rate be reduced to zero — equal number of births and deaths.

"Unless women have . . . significant alernatives to motherhood as their chief adult occupation," says Wilma Scott Heide of the Pennsylvania Human Rights Commission, "they will continue to want and to produce too many children instead of producing ideas, art, literature, leadership, inventions and healthier social relationships."

Right on, Women's Lib!

Figures Mislead On Street Costs

In the Aug. 15 issue of the I-J a letter from Mrs. Sarah Nome was printed in which certain present and former (San Anselmo city) councilmen were criticized for taking the initiative to improve our deteriorating street system. To support her allegations she presented a number of erroneous and misleading "facts."

To begin with, as of this writing San Anselmo has not yet set a tax rate either at the $2.59 quoted by Mrs. Nome or at the presently anticipated rate of approximately $2.35.

San Anselmo resurfaced 3.2 miles of streets last year, not three miles in five years as stated by Mrs. Nome.

The cost of the Hub signalization was $34,850, not a quarter of a million dollars as stated by Mrs. Nome. However, the cost of land acquistion, reconstruction and landscaping will approach that figure, of which $71,500 was from the county urban throughfare fund. The entire Hub cost was paid for from the gas tax fund and is constructed to fit any future work on Sir Francis Drake or Center boulevards.

Neighborhood residential streets cannot be resurfaced from the gas tax construction fund and, therefore, none of the money expended at the Hub has any effect on residential street maintenance or the tax rate . . .

This year the council voted $145,000 of gas tax funds (which Mrs. Nome says is depleted) for needed projects on major streets and additional local money for residential streets.

Yes, we did save for two years to finance the Hub intersection and I'm proud to say I voted for this project while I served on the council . . .

Role Of Military Reserves Scrutinized By Senator

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Unannounced and without fanfare, a Senate appropriations subcommittee has been conducting an exhaustive study of the nation's military reserve forces and their inactive role in the Vietnam war.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., is spearheading the inquiry. In the frequent absence, due to illness, of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Ellender has been acting as chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee which is considering the Pentagon budget.

Because much of its testimony includes classified data, the subcommittee conducts all its hearings behind closed doors. We are reliably advised, however, that Ellender has bluntly questioned the utility of National Guard and reserve forces, which have made little contribution to the fighting in Vietnam.

CENTRAL TO the senator's complaints, according to our information, is the cost of maintaining the various military reserve forces. From data supplied by the Pentagon, Ellender is said to have determined that the reserves are costing the taxpayers about $2.5 billion each year.

Costs are not the only target for Ellender's complaints.

In the first place, Pentagon statistics show that the Vietnam build-up here in the United States and in Southeast Asia has amounted to about 900,000 men.

At the same time, according to the data supplied to the subcommittee, the military reserve forces had the same number of men—about 900,000 — on a paid drill status. Ellender, therefore, asks why only 37,000 of those paid guardsmen and reservists were ordered to duty in Vietnam. Why was the draft used instead?

DATA SUPPLIED to the subcommittee, according to our information, also indicates that more than two out of three of the paid reservists are what the Pentagon calls "nonprior service personnel." That is, they are participants in programs which offer an alternative to regular active duty service and not a follow-up to it.

Ellender is said to have made the point that those reserve programs have been a popular choice for young men facing regular service during the Vietnam war.

Ellender is not the only person to question the role of the reserves in the Vietnam build-up, but it is highly doubtful that his complaints and his proposed cost-cutting will attract wide congressional support.

President Nixon's plan for an all-volunteer armed force of decreasing size after Vietnam depends, in part, on maintaining reserve forces for a mobilization base when needed. Indications are that it will costs more money — not less — to recruit and maintain such a force.

Seeger Gives Board The Word: MMWD Will Save Environment

Sometimes, hard as you try, you just can't win. The Marin Municipal Water District learned this recently in regard to its efforts at preserving the environment.

At a meeting of the district's board, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger explained to directors a new district policy requiring studies of the impact of new projects on the environment before projects are given final approval.

Seeger then had J. Dietrich Stroeh, the district's senior engineer, explain to the board some of the efforts the district had already made for environmental preservation.

AMONG OTHER things, Stroeh said, the site of a one-million gallon water tank being constructed on a hill above Larskpur was shifted to preserve six large oak trees which would have been destroyed under the original site plan.

Stroeh was doing fine until he told the directors that scotch broom was being planted to hold, as well as beautify, the excavation of a fire road on the east face of Mount Tamalpais.

With that, Dr. L. Martin Griffin Jr. of Kentfield, sitting in the audience, scolded the district for its choice of plants.

"Planting of scotch broom in Marin is an ecological disaster," he told the directors, urging thm to plant shrubs native to Marin County, such as coyote brush.

Resignedly saying, "That shoots that one before we even started," Stroeh ended his discussion of the district's environmental efforts.

IN REGARD to the environmental impact studies, Seeger told the board that a position of environmental inspector will be established.

The inspector, Seeger said, will make field investigations and inspections and pass judgment on any project where the district, whether using its own crews or by contract, will be cutting brush, trees or shrubs.

"It is my primary intention" he said, "that before anything in the environment is disturbed, there is assurance consideration has been given to the effect of the proposed project in the environment and that due and careful consideration has been given to its protection."

The environmental impact reports will insure that district projects are designed and located, Seeger said, "so as to produce the minimum detrimental effect to the environment."

"In such cases where it does become impossible to completely protect the environment, " he said, the reports will insure that remedial measures are taken to keep damage to the minimum.

Personalized Plates Attract Few

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The new law permitting car owners to buy personalized license plates has attracted only a smattering of requests, state Motor Vehicles Department Registrar John L. McLaughlin reported today.

McLaughlin said his office has received only about 200 requests since Gov. Ronald Reagan signed the license bill last week.

But, the DMV official predicted, the number should swell to 200,000 once the idea catches on.

The statute, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, says that for an extra $25 a car owner can get a license plate with almost any combination of letters or numerals on it. The revenue will be used for smog control and other programs to protect the environment.

McLaughlin said motorists in Massachusetts and New York have similar opportunities and his investigations of those states showed that three per cent availed themselves of the option.

His figure of 200,000, he said, was based on a two per cent turnout in California.

Out of California's $25 fee, he said, $20 will go for antipollution while the remaining $5 will be used to make and send out the plates.

"One thing, I'll have to be a one-man censor," he said. "I'll have to weed out the offensive words."

The DMV registrar said, however, he has obtained lists from other states giving offensive words and he will use them in making his decisions.

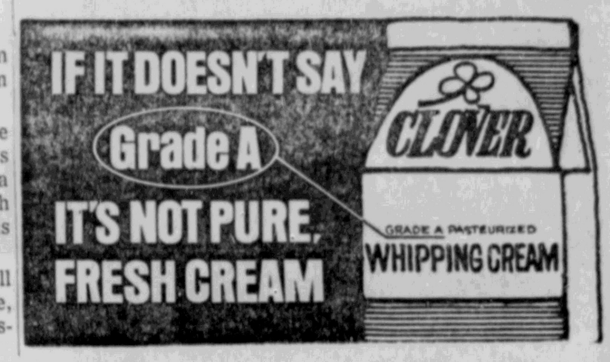
Gobbledygook is cut, he said. "This would make it hard for police who are chasing a suspect to get his number," McLaughlin said.

By gobbledygook, he meant combinations like "X10T3Z."

McLaughlin said that from now until Sept. 22 was an open filing period for the plates.

If requests for duplicate plates are submitted during this time, he said, there will be a drawing to determine which owner gets the plate of his choice.

After Sept. 22 the plates will be handed out on a "first come, first served" basis, the registrar said.



THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Doctor Time Here Again As Schools Get Ready

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

(This "People's Schools" column first appeared in September, 1966. We are repeating it to give the writer a bit of vacation.)

"Doctor time" is here again.

The school board may have met infrequently during the summer, and few of its professional staff may have been on hand. But they are all back now that school is about to resume and the board meeting goes something like this:

Dr. Reed, the superintendent, introduces Dr. White, the new assistant superintendent, and Dr. Blue, the new curriculum consultant.

Dr. Brown, the high school principal, describes the seminar he attended during the summer. Dr. Black, who heads the high school social studies department, gives a glowing report on his sabbatical year.

Present also, and undoubtedly to be heard from at future meetings, are Dr. Pink, the head guidance counselor; Dr.Green, the director of pupil personnel, and the rather superannuated Dr. Speckles, who heads the continuation (drop-out) school — a job for which he didn't ask.

It is all very impressive. You are likely to go away quite awed at the tremendous amount of learning represented by such a congregation of doctors (and at such low prices, too).

Do not be over-awed.

THERE ARE DOCTORS and doctors. Those who so carefully address each other as "doctor" at the school board meeting in all likelihod hold either the Ed. D. or the Ph. D. in eduction at least four of every five hold the Ed. D.

This doctorate is awarded on completion of a specified number of graduate units in education courses, with a doctoral dissertation sometimes also required. All of these courses are what, in some other field, might be referred to as trade courses.

James D. Koerner, in his book, "The Misdeducation of American Teachers," charged: "Most of the programs for both the Ed. D. and the Ph. D. in education represent a kind of nadir of utilitarianism and trivality."

KOERNER BASED this brutal charge on a two-year study furing which he visited more than 100 campuses and pored through hundreds of transcripts of credits. He bolstered it with statistics, case studies, and some of the transcripts.

He presented the graduate transcripts of four Ed. D. holders. Two had taken nothing but education courses at the graduate level; the third's only liberal arts class in graduate school was "Survey of Clinical Psychology"; the fourth had 13 units of graduate work in liberal arts and 86 hours in education "trade" courses.

It would appear from these that if the educator is to receive a broad education in the sciences and humanties, he must get it on the way to his bachelor's degree.

CALIFORNIA LAW now requires a major in some jubject other than education to qualify for a teaching certificate. But this was not true when most of our present Ed. D.'s were undergraduates. Most of them majored in education. So they may well have taken undergraduate programs like the 25 education majors whose transcripts Koerner reproduced in his book.

Seventeen of these 25 had taken no foreign language in college, 13 had taken no mathematics, 13 had taken no physics or chemistry. Nine had taken no course in government or political science.

All were eligible to go on to the d. D. without taking any of these subjects.

DR. REDD, Dr. White, Dr. Blue and the rest of them may very well be true scholars, both highly and broadly educated. But they didn't need to be to get those Ed. D. degrees.

So don't be over-awed. One of them may even be the Ed. D. mentioned by Koerner who wrote his dissertation on "A Performance Analysis of the Propulsive Force of the Flutter Kick.'

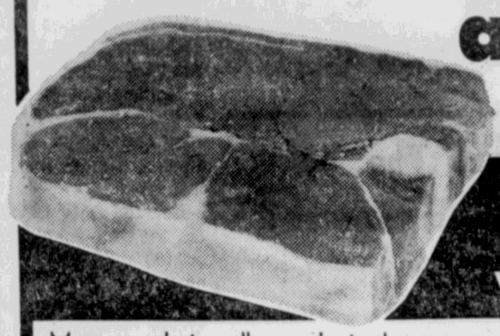
...a round steak is a round steak



but many supermarkets won't admit it!

Many markets sell round steak . . . usually at a higher price . . . under a variety of names such as London Broil, Chicken Fry Steak, Barbecue Steak, Breakfast Steak, etc.

BUT NO MATTER WHAT THEY CALL IT, IT'S STILL A ROUND STEAK

Lucky calls a round steak a round steak. And you'll find it cut the way you like it — top round or bottom round, bone-in or bone-out, BUT STILL IT'S A ROUND STEAK, and like every cut of meat it's a better buy for THREE GOOD REASONS!

Smart Shopping is Easy as 1-2-3 at LUCKY!

We're really proud to present this architect designed charmer for the first time this weekend. It's perfectly located close to everything and it's just a short walk to town. But it has perfect privacy, and there's nothing to be seen from any of the rooms but an unspoiled view of trees and hills. There's a big living room with a beamed ceiling a big rock fireplace and sliding doors to wide tree-top decks. An all-electric kitchen. Two bedrooms and a den, a bath and a half. All redwood with a shake roof. Priced right at $35,000.

REVISED NOTICE
NOTICE OF DATE FIXED FOR SUBMITTING ARGUMENTS ON COUNTY MEASURE — SOUTHEAST ASIA MILITARY WITHDRAWAL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the following measure will be submitted to the voters of Marin County at the General Election, Tuesday, November 3, 1970:

"Shall the following be adopted as the public policy of the County of Marin:

We, the people of Marin County, California hereby request the President and the Congress of the United States to begin immediately the total withdrawal of all United States military forces from Southeast Asia and to complete such total withdrawal no later than June 30, 1971?"

Arguments for or against said County measure may be submitted to the County Clerk at his office at the Hall of Justice, San Rafael, California, not later than September 4, 1970, which has been determined by the County Clerk, pursuant to Section 3784 of the Elections Code, to be a reasonable date, based on the time reasonably necessary to prepare and submit the arguments.

One argument for, and one argument against, said measure will be selected for printing and distribution to the voters with each sample ballot. Preference and priority in selection will be given to arguments of the following in the order named:

1. The Board of Supervisors or a member or members authorized by the Board.
2. Bona fide association of citizens.
3. Individual voters.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Early Detection Aids Outlook For Obstructive Emphysema

Obstructive emphysema is suspected in people over 40 who cough, wheeze, and suffer from shortness of breath. The earlier the condition is detected, the better the outlook. The first step is to eradicate the causative factors — tobacco smoke and air pollution.

The next step is to keep the lungs free of infection. Victims of emphysema have narrowed bronchi due to swelling of the inner lining. The excess mucus in which bacteria thrive is difficult to bring up because coughing is less efficient than usual. This is why these individuals must avoid people with respiratory infections and take antibiotics, such as ampicillin or tetracycline intermittently.

SHORTNESS OF breath occurs because the bronchi tend to collapse during expiration. By pursing the lips when exhaling, the pressure increases within the bronchial tubes and they are less likely to collapse. Breathing exercises also help. The sufferer should learn to use the abdominal muscles to squeeze out trapped air during expiration. He also should pull in the abdomen when exhaling to raise the diaphragm.

Bronchodilators including nebulizers relax the narrowed bronchi and are used at the first sign of tightness, such as occurs in the morning. Those containing isoproterenol or epinephrine should not be used more often than every two or three hours. Drugs that liquefy the sputum are of value when trying to clear the lungs of mucus. Water, one of the best remedies, can be taken by mouth or inhaled as steam or mist from a humidifier.

INTERMITTENT positive pressure breathing (IPPB) provides air or oxygen during inhalation and pressure when exhaling. Thus, at the end of a breath, additional air is forced in allowing the person to breathe more deeply. An attachment for aerosolized medication also is available. The device is most helpful when carbon dioxide accumulates in the lungs and blood leading to narcosis.

DIGITALIS DOSAGE

D.D. writes: When a person takes digitalis twice a day, is this a sign of a very bad heart?

REPLY

The dosage of digitalis is not an indication of the severity of the heart disorder. Furthermore, this drug is not given in all types of heart disease. It seldom is used, for example, in treating the ordinary heart attack (coronary thrombosis) which is our No. 1 killer.

CATARACT AT 20

R.B writes: A 20-year-old woman has 20/20 vision in one eye but a congenital cataract in her other eye. Should the cataract be removed?

REPLY

Removal is not advisable especially if the cataract is stationary because the chance of improving vision in the eye is not good.

HERNIA AFTER SURGERY

H.S. writes: Why do some people develop a hernia after abdominal surgery?

REPLY

This occurs when the wound fails to heal completely. In some instances, one or more stitches pull out when the individual strains or coughs within 24 hours of the operation.

AGE AND CHILDHOOD DISEASES

T.B. writes: Is there any age limit on childhood diseases?

REPLY

No, but most of us develop these communicable diseases in childhood unless we are protected against them.

Sentenced For Reckless Driving

Reginald Bruce Johnson, 21, of Novato, driver in a Bel Marin Keys Boulevard accident which killed a Novato girl on Feb. 25, 1969, yesterday was sentenced in municipal court on charges of reckless driving and possession of a concealed weapon in the case.

The driver was placed on a year's supervised probation and two years' summary probation on the driving charge, and fined $50 for having a pistol in his car.

At the time of the fatal accident, police said Johnson was traveling more than 70 miles per hour on the residential road, when his car went out of control. Candace Louise Wright, 19, was fatally injured.

Burglary Suspect To Juvenile Court

A 19-year-old Forest Knolls youth trapped inside a San Anselmo home Friday after a silent burglar alarm went off, yesterday was certified to juvenile court on a burglary charge.

Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth refused to release Michael Earl Frank on his own recognizance, but requested that juvenile probation officers arrange a hearing as soon as possible to get the youth out of county jail.

Preliminary Set On

Will your store miss the big chance?

Make the last half the better half of 1970

The economy is turning. This is the time to turn it and turn customers your way through consistent and effective advertising. This is the time.

The I-J gives you market command and some surprising advantages you should know about

The green light is now showing for the economy. But don't kid yourself that you can sit and wait for the customers. Only when you consistently tell them about your merchandise, your values, your quality and prices, can you count on their patronage.

THE LAST HALF—THE BETTER HALF!

But only YOU can make it better. Only by connecting your store, through advertising to the consumer, can you really be in the marketplace. Not with one ad or two but with a consistent campaign that sells all facets of your business. This is investment in sales, in traffic, in profitability the most dynamic dollar you can spend.

Why The I-J Moves People, Moves Merchandise

- Delivers a whopping 68.2% coverage of all homes in Marin - paid circulation. No other medium can approach this kind of concentration.

- But the big key is readership. The I-J is "built" to be read . . . designed to interest Marin County families. The page traffic averages 82% of all readers . . . which gives your ad center-stage for attention. Compare your own reactions to reading direct mail, for instance, with reading the I-J. Who has the news - and the eyes?

FACILITIES FOR ADVERTISERS ARE AMONG THE MOST ADVANCED IN THE U.S. NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY

Many retailers are unaware of the I-J's exceptional production facilities and advertising services. These save you money, help provide you better advertising.

- Type set electronically, turned photographically into sharp, clear proofs. This is pasted into position. Type can be blown up, reduced, double-printed. Means better selection, clearer, cleaner reproduction . . . fresh new type, every letter, every time.
- Simple screen effects . . . at no extra charge.
- No engravings needed. Just supply the actual size illustrations which can be pasted in ad. Saves cost of engravings to supply us with original art.
- You can clip and supply us with black & white illustrations from an order book, manufacturer's or supplier's literature. You can provide photos (clear prints with plenty of contrast) and we can reproduce them - a further savings.
- No mats needed when reproducing direct from your clips or illustrations.
- Free I-J Art Library for all types of high-quality illustrations. No charge. Plus art dept. for special layouts, drawings, maps, etc. Nominal fee on this charged on time basis.

Keep up with the Best-seller

Dancer's Trip Appeal Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge decided Tuesday the time is not "ripe" to hear an appeal from Yvonne D'Angers, a topless dancer the government wants to deport to her native Iran.

Judge Albert C. Wollenberg said the time to appeal is when the Immigration Service starts deportation proceedngs.

"There is still a possibility (she) may obtain favorable consideration when and if the government institutes deportation proceedings," he declared.

The government says Miss D'Angers married a Howard S. Ettlinger, an American citizen, only to avoid deportation. On that ruling it revoked her permanent visa.

Hispanic Week

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon has designated Sept. 13 as the beginning of National Hispanic Heritage Week and called for special ceremonies to celebrate the contribution of the Spanish to the nation's culture.

Bank Chief Attacks Viet War Policies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—American involvement in the Vietnam War "threw the switch" that put student activism in motion, according to the board chairman of the world's largest commercial bank.

"Students who might otherwise have been quite passive about other issues, have been inflamed over this one," Louis B. Lundborg of the Bank of America said Tuesday.

Lundborg, 64, was talking with reporters before the Rotary Club and twice criticized the Nixon administration —concerning statements on the defense of Cambodia and "the angry tone of some of our leaders on student militants."

The white-haired banker said he was "deeply disturbed" because Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told newsmen "We're going to do everything were can to help the Lon Nol government" in Cambodia.

Insteam of the promised calm words from high places, "We have been hearing too many angry words, too much name-calling that can only be inflammatory," he said. Asked if he referred to Agnew, Lundborg said, "You can draw your own conclusions."

Each passing year and "each additional entanglement" in the war have increased student bitterness, Lundborg said, adding he wanted to end the war "more than ever."

In April he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the war was distorting the economy.

A bank of America branch at Isla Vista near the University of California at Santa Barbara was razed last Feb. 28. Lundborg said that was "largely accidental—it was the only symbol of the establishment that anyone could find."

Isla Vista has inadequate housing for students and lacks a "sense of community," he declared

What students in the nation say they want "doesn't sound so different from what our founding fathers said they wanted," he said, asserting those men "wanted freedom to be their own man, the freedoms of self realization."

What did the bank learn when its branch was burned? "We have to cool it — and that won't be easy," he said.

Fingerprint Is Not Defendant's

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A police crime lab expert admitted Tuesday a fingerprint found close to the scene of the slaying of patrolman Joseph Brodnik had for 10 months mistakenly been labeled as belonging to one of six defendants accused of shooting the officer to death.

Inspector James Tedesco testified that the print, found on a car window a few feet away from the spot where Brodnik was slain May 1, 1969, had been attributed to defendant Nelson Rodriguez before it was correctly identified last March.

Tedesco said upon reviewng his files, he learned of his error and found the print actually belonged to one Dennis Calderon, who has absolutely no connection with the incident.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KPIX (5), 8 p.m. —"San Francisco Pageant" presents "Disaster at Dawn," the first half of a two-part documentary recalling the catastrophic earthquake and fire of 1906 that leveled San Francisco. Highlights of the program are interviews of survivors and a film shot as early as 1903.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — The sound of the future mixes with the sound of the Boston Pops in the world premiere concert of Gershon Kingsley's "Concerto Moogo" on the "Evening at Pops" series.

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — "Women's Rally at Union Square" is a special coverage of a women's rights rally held earlier at Union Square. The rally commemorates the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage in the U.S. Equal pay for equal work, legal voluntary abortion and free 24-hour parent-controlled child care centers are discussed.

KRON (4), 10 p.m. — Gary Clarke stars in "The Forest Primeval," an episode in the "Then Came Bronson" series, with regular Michael Parks. It is the story of a motorcycle trip through the mountains of Big Sur and a fight for survival against time and elements.

KQED (9), 10.45 p.m. — "The Toy That Grew Up" offers "The Films of Ben Turpin," three films by the early slapstick comic — "Idle Eyes," "A Small Town Idle" and "The Eyes Have It."

Lagunitas Trustees Study Rental Hikes

The Lagunitas School District board has instructed Supt. Joseph Amato to revise upward his tentative schedule of rental fees for facilities and equipment.

According to board president Gary Giacomini, the board considered the tentative fees insufficient to cover the actual cost of using the facilities. Particularly thought to be inadequate was the $5 fee for the use of the multipurpose room at San Geronimo Valley School. This amount would not pay the salary of a janitor employed to clean the room after use, he said.

Monday night, Amato also presented to the board a draft of an application form to be used for persons and groups seeking the use of facilities and equipment.

Also discussed was a program for encouragement of public participation on committees. Persons wanting to be considered for membership on a committee were urged to submit a request to the district superintendent or board president, Giacomini reported.

Two More Vehicles Are Targets Of Rock Vandals

Two more vehicles have been added to the list of those damaged by thrown rocks near the Highway 101 underpass connecting Marin City and Sausalito.

The California Highway Patrol reported yesterday that a Greyhound bus and an auto received broken windows there between 9:30 and 10 p.m. Monday.

Rock hurlers had used the site for rock throwing so frequently in past years that the state Division of Highways erected a 15-foot high fence along the pedestrian walk to thwart them.

However, protests from some Marin City residents and Sausalito School District pupils that the fence was a symbol of racial repression caused its replacement by a more aesthetic eight-foot high fence last year and the rock throwing has resumed, according to the highway patrol.

Hit first yesterday was a car driven by Herbert Norris of 53 Glen Drive, Sausalito. He told the highway patrol a rock lodged in his windshield at 9:40 p.m. as he was driving into Sausalito.

The Greyhound bus suffered a broken window and a dent from rocks as it passed under the highway at 9:55 p.m. according to the patrol.

Former 49er, Marin Made For Each Other

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Marin Catholic High School and Bruno Banducci were probably made for each other. Here is a school that for years has produced mediocre football teams characterized by their weak lines. And here is a man, one of the great linemen in the history of pro football, who although he followed his playing days as a successful car salesman, has always wanted to coach at the high school level.

The arrival of Banducci, a member of the all time San Francisco 49er team, as an assistant varsity coach at Marin Catholic surely signals the upturn of football fortunes for the Kentfield school. He and new head coach Rev. John Heaney are determined to upgrade the Wildcats' quality in the next couple of years to the point that they will be able to rejoin the Marin County Athletic League, from which they departed ignominiously three years ago after being perennial league doormats.

Heaney, who last year led the Marin Catholic J.V.s to an eight win, one loss record, is the school's dean of boys, and views himself as an interim coach. Eventually he plans to yield the top coaching job to Banducci.

Every school needs a coach, like Redwood's Bob Troppman, who year after year provides the inspiration that results in a quality, stable football program. In that respect, Marin Catholic could have made no better choice than Banducci. He got his education in inspiration from the legendary Buck Shaw, the 49ers first coach.

Banducci was one of the original 49ers. After playing for Philadelphia of the National Football League in 1944 and '45, he jumped his contract to play with the San Francisco franchise of the newly established All American Conference. His career as the 49ers offensive right guard spanned eight years, and he coached briefly in 1958 with Shaw back in Philly.

He was something of an anomaly as a football player because he had graduated from Stanford in 1943 with a degree in engineering. "People thought I was crazy to be out there with an engineering degree," he says.

Upon his retirement from football, too old to start out as a junior engineer, Banducci began what has become a quietly successful career selling Cadillacs, and in the last few years he has worked in the real estate business as well. Prior to coming to Marin Catholic, he was assistant general manager at Kohlenberg Cadillac in San Francisco.

The desire to coach, which he says he has always had, prompted Banducci to go back to school at the age of 47 to study for a teaching credential. In 1968 he began to take night classes at College of Notre Dame in Belmont. At Marin Catholic he will teach algebra and physical science in addition to his coaching.

Although his playing career was in what could be termed, "the good old days," Banducci adheres to strictly modern football theories. He prefers passing to running, and likes the idea of employing Kansas City — type shifts, both on offense and defense.

The Wildcats will probably be a running team this year, and therefore will go from a power I formation. Banducci would like to use a pro system, but, in the manner of Cincinnati's Paul Brown, would limit the number of plays used to 10 or 15 and develop them to perfection.

Marin Catholic has never had large turnouts for football, but under Banducci that may change. He judges players by their desire first and foremost, and then by their size and speed. That and his approach to the game, which is to "employ a little bit of pleasure and still get the job done," should attract players by the busload.

"If you love the job you're going to be better at it," he says. It's a good bet that the Marin Catholic Wildcats, with Bruno Banducci on the sidelines, are going to get better at it.

Lanier Saves Day With Double Play

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Take a heads-up play by an alert shortstop, clutch pitching by a 40-year-old reliever and a daring run by a 39-year old outfielder and they all add up to a victory for the San Francisco Giants.

Hal Lanier, Don McMahon and Willie Mays were the heroes of last night's 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals as the Giants raced off with their eighth victory in the last 10 games.

Lanier ended the game on a dramatic note as he made an unusual doubleplay all by himself. With runners on first and second and one out. Lanier let a soft hit by pinchhitter Vic Davalillo fall at his feet to start the play.

Quickly he tagged Jose Cardenal, who was standing at second, and stepped on second to force pinch runner Milt Ramirez.

As Lanier raced off the field and toward the dugout some of his teammates lingered on the field, as did three of the four umpires, as if they didn't know what had happened. It took a second or two and then everyone walked off.

McMahon, well rested of late because San Francisco starters have been doing their job, had a lot of stuff although he walked one batter and gave up a hit in his two innings.

"My fast ball is my best pitch," said McMahon, "and it seemed to be running on me. That comes when I have a lot of rest."

McMahon got the big out of the ninth just before Lanier's play when he struckout Joe Hague, who earlier had hit his 11th homer off Skiv Pitlock, the Giants starter.

Pitlock went seven full innings and gave up only four hits as he gained his fourth big league victory compared to the same number of losses.

When Richie Allen and Lou Brock reached Pitlock for back-to-back doubles leading off the eighth, manager Charlie Fox came to get him.

"The kid pitched real good," said Fox. "In that spot I just wanted a more experienced pitcher and McMahon was well rested."

Mays walked four times and scored the 1,899th run of his career on a daring play in the eighth for an insurance run.

Wvtba McCovey up, Mays took off on a 2-1 count and McCovey backed him up by tapping the ball to third. Joe Torre threw McCovey out at first but Mays never stopped running and by the time first baseman Hague realized what was happening it was too late to catch Willie at third.

One out and an intentional walk later Mays scored on a sacrifice fly by Dick Dietz. When Mays scores his next run he becomes only the fourth player in the history to have scored 1,900 runs in a career. Closest to him is Stan Musial with 1,949.

Cardinal pitchers, starting with Steve Carlton, issued 10 walks in all, seven by Carlton, who suffered his 18th loss. He has won only six.

Walks to Ken Henderson and Dietz, a single by Jim Hart and a doubleplay grounder by Lanier produced two San Francisco runs in the second and a walk to Bobby Bonds, a two-base throwing error by Carlton on a pickoff attempt and Tito Fuentes' sacrifice fly accounted for the other run in the fifth.

McNally Latest Obstacle For A's

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Oakland A's are doing exactly what a pennant contender is not supposed to do.

The White Shoes were beaten 5-1 last night by Baltimore to remain 6 1-2 games from the top of the American League West. Oakland has made no move on first place Minnesota, which also has been losing habitually of late.

Dave McNally mystified the dormant Oakland batting order to become baseball's first 20-game winner of 1970.

Campy Campaneris, Tommy Davis and Gene Tenace continued their hot hitting while the remainder of the A's were tamed by McNally. Of the 10 hits allowed by the lefthander, four were lashed by Campaneris and two each were zinged by Davis and Tenace.

Campaneris singled, stole second and scored on Felipe Alou's single to give Oakland a 1-0 lead in the third inning. The Orioles put the game away in the bottom half of the frame with four runs off starter Diego with four runs off starter Diego Segui and reliever Rollie Fingers.

The loss was the eighth in Oakland's last 10 games. A pennant contender must make the most of each opportunity, and the A's have done just the opposite.

If the A's are to snap their four-game losing string, they'll have to do it against the remainder of Baltimore's Tremendous Trio. Jim Palmer tries for his 18th victory tonight and Mike Cuellar tries to join McNally Thursday night in the 20-game circle.

Catfish Hunter, making his sixth bid for victory No. 16, faces Palmer tonight. Hunter went seven innings in his last outing against Cleveland, a losing effort. No Oakland pitcher has survived that far in the three succeeding contests.

49ers Fail In Bid For Washington

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners have failed in their effort to import wide receiver Vic Washington from the Canadian Football League.

General manager Jack White said yesterday that all CFL clubs passed waivers on Washington except the British Columbia Lions, who claimed the speedy University of Wyoming graduate from Ottawa.

Washington was drafted on the fourth round this season by San Francisco. He has played the last two seasons for Ottawa after dropping out of college after two years. The flashy, 5-11 pass catcher also is a dangerous kick returner.

If Washingttn still is with the B.C. Lions as the CFL season opens Sept. 18, there would be no way for him to play in the National Football League in 1970.

Niner coach Dick Nolan pondered his squad's injury situation Tuesday. Cornerback Bruce Taylor, defensive lineman Earl Edwards, running back John Isenbarger, guard Kevin Hardy and linebacker Dave Wilcox all may miss Saturday night's preseason game in Eugene, Ore., against the Denver Broncos.

All-league cornerback Jimmy Johnson left camp to go to Sacramento, Calif., where his father was injured in an automobile accident. It was not known if Johnson would return in time for the Bronco game.

Four players, however, could be off the injury list by Saturday night. They are running back Doug Cunningham, guard Elmer Collett, safety Rosey Taylor and defensive end Stan Hindman.

ANNUAL RACE

Record Field Will Run Dipsea

The 60th annual running of Marin County's historic Dipsea Race over the foothills of Mount Tamalpais will take place this Sunday. More than 800 participants from all over the country are expected to be at Lytton Square in Mill Valley at 10 o'clock that morning for the start of Marin's most famous sporting event.

Although the course to Stinson Beach measures only 6.8 miles, it is considered to be a most difficult test of endurance and has been compared to the 26-mile Boston Marathon. The first part of the race features a climb of 671 steps from Mill Valley's Old Mill Creek area to Sequoia Road on the way to the beach.

Much of the race is accomplished on picturesque trails, weaving in and out of the highways, including a stretch through Muir Woods and by Lone Pine Spring.

The history of the Dipsea Race dates to the early 20th century, before the town of Stinson Beach was founded, when a band of hikers from San Francisco's Olympic Club discovered a small structure labeled "Dipsea Inn" on the Stinson shore. Apparently named by someone from Great Britain with a recollection of his native land, where the ocean is free and the baths cost money, the inn was uninhabited and dreary.

Originally it had been a promoter's dream to establish a world famous maritime resort in anticipation of its selection as the terminus of the Mount Tamalpais Railroad. But the inn, changed in name later to the Dipsea Lodge, was tied up in tideland litigation, and the dream was forgotten.

The first official race was held in 1905, a year after two of the club's members, Charlie Boas and Al Coney, established a precedent with a race from the Mill Valley Steppes to the inn.

One hundred-ten entries faced the starter in the first race, including runners from the Olympic Club, Lowell, Lick, Polytechnic and the Young Men's Hebrew Association, all San Francisco clubs. Participants that year came from as far away as Hawaii.

For its first 20 years the race was handled by the Dipsea Indians, who turned it over to the Olympic Club in 1925. From 1934 to 1938 the Sunrise Breakfast Club ran things, and in 1939 the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce took over. The race has been handled since 1963 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Last year mosre than 775 runners took part in the race. Open to all amateur runners registered with the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletics Union, it is a handicap event for which trophies are awarded in 10 categories.

A 10-year-old boy, Vance Eberly of San Jose, won last year with a time of 57 minutes, 59 seconds. He had a full, 16 minute handicap. Byron Lowry of San Jose State had the best scratch time, 47 minutes, 39 seconds, only 17 seconds off the best time ever, set in 1937 by Norman Bright of the Olympic Club.

Packers Have Style Again Says Madden

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) —Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders says the Green Bay Packers are on the verge of returning to their status as one of pro football's top teams.

"I was surprised how much they resemble the Packers we played in the Super Bowl in 1967," Madden said Tuesday. "They've gotten back to the basics. Once again they're running extremely well and passing only when they have to."

The Packers, working out at Stanford University, will meet the Raiders Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum in the first clash between the clubs since Green Bay took a 33-14 Super Bowl victory.

Southpay quarterback Ken Stabler missed Tuesday's workout at the Raiders' training site in Santa Rosa. Stabler, who flew to his family's home in Selma, Ala., still was visiting with relatives after the death of his father.

Starting guard Jim Harvey, reserve receivers Rod Sherman and Drew Buie and rookie running back Ted Koy all prepared for Sunday's game after missing last weekend's preseason contest at Los Angeles because of injuries.

Still on the injured list are fullback Hewritt Dixon and tight end Ray Chester, both of whom are hobbled by leg miseries.

GRETEL II LEADS

French Change Crew

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Gretel II, with a 2-0 lead and no need to change anything, and France, with another change of skipper and crew, met again today in the third race of their best of seven America Cup qualifying series.

At the same time on a nearby course in Rhode Island Sound, Intrepid, which won Tuesday, met Valiant again in the U.S. final trials for the right to defend the cup.

Louis Noverraz, a 67-year-old Swiss who lost the first race to the Australian last Friday and was removed in favor of Pierre Delfour, was back at the helm for France today, but with eight of the crew which worked with Delfour in Monday's losing race. Noverraz had his own crew Friday.

In an oddity, France had an extra man for a total of 12 aboard instead of the usual 11.

"Our men are light and we can afford an extra man, which will allow our negigator time to concentrate solely on that work," explained Bruno Bich, spokesman for the French syndicate.

Gretel went with skipper Jim Hardy and the crew which had won twice.

Intrepid, under Bill Ficker of Newport Beach California, won by 3:24 Tuesday as it began a series against its sole remaining rival, skippered by Bill McCullough of Riverside, Conn. It was Intrepird's fifth victory in six races, Valiant's second loss against four wins.

Ficker won the race with a good start, driving straight ahead while Valiant, although across the line first, was sailing almost paraller to it. Intrepid led by 1:22 at the first mark and Valiant never got closer than 53 seconds.

The winds were seven knots at the start and 11 at the finish, and somewhat stronger breezes were forecast for today.

Both Gretel and France took brief workouts late Tuesday and both reported themselves satisfied. Gretel had to repair a winch spring, and said it now functions well. France adjusted sails and mast back to what they were last Friday.

"I think today's race will be the best so far," Bich said. "We are as ready as we can be."

GOOD NIGHT FOR AUTOGRAPHS

Some 2,000 fans mingled with the Minnesota Twins and Boston Red Sox on the field at Bloomington, Minn., last night after a bomb scare forced evacuation of the stands. The rest of the crowd of 17,000 was outside the stadium, where they stayed until police had searched in vain for the bomb. The game was delayed 43 minutes.

Campbell Advances

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) —Action continues today in the 24th annual Little League World Series with Highland, Ind., meeting Wiesbaden, Germany, and Wayne, N.J., taking on Valleyfield, Que., Canada.

In games Tuesday, Chinandega, Nicaragua and Campbell, Calif., gained the semifinals which will be played Thursday at James Howard Lamade Stadium.

Chinandega edged Chiayi, Taiwan, 3-2, and the Californians squeaked out a 2-1 victory over Nashville, Tenn., in the nightcap which went two innings beyond the regulation six.

Tuesdays' losers meet today in a consolation game.

Shortstop Ricky Rother singled to right in the eighth inning to give the Californians the tie-breaking run. He drove in Matt Cary who reached first on an error and went to third on a bunt single by Kelly Linnaner.

Roth scored in the fifth after hitting a one-out double and coming in home on Lank Rowland's single.

Nashville's Bob Potter led off the first inning with a single and moved to second when Dennis Otto was hit by a pitch. The runners advanced on Jerry Wheeler's single after Ron Lewis struck out and Potter scored on an infield out by Bob Paschall.

In the other half of Tuesday's doubleheader, righthander Francisco Paz pitched a two-hitter and batted in all his team's runs to pace Chinandega to its victory over the Chinese team.

Paz had to squirm out of a bases loaded situation in the sixth inning to preserve his slim lead. He got Su Fong-Yuan on a liner to first baseman Jose Martinez for the final out.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Padres Pull Upset

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There's something about pennant contenders which brings out the best in the lowly San Diego Padres.

The Padres sport the worst won-lost record (49-79) in the National League and are currently 34 games out of first place in the West Division. But the Padres look like world beaters to such powers as the Cincinnati Reds, the New York Mets and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Against the Big Red Machine, pacing the West by 11 games, the Padres are 6-6 and Reds Manager Sparky Anderson recently paid the Padres the supreme compliment by saying, "I'm glad we don't have to face them in the playoff for the pennant."

The Padres also show a 6-6 record against the Mets and Tuesday night they won their fifth game in 11 meetings with Pittsburgh as they edged the East-Division leading Pirates, 4-3.

Dave Campbell, a reject from the Detroit Tigers whom the Padres acquired during the winter and who was batting a less than resounding .225 this season, led the San Diego attack by singling home two runs and belting his 10th homer. Ollie Brown accounted for the Padres' other tally with his 22nd round tripper.

Third place Chicago remained four and a half games back by losing to Los Angeles, 4-1, while in other NL action, Houston beat Montreal, 6-3, in 13 innings; Philadelphia nipped Cincinnati, 3-2, in 12 innings and San Francisco beat St. Louis 4-2.

In the American League, Boston shaded Minnesota, 1-0, California swept a doubleheader from Detroit, 6-4, in 12 innings and 10-6, New York edged Kansas City, 2-1, Chicago got by Washington, 4-3, Milwaukee downed Cleveland, 4-2, in 10 innings, and Baltimore topped Oakland, 5-1.

Atlanta, with the help of Hal King's three-run homer, had a 7-0 lead over the Mets going into the bottom of the eighth inning when New York rallied for four runs and then got two more in the ninth. Donn Clendenon's three-run homer sparked the Mets' eighth inning uprising and Clendenon then singled home two more runs in the ninth before Bob Priddy got Ken Boswell on a fly out to centerfield to end the game. Orlando Cepeda ripped his 27th homer for the Braves as Pat Jarvis gained his 15th victory.

Bill Russell slammed a two-run triple and Von Joshua singled home another run to help Los Angeles past Chicago. Joe Moeller started for the Dodgers but was spiked while covering first base in the eighth inning and had to give way to reliever Jim Brewer who preserved Moeller's sixth win.

Rookie Larry Howard singled in the go-ahead run and Doug Rader followed with a two-run single as the Astros scored three times in the 13th to beat Montreal. Joe Morgan homered for the Astros and Ron Cook, the sixth of seven Houston pitchers, got credit for the victory.

PRO FOOTBALL NOTES

'Bad Boy' Wright, Six Others Cut

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Offensive tackle Steve Wright, who spent much of last season in the New York Giants' "doghouse," was among seven players placed on waivers by the club Tuesday.

Wright, a seven-year pro who came to the Giants from Green Bay and immediately took over as a starter in 1968, was suspended last season for "conduct detrimental to the best interest of the ballclub."

Four other veterans were cut as the Giants reduced their roster to 53 players. They were quarterback Bob Davis, obtained from the Houston Oilers in the off-season, running back Pete Larson a free agent formerly with the Washington Redskins, and tight end Butch Wilson, formerly with the Baltimore Colts.

BUFFALO BILLS

Running back O.J. Simpson worked out at full speed as the Buffalo Bills continued preseason training at Niagara University. Simpson, the 1918 Heisman Trophy winner, and wide-receiver Bubba Thornton, both injured in last Friday's pre-season clash with the Philadelphia Eagles, are expected to play against the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital Friday night.

OILERS-COWBOYS

Seven thousand tickets go on sale today for a closed circuit color telecast of Saturday's Houston Oilers-Dallas Cowboys football game in the Astrodome. Astrodome seats have been sold out for a month and only a few of the 5,000 standing room tickets remain.

CLEVELAND BROWNS

The Cleveland Browns reduced their roster to 54 players by cutting rookie cornerback Honester Davidson, linebacker Rich Stotter and offensive lineman Bob Oliver. The Browns must cut five more players by next Monday.

CINCINNATI BENGALS

Cincinnati Bengals head coach Paul Brown, dissatisfied with his team's showing in Saturday's 41-20 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals, indicated he would probably give rookie quarterback Jim Del Gaizo a shot at the signal calling chores in this Saturday night's preseason meeting with the Browns in Cincinnati. Del Gaizo, a product of the University of Tampa (Fla.), has been the taxi squad quarterback so far. The Bengals reduced their squad to 52 players as coach Brown cut six men and placed a seventh on injured waivers.

The Chicago Bears announced that they have claimed quarterback Bill Stevens, released Monday by the Green Bay Packers, on waivers. Stevens, who played his college ball at Texas-El Paso, was a 1968 third round draft pick of the Packers.

Football And Baseball Clash Over Stadium

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BALTIMORE — A city court here has been asked to decide whether baseball fans have priority over football fans when the two sports schedules collide in late September.

The Baltimore Colts Tuesday filed suit against the Orioles and city officials over the baseball team's refusal to allow the gridders to use Memorial Stadium on the night of Sept. 28.

Just 15 hours after the rescheduled Monday night season opener between the Colts and the Kansas City Chiefs ends, the Orioles need their diamond back for a doubleheader against the Senators.

The Orioles' stadium lease stipulates that no one else should be permitted to use it within 36 hours of a scheduled baseball game.

But the colts, who rescheduled their opener after the April 1 lease agreement deadline, moved the game to Monday to accommodate national television, and an early season rainout against the Senators necessitated an evening doubleheader on the 25th for the Orioles.

Colts owner Carroll Rosenbloom, in announcing the suit on behalf of the Colts 50,000 season ticket holders, said, "Memorial Stadium belongs to the people and is to be used for their pleasure and benefit.

Named in the suit were Baltimore Baseball, Incorporated: Jerrold Whoffberger, Orioles owner; Mayor Thomas Dalesandro III and the head of the Park Board which operates the stadium.

Also Tuesday, the city's top legal officer was asked to rule on the matter.

Both teams tried to reschedule their games in nearby Washington.

But it would cost the Senators too much money to use Robert F. Kennedy stadium because their home schedule ends two days before the doubleheader.

Berkeley Coach Has The Graduation Blues

BERKELEY — Coach Ray Willsey is trying to restore a respectable punting game now that Gary Fowler, a consistent booter, has graduated from the University of California.

Place kicker Randy Wersching and junior college transfer Steve Sweeney shared punting duties Tuesday as the Bears ran through a two-a-day practice session without pads.

STANFORD

STANFORD — Defensive back Mike Ewing and guard Dan Lightfoot are nursing slight muscle pulls as Stanford University prepares for the 1970 Pacific-8 Conference football season.

John Ralston, coach of the Indians, praised the work of 6-5 defensive lineman Roger Cowan in Tuesday's practice. Cowan is a 230-pound junior college transfer.

OREGON STATE

Offensive guard Dan Zellick suffered a shoulder dislocation and will miss a week of action.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Moore, the top scorer as a sophomore in the Pac-8 last year, appeared in good shape Tuesday while catching passes from quarterbacks Tom Blanchard, Dan Fouts and Harvey Winn.

WASHINGTON STATE

PULLMAN, Wash. — Big Jim Gulledge, down to a "lean" 240 pounds, is counted on to add some depth to the defensive line of the Washington State Cougars.

Offensive line coach Jim Erkenbeck said Tuesday that Gulledge weighed in at 270 pounds when he transferred to WSU last spring.

TIME AND TIDE

DAVIS CUP

Too Many Stars

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ed Turville's problem of indecision grows more difficult by the day.

The U.S. Davis Cup team captain must decide by Friday which two men will play singles when American defends the international tennis trophy against West Germany this weekend.

Turville's three biggest problems—Arthur Ashe's sore foot, Cliff Richey's serve and Stan Smith's rustiness after a three-month layoff due to injury—all seemed to clear up Tuesday.

The uncomfortable growth on the foot of Ashe, who has a 22-2 record in Davis Cup competition, was responding well to medicated treatment Tourville said.

"The growth is not one half the size it was two weeks ago. It wasn't noticable today. Arthur moved very well on the court," Turville said.

"It was always thought Cliff's serve was one of the weaker parts of his game," Turville said. 'But today he served some aces and he won his serve quite handily in most of the games.

"Stan is serving 100 per cent, so it's one of those three way deals that makes it very tought to make the final decision," Turville said.

Both Smith and Richey played practice sets Tuesday with Ray Ruffels, the Australian left-hander who arrived for three days of practice with the American team fresh from a tournament triumph in Philadelphia.

According to Turville, Ruffels has the same type of game, powerful but with considerable finesse, as the German south paw ace Christian Kuhnke.

The three top German players, Kuhnke, Wilhelm Bungert and Ingo Buding, tested the cement side courts and the Harold T. Clark Stadium Tuesday and all appeared pleased with the fast cement surface.

The similar center court was to reopen for practice today after a repainting job.

"There's no question about it —this is their surface. Neither team will have any advantage," Turville said.

Bungert and Kuhnke appear certain to play both singles and doubles for the Germans. They have defeated Denmark, Egypt, Belgium, Russia and Spain en route to the challenge round.

Bungert, the only one of the two who permits interviews, said: "I much prefer a fast surface. On a slow clay court, the good players get everything back, no matter how hard you hit it."

"On a fast surface, if you hit one good serve out of three and hit some good shots, you make your game," he said.

Bungert, 31, runs a wholesale sporting goods business. Kuhnke, also 31, is completing law studies. His father is president of a merged company of major German coal mines.

Lucky Break For New York Champ

Stockton lost last weekend in a bid to qualify for the $25,000 Marlboro Open Tennis championships at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club. But he got a reprieve on Monday when he was called in to replace Ilie Nastase of Romania, who withdrew from the competition.

Stockton decided he would make every attempt to take advantage of this fortunate break. The 19-year-old sophomore at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex. rushed to Roslyn (Long Isand) Racquets club local indoor courts and started to work on his game. He spent two hours boning up on a new serve. His flat serve hadn't been working so he switched to a blistering American twist.

What a difference it made. Yesterday Stockton registered the biggest victory of his career, a 5-7, 6-2, 7-5 success over Dick Crealy, Australia's No. 3 amateur.

Stockton has another tough test today. He goes against Jim Osborne of Bountiful, Utah, ranked No. 9 nationally.

Otherwise, results in the men's division went as expected.

Top-seeded Rod Laver led the field into the third round with a 6-0, 6-4 victory over Premjit Lall of India. Ken Rosewalls, seeded No. 2 ousted Pete Curtis of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-2.

Alexander Metreveli of the USSR made an impressive start after an eight-year absence from this country. The 25-year-old Russian star, who lost as a junior in the U.S. National Championships in 1962, powered past Bill Bowrey of Australia, 6-3, 7-5 and Jaime Fillol of Chile, 7-6, 6-2.

His companion, Volga Morozova, Russia's No. 1 woman, raised a bit of a stir with a 7-5, 6-2 victory over Pat Walkden of South Africa, seeded No. 7. Other seeded women to lose were Francoise Durr of France (No. 3), Virginia Wade of Great Britain (4) and Karen Krantzcke of Australia (5).

Today's feature matches have Laver facing Richard Russell of Jamaica, BWI; Rosewall against Jean-Loup Rouyer of France; Andres Gimeno of Spain against Jean-Baptiste Chanfreau of France; Cliff Drysdale of South Africa meeting Bob Carmichael of France and Metreveli taking the court against Ray Keldie of New Zealand.

U.S. And Russia Vie In World University Games

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—The opening ceremonies for the sixth World University Games, a kind of kid brother to the Olympics, do not take place until tonight. By that time, three champions will be wearing gold medals.

Competition by more than 2,500 athletes from 63 nations, including the United States and Soviet Union, begins in basketball, diving, swimming and waterpolo.

When the flags come down Sept. 6, either the United States or the Soviet Union—both have more than 200 athletes here—is expected to reign as unofficial champion.

Many countries, such as Tanzania, Kuwait and South Korea, concede they have little chance for medals in any of the nine sports on the program. They sent teams, they said, as a gesture of friendship with students around the world.

The medals go today in the 100 meters free style, 100 meters butterfly and 1,500 meters. The United States could sweep all three events.

Another U.S. victory is likely in basketball. The Americans, who along with the Russians and Yugoslavs, are favored to take the medals, meet Denmark in an elimination match.

Eligibility in the games, which officially began in Turin in 1959, is limited to university or college students—and includes persons who graduated within the last three years.

Except for last year, when Portugal changed its mind and decided not to stage the games, the event has taken place every two years since 1959.

Turin spent $2.4 million getting ready for the games, a sum some opponents said should have gone toward health and housing.

But officials dismissed reports leftists would disrupt the opening day ceremonies to protest the expenditures. Police said no extraordinary precautions—"above what we would do under the circumstances in any event"—were planned.

MacKay Cracks Down On Temper Tantrums

SAN FRANCISCO — Director Barry MacKay of Ross has employed a special referee to stringently enforce disciplinary regulations in the Pacific Coast Open Tennis Tournament late next month.

"Tennis is an emotional game and there always have been temper displays, but they've gotten out of hand the last few years," MacKay said Tuesday.

"If a player throws his racquet or swears repeatedly, he should be thrown out of the tournament," MacKay said.

Boxing

Basketball

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco Warriors have placed veteran forward Dave Gambee on waivers.

Gambee, 33, joined the Warriors in a trade from Detroit last year for his 11th season of action in the National Basketball Association.

The 6-6 veteran averaged 7.2 points per game for San Francisco while serving as an assistant to coach Al Attles.

Tennis

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Garth O'Maley, former tennis star for the University of Arizona, has joined several other Bay Area tennis players in plans to stage exhibition matches for the benefit of dovish political candidates.

"We are concerned Americans who think it's time for a change in our Southeast Asia policy and this might be a way of doing it," O'Maley said Tuesday.

Tom Brown, Chuck Darley, Don Kierbow and a dozen other local tennis players have joined the group, calling itself "Play for Peace."

Football

HAYWARD (UPI)—Tim Tierney, coach at Homestead High School in Sunnyvale, has joined Hayward State College as an assistant to head football coach Les Davis.

Tierney, a defensive back his senior year of 1964 at San Francisco State, will be the defensive coordinator for the Pioneers.

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 26, the 238th day of 1970 with 127 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1883 the volcano at Krakatao in the Netherlands East Indies began erupting. Before it subsided the next day, two-thirds of the island had been laid to waste and 36,000 persons killed.

In 1920 the 19th Amendment to the Constitution went into effect, giving women the right to vote.

In 1948 Mildred Elizabeth Gillars, known as "Axis Sally," was brought to the United States to face charges of espionage and treason for wartime radio broadcasting for Nazi Germany.

In 1964 President Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Hubert Humphrey were selected to head the Democratic ticket.

A thought for the day: Sir John Buchan said, "We can only pay our debt to the past by putting the future in debt to ourselves."

Jail Sentence For Burglary Of Store

Mark Jefferson Lee, 21, of San Rafael, who earlier had admitted burglarizing the Terra Linda variety store on July 5, has been sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on Monday also placed him on probation for two years.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Belgian Expert Plays A Slam Hand In Sensational Fashion

A familiar face stopped me in Stockholm a couple of months ago during the world championships. The face was topped by some unfamiliar hair, but the voice was familiar. It was Charles Monk, one of Belgium's leading experts, and he had a sensational bridge hand to talk about.

Opening lead — ♠ J

SPADE LEAD

"This is your hand, and this is the dummy," Monk announced as he scribbled two hands on my notepad. "The opening lead is the jack of spades. You win with the queen, and East plays the jack of hearts. Proceed."

I shook my head dolefully. "I must ruff four red cards in the dummy. If West gets in, he'll lead another trump. But even if I can stop West from leading a trump, I'll have to ruff with dummy's ace of spades. That will set up a trump trick for West."

Monk looked at me triumphantly, so I took another look at the hand. And then I saw the light. Try it yourself, and then try it on some of your bridge friends.

REVEALING SIGNAL

East's signal at the first trick reveals the location of the king of hearts. Therefore lead a low heart at the second trick. East wins with the king and returns a diamond. You take the ace of diamonds, cash the ace of hearts to discard dummy's remaining diamond, and cash the ace of clubs.

Ruff a heart in dummy, ruff a club in your hand, ruff a diamond in dummy, ruff another club, ruff another diamond, and ruff the fourth round of clubs. With two cards left in each hand, you are down to the king of spades and a diamond. Dummy has the ace of spades and a club. West has two trumps.

RUFF DIAMOND

You ruff a diamond with dummy's ace and ruff the last club with the king of trumps. West helplessly underruffs at both ricks.

If you worked this out, perhaps you could be a successful player in Belgium.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ - None
♥ - K J 9 6 2
♦ - Q 10 8 2
♣ - 8 7 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. You may make game if partner shows up with only the ace of hearts and the king of diamonds or some such meager strength in the red suits. There's no way to find out what partner has, but it pays to bid such hands to game even though you will occasionally go down.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Bethlehem Steel Is Wait-See Situation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q.-I purchased Bethlehem Steel at 42. Should I sell and take a loss or is recovery possible? — R.E.

A. The uncertainties in Bethlehem Steel's situation do not bode will for its being a prime recovery candidate. Vigorous foreign rivalry is expected to continue as both the Japanese and the Common Market steelmakers expand their capacities. There is also a question of whether the company's operating efficiency will effectively offset higher labor costs, thereby improving its competitive position. Labor problems are a possiblilty since a three-year wage contract expires in August 1971. Moreover, there is a guest deal of uncertainty concerning the impact of competitive materials on the future growth of Bethlehem and the industry in general. Company reported sharply lower results for the second quarter ended June, 1970.

Share earnings declined to 45 cents from 94 cents, while sales edged down 1 per cent to $757 million. These results primarily reflect the slowdown in automobile industry sales, the Teamsters strige and high start-up expenses. The stock's above-average yield of 8.4 per cent — while seemingly attractive — may be in jeopardy if the present earnings trend continues into the second half. Bethlehem shares may experience a slight upturn in the event of a market rebound, however, any major recovery is not expected until earnings reverse and the steel industry comes alive.

Q. Please give me the address and information on Mass. Investors Growth Fund. Do you recommend this for growth? — M.L.

A. Mass. Investors assets of $1 billion place it among the 10 largest diversified mutual funds. Fund's investment goal is long-term growth of principal and future income rather than current income return. Its past performance is better than average, especially in the most recent 5-year period.

In 1969, Mass. Investors' net asset value remained unchanged — a good performance in view of market conditions. The fund's portfolio is invested primarily in growth companies, with business machines, drugs, electronics and oils the largest industry holdings. Address is: 200 Berkeley Street, Boston, 02116.

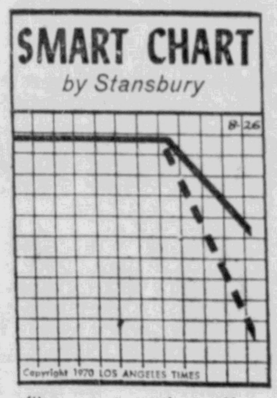
Refiner Contract

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fluor Corp. has said its British subsidiary has obtained a $50 million contract to design and build the first stage of a petroleum refinery at Megara in Greece for Omega Industrial Investment Corp., controlled by Aristotle Onassis.



"It was a great love affair while the government let it last."

Market Is Higher At Final Bell

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed higher Wednesday in active trading.

The list moved steadily higher most of the day, helped by further indication inflation was cooling, but late profit taking eroded much of the gains.

Shortly before the bell the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 760.75, up 1.78. The blue chip indicator had risen more than six points earlier. Of the 1,580 issues traded, 869 advanced and 467 declined.

The volume of around 15.3 million shares slipped from Tuesday's 17,520,000 shares.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 45 7-8 off 1-8; Chrysler 23 1-8 up 2; Dupont 126 3-8 off 5-8; Ford 48 3-4 up 1-8; General Electric 78 5-8 off 1-4 and IBM 263 3-4 off 1-4.

The Labor Department reported that because of a sharp drop in prices for farm products wholesale prices in August declined for the first time in two years.

"Investors have a rosier attitude," one analyst said. "They are maximizing the good news and playing down the bad."

Another analyst said the market was becoming increasingly vulnerable to broad profit taking

The National Industrial Conference Board reported that capital appropriations by manufacturers are "posed for an upturn in the third quarter" and current evidence suggests an actual increase in capital spending next year.

City Investing, Chrysler, Occidental, Denny's Restaurants, and Teledyne were active issues.

Motors were mixed. Ford reported it has settled some of its local plant disputes, adding to the general optimism that an auto strike will be averted.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Optoelectronics, Inc., Plans To Switch To Petaluma Plant

Northgate Industrial Park has been adding new tenants consistently month after month with little letdown, and it is only natural that occasionally it should lose a few.

One of these, Optoelectronics, Inc. at 4380 Redwood Highway may move out this month. This will be an expansion move to new quarters at Dynamics Court and McDowell Boulevard, Petaluma, where it will occupy a permanent plant site much larger than the present Northgate location.

Optoelectronics opened here at the Margarita Plaza over a year ago with a total staff of about six, including the working owners in the business. It now employs 22 persons, all of whom probably will remain with the company. Some of them already live in Sonoma County. The firm has been engaged in research, development and manufacture of infrared sensors and related electronic components.

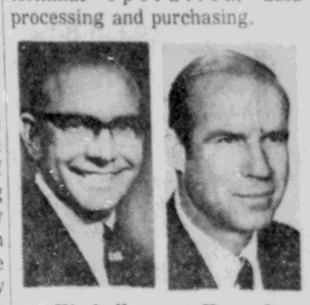
ABRAMS REALTY of Corte Madera will open a northern Marin branch office at 910 Grant Avenue, Novato about Sept. 15. Future expansion plans of owner Jack Abrams include 12 new offices in the next 18 months, to be located in Marin and Sonoma Counties and in the East Bay and Sacramento.

MARIN COUNTY real estate sales took an encouraging upturn during July, reaching a total of $9,773,214 in multiple listing transactions. This was up from $7,470, 601 reported for the same month last year.

Total completed sales for July were also high — $8,471,521, compared with $6,917,845 last year. Multiple listing completed sales for the first seven months at $38.8 million are still behind the seven-month period of 1969 which totaled $43.9 million.

WILLIAM R. KIMBALL JR. of Kentfield has been elected a director of Cox Cable Communications, Inc. of Atlanta. He owns Kimball and Co., a San Francisco consulting firm, is a partner in Frank, Kimball, Parsons and Daum, Inc. and is a director of Utah Construction and Mining Co.

HUGH H. HOWARD of Ross, president of Consolidated Marine, Inc., has been appointed general manager of terminals for American President Line. He will continue as chief executive officer of Consolidated Marine, a service organization owned by APL and others for terminal operation, data processing and purchasing.



Kimball Howard

LAWRENCE F. ALESSANDRIA of Corte Madera, a trader in the money market department of Bank of America's investment banking administration, is celebrating his 30th yeyar with the bank this month. A native New Yorker, he studied banking in Italy, then joined the bank's appraisal department in San Francisco.

His brother Louis, a resident of San Francisco, joined the bank the same day and is now head of the Italian department.

Alessandria Mrs. Boulet

MRS. CARL E. BOULET of Corte Madera has been promoted from assistant office manager to office manager for the Golden Gate agency for Prudential Insurance Co. She started with Prudential in 1957 and has been with the Golden Gate agency since last year.

Agnew In Formosa For Talks

SUN MOON LAKE, Taiwan (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek reviewed the security situation in Asia tonight during a private meeting at Chiang's mountain retreat.

Agnew came to this island bastion off the Chinese mainland to reassure Chiang that American overtures toward Communist China will not compromise U.S. defense commitments to Nationalist China.

The conference took place only a few hours after Agnew arrived on Taiwan from South Korea. It is the second stop on Agnew's Asian tour which will take him to South Vietnam, Thailand and probably Cambodia.

CHIANG VIEW

Chinese officials said Agnew asked Chiang Kai-shek to give his view of the world situation, particularly events in Asia.

Agnew in turn explained to the Nationalist Chinese president some of the domestic problems facing the United States, particularly the economic and financial ones, according to the officials.

Agnew also told Chiang that President Nixon "hopes before too long to have the privilege of visiting you." He did not elaborate as to whether Nixon was planning a trip to Asia in the near future.

Aboard his plane en route from Seoul to Taiwan, Agnew told reporters all American troops would be pulled out of South Korea when the South Korean Army is modernized, possibly within the next five years. In Seoul he told South Korean President Park Chung Hee that 20,000 U.S. troops would be withdrawn from Korea by next June, leaving about 45,000 on Korean soil.

"President Park understands this and he accepts it," Agnew said.

'BASIC ACCORD'

Agnew said "We reached a basic accord and I reassured the president that we intended to stand behind the mutual defense treaty of 1945."

Agnew's jet landed at Ching Cken Kang Air Base near Taichung, 110 miles south of Taipei. He shook hands with some of the 200 American military personnel at the base then drove to Sun Moon Lake for the meeting with the Nationalist Chinese president.

"After a rainfall, the soil is firm." This is an old Maryland expression which Agnew used to emphasize the solidarity between the United States and South Korea.

Agnew said in the news

San Rafael Sewer Work Is Tied Up

Spring Start Is Forecast; HUD Is Principal Holdup

San Rafael's sewer improvement project, for which voters on June 2 approved a $1,105,000 bond issue, will not get under way before next spring.

This is in spite of the fact that the city has been ordered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control District to complete the first three phases by Nov. 1 of this year. None of these three phases has yet been started.

The delay results from a combination of circumstances, but the principal holdup has been by the Housing and Urban Development Administration in approving a $289,000 federal grant to supplement the bond money. Approval has not yet been received, although city officials said today it "is expected any day."

Although the project wll not be started until much later than proposed in the timetable approved by the water quality control district, it will be completed a year before that timetable ancipated, according to Ely Caillouette Jr., city engineer. And the earlier completion — along with the later start — will result from HUD requirements.

This, Caillouette explained, is because HUD requires that the entire project be done as one piece, rather than in a series of stages under separate contracts as had been planned by the city and approved by the water quality control board. It will mean that the whole improvement project will be done in 1971.

There are several "ifs" in the schedule.

First is whether the water quality control board will approve the late start as justified by earler completion. It could insist that the city sell its bonds and get going on the project without HUD money. Caillouette said, however, that the district is being kept informed of what the city is doing and he expects no lifficulty from it.

Second is whether the bonds sell. The issue, as approved by the voters, must be sold at "approximately 6 per cent" interest. At the time the ballot measure was drawn up, City Mgr. James H. McCown said he had been assured by financial houses that San Rafael city bonds should sell at 6 per cent or less. Since then, interest rates have climbed a bit more, and McCown indicated

The Novato City Council last night adopted with little discussion a final 1970-71 budget of $2,125,700, an increase of $6,000 over the preliminary budget adopted in July.

Changes in cost estimates reduced the budget $4,000 at one point, but $4,000 for termite control in city buildings and $6,000 for a special census recount in April 1971 were added to the budget.

The total tax rate for fiscal 1970-71 was set at 99 cents per $100 assessed valuation, an increase in the tax rate of 24 cents over last year's rate.

The rate includes 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation to finance the five-year street improvement program recommended to the council in the Aug. 18 meeting.

If, however, the voters approve a $3.25 million bond issue for street improvements — choosing to finance improvements with bonds rather than tax revenues — that 30 cents will be applied to bond interest and redemption.

The council last night adopted an ordinance setting the bond issue election for Nov. 3.

The council also approved a tax rate statement to inform voters of annual tax rates required to support the bond issue if passed: 25 cents per $100 in 1970-71, increasing annually to a high point of 48 cents in 1975-76 and dropping to 44 cents in 1976-77, first fiscal year after the last sale of bonds authorized.

San Anselmo Tax Rate Set At $2.35

The San Anselmo City Council last night set the tax rate for fiscal 1970-71 at $2.35 per $100 assessed valuation — an increase of 10 cents over last year.

The figure includes the maximum amount, $1.52 for the general fund, 18 cents for the library fund, 10.5 cents for the parks fund, nine cents for the recreation fund, 35.5 cents for the retirement fund and 10 cents for the storm drain fund.

The rate passed 4-1 with councilman Woodrow V. Capurro arriving at the meeting at 9:15 p.m., just in time to vote against the rate and read a prepared statement.

The former mayor accused the council of not providing for the best services at the lowest cost and avowed that the $2.25 tax rate could have been retained.

"As I said before budget hearings started, I would vote against any increase in the tax rate," he read.

He said the average homeowner will pay between $120 and $125 in property tax to the city and pointed out the numerous responsibilities the city meets with the money.

Cutting back on local spending would lead to further encroachment on local government duties by state and federal governments with "the eventual emasculation and death of local government," he said.

He asked irate taxpayers to aim their blasts at federal and state bodies that have usurped the revenue sources.

Women March For Equal Rights; Protests Take On Varied Forms

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Demonstrations to free women from their "second sex" role got under way slowly today and emerged in varied forms.

In New York demonstrators passed out a parody of the New York Times—a product of the National Organization for Women, which was called the NOW York Times.

The columns contained an interview with "Nick Dixon," alleged head of a masculinist group, a movie review of a film rated "W", meaning women must accompany men, and a sports story by "Ruth Babe."

A noon program was planned by the NOW in San Rafael. Members of NOW have announced they will pass out pamphlets in the Northgate Shopping Center and at Civic Center. They intended to select a "prettiest supervisor" during their Civic Center tour in order to score the absurdity of beauty pageants, according to NOW spokesmen.

Some of the feminist strategy seemed puzzling. In Pittsburgh, four women pelted windows of a radio station with eggs before they drove off in a car. Studio officials said they were unable to figure it out unless they had offended some listenders by airing a feature called "Great Women in History."

Later, a speaker at a Pittsburgh suffrage rally told a cheering crowd of bra-less and blue-jeaned listeners that her group threw the eggs because a disk jockey "dared" them to try something on the air.

Women's Liberation devotees in Indianapolis, Ind., ran into a problem with the predominantly-male government of the city — no permit for their planned 15-minute street production entitled "Male Ego." They said they might stage it anyway.

Charlotte, N.C., women handed out leaflets in the downtown area, informing the public they were not calling for a strike, but for "educating women" about their problems.

Things got off to a free-swinging start Tuesday night when Dr. Edgar Berman —who has said women's physical differences from men might render them unfit for policy-making jobs —debated Dr. Estelle Ramsey, a professor at Georgetown University Medical School, a woman.

The woman said Dr. Berman is wrong. In fact, she said his theory is "like saying if my grandmother had wheels she would be a station wagon."

In Houston, a ladies group called the "Bow-Wows," gagged and bound male broadcasters Tuesday and "threatened to tear up their music sheets." They won time on KPRC radio from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. today.

Milder tactics were planned in New York City, where women said they received assurance from police they

Senate Refuses To Bar Defoliants In Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused today to bar further use in Vietnam of chemicals to destroy forests that shield Communist troops and crops that feed them.

Rejected was an anti-herbicide amendment offered by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to the $19.2 billion defense procurement bill.

After disposing of the Nelson anendment 62 to 22, the Senate looked toward a vote sext Tuesday on a proposal by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., to force U. S. withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1971. It appears destined for defeat. Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a long-time war critic, said today he would vote against it.

In the debate on Nelson's amendment to stop use of defoliants and crop-killing chemicals, he suggested that the United States was "endorsing the concept of starvation warfare."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, defended the practice.

"So long as there is any possibility that the lives of American boys, as well as those of our allies, can be saved by using herbicides, there can be no justification for arbitrarily depriving our military commanders of the option of selective application of this material," Stennis said.

Nelson charged, in a speech to the Senate, that the United States has embarked on an unprecedented war on the environment of Vietnam. He said in eight years U.S. troops has sprayed more than 100 million pounds of herbicides—roughly six pounds for every man, woman and child in

Wholesale Prices Drop This Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices have declined this month for the first time in two years, the government said today. A sharp drop in prices for farm products was cited as the reason.

The Labor Department said in preliminary estimates that wholesale prices declined overall by 0.5 per cent in August although the key industrial commodities index rose by 0.2 per cent.

Wholesale prices for farm products, which rose 1.6 per cent in July, fell 4.5 per cent in August, officials said.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said that with seasonal factors taken into account, the wholesale index had dropped 0.2 per cent this month.

With seasonal factors figured in, the drop in farm product prices was placed at 2.5 per cent.

The rise in the industrial commodities index, considered one of the more stable barometers of economic conditions, stayed at 0.2 per cent, even with seasonal adjustments.

The Treasury's chief economist, Assistant Secretary Murray Weidenbaum, said the dip in the over-all wholesale index was "another indication of progress in the administration's efforts to curb inflation."

"It tends to confirm the continued slowdown of the rate of inflation," Weidenbaum said. "For the six-month period ending in August, the wholesale price index has registered a rise at the annual rate of 1.2

HIDING — Youngsters hiding from monsoon rains under an umbrella have found only one way to deal with the situation. Some obviously prefer to use it as an excuse for a little walk in the buff.

This scene was snapped at Stung Chrall, a village on Route 4 in Cambodia about 80 miles south of Phnom Penh, the capital.

(UPI Telephoto)

New Red Attack Expected

SAIGON (UPI)—Field reports today said more than 1,000 Cambodian troops were digging in at a village nine miles north of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh for a new wave of Communist attacks.

In South Vietnam, communique reported five Americans killed in widely separated action, two of them when U.S. artillerymen accidentally shelled their own lines.

VITAL LINE

UPI correspondent Frank Frosch, in a dispatch from Phnom Penh, said three battalions of Cambodian infantry were reinforcing positions in the village of Prek Tameak for assaults by North Vietnamese units expected tonight.

Prek Tameak, described as a vital link in Phnom Penh's defenses, has been the scene of heavy combat for more than a week.

Fifteen Cambodian defenders were reported killed and at least 33 wounded in a battle at Prek Tameak which ended early today.

2,000 SOLDIERS

"We killed a lot of the enemey," a Cambodian battalion commander told correspondent Frosch. But he gave no figures and newsmen saw no Communist bodies. A Cambodian spokesman said 2,000 Communist soldiers are in the Prek Tameak area.

In three battles in the Prek Tameak area in a week Cambodian troops report killing at least 900 Viet Cong. Cambodian losses were placed at 37 killed and 177 wounded.

Cambodian air force fighter-bombers are supporting the infantrymen at Prek Tameak. There have been no reports of U.S. air strikes in the area, although American policy permits such operations.

Albert Easy Winner In Oklahoma Primary

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas easily won renomination to their offices in primary elections Tuesday.

But former six-term Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus faced a runoff in the democratic primary for governor after mustering about 36 per cent of the vote against seven opponents.

Primary elections were held in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Alaska Tuesday. Interest centered on races for governor. There is only one Senate seat at stake in Alaska.

Albert's victory in the Democritic primary in Oklahoma was tantamount to election because he has no opposition in November. It also means he likely will be speaker of the House next year, assuming the Democrats retain a majority in Congress.

In Arkansas, Rockefeller easily rolled over three opponents in the GOP primary, but his real test will come in November when he probably will face Faubus, governor from 1955 to 1967, whose name became a national household word during the 1957 crisis over the integration of Little Rock schools.

Faubus defeated Rockefeller in 1964, but retired in 1967.

Faubus in the Sept. 8 runoff primary will face either attorney Dale Bumpers or Attorney General Joe Purcell. Bumpers was slightly ahead of Purcell as the count neared completion.

In the Oklahoma democratic primary for governor, former Tulsa County prosecutor David Hall fell short of the required majority vote, and faced a runoff with State Sen. Bryce Baggett. The winner of the Sept. 15 runoff will run against GOP Gov. Dewey Bartlett.

In Alaska, Gov. Keith Miller, who stepped up to the governor's chair when Walter J. Hickel became interior secretary, won the Republican gubernatorial nomination over Rep. Howard W. Pollock. Former Gov. William A. Egan received the Democratic nomination for governor by defeating Larry Carr.

Wendell Kay won the Democratic senatorial nomination over Joe Josephson and will face Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, in November. Stevens was a landslide winner for the GOP nomination. Frank H. Murkowski won the Republican nomination for Alaska's lone seat in the House, defeating C. R. Lewis, a member of the John Birch Society's national council. Nick Begich was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. no pickup

Bomb Rips Judge's Car In Oklahoma

It was the latest in a series of attacks on Tulsa law officials.

Nelson, who led a field of three in the Democratic primary in his bid to serve his first full term on the bench was admitted to a hospital in serious condition Tuesday but reported in satisfactory condition today.

A young boy across the street saw the blast and said it blew the car hood 100 feet high. Police Commissioner Brad Sheer said his investigators estimated it would take four or five sticks of dynamite to cause such a blast.

Sheer said officers knew of no threats made against Nelson and he recalled no controversial court decision the judge had made that might have provoked the bombing.

A reward fund for the bomber's capture totaled $35,500 by early today, including $25,000 from the Tulsa County Bar Association.

BRUSSELS (UPI) —Construction of supermarkets and shopping centers in Belgium has forced 18,700 family grocers out of business in the past five years, according to government statistics.

Two Perish In Blaze At Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Flames flashed through a Market Street hotel Tuesday night, killing two persons and injuring seven others.

Cause of the blaze that started on the second floor of the four-floor structure was not immediately determined but Fire Chief William Murray estimated damage at $100,000.

Both persons killed were on the Grand Central Hotel's second floor and both were so badly burned that they could not be recognized.

All of the seven persons injured were treated for smoke inhalation.

Peace Talks Mark Time; Aide Consults

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

U.N.-sponsored Middle East peace talks, only 24 hours old, marked time today while the Israeli representative went home for consultations.

In Cairo, the rift between Egypt and most of Palestinian guerrillas appeared near an end following a meeting between U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser and guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat. Sporadic fighting was reported Tuesday between Arabs and Israelis along the Lebanese and Jordanian fronts despite the 90-day cease-fire that started Aug. 7.

With the diplomatic action centered at the United Nations in New York, U.N. Mediator Gunnar V. Jarring met twice with the Israeli representative to the talks Tuesday and once each with the representatives of Egypt and Jordan. Following the meetings, Israel's U.N. ambassador, Joseph Tekoah, flew to Jerusalem for consultations. He said he would return as soon as possible but he was expected to be gone at least three days.

In Cairo, diplomatic sources said the meeting between Nasser and Arafat, head of the Al Fatah guerrillas, ended in a positive note. Arafat, they said, apparently was convinced the U.N. negotiations were not a "sellout" by the Egyptians.

VENTURA (UPI)—A small but sharp earthquake hit the Ventura area Tuesday evening but little damage was reported.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Court Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments in October on the constitutionality of the voting rights act, and has indicated it would try to rule on its most controversial section — the vote for 18-year-olds — before the provision takes effect Jan. 1.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger issued a brief notice Tuesday agreeing to rule in the case and setting a hearing for Oct. 19 on four test cases involving the 18-year-old vote, a ban on literacy tests and a limit on state residency requirements for presidential elections.

The statutes were passed as amendments to legislation extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act. Four states — Texas, Oregon, Idaho and Arizona — have challenged one or more of the provisions or have been sued by the Justice Department, and all four cases will be combined at the Oct. 19 hearing.

Kennedy Estate

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The late Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President John F. Kennedy, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, bequeathed most of his vast fortune to a mental retardation foundation named for his other son.

Kennedy's will, on file in the Palm Beach County Courthouse, does not specify the exact amount of his estate when he died Nov. 18, 1969, but his worth was estimated at $300-$500 million in the early 1960's.

Except for his wife Rose and two sisters, Kennedy left most of his holdings to the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation based in Washington, which finances research in mental retardation. The nonprofit organization is named after the former ambassador's eldest son who was killed in World War II.

Seven Airmen Killed

BANGKOK (UPI) — Seven U.S. Air Force enlisted men were killed Tuesday night when an express train struck a bus in which they were riding. Seven other airmen were injured, three seriously.

The bus driver and another Thai were injured.

The dead and injured airmen were stationed at the airport, about 15 miles north of Bangkok, where American military aircraft are based.

Riot In Naples

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Riot police fought running battles for several hours early today with thousands of fans of an acrobatic motorcyclist who calls himself "Agostino the Mad." It was the third consecutive night of disorders in central Naples.

At least a dozen more persons were injured, bringing the toll to more than 50 during the past three nights. One of the injured was a policeman who shot himself when he dropped his pistol, police reported.

Scores of tear gas cannisters were hurled into the crowd. A cloud of tear gas hung in the still air over the heart of the city when Neapolitans went to work today.

Philippine Bank Has 73 Vice Presidents

MANILA (UPI) —Philippine congressmen looking into the operations of the state-run Philippine National Bank have been told the bank has 73 vice presidents.

The breakdown shows the bank has one executive vice president, three senior vice president, 13 (standard) vice presidents and 56 assistant vice presidents.

Near Collision

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy said today three of its carrier-based jet attack bombers narrowly missed colliding with a British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) jetliner carrying 124 persons over the South China Sea Tuesday.

The Navy, in a statement made public here, said "three U.S. Navy A7 jet aircraft and a BOAC jet airliner passed close about 140 nautical miles east of Da Nang at 1:35 p.m. Saigon time Aug. 25."

"None of the aircraft involved physically touched one another and none of the Navy aircraft were damaged. There were no injuries to the Navy personnel."

Amsterdam Fight

AMSTEDRAM (UPI) — About 100 Dutch sailors and marines, apparently angered by groups of young people loitering in Dam Square, site of a World War II memorial, used their belts and fists Tuesday night to clear the area.

The servicemen's action was immediately denounced by Premier Piet S. De Jong and the Navy command. A spokesman for the premier said, "no group in the Dutch community should be allowed to take the law into its own hands."

After the marines left, the young people returned. Police moved in and, for the second night in a row, clashed with youths who tore up paving stones and looted nearby stores. Police said one person — a West German — was arrested and one civilian slightly injured.

This Fiddler Wins

WEISER, Idaho (UPI) — "Fiddlers never amount to anything —they always wind up as drunks or bums," Alvin Sanderson's father told him in 1909. Sixty-one years later, Sanderson won his third straight title here as the best senior division old-time fiddler in the nation.

today he is less confident — though still hopeful — that the big issue can be sold at "approximately 6 per cent."

Third is whether engineering detals can be completed in time for a January bond sale. Caillouette said it may be necessary to "farm out" some of the engineering to Dan Coleman Associates, who did the preliminary engineerng study which was the basis of the project.

Fourth is whether a contractor can complete the whole project between the rainy seasons in a single year. It will mean that a lot of San Rafael streets will have to be torn up next summer, Caillouette admitted.

The schedule — if none of the "ifs" upsets it — now is as follows, according to McCown and Caillouette:

Sell the entire bond issue in January; call for bids on construction in March; complete construction before the rains begin in the fall of 1971.

One part of the project may be started this year: a $275,000 pumping station at Second and Irwin streets, which was designated as part of phase one in the original plan. This is to be installed by the San Rafael Sanitation District, whereas the sewer line replacements that make up the rest of the project are city responsibilities.

The pumping plant might be under way by now except for difficulties over working out the location with the California Division of Highways, Caillhouette said. The original location turned out to be where the state planned widening of Irwin Street in connection with its highway improvement project. The station then had to be redesigned, and its emergency power plant relocated. Caillouette said final design is under way and bids should be called within a month. He estimated construction will take four months.

Phases two and three, which the water quality control district had decreed must be done by Nov. 1, would relieve an annual problem of sewage boiling out of manholes by reconstructing lines on D and Bayview streets and from there to Francisco Boulevard, and on Irwin, Mary and Park streets, Grand and Mission avenues.

Residents of those localities, Caillouette conceded ruefully, probably will have to put up with the familiar, odorous difficulty for one more winter.

Meanwhile, however, one requirement of the water quality control district has been met by the San Rafael Sanitation District with enlargement of the sewage treatment plant. This, said Caillouette, should mean that the treatment plant will not be bypassed at all next winter, despite intrusion of storm water. In the past, exceedingly heavy rains have put so much water in sanitary sewer lines that the plant could not handle the flow and some was sent directly into the bay.

Legislators Are Welcomed

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah today officially welcomed 1,700 legislators from the 50 states and four major trust territories who have arrived here for the 23rd annual National Legislative conference.

Following the governor's opening remarks, the state lawmakers were scheduled to hear from U.S. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., Colorado Gov. John A. Love, and the mayor of Indianapolis, the Honorable Richard G. Lugar.

The purpose of the conference is discussion and examination of the problems of urban affairs, human resources, natural resources, the environment, welfare, crime, science and technology.

Pollution Alarm On Mississippi

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrial firms are daily dumping 4,800 pounds of potentially dangerous lead into the Mississippi River between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La., an Interior Department official told a Senate hearing today.

Assistant Secretary Carl L. Klein testified that the Louisiana Stream Control Commission was preparing hearings at which offending firms would be asked what they would do about it and when.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, head of a Senate subcommittee on environment, demanded that Klein state what the Interior Department was going to do.

DEBATE

Vietnam — over more than 5½ million acres of Vietnam.

"This nation may well have set an ecologic time fuse in Vietnam that will reverberate down the life chain causing widespread destruction by wiping out forms of plant, animal and aquatic life that can never be replaced . . ." he said.

"If our role is to defend Vietnam, how can we risk destroying the environment in which they must survive when we leave?" he asked.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., opposed the amendment contending herbicides were of "critical importance in saving American lives in Vietnam."

He took issue with Nelson's claims that one of the herbicides used in the anticrop program caused defects in chicken embreos and hamsters in laboratory tests. McIntyre said the chemical — called 2-4D —was not concentrated "to any applicable degree" in plants tested.

He said "no increase in birth defects from the herbicide program" showed up in tests that followed the "accidental" spraying of rubber plantations in Cambodia.

The Nixon administration reserved the right to continue using herbicides and tear gas when it asked the Senate last week to ratify a 1925 treaty banning germ and gas warfare.

Nelson asked the Senate to reverse the administration decision.

Tuesday, the Senate considered — and quickly rejected 52 to 35 — an amendment to lay the groundwork for an all-volunteer army and an end to the draft.

The proposal, made by Hatfield and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was designed to attract thousands of new recruits with a $3.2 billion across-the-board military pay hike.

Although opponents attacked the voluntary army as too expensive, unworkable and unfair to poor blacks who would be lured to fight wars for rich whites, antidraft sentiment was still alive. Several members predicted Nixon would run into trouble if he asks Congress next year to extend the draft beyond its June 30 expiration date unless Vietnam withdrawals are speeded up.

WOMEN

could march down Fifth Avenue at 5:30 p.m. with only one lane left open for traffic.

The Secret Service announced Tuesday it had selected the first seven women to serve on the White House police force, explaining, "there are places where only women can go."

President Nixon today hailed the 50th anniversary of American woman's suffrage and gave a boost to the Women's Liberation Movement strike goals.

In a proclamation saluting the 19th amendment giving women the vote, Nixon said "...let us also recognize that women surely have a still wider role to play in the political country.

"And in respect for American women," he added, "let all of us work to bring this about."

A White House aide said, furthermore, that barring any hitches the President will sign the equal rights amendment if it crosses his desk. The long sought amendment barring denial of rights because of "sex" passed the House by an overwhelming vote and is pending in the Senate.

Pat Nixon and her daughters Tricia, 24 and Julie Eisenhower, 22, had no activities or plans in connection with women's equality rallies being staged throughout the country today. Her aides point out, however, that Mrs. Nixon has "always supported equal rights for women."

Elliot Richardson, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said his department has "tended to apply a double standard in judging their (women's) performance."

Acting Secretary of State U. Alexis Johnson proclaimed Federal Women's Day in his department and announced formation of a women's program committee to pursue equal opportunity.

Among the officials less enthusiastic about the day was San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who said, "I don't understand this struggle, I'm trying to get a handle on it. What is it they want done differently?"

conference aboard his jet plane that he expected to discuss what he called obligations and limitations of the defense treaty between the United States and Nationalist China when he met with Chiang.

Nationalist China has been disturbed about the Nixon administration's attempts to improve relations with Communist China and recent decisions by the White House to ease trade restrictions against Peking.

Agnew was expected to tell Chiang that these policies will be continued, although the United States will firmly uphold its obligations under the 1954 defense treaty with the Taipei government.

The visit to Nationalist China is the shortest segment of Agnew's Asian tour. Agnew was to have breakfast with Chiang Ching-kuo Thursday, pay a final courtesy call on Chiang Kai-shek then leave for Saigon a few hours later.

Agnew is expected to make a quick sidetrip to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, a short flight from Saigon. Official sources in Phnom Penh said Tuesday Agnew would visit Cambodia but there has been no announcement from the vice president's staff.

Agnew made a fighting speech to American GIs and Korean troops who man the truce line that winds its way for 155-miles through the bleak hills separating South Korean and Communist North Korea.

"I can assure you that having stood together in the adversity of the Korean War, the United States has no intention of running out on its commitment," Agnew said in a speech to troops at Camp Wagner near the armistice line.

Kyunghyang Shinmum, a Seoul newspaper, said South Korea asked Agnew for military aid worth $3 billion and a written guarantee that the United States would act immediately if North Korea attacked as it was in June, 1950.

The 0.5 per cent nonadjusted decrease in the over-all price index was the first decline since August, 1968, when it went down 0.4 per cent. On an adjusted basis, the decline in August was the first drop since a similar 0.2 per cent decrease in April, 1967.

"The sharp decline in the unadjusted index for farm products reflected particularly important decreases for hogs, fresh and dried vegetables, eggs and cattle," the report said.

"Lower prices for processed foods and feeds (which went down 0.4 per cent) were confined principally to meats and processed poultry."

Changes in the wholesale price index often precede upward or downward trends in the consumer price index—covering retail prices. The Labor Department reported last week that the July consumer index registered a 0.4 per cent unadjusted rise.

This month's wholesale price increases for fuels and power had the most significant influence on the advance in prices for industrial commodities, the Labor Department said. The industrial index covers all nonfarm product and food and feed items.

"Electric utility rates were raised and prices were boosted for bituminous coal, residual fuels, distillates and gasoline," the report said.

Metals and metal product prices declined for the second consecutive month but machinery and equipment prices continued to advance. Among building materials, there were increases for ready-mix concrete; asphalt roofing, soft wood lumber and soft wood plywood a drop in prices for hardwood lumber and hardwood plywood.

Philip Gives Couple A Lift

LONDON (UPI)—When newlyweds Brett and Julia Parker finally thumbed a ride during a rainstorm in northwest Scotland recently, they found themselves stammering their thanks to Prince Philip.

"We immediately recognized him," Mrs. Parker, 22, said Tuesday night. "And he was much more handsome than I expected."

She said it was only after she and her husband, also 22, got into the Landrover that they realized the driver in the dark glasses was the husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

During a 12-mile drive with the prince and his male companion to a nearby ferry, Mrs. Parker said it was Philip who did most of the talking.

Innocent Plea To Crash Death

Lois Louise Wood, 67, of Forest Knolls yesterday pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor that caused the death of motorcharge of driving in a manner cyclist William George Relihan, 23, of San Anselmo on June 29.

The collision between the Wood car and Relihan's motorcycle on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Forest Knolls also injured a passenger on the bike.

Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth set Jan. 4, 1971 for jury trial in the case.

Theater Emptied

Approximately 200 patrons were evacuated from the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley last night after a man phoned the box office about 8:45 p.m. and announced a bomb had been planted.

Police found no evidence of an explosive device.

Fall Swim Program Is Now Assured

Operation of the annual fall swimming program of the Cotati School District was assured last night when the school board voted $275 from reserves to pay the salaries of instructors.

The trustees, upon facing a budget squeeze earlier, had asked the City of Rohnert Park to provide the lessons free of cost, but opponents said students could just as easily take lessons during the summer.

However, the city agreed to pay other program costs if the school district would finance instructors' salaries.

The Cotati School District board also:

MORE FUNDS — Heard a report that funds from AB 525 signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan will provide an additional $34,300 next April. Business Mgr. James Davidson said the figure is based on the estimated average daily attendance of 1,715 students.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Marilyn Pensabene as a teacher at the Thomas Page School.

POLICY — Adopted a new policy directing that the board president take office immediately after election at the organizational meeting.

Assessment Figures On Target

According to the state Board of Equalization Computations, Marin County's assessed values come to 22.2 per cent of actual market value.

This, said Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, is eight-tenths of a per cent off the actual figure of 23 per cent which the assessor's office uses for tax computation.

The board of equalization figures show some counties' assessed valuations are as low as 15 per cent of actual market value.

The assessor explained that this is how the state arrived at its figures: In 1968, the state sampled 270 parcels of property in Marin. The figures arrived from those samplings were updated to compute what the state believes are actual market values in Marin for 1970. From this updated figure, the state finds that Marin's assessed values are now 22.2 per cent of actual market value.

Broemmel said it is rare to find the state figures coinciding exactly with the ratio (23 per cent in the case of Marin) used by each county.

The state keeps tabs on county assessed valuation so that a county does not drop its values for the purpose of getting more state aid; for example, as an impoverished school district on grounds that the assessed value per child is far below state average.

Rotary Club To Hear School Candidates

Four candidates vying for two seats on the Sausalito School District Board in a special election September 15 have been invited to speak before the Sausalito Roary Club tomorrow at noon in the Alta Mira Hotel.

Candidates Robert R. Lyon and Robert A. Thompson of Sausalito and Royce Mc Lemore and Robert E. Fisher Jr. of Marin City will discuss school distrivti ssues and answer questions.

Hanoi's Chief Paris Negotiator Returns

PARIS (UPI(—North Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Paris talks, Xuan Thuy, returned today after an eight-month boycott and said he was bringing "goodwill and a serious attitude" to the deadlocked peace conference.

OBITUARIES

Marshall F. Collins Dies At 53

Marshall F. Collins, 53, a nine-year Novato resident and civilian employee of Hamilton Air Force Base, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Collins retired after 24 years federal service as a civil engineer on June 25.

A native of Kentucky, he came to Novato in 1961 from service in Tripoli, Libya. He had also served in military and civilian positions in Panama and Iceland.

He lived at 37 Queva Vista.

Surviving are his wife, Jewel C. Collins; a son, Marshall E. Collins Jr.; a daughter, Patricia A. Hembling, and two grandchildren, all of Novato.

He was a member of the First Missionary Baptist Church of Williamson, W. Va., the Society of American Military Engineers, International Association of Laryngectomies and the Lost Cord Club of Northern California and a life member of the Affiliated Government Employees.

The family prefers contributions to the Lost Cord Club of Northern California, San Francisco.

Funeral will be Friday at 2 p.m. at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, followed by burial at Marin Memorial Gardens.

HAZEL PAULSEN

Hazel L. Paulsen, 72, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after an illness of six months.

A native of Fort Bragg, she was educated in Geyserville and moved to Petaluma in 1915. Mrs. Paulsen was a member of the Women's Auxiliary to the Veterans of World War I, Barracks No. 199, and the Pythian Sisters.

She is survived by her husband, Ward C. Paulsen, who formerly operated a cigarette distributorship.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

LEO LUCERO

Leo Lucero, 78, of Petaluma, a retired real estate broker, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

A native of Colorado, he was educated in San Francisco and had been a real estate broker since 1929. Lucero operated his business in Petaluma, Santa Rosa and San Francisco, retiring three years ago. He had lived in Petaluma since 1950.

Lucero attended the School of Mineralogy at Santa Rosa Junior College. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Funeral will be Friday at 10 a.m. at the chapel. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

FRANCES YORK

A paid death notice in yesterday's Independent-Journal erred in saying burial of Frances W. York of Mill Valley would be held in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery today. Burial was at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. York died Monday in a local hospital after a long illness.

JUANITA AKERLY

Funeral for Juanita Willard Akerly of 17 Huntington Way, Petaluma, will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Akerly, 64, died Monday, apparently of natural causes, after collapsing in her home. She was a former San Rafael resident.

Youth Released; Time Credited

Gary Hoyte Wooten, 22, of Bakersfield, arrested in Bakersfield Friday for failure to appear in Marin Municipal Court for sentencing on a misdemeanor credit card forgery count, yesterday was released on his own recognisance.

Judge Hadden W. Roth told Wooten to appear Oct. 2 for probation report and sentencing on the charge of which he was convicted April 28 after a court trial.

Wooten, held without bail in Bakersfied and Marin county jails since his arrest told Roth that his attorney and the probation department had failed to notify him of scheduled court appearances. He said he is now working as a Kern County radio station advertising salesman.

The judge said that if any jail sentence is imposed on the credit card count, the time he has spent in jail will be taken into account.

$7,000 Comes From Tiburon General Fund

The $7,000 which the Tiburon City Council put into a drainage improvement fund came from the city's general fund and not from a bond posted by Tiburon developer Fred G. Zelinsky, as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal.

The council did, however, specify that $2,500 appropriated earlier to finance a drainage study would come from Zelinsky's money and not from the general fund.

LOW, MIDDLE INCOME

Novato Works Out Policy On Housing

The Novato City Council last night established a precedent for requiring low and moderate income housing in developments in the city.

The action came as a condition of approval of master plans for the San Marin East development.

The developer, Standard Growth Properties, offered only token resistance to the requirement, saying that provision for low-income housing was feasible and desirable but that the requirement should not be made until a policy to apply to other developers is adopted.

Planning Director Brian Mattson said that the planning department was working on a plan for a consistent policy to require low and moderate houisng in developments, and citizens and special interest groups suggested several possible means of obtaining such housing.

The requirement for San Marin East was for 100 units to meet standards of one of two federal programs for low and moderate income housing or standards to be arrived at in consultations between the developer and planning commission.

"It's true that we do not have the requirement now," Mattson said, "But as a result of the county's housing element we now have a data base from which to work . . . it is incumbent upon the city to begin to plan for it."

Roger Strawick, vice-president of Standard Growth Properties, said that he felt the need for low-income housing in San Marin East could be met without making it a condition of development because the city and developer both recognize the need.

"We will accept the condition but don't feel that it is reasonable," Strawick said.

A representative of the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All, Margaret B. Azevedo, a Marin County planning commissioner, advocated adoption of a declaration of intent to develop policies for inclusion of low and moderate income housing in developments along with the requirement.

Edward T. Ryken of 11 Viejo Way suggested that federal programs other than grants for construction of low and moderate income housing, such as project supervision and completion under the "turnkey principle" by ythe Federal Housing Authority be explored.

He also suggested that block leasing and operation by the FHA or by interested organizations such as the Ecumenical Association for Housing be studied, saying that the goal of obtaining low and moderate income housing could be reached in several ways he didn't mention.

Several other citizens advocated the requirement to include low-income housing in San Marin East and establishment of fixed policies to encourage building such housing.

The city acceded to the developer's request for designation of a service station site northwest of Highway 101 and San Marin Drive, and the developer accepted the planning commission's requirement of street improvements on a portion of San Marin Drive, entering the development from the east to resolve other differences on the master plan.

Councilman George C. Quesada voted against the plan because of reservations about the grading requirements of the plan, he said. Councilmen Douglas M. Merrill, Wayne Womack and Joseph Gargiulo voted for approval of the plan.

The Novato City Council Also:

POLICE TRAINING — Accepted a check from the state of California for $1,324, half the cost of the training program recently completed by the Novato Police Department to meet police officers standards of training criteria set by the state. The rebate was made upon completion of post requirements.

SHORT STOP — Directed City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to prepare a letter requesting denial of an application by the Short Stop Market, 1410 South Novato Boulevard, to the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board for a general off-sale liquor license. The action was in response to police department recommendations and demands from citizens based on the market's record of three arrests and fines since January 1969 in connection with the sale of beer and wine to minors.

SPRAY POOL — Recorded completion of construction of a park spray pool and lagoon in Pioneer Memorial Park by contractors.

CATV TAPS — Tentatively approved a request from Western California Telephone Co. to allow installation of cable television taps above ground in San Marin Housing Unit No. 9, contingent upon obtaining permission from affected property owners.

PIZZA HUT — Refused by 2-2 vote to rescind an interim ordinance prohibiting construction on properties west of Machin Avenue between Grant and De-Long avenues or to rescind the part of the ordinance referring to property on which Ben Ostlind has plans for construction of a Pizza Hut restaurant.

SCOWN LAND — Awarded a $9,908 contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti contractors for improvements to Scown Lane. Second lowest bid was $10,499 from De Martini-Smith contractors.

FLOOD CONTROL — Approved a resolution passed by the Marin County Flood Control and Water Control District delineating county and city responsibilities for maintenance of flood control drainage systems in the Novato area.

SITE CLEARING — Adopted a resolution directing that site clearing be required of applicants for use permits for demolition work.

TRANSPORTATION STUDY — Announced that the city is seeking persons experienced in transportation or engineering fields to apply through the city clerk for appointment by the county planning director as Novato's representative to the County-City Planning Council balanced transportation study committee.

WILSON AVENUE — Introduced ordinacnes for adoption Sept. 8 annexing three properties between Wilson Avenue and McClay Road, south of Vineyard Road and prezoning the three properties and two properties at the northwestern corner of Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road. The properties, classified agricultural by the county, will be prezoned single family residential or planned residential by the city if the ordinances are adopted.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned at 2:10 a.m. today, continuing all other items on the agenda until Sept. 8.

More Turkeys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers are raising 8 per cent more turkeys this year than in 1969, and prices this fall may be down from last year's average, the Agriculture Department said today.

Rivas Trial Submitted To Judge

In keeping with previous unorthodox procedure, the Rivas murder trial was submitted yesterday to the judge who heard it, without closing oral argument.

Superior Judge Thomas F. Keating gave prosecution and defense attorneys a total of 40 days to file briefs summing up their arguments and citing points concerning possible sentences that could be ordered for the defendant.

Ronald Rivas, 21, has been on trial for three weeks on a charge that he shot to death his father, Fidel I. Rivas, in the family home at 59 Raposa Vista, Novato on July 17, 1969.

VERDICT DUE

Judge Keating yesterday said that whatever his verdict, due at a still unspecified date early in October, it would not be a finding of first degree murder. The other possibilities range from second degree homicide through manslaughter to acquittal.

The judge instructed defense attorneys Robert Carrow of Novato and Robert Bell of Santa Rosa not to submit points on the sanity phase of the case, pending his verdict on young Rivas' guilt. The youth had pleaded both not guilty and not guilty by season of insanity. The judge, however, said the defense could present points on its arguments that Rivas suffered diminished capacity to form judgment, in light of the slain father's long history of tyranny over his wife and the family's 13 children.

Final witness in the case yesterday was Alma Zang of San Rafael, sister of the late San Quentin Prison warden Clinton Duffy. She testified to the family's troubles with the father during the several years she has known the Rivases.

FILES AMENDMENT

Just before the trial opened, Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony, who prosecuted the case, filed an amendment to the indictment alleging that Rivas — previously charged simply with murder — had in his possession a deadly weapon at the time of the act.

The effect of this, Judge Keating told newsmen yesterday, principally is to alter the minimum imprisonment that could be ordered by the California Adult Authority should Rivas be convicted and sent to prison.

The trial, which opened with jury selection, was turned into a bench trial before the judge alone during its first day, and has featured continuous alternation of defense and prosecution witnesses in place of the more formal routine usual in felony trials.

Driver Sustains Minor Injuries

A 31-year-old Marin General Hospital employee was treated at the hospital today for a cut eyebrow suffered in an auto accident at 12:20 a.m. in Larkspur.

Police said Geneva Lee Purvis of 110 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, was eastbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Del Norte Circle when a car driven by Ronald W. Moran, 28, of 578 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, turned left in front of her and the two autos collided.

PET ROOSTER JOINS ROCK CONCERT

Whether or not this pet rooster grooved on sounds at a Washington, D.C., rock festival is not known. He was, however, taken along yesterday by a young rock music fan to Washington's Mall where 8,000 gathered for a concert which producers said was one of a series being performed across the country in preparation for a movie about the free-wheeling way of life of many American youths.

Some Needy Held Missing Free Lunches

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nearly a seventh of California's needy school children are cut off from the national free lunch program, a federal court suit charged Tuesday.

In question is a provision that individual school boards take part in the program under which surplus foods are provided at low cost by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The California Rural Legal assistance, in the suit, cited the case of Leandro Gutierrez, a farm worker with eight children in the Healdsburg-Windsor area of Sonoma County.

Four of his children are assigned to the Windsor School which does not take part in the program, although the Healdsburg school does and both are under the same school board.

Among the defendants was State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty who agrees it is unfair to exclude needy children.

The program, Rafferty said in an allied suit, is "unduly arbitrary" and "totally ignores the needs of the hungry."

"The results depend not only on our efforts but those of the 1,100 school districts in California," he said.

Lettuce Prices Soar In Harvest Strike

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI)—Lettuce prices are surging upwards as a strike called by Cesar Chavez' farm workers union crimps the harvest in California's fertile Salinas Valley.

Joe Carcione, a produce wholesaler 100 miles away in San Francisco, said a crate of 24 heads of iceberg (head) lettuce sold for $6 on Tuesday rather than $3.

The wholesaler also predicted that celery bunches would cost 15 cents, instead of 10 cents, in markets and said cauliflower and broccoli were temporarily not available.

Should the walkout continue, price increases are bound to spread since the valley, which calls itself "America's salad bowl," produces 70 per cent of the nation's lettuce.

As the second day of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers orgainizng Commitee (UFWOC) strike ended, growers estimated they had accomplished about a third of the usual daily harvest of lettuce, carrots, celery, cauliflower, broccoli, tomatoes and strawberries.

The previous day they had estimated the harvest at 25 per cent.

At least three persons were injured and 31 arrested as Chavez' followers picketed, shouted "a Huelga" (strike) and waved their red and black eagle banners.

Most of the arrests, Monterey County sheriff's deputies reported, were on trespassing and blocking traffic charges.

In dispute is whether Chavez' organization or the Teamsters shall represent field workers in this area. The two unions have agreed that the UFWOC shall bargain for field workers in other areas but that pact did not cover growers who previously had signed Teamster contracts here.

Driver Satisfactory

Mary B. Roberson, 64, of Vallejo, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with head, shoulder and chest cuts suffered yesterday at 8:10 p.m. when her car struck a fence on Lakeville Highway, south of Petaluma, the California Highway Patrol said.

Youths Seek Vacancies Applicants

Marin County youth commissioners, trying to fill vacancies created by youths leaving for college, will meet again at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Civic Center to make recommendations for appointments.

Chairman Mark W. Tracy said the commissioners could not make the recommendations last night because the complete list of applicants was not available. He said the former youth coordinator, Gwen M. Monroe, had the list in her files, and she did not attend last night. L Charles Smith, Miss Monroe's successor did attend.

Cathi Prebil of San Rafael and Madelyne Angress of Marshall have resigned from the commission to attend college. Chairman Tracy will also leave for college in mid-September.

Next Tuesday the commissioners hope to nominate three candidates for each of the three vacancies. The Marin County Board of Supervisors will make the appointment from the list of nomines submitted by the youth commission.

There are records of a piranha fish reducing a 100-pound animal to a skeleton in less than a minute, says the Miami Seaquarium.

Advocates Of Sexual Freedom Launch War

Sexual freedom advocates of the Bay Area yesterday launched all-out war against prosecutors and sheriffs of five counties, including Marin, wth a 20-page lawsuit filed in the United States District Court in San Francisco.

The suit alleges that Penal Code sections 286 and 288a, dealing with oral copulation and other "unnatural" acts, are unconstitutional and asks the court to stop prosecutors and police from enforcing the sections.

Among the complainants are Charles M. Blair and his wife, Dorothy A. Blair, who are identified as residents of Nicasio and members of the Sexual Freedom League Inc. of Berkeley.

The Blairs contend they "have a strong predilection and desire from time to time in the privacy of their home to engage with one another in sexual acts proscribed by section 288a."

Citing a long list of "governmental intrusion" on the privacy of homes, the Blairs allege they fear police "will burst violently into plaintiffs' marital chambers while such plaintiffs are privately and consensually engaged in acts denounced by Section 288a." They complain that because of this fear, "plaintiffs are inhibited from engagng in these intimate sexual practices within the privacy of their own home."

Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos were among Bay Area officials served yesterday with the papers and ordered to answer the complaint within 20 days.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who must defend the Marin officials, said he had just received copies of the complaint and has not yet determined his course of action. "This will require considerable research," said Maloney. "We'll probably talk it over with attorneys in other counties named in the suit."

The plantiffs include the Society for Individual Rights, Sexual Freedom League, Modern Sex Institute and several individuals.

They are represented by a series of attorneys headed by B. J. Beckwith of 1049 Bush Street, San Francisco.

Named as defendants are officials in Marin, San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, and San Mateo.

The suit lists eight different claims, each contesting the constitutionality of penal code sections dealing with sex acts and homosexuality.

Two men, Larry Littlejohn and Ernest W. Reed, who describe themselves as homosexuals living together in San Francisco, allege that laws should apply equally to homosexuals and heterosexuals.

The Sexual Freedom League contends that "sexuality should be enjoyed and experienced fully and frequently between couples, irrespective of gender, in a pleasurable variety of ways, "and the ambit of sexual activity should be circumscribed only by anatomical design rather than by local concepts of ethics, morals or religion."

Man Is Found Dead At Home

William Michael Webeck, 57-year-old shoe salesman, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the bedroom of his Terra Linda home yesterday about 4:30 p.m.

Coroner's Investigator Keith C. Craig said that Webeck had attached a long swimming pool vacuum cleaner hose to the family station wagon which was parked in a carport and had run it into the window of his bedroom.

Born in Illinois, Webeck had lived 15 years in Marin County. He was a salesman for Karl Mosher shoe store in Mill Valley.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy, and two children.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

1 To 9 Per Cent Pay Hikes Are Passed Out

Mill Valley City Council last night granted pay raises to employees, department heads and the city manager, ranging from 1 to 9 per cent.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham was granted a 9 per cent increase to $1,642 a month by a 4-1 vote with Councilman Jean S. Barnard dissenting.

It was pointed out that when Cunningham was hired in May 1969, at $18,000 a year, his salary was to be reviewed after six months, but wasn't, so this was his first pay raise.

Mrs. Barnard felt the pay hike should have been to $1,610 a month.

Employees were granted the median salaries paid for similar jobs in 17 California cities plus 1 per cent.

Cunningham explained this would give police and firemen a 6 per cent pay raise, public works and parks and recreation employees, 3 per cent, clerical employees, 3 per cent, and employees already at the median, only the 1 per cent.

Pay raises for department heads ranged from 5 to 8.5 per cent, with councilmen voting on each raise separately.

They voted unanimously to grant Police Chief Dan Terzich a 7.5 per cent pay hike to $1,319 a month; Finance Director Carl W. Reynolds, 6 per cent to $1,300 a month; Fire Chief Joseph E. Regalia, 8.5 per cent to $1,300 a month, and Parks and Recreation Director Don L. Dimitratos, 5 per cent to $1,287 a month.

Councilmen voted 3-2 to raise the salary of Planning Director Harvey M. Bragdon 5 per cent to $1,454 a month with Mrs. Barnard and Robert H. Andresen dissenting.

They voted to grant Public Works Director Ross J. Benson 7.5 per cent pay raise to $1,225 a month with Andresen dissenting.

Cunningham estimated the pay raises and increased fringe benefits, including increased health insurance benefits, would cost about $65,000.

Councilmen voted unanimously to increase the retainer paid City Attorney Leland H. Jordan from $600 to $700 a month.

They voted 4-1 to increase the retainer paid City Engineer Stanley M. Bala from $775 a month plus mileage to $925 a month without mileage and approved a new pay rate schedule for engineering costs. Andresen dissented.

Councilmen voted that the salary of Librarian Alberta L. Handenson, who started work in May at $11,800 a year, remain unchanged.

No Bonanza If War Ends —Mailliard

Cities shouldn't expect a "big bonanza" in federal funds if the Vietnam War is ended, according to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

Many of the military costs would continue since men would remain in service and be paid, he commented last night while visiting the Mill Valley City Council. (For Milliard visit to San Anselmo, see story, page 14.)

Mailliard's comments came in reply to a question from Councilman Jean S. Barnard whether termination of the war would result in more money "filtering" down to cities.

There has already been substantial saving from reducing military expenditures, but "it would be less than realistic to expect a big bonanza," he said.

The defense budget is down $7 to $8 million, but that "spread over the entire country won't mean much for Mill Valley," Mailliard contended.

He agreed that when federal funding gets into "categorical aids," such as education, it becomes involved in bureaucratic red tape and small communities haven't got the personnel even to apply. "It's too costly to apply."

In a lot of instances the federal government acts as a tax collector, channeling funds back to state and local governments, and this is not the best arrangement, he said.

"Every time it cose to us via Washington, we lose something," said Councilman Robert H. Andresen.

Nixon Selects Lebanese Envoy

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon has nominated William B. Buffum, 48, a career diplomat from New York, to be ambassador to Lebanon.

The nomination coincided with the opening of Arab-Israeli peace talks at the United Nations. Buffum has been serving as deputy U.S. representative to the United Nations with the rank of ambassador.

If approved by the Senate, he will succeed Ambassador Dwight J. Porter, who is being reassigned.

General Motors Eyes Price Hikes

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., the world's largest automaker, has indicated it may join its American competitors in a price hike for 1971 cars and trucks.

GM confirmed Tuesday tentative billing price raises on its 1971 model trucks will be about 6.3 per cent for light and medium models and about 4.9 per cent for heavy trucks.

Car prices, however, will not be announced until just before the new models hit the showrooms late in September.

Ford Motor Co. earlier announced a 6 per cent price hike in advance billing on trucks and a 5 to 6 per cent increase on cars.

Chrysler Corp. set tentative truck prices up 3.8 per cent and hiked new car price tags 5 to 6 per cent.

Toll Over 100

BANGKOK (UPI) — Officials said today the death toll may rise to more than 100 from torrential rains that have caused flooding in Phrae, Phetchabun and Uttaradit provinces.

Mill Valley Council Labors To Slice 10 Cents Off Tax Rate

The Mill Valley City Council labored through its proposed $2,002,703 budget for 1970-71 last night, seeking ways to pare it down and reduce the tax rate.

When the session ended near midnight, the council had sheared 10.3 cents from the estimated tax rate, but it was still 50.5 cents higher than the present rate.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke calculated at the close that the rate was at $2.93 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget included pay raises for city employees ranging from one to nine per cent.

The council lowered the expected tax rate by cutting $23,470 in expenditures and adding $15,500 in expected revenues, other than property taxes.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham had estimated at the start that on the basis of latest assessed valuation the tax rate would be $3.03, and the council proceeded to whittle that figure.

The largest cut was $13,000 for planning the city's proposed small craft harbor, $5,000 for a land use plan and $8,000 for a precise plan.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said these expenditures could be deferred since the community hasn't yet determined exactly what it wants at the harbor area.

Other cuts were $3,000 from the fund for a parking lot at the recreation center, $2,000 from the fire equipment fund; $1,500 from the city clerk's advertising account; $2,770 from the reserve for planning and zoning, $1,000 from the fund for partitioning in the city offices, and $200 from the travel and conference fund in the parks and recreation department budget.

Wickham complained that outside of the harbor planning cuts, "we haven't cut anything to speak of."

The mayor had proposed general reductions totaling $13,000 in the library, recreation, golf course and drainage allocations, but failed to get backing.

Andresen had suggested cutting $10,000 from the sewer line budget and the $12,000 for a juvenile officer in the police department, but failed to get backing.

Cunningham consistently pleaded for reserve funds noting that the budget didn't contain a contingency reserve. He said however that the expected revenues would exceed the planned expenditures by $28,000.

Mayor Wickham said the $28,000 in effect would be a reserve and Andresen contended there were some "built-in" reserves in the proposed budget.

Cunningham said the general fund "is really being clobbered," and an emergency during the year would put the city into a financial bind.

Councilmen agreed to wind up budget matters at a special meeting, tentatively set for tomorrow with the time unsettled.

Moses Smith Is Freed Pending Complaint Review

Moses H. Smith Jr., 33-year-old estranged husband of a Belvedere heiress was freed from Marin County Jail late yesterday after the district attorney's office said it needed more time before it could prepare any complaint on the case for which he was jailed Monday afternoon.

Smith had been booked for investigation of attempted murder and held in lieu of $50,000 bail after his wife, Kathryn Jean Lohman Smith, told West Marin sheriff's deputies that her husband tried to strangle her with a scarf and his hands. The scene reportedly took place during a reconciliation meeting in her cabin at Inverness.

The district attorney's office told Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth at 4:50 p.m. yesterday that it needed more time before a complaint could be filed. Judge Roth released Smith, providing he paid a $15 traffic warrant, which Smith said he could do immediately.

Mrs. Smith, who also has a $150,000 home at 8 Buckeye Road, Belvedere, is involved in a legal dispute over conservatorship of her $200,000 estate. Her brother, Edward B. Lohman of Piedmont, has sought to have her declared incompetent to manage her inheritance.

That matter is proceeding through Marin Superior Court.

Smith, meanwhile, had gone to federal court in San Francisco, with a civil complaint that the brother, his attorneys and Marin County officials including the district attorney tried to break up his marriage.

The 20,000 members of the Hutterite sect now living in the United States and Canada share fewer than 20 surnames, says National Geographic.

Almonte Board Still Against Area At Cove

Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District have restated their position that a treatment plant in Tennessee Cove is not the answer to sewage disposal problems in Southern Marin.

Secretary John J. Crncich said the board on Monday directed him to write a letter to the Marin Municipal Water District emphasizing Almonte's feelings on the Brown and Caldwell engineering study, which recommends construction of the Tennessee Cove plant.

"The proposal is not a realistic solution," Crncich said. The Brown and Caldwell report five years ago estimated the cost at $7.5 million, and it would run twice that amount now, he said.

Crncich said the board also questioned the report's proposal that all Southern Marin sanitary treatment plants be abandoned. They felt that the recommendation should be studied.

Directors also decided to initiate smoke testing of the district's sewer lines. Smoke forced into the mains would leak out at breaks and faulty connections, Crncich said.

Some Marin Phone Calls To Cost Less

Some telephone calls will be cheaper for Sausalito, Belvedere and Tiburon residents beginning Oct. 22, 1971, the Pacific Telephone Company's San Rafael district manager said today.

Jack E. Eddy said calls from Belvedere and Tiburon to Richmond and most of San Francisco, which now cost two message units for a three-minute call and one unit for each additional two minutes, will be toll-free.

The company charges 4.05 cents for each message unit.

Calls from Sausalito to most of San Francisco will also be toll-free, Eddy said.

No other Marin calls will be affected.

The telephone company's action was in response to a 1938 Public Utilities Commission order that service between exchanges less than eight miles apart be on a flat-rate basis.

Action Asked On Reed Creek Floods

Directors of the Homestead Valley Sanitary District have appealed to the board of supervisors to do something to alleviate winter flooding in the Reed Creek area.

President James G. MacNichols said the board Monday authorized him to make the plea to Supervisor Michael Wornum on behalf of "the 15 homeowners who get flooded out every winter. They live in an area bounded by Evergreen and Miller avenues and Reed Street."

The district wants the county to do routine maintenance work such as the removal of debris from Reed Creek.

"We've been seeking this relief for several months. With the possibility of more flooding this winter, something should be done to alleviate the condition," MacNichols said.

24 Injured When Boat Catches Fire

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (UPI)—Twenty-four persons were injured Tuesday night when a sightseeing boat, the Flying Saucer, caught fire and exploded in Great Egg Harbor Bay.

None of the injured was in serious condition and only one, Gertrude D. Schmell, 70, Quakertown, Pa., was hospitalized.

Marin Hospital District directors learned last night that the district has received a legacy of $20,000 from the estate of Sarah A. Shaw, a Mill Valley woman who died in April, 1969.

Ray K. Bolinger, Marin General Hospital administrator, told the directors that Miss Shaw had left the money to be used as the board decides. No decision was made last night about how to spend it.

Miss Shaw, a retired practical nurse, died at 92 at her home at 33 Lovell Avenue.

The directors last night also heard a report on a halfway house planned for adolescent girls who have been treated for mental illness.

San Francisco attorney Murray Richards said that he is establishing a nonprofit corporation to maintain the house on a 1.4-acre site he owns near Marin General Hospital.

He plans to start with five girls and will not house those who have had problems with drugs or who are delinquent.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

STUDY — Signed a contract with Gorsline Associates for a population study of Marin in order to update the hospital master plan; the cost of the study is not to exceed $9,000.

APPOINTMENTS — Made temporary appointments for the Marin Community Mental Health Center, of Dr. George Bachy Rita as in-patient and partial care director; Dr. James Blevins, out-patient care director, and Joan Kelly, children's services director.

GRANT — Asked for a $20,000 grant from the American Cancer Society for development of a program for "continuity of care" of cancer patients discharged from the hospital.

ABSENT — Dr. Gwendolyn M. Campion, board chairman, was absent, and the meeting was chaired by Thomas K. Procter, vice chairman.

Humboldt Judge To Preside

Judge Robert N. Connors of Eureka, Humboldt County, Municipal Court today began a three-week stint on the Marin Municipal Court bench.

He was to preside over the criminal calendar this afternoon, after hearing small claims this morning.

Judge Connors was assigned to the Marin Municipal bench by California Chief Justice Donald R. Wright, effective today through Sept. 17.

He will help fill the gaps created by the retirement next Monday of Judge Hadden W. Roth, and the vacation of the court's presiding Judge Peter Allen Smith. Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. is to return Monday from his vacation.

David R. Batyn, judge in the West Marin Judicial District and a private attorney, has been sitting on the municipal bench three of four days a week during most of August, but now has returned to his other duties.

Tate Defense Unity Crumbles A Little

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The defense unity in the Sharon Tate murder trial showed signs of crumbling Tuesday when the attorney for Charles Manson tried to extract testimony damaging to codefendant Patricia Krenwinkel.

The line of questioning by Irving Kanarek drew objections from other defense counsel and an angry protest from Manson himself, who asked permission to dismiss the burly attorney and represent himself.

"I have no control over this man," Manson told the judge. "I tell him I don't want him to ask certain questions and he asks them anyway.

"I have no rapport with him. I can't communicate with attorneys—with any attorney I have ever met—and I have met quite a few," the 35-year-old ex-convict said.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older denied Manson's request, as he has several times in the past.

The controversy arose during testimony by County Coroner Thomas T. Noguchi, who said under cross-examination by Kanarek that Miss Tate's house guest, Abigail Folger, was so severely stabbed no doctors could have saved her.

Kanarek apparently was trying to show that had the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, intervened or sought medical help, the victims might have lived.

"Since Miss Folger had six individual stab wounds which each classify as fatal, I doubt very much her chance of survival would have increased even if she had medical attention," Noguchi said.

Under California law, the testimony of an accomplice to a crime must be corroborated by scientific evidence.

Since the trial began, Kanarek has been trying to show that Mrs. Kasabian was an accomplice who did nothing to prevent the slayings, and therefore her testimony against Manson must be backed up by other evidence.

However, since the defendants have been trying to maintain an "umbrella" defense, they objected to any line of questioning which seemed to pinpoint an individual defendant.

Innocent Plea In Candy Case

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Fritz Thus, whose juvenile candy salesmen were cited twice in San Anselmo in July, pleaded innocent yesterday in the municpail court of the Oakland-Piedmont Judicial District to two counts each of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and three labor code violations.

Thus, head of Student Opportunity of Lafayette, is to appear in court again Aug. 27 for setting of a jury trial.

Thus, who was clearing more than $8,000 a month from the street sales, according to police, also pleaded innocent to employing youths under 16 to peddle, failure to provide employees with statements of earnings and allowing minors to work more than eight hours a day.

Oakland police said Thus had been warned in February that he would be prosecuted if his roving young candy salesmen were caught in Oakland again.

Two boys were apprehended Aug. 12 bearing Student Opportunity identification cards and Thus was charged with both violations, police said.

San Anselmo police warned Thus in early July that his activities violated the anti-peddling ordinance in that city, but his employees reappeared in July 27 and were ordered from town with a warning.

Thus has been free on $2,000 bail since he turned himself in to police Aug. 17.

Gas, Beer Sale Permit Denied

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — An appeal for a use permit to sell gasoline and beer at a Petaluma location was denied yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors.

Bud and Rose Mabry appealed a July 9 decision of the board of zoning adjustments denying their use permit application for a store at 5381 Redwood Highway south.

Supervisors said the use would improperly extend a commercial district.

Jury Trial Set In Pot Selling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A jury trial has been set for Nov. 16 in U.S. District Court for five men arrested in Mill Valley on suspicion of selling about 180 pounds of marijuana to narcotics agents.

Charged with possession and sale of pot are Eric F. Millican, 21, of Long Beach; John A. Papia, 21, of Mill Valley; Thomas N. Hammer, 21, and Sheldon P. Levy, 21, both of San Francisco, and Ramon Buchayer, 29, of Larkspur.

The trial will be before Judge Alfonso Zirpoli.

The marijuana seized in the May arrest was valued at $120,000 at street prices, narcotics agents said.

Laird Reveals Soviet Pacific Missile Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Wednesday the Soviet Union conducted its first test in the Pacific last week of intercontinental ballistic missiles carrying multiple re-entry vehicles.

He said he did not know at this point whether they were actually developed weapons. But Laird said if they were, it would give the Russians a breakthrough.

Three Are Injured In Two Accidents

Three teen-agers received minor injuries in two accidents yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

Treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut left leg was Charles Franklin Trimble Jr., 16, of 10 Glen Drive, Fairfax. Debbie Lynn Clark, 14, of 60 Piper Lane, Farifax, was treated for multiple scrapes.

Trimble, eastbound on Mission Avenue at 2:03 p.m. on a motorcycle, collided with a car westbound on Mission Avenue making a left turn onto E Street, according to police. Trimble and his passenger, Miss Clark, were thrown from the motorcycle.

Trimble was cited for not having a driver's license and the driver of the other car, Veronica Ruth Beckner, 40, of 15 Portola Avenue, San Rafael, was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Paul Joseph Doyal, 15, of St. Vincent's School for Boys, received a scraped right knee when he fell from his bicycle at 4:05 p.m. after colliding with a car at Las Gallinas and Sky View Terrace. Doyal was taken by police to St. Vincent's School for treatment.

The car, driven by Suzanne Marie Morgenstern, 18, of the University of California at Irvine, was making a left turn from Las Gallinas onto Sky View, according to police, when Doyal hit the car with his bicycle.

Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing has been set for next Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for Grace Patricia Halloran, 24, of Novato, who is charged with committing arson in her home on Aug. 18.

Divers Search For Sea Scout

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Coroner's divers searched today for the body of a San Francisco sea scout who ignored warnings and dived into the Sacramento River to untangle a line from his boat.

Deputies said Danny Hightower, 15, drowned Tuesday despite efforts of two fellow scouts to rescue him.

when a market takes the stamps away they're taking away a lot more than just stamps.

Blue Chip Stamps are something you sort of take for granted when you do your grocery shopping. In fact you take them so much for granted that you might not even notice when your market stops giving them. You get home. Unpack all the groceries. No stamps. So next week you ask and are told they are no longer giving them. There you are with your half-filled stampbooks and half-filled dreams . . . and you know the stamp people won't give you half a percolator or half a scatter rug. Well, Mayfair still gives stamps . . . Triple Blue Chip Stamps with the above coupon. You see . . . stamps don't cost much. No matter what some folks would have you believe. Blue Chip Stamps cost us about 15¢ on a $10 sale. In other words, the price of a jar of mayonnaise doesn't change a penny with or without stamps. What it really means when a market takes the stamps away is that something else is about to go away too. Sometimes its service. Sometimes hours. Sometimes your choice of brands. When you're asked to save on your own for those things you need around the house a funny thing starts to happen. The small change doesn't add up like the ol' stamp books used to. When the chips are down, just remember, Mayfair is still chipping in . . . with Triple Blue Chip Stamps. It pays to save them.

Mailliard Advises Hub Council Not To Accept Concrete Ditch

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, during an unannounced visit to the San Anselmo City Council, last night advised them to delay accepting a flood control project for Corte Madera Creek rather than accept the concrete ditch solution long opposed by the council. (For Mailliard visit to Mill Valley, see story page 10.)

Invited by the council to explain the likelihood of a change in federal policy towards alternative solutions to flooding, the congressman said, "I think if I were sitting in your seat, I would delay rather than accept something damaging to the community."

Mayor James F. Reed asked him if any legislation is pending that would allow the Army Corps of Engineers to consider protection of the environment as well as controlling flooding as economically as possible.

Mailliard said he could promise none, but noted that the government is gravitating towards willingness to pay for aesthetic values as well as efficiency.

Mailliard's opponent, in the November general election, Democrat Russell R. Miller, 32, of San Francisco, attempted to discuss political differences on the flood control issue, but Reed immediately squelched the attempt.

Although Mailliard was 40 minutes late to the discussion because he stopped at the Mill Valley City Council meeting, the council managed to convey its intransigent opposition to a concrete channel.

John F. West, a county planning commissioner and a former San Anselmo planning commissioner, said the Corps of Engineers is required by law to build the cheapest, most efficient channel that has no risk of failing and the lowest maintenance cost.

That narrows the choice to a concrete ditch, he said. He noted that the peak water flow at the Lagunitas station in Ross last year was 3,800 cubic feet per second, but the Army is building for 7,800.

"It's not going to do us any good to say we don't want a concrete ditch and damn the engineers," he said. He suggested working on the Washington policy makers before flooded residents get fed up and demand the ditch.

Councilman Warren R. Perry led off: "We of San Anselmo are concerned that to this point we have not been offered an alternative to the design downstream (concrete) and still have corps participation."

The Corps of Engineers can fund the cheapest project, a concrete channel, but local governments must pay the difference — as much as $1 million — on more expensive versions.

Perry said 100 per cent flood control relief would cost a tremendous price — replacement of a green belt through the town with an unsightly ditch — and urged Mailliard to push "the ecology view of flood control."

Mayor Reed elaborated: "What I am hopeful of seeing us do is build bypass channels and leave the creek in its natural state."

Kenneth L. Anderson and Lewis W. Stewart urged Mailliard to move for more attention to aesthetics in Washington.

However, Mailliard pointed out that attention to aesthetics costs money and reduces the number of projects that can be funded. "You have to compromise to a certain extent among the competing interests," he said.

His opponent Miller, speaking before Mailliard's arrival, said, "I think the concrete slab approach is one that is not compatible with Marin County or compatible with what's been going on the past few years ecology-wise."

He said that, if elected, he would pressure the Army engineers to change their policy and work for legislation allowing leeway for aesthetics.

The discussion was on the agenda as a report by County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost on flood control in the Ross Valley Flood Control District.

Frost said that work downstream in Ross and Kentfield would not affect water flow in San Anselmo.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

HIGHWAY — Instructed Anne West and Capurro, city representatives on the City-County Planning Council, to back a proposed computer study of a Highway 17 extension through San Anselmo as part of the balanced transportation study to gain ammunition for fighting the extension. Representatives were also instructed to push for a connection between Sleepy Hollow and Terra Linda plus consideration of the environment in all aspects of the study.

ATTIC CLEANING — Empowered a committee of four headed by Mayor James F. Reed to sort materials in the attic and carriage house in Robson-Harrington Park and discard worthless flammable material in accord with insurance requirements.

GAS TAX — Put over to the Sept. 8 meeting a letter supporting a constitutional amendment that would permit diversion of gas tax funds to smog control and mass transit uses in response to a letter from Rep. Randolph Collier, R-Yreka, asking opposition to the amendment.

PARKING — Passed a resolution restricting parking in city lots to passenger autos, motorcycles and trucks of less than three-quarter ton, all without "For Sale" signs on them, in an attempt to bar buses being used as rolling homes.

STRUCTURE — Added swimming pools to the definition of structure during the first reading of an amendment to the municipal codes. Exempt are ground level structures excluding pools.

ELECTION — Gave second reading to an ordinance consolidating a special election for propositions for a new fire engine and street improvements with the November general election.

JUDGE — Ordered prepared for the Sept. 8 meeting a resolution backing City Atty. John G. Buresh to replace slain Judge Harold J. Haley of the Marin Superior Court.

STRIKE — Refused to take action on a request by the Labor Support Committee for San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 that the council urge the Independent-Journal to submit to binding arbitration.

BAND — Commended the Marin musicians' union for the free music provided by Bill Sache's Concert Jazz Band at a fund-raising affair in Robson-Harrington Park Sunday.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next regular meeting Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Next Session Is Monday On Novato Plans

The next study session of the Novato Downtown Committee and Planning Commission on the Sedway-Cooke downtown plan and program will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the council chambers of the Novato Community House.

The meeting, previously scheduled for Thursday, will consider sections of the Sedway-Cooke preliminary report dealing with transportation and proposed Highway 101, Novato Downtown Center and Novato Creek, physical form and appearance of the downtown area and the Reichert Hills sub-area.

If time allows, other areas may be discussed, according to Brian Mattson, planning director.

GOP Committee Asks Protection Of Courts

The Marin County Republican Central Committee last night urged the county's judges and supervisors to "move swiftly" to protect the courts from a repeat of the violence that led to the death of Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three of his abductors.

The committee's resolution, adopted at its monthly meeting in the Civic Center, called for "the procedures and means by which those citizens and officials connected with the discharge of judicial functions in our country be absolutely protected from harm from the lawless element of our population which seeks to impair and destroy our judicial system."

The committee, acknowledging its "deepest sorrow and heartfelt regret" for the death of Judge Haley, adjourned in his memory.

Fine, Probation On Weed Charge

Thomas Russell Combs, 25, of Mill Valley, yesterday was fined $25 and placed on two years' summary probation on a misdemeanor marijuana possession charge.

Arrested Aug. 7 in San Rafael, Combs originally was charged with felony pot possession, but pleaded guilty to the lesser charge last week in municipal court.

Fund Reception Set For Reagan

A joint fund-raising reception for Gov. Ronald Reagan and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, candidate for the State Board of Equalization, will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Sept. 8 at the Ross home of D. H. Gabrielsen, Lagunitas Road and Glenwood Avenue.

Tickets for the reception, to be attended by the governor, are being handled by the Marin County Republican Central Committee headquarters, 915 Lootens Place, San Rafael.

The governor and Kettenhofen also will hold a joint reception on the evening of Sept. 9 at the Flamingo Hotel, Santa Rosa.

Eleven per cent of the more than 30,000 police in the Philippines are college graduates.

Petaluma Police Probe 104 Theft, Felony Reports

Petaluma police investigated 104 felony and theft reports during the month of July, including two aggravated assaults, six burglaries and two auto thefts.

Seventeen thefts over $50 in value were reported and 60 thefts under $50 in value. Police listed 24 thefts as solved. The department also noted that both stolen cars were recovered and arrests made for both aggravated assaults. None of the burglaries was solved.

A total of 87 major offenses were reported, exactly the same number as in July of 1969.

The department received 959 complaints and reports and issued 297 moving traffic citations. Eleven injury accidents were investigated.

Planning Panel Hits Mobile Type Offices

In a foreshadowing of action to come, the San Rafael Planning Commission last night voiced its unanimous opinion that the use of mobile homes or trailers for offices should be restricted to the "prebuilt mobile home" type and limited to temporary use only.

The recommendation was in response to a request by Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner after his report on the subject.

Hotchner stated that city ordinance covers such mobile offices, and that he and the city engineer feel that provisions should be added to the city code specifying dimensions, inside facilities and general use.

"I feel that these structures should be especially manufactured for this purpose rather than the shacky type that can be seen in used car lots, corporation yards and Christmas tree lots," said Hotchner.

His additional statement that he did not mind kitchen and bathroom facilities, but did not want people sleeping in these offices elicited smiles and the general assent of the commission.

Summing up the commission's opinion, Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding commented that all future applicants whould take note that future use will be limited and individuals should not seek special consideration as to time extensions.

The commission also unanimously approved, upon the motion of Kay, amendment of the Family Care Facility's permit for the care of six children instead of five. Commissioner Joseph J. Garbarino praised Henderika Slager, owner of the facility at 593 Montecillo Road, for her manner of operation, which he said had elicited no complaint.

The commission also unanimously granted architectural approval of Rhine Co. of San Rafael's request to build a three-story apartment house of 34 units at 216 Marin Street, commissioner James Dougan making the motion. The structure is to be over 32 parking spaces.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

POOL EQUIPMENT — Approved installation of a pool heater and filter at property of Vincent and Doris Maita, 1868 Las Gallinas Avenue.

OFFICE — Approved permit renewal for continued operation of Family Therapy Institute, 1353 Lincoln Avenue.

PLASTIC SIGN — Granted approval for illuminated plastic sign to be built at San Rafael Nursery.

SERVICE STATION — Granted use permit and architectural approval for expansion and modification of existing service station at 1722 Fourth Street.

HELD OVER — Carried over proposed amendment to rules of order.

Curfew Works In Riot Area

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (UPI)— A curfew brought quiet to this Detroit suburb early today after police battled an estimated 1,000 young persons in a second night of disturbances over the closing of a park.

More than a dozen persons were arrested during the skirmishes Tuesday night which saw 200 police use tear gas and clubs to rout rock-throwing crowds, some only 14 or 15 years old. Most of the youths were white.

Mayor James Cline declared an overnight curfew late Tuesday and said it would go into effect again at 7 p.m. today until 5:30 a.m. Thursday.

Plea Date Slated On Marijuana Count

A motorist accused of marijuana possession and facing $193 in traffic warrants has been ordered to appear again in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday, to be represented by the public defender for plea entry.

Wayne Kay Willison, 30, of Guerneville, was arraigned yesterday after being arrested Monday by a San Rafael police officer who stopped Willison's car for lack of tail lights. Police said what appeared to be marijuana was found in the car and on Willison's person.

Stern Letter On Crusade Fund Uses

Member organizations of the United Bay Area Crusade yesterday received a stern letter from UBAC President Robert C. Harris telling them they will not receive funds if their programs are not deemed "relevant."

Harris, who sent the letter following approval of the five-county board of directors of UBAC, said that programs no longer needed because of population changes or which had been taken over by government agencies will be dropped.

Further, UBAC will insist that private clients be charged for services such as family counselling if they are able to pay.

The letter also said that UBAC will require consolidation of agencies providing identical programs.

Along with the strict guidelines for organizations now members, the letter reiterated that non-member agencies who are qualified should apply to UBAC for membership. This is in accord with UBAC's policy of attempting to limit campaigns for charity, he said.

This year UBAC will attempt to raise $16,850,000 for 190 health, welfare and youth agencies in five counties.

Guilty Pleas To Pollution Counts

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Two firms pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to releasing ammonia in Soquel Creek during the weekend.

A game warden said the chemical released by the Soquel Meat Co. and Mountain Refrigeration Co. killed about 20,000 baby steelheads.

Sentence in the misdemeanor offense was deferred for three weeks.

Neighbor Reports

Gerri Mlodzianowski, 330 Fawn Drive, San Anselmo, has reported that a broken water pipe that caused damage in her home was reported by a neighbor, not her father-in-law, and the pipe had been broken for an hour before discovery, not several days as reported in Monday's Independent-Journal.

Radio Station Relay Building Is Bombed

MONTEVIEDO (UPI) — Five Tupamaro terrorists, members of the same organization holding an American and a Brazilian hostage, bound and removed a watchman, his wife and five children from a radio station transmitter before bombing it Tuesday, the watchman said today.

Israel Beltrami said he was surprised by four men and a woman while watching television with his wife, their three children and two of their friends. The armed attackers bound them all with wire and took them to a nearby woods.

Shortly thereafter, Beltrami said, he heard an explosion in the transmitter and he saw the terrorists flee in two French-made pickup trucks. The transmitter, located about 10 miles from Montevideo, was off the air for two hours and 28 minutes.

Police said the terrorists planted five bombs. Three exploded but did not cause serious damage.

The Uruguayan government has refused to negotiate with the Tupamaros for the release of U.S. farm consultant Claude L. Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian consul Aloysio Dias Gomide, 41.

The terrorists shot to death an American police adviser, Daniel A. Mitrione, 50, of Richmond, Ind., on Aug. 10. The government had refused to ransom Mitrione by releasing an estimated 150 jailed guerrillas.

On Tuesday, President Jorge Pacheco Areco called in members of the diplomatic corps to pledge the use of all his power to fight the terrorists.

Two Booted For Editing Paper

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—An underground newspaper that lasted two issues before its $200 in capital ran out has resulted in the expulsion of two Santa Rosa Junior College students.

A third editor is on disciplinary probation.

Trustee Willard Rush said Tuesday the three were disciplined because the failed to use an adviser, failed to list a sponsoring organization in the last issue and used language and illustrations "offensive to some people."

Expelled were Drake Sadler, 24, Los Angeles, and Bruce Muma, 23, Santa Rosa.

Separate Trial Is Scheduled For David Hilliard

OAKLAND (UPI)—David Hilliard will be tried separately from four other Black Panther members charged as a result of a shootout with Oakland policemen.

Judge Harold Hove in Superior Court made that ruling Tuesday, saying that Donnell Lankford, Terry Cotton, Wendell Wade and John L. Scott would be tried together.

All are charged with intent to kill, assault on a policeman and attempted murder in the 1968 West Oakland shooting.

Hilliard is the party's chief of staff.

Boby Hutton, 17, the Panthers' treasurer, was killed in the fight. Two policemen and two Panthers, including novelist Eldridge Cleaver, were wounded. Cleaver fled the country, jumping bail.

Two others arrested have been convicted.

Four Fatal Stabbings

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The slaying of a sacred cow in the Hazaribagh district of Bihar state touched off violence that resulted in the death of at least four persons, the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported today.

Meeting Set On Saving San Marin Recreation Club

A special meeting of San Marin Rerceation Club members to discuss means of preventing closure of the club will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the club.

The club's owner of record, Sunset International Petroleum Corp., is undergoing bankruptcy proceedings, and the holder of a $250,000 first deed of trust has expressed lack of interest in continuing operation of the club, according to club member Donald M. Van Dyke.

Van Dyke said that a legal representative of G. and R. Associates has said that the company will gain title to the club, subject to a tax lien for $28,000 in back taxes and that it will close the club unless arrangements can be made to operate it without further expense to the company.

Payment of about $17,000 to purchase furnishings and other personal property of the club, which would otherwise go to creditors of Sunset and payment of a 20 per cent installment on back taxes must be made to keep the club open, Van Dyke said.

An interim operating agreement to insure club property as a result of keeping the club open would also be required, he said.

Purchase of the club has been attempted by the San Marin Improvement Association, of which Van Dyke is president, but the association has no plan for keeping the club open, he said.

Kentfield Board To Consider Bids

The Kentfield School District board will hold a special meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School to consider bids received for the planning, paving and grading of Adeline E. Kent School.

This is the only item on the agenda, according to the district board.

Constabulary Slates Mill Valley Concert

The Frontier Constabulary, a country rock group, will appear in concert Friday at 9 p.m. at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Methods For Canning Fresh Peaches

Whether a little or a lot is saved by canning peaches depends upon the cost and quality of the fruit. Either way you come out ahead. Select sound, firm, fully-ripe, unbruised, well-flavored medium-sized peaches, sweeten them as you like.

If posible, choose freestone peaches for canning. They are easier than clings to pit and peel. You will need 2½ to 3 pounds of peaches for each quart to be canned.

A canner is a deep kettle or pot for processing (means cooking) jars of food. It must have a lid and be deep enough for water to cover tops of jars one or more inches without boiling over. It also needs a rack to hold jars a bit above the bottom. If you have no rack, use those small wires which come with plastic food bags to fasten together screw bands of two-piece metal caps (not wide mouth) to fit bottom of canner. Fold over, rather than twist, ends of wires. The creation will be wobbly, but it works and doesn't hurt the bands.

A STEAM-PRESSURE canner may be used as a water bath, but it is better to substitute a pot lid for the pressure cover. If cover is used DO NOT fasten it down and DO leave vent wide open. If deep enough, a pressure saucepan may be used in the same manner. Some persons process peaches under steam pressure but doing so involves the dual dangers of overcooking and failure, due to the short processing time, to drive enough air from the jars to insure a strong vacuum seal.

Use regular home canning jars. Re-using commercial food containers is risky business, a the sealing surface of many of them is not right for a home canning lid.

Do these things before preparing peaches:

Examine jars and wash in hot, soapy water. Do not use wire brush, scrubbing pad, or any other metal object. Metal scratches glass, and scatches cause breakage from thermal shock. Rinse jars and leave in hot water until needed; they do not need boiling. Put lids in small pan and pour boiling water over them — set aside until needed.

MAKE SYRUP — ¾ to 1 cupful is needed for each quart of fruit. For 5½ cups of medium-sweet syrup, use 3 cups cane or beet sugar to 4 cups water. Boil 3 or 4 miutes and keep hot until needed. More or less sugar may be used; and if you like the taste, you may use honey as one half of the sugar. Light corn syrup may also be substituted for one half of the cane or beet sugar.

Fill canner half full of water and put over heat. Have ready more hot water if needed to cover jars after putting them into canner.

Measure cold water into a container and add 1 tablespoon each of salt and vinegar for each 2 quarts water. This is to drop peaches into after each is pitted and peeled.

Put kettle of water on to heat for scalding peaches.

Sort peaches. Set underripe ones aside to can another day; overripe ones will do for jam.

Wash, rinse and drain peaches.

Run cold water in sink for cooling fruit after scalding.

Unless you have a wire basket, put 8 or 10 peaches in center of large square of cheesecloth, gather up the four corners, and lower peaches into boiling water. Let stay ½ to 1 minute to loosen skins; then, quickly dip into cold water — do not let stand in water.

WHEN NUMBER of peaches estimated for a canner load have been scalded, handle one peach at a time, cut it in half, discard pit; and if you want a product of highest quality, use a teaspoon to scrape out the red fibers. That pretty "pinky-red" usually becomes a dingy brown after canning; it doesn't darken the rest of the peach. Remove skin and drop peach into the salt and vinegar water.

Pour about ½ cup hot syrup into jar to drive air upward. Add peaches in overlapping layers, cut side down, to fill jar to ½ inch of top; then, add enough hot syrup to cover peaches. Gently run knife down between jar and fruit to bring any air bubbles up. Be careful not to scrape side of jar. During processing some — but not all — air is forced from the jar. If too much is left in, the fruit may discolor or the jar fail to seal; ½ teaspoon ascorbic acid added before jar is closed helps fruit hold color. Ascorbic acid mixtures should be used as directed on the can. Wipe off anything spilled on top or threads of jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight enough to hold lid firmly against top of jar.

Slowly lower jars into steaming water. Keep every jar upright so that the entire bottom will touch the water at the same instant; this lessens the danger of breakage. Put lid on canner and bring water to a full — but not furious — boil; then, start counting processing time. Keep water boiling at an even rate.

WHEN PROCESSING is completed, remove jars and stand them a few inches apart — out of a draf. — to cool. Wait about 12 hours, remove bands, and press center of lid; if it is down or goes down and stays, the jar is sealed. If jar has not sealed, check top for nicks and fragments of food. If jar is okay and there is little or no impression of top of jar in the sealing compound, either the band was not screwed tight enough, the jars not properly processed, or the neck of the jar was too short for the band. If there is a deep impression in the sealing compound, leaving too much air in the jar or a nick in the sealing surface is most likely the cause of trouble. If there is a nick, turn peaches into another jar and reprocess with fresh lid for 15 to 20 minutes.

Chicken Cooked With Wine Flavoring

For company dinner or just for family enjoyment, first-day-farm-fresh chicken is always a favorite. Served and seasoned with California Chablis, Family Style Skillet Chicken pleases both guest and hostess because the whole flavorful meal can be prepared ahead and refrigerated while everyone enjoys the day's activities.

Chicken is an economical food that never seems to lose its appeal. Perhaps it's because there are so many delightful ways to add new flavor and distinction. One of the favorite ways is to accent the mild chicken flavors with California Chablis or another white dinner wine. Though the alcohol in wine vaporizes during the simmering, the wine's essence remains in the chicken and sauce to give it new character and distinction.

The same wine (or a different California white) at the table increases the enjoyment of the meal — accenting again the subtle flavors. Chablis is one of that state's distinctive white dinner wines.

Chablis and other white dinner wines are most often served well chilled. Usually two hours in the refrigerator will bring them to satisfactory temperature. However, when several bottles are being chilled at the same time it is well to allow an extra hour or so and store the bottles in a way that allows cold air to circulate around them.

Once the wine is selected and put in the refrigerator to chill, attention turns to the chicken. If there are family or holiday activities, preparation may be done in two parts, or the whole efficient operation may be done at once.

FAMILY STYLE SKILLET CHICKEN

(4 or 5 servings)

6 to 8 pieces cut up frying chicken
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
½ teaspoon seasoned pepper
2 tablespoons olive oil
½ cup Chablis
½ cup chicken broth
1 small onion, sliced
1 large tomato, sliced
1 cup sliced mushrooms
¼ cup pimiento stuffed green olives halved
¼ cup thinly sliced green pepper

Toss chicken pieces with flour, paprika, salt and pepper. Brown slowly in skillet in heated oil. Add wine and broth; add onion. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Add tomatoes, mushrooms, olives and green pepper. Continue cooking, covered, 15 minutes longer or until chicken is tender. Taste and add a little additional salt, if needed. Serve with boiled potatoes dressed with chopped parsley.

Here is another excellent wine treatment for chicken.

BAKED SESAME CHICKEN

(Serves 4 to 5)

1 (3-lb.) frying chicken.
⅓ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup oil
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
1 tablespoon sesame seeds

Have chicken cut up for frying. Sift flour with salt, paprika and pepper, and dip chicken pieces in it. Brown slowly in heated oil. Sprinkle with onion, pour wine over, and sprinkle with sesame seeds. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes, until tender. Thicken drippings with a little cornstarch if desired.

A wine flavored accompaniment is an excellent way to add even more sparkle to a chicken dinner. A vegetable aspic salad and tapioca cream dessert are especially good when accented with California wine.

VEGETABLE ASPIC SALAD

(Makes about 6 servings)

½ cup beef or chicken broth or water
½ cup California Burgundy or other red dinner wine
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 envelope plain gelatin
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce with onions
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup grated carrot
1 cup finely shredded cabbage

Combine broth, wine, wine vinegar and gelatin. Heat, stirring, until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat, add remaining ingredients. Spoon into individual molds or small ring mold. Chill until firm. Serve on crisp salad greens with your favorite dressing.

ORANGE TAPOICA CREAM

(Makes 5 to 6 servings)

1¾ cups milk
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 egg, separated
¼ cup California Muscatel
2 large oranges

Combine milk, 2 tablespoons of the sugar, salt, tapioca and lightly beaten egg yolk. Cook, stirring frequently, until mixture just reaches boiling. Remove from heat. Beat egg white until stiff, and beat in remaining sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time. Fold into hot pudding. Stir in wine. Cool, stirring once after about 15 minutes. Peel oranges and section. Fold oranges into cream mixture. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Party Style Pork Chops Are A Treat

Pre-portioned and well-liked, pork chops are worthy of festive occasions as well as family meals.

Rib or loin pork chops are a good choice for any special menu.

DINNER PARTY PORK CHOPS

6 pork rib or loin chops, cut ¾ to 1-inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons raisins
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 can (8½ ounces) sliced pineapple
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 avocado, peeled

Brown pork chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper. Add water and raisins. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until well done. Remove chops. Mix sugar and cornstarch. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Add pineapple syrup and vinegar to sugar-cornstarch mixture and stir into cooking liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Return chops. Cut pineapple slices in half crosswise and add to chops. Cut avocado into 12 wedges and place on pineapple slices. Spoon sauce over all. Cover and cook slowly 5 minutes. 6 servings.

Fruits To Wash

Wash and dry fruits that have smooth, firm skins —apples, pears and plums —before storing them in the refrigerator. Do not wash grapes, berries or cherries before storing. Instead, wash them just before using.

Crisper Capacity

When buying a refrigerator, check the capacity of the crisper —capacity usually is stated in quarts, but also determine if crispers are deep and long enough to hold the vegetables you purchase most often.

Go Traveling In The World With Ground Beef Dishes

Nourish the traveling bug that develops when the temperature warms by embarking on a tasty trip to a foreign land. Take the tour via ground beef, excellent with flavoring of any continent. It's available without prior reservation and at reasonable rates.

Travel can be varied as one may go via meat loaves, pies, balls, casseroles or other mixtures. Many countries can be included in the timetable. Italy is an easy stop-over with lasagna and Armenia with cabbage rolls. But our near neighbor Mexico is a logical first on the schedule.

Mexicali Meat Pie is typical of this region according to Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This is a chili-flavored ground beef pie with a cornmeal crust.

She also recommends a visit to Germany on this passport-free trip. Meat Balls Heidelberg capture the lively air of this riverside town with beef, caraway seed, vinegar, bread, sauerkraut and potatoes — all German favorites.

MEXICALI MEAT PIE

1½ pounds ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 can (16 ounces) chili with beans
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cornmeal
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
2 to 4 tablespoons cold water
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Cook ground beef, onion and green pepper in lard or drippings until ground beef is lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Combine ground beef mixture and chili. To make pastry, mix flour, salt and cornmeal. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add water and mix lightly floured surface to ⅛-inch thickness. Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Crimp edges. Spoon ground beef mixture into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) 15 minutes. Sprinkle with shredded cheese and continue baking 5 minutes. 6 servings.

BEEF BALLS HEIDELBERG

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons caraway seed
1 tablespoon vinegar
1½ cups rye bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (16 ounces) sauerkraut
1 can (14 ounces) potatoes, drained
Chopper parsley, if desired

Mix ground beef, caraway seed, vinegar, crumbs, onion, milk, egg and salt. Shape mixture into 18 balls about 1½ inches in diameter. Brown slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add sauerkraut and potatoes and cook slowly 10 minutes or until heated through. Sprinkle chopped parsley over top, if desired. 6 servings.

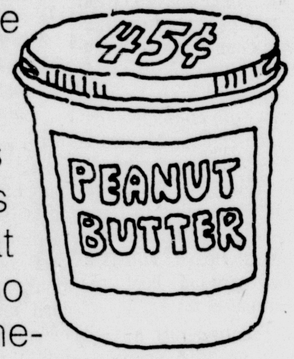
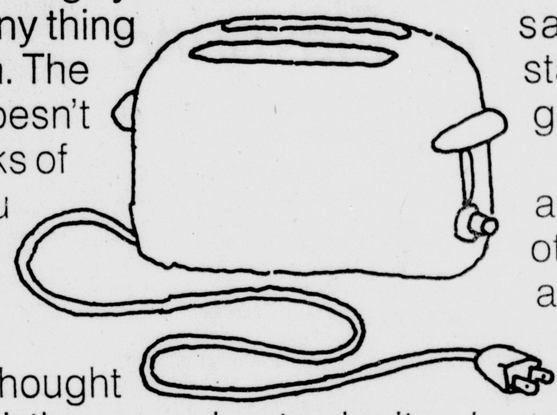
When a market takes the stamps away...

Stamps don't cost much. No matter what some folks would have you believe...Blue Chip Stamps cost your grocer about 15¢ on a $10 sale. In other words, the price of a 45¢ jar of peanut butter doesn't change by a penny with or without stamps.



What it really means when a market takes the stamps away is that something else is also about to go away. Sometimes it's service. Sometimes hours. Sometimes the choice of brands. The discount market is no longer a full-service market.

And when you're asked to save on your own for the things you need around the house, a funny thing starts to happen. The small change doesn't add up like books of stamps. And you don't seem to get that toaster as fast or as easily as you thought you would. And the new sheets don't come along quite as often.



For some of us, the best thing about stamps is that they help us to save. Stamps literally save us a lot of money.

So when a market tells you they're saving you money by giving up stamps, ask them what else they're giving up.

Stamps are a valuable service to a shopper. They go along with the other advantages you expect from a full-service supermarket. And no matter what some folks would have you believe, it pays to shop where you get them.

An Original Nuptial Dance And Vows

Before the wedding ceremony began the 50 or so guests lounged on the shady garden lawn of the Ross hillside home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson and enjoyed the music of two flutists and a violinist.

A girl wearing a long velvet skirt picked flowers from the garden, and one barefoot man sat yoga-style sketching the proceedings.

Then the musicians changed pace and suddenly the bride appeared. Penelope Lagios, artistic director of San Francisco Dance Theatre, was wearing a long green panne velvet dress and a white and green sequin mask with black feathers. Then the bridegroom, Kelly Johnson, general manager of the San Francisco Dance Theatre, came into view wearing a brown panne velvet toga and matching white mask .

They danced "a biographical dance of our relationship," reflecting their commitment to dance and commencing their marriage. Interpretation was highly personal to the couple, and it ended with a long embrace broken when Penelope's eight-year-old daughter, Leda, brought forward the rings.

She had been sitting at the "altar," a spot in the center of the lawn marked by two bouquets of flowers.

The three then exchanged kisses and embrasses and returned to the "altar" where the nuptial rites were read by the Rev. John Graulich, who is associated with the Unitarian Fellowship of Marin.

He read selections from Shakespeare, an Elizabeth Barrett Browning sonnett, a poem by E. E. Cummings and D.H. Lawrence's "The Pain Of Loving Is Almost More Than I Can Bear."

Then he popped open a champagne bottle and shared a glass with the couple who had been lounging before him with the daughter during the ceremony.

Afterward guests sat on the lawn chatting and eating turkey, fruit salad, breads, Greek pastry and drinking champagne.

Penelope is the daughter of Mrs. Eugenia Kilgore of San Francisco and George Lagios of Patras, Greece, and Kelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Henderson is a member of the Board of Trustees of San Francisco Dance Theatre.

LOUNGING ON the lawn as the Rev. John Graulich reads the nuptial rites are the bridegroom, Kelly Johnson, general manager of the San Francisco Dance Theatre, the bride's daughter by a previous marriage, Leda, and the bride, the former Penelope Lagios, artistic director of the San Francisco Dance Theatre.

PERFORMING A "biographical dance of our relationship" are Penelope Lagios and Kelly Johnson, who were married Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson in Ross. The bride, wearing a long green panne velvet dress and a green and white sequin mask with black feathers, and the bridegroom, in a brown panne velvet toga with a matching mask, reflected their commitment to dance and the commencement of their marriage in the dance performed prior to the reading of the nuptial rites.

'SILENT SUPPORT'

Is Women's Lib For Real?

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Is the Women's Liberation Movement a flash in the pan?

Was the strike today just a chance to let off steam? The answer to both questions is no.

Women's liberation crusaders who are working for legislative changes don't expect to go away until they thoroughly have rocked the status quo.

Some proofs:

—Betty Friedan, organizer of the National Organization for Women, NOW, and founder of the National Women's Strike, sees it as just the beginning. NOW's membership shot up 100 per cent in the last six months, from 3,000 to 6,000 in 102 cities. Ten per cent of the membership is male.

—Mrs. Bruce Benson, president of the league of Women Voters, told UPI from her home in Amherst, Mass., that the women's fight has penetrated Amerian society deeper than the picketing and demonstrations that get headlines. Mrs. Benson feels there is a lot of "silent support" — a silent majority that supports the liberation-equality movement but doesn't sound off.

—THOUGH NOT IDENTIFIED with NOW, the Young Women's Christian Association, in triennial convention this year, pledged to beef up its crusade for a better deal for women, calling for everything from abortion reform to child-care assistance for working mothers.

—Robey Lyle, secretary of the Lucy Stone League, an organization crusading for equal rights for women since females got the vote, doesn't approve of radical tactics but admires the speed with which the women's liberation movement is moving. Among other things, the Lucy Stoners want women to keep their maiden names when they marry.

Even before Betty Friedan let her strike cat out of the bag last spring, the journal, College and University Business, turned over one issue to women's rights.

Authorities cautioned higher education leaders the woman-power movement of the 1970s had as much storm potential as the Black Power movement of the 1960s.

The educators called for greater opportunities for women in high places in the universities and for changes in course offerings and hours — especially to suit the needs of students who also were mothers.

The matter of women's liberation early this year also came in for attention by other journals, including the American Scholar, journal of Phi Beta Kappa.

THE MOVEMENT got its biggest shot in the arm when the House passed equal rights legislation. It still must go to the Senate, rate a presidential signature and then gain approval by several dozen state legislatures.

The House also has before it a proposal to allow husbands to give their wives $25 a week to put in a pension fund — that's $1,300 a year pension fund.

If this proposal ever sees its way through the legislative halls, the money hubby gives wife won't be counted as taxable income that year. It will have the effect of reducing his federal tax bite.

Some index of the penetration of the movement into U.S. society also comes from an analysis of sponsors recruited for the National Women's Strike Coalition for Equality. They included an official of the national board of the YWCA, Helen Southard; Reps. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii and Shirley Chisholm D-N.Y., and Bella Abzug, Democratic nominee for Congress from New York and head of Women Strike for Peace.

Other sponsors are powers in the League of Women Voters, Radical Feminists, and Women Feminists in the Arts. Also in the ranks: attorneys, doctors of education, municipal officials, theologians, actresses, authors, playwrights.

LIBERATION FEVER, which started showing in the late 60s, even struck nuns. Notable among their cries for freedom now was a chorus of "oh, yes, we will" by a whole convent full of them in Los Angeles — rejecting an official pronouncement they could not change from medieval costumes to contemporary clothes.

Among the nuns, there's Dr. Jacqueline Wexler — who left her job as president of St. Mary's College in South Bend, Ind., adopted street clothes, left the order, married, moved to New York and, fully liberated, once more, is the president of a college — this time Hunter College in Manhattan.

Liberated nuns in street clothing took jobs as detectives, joined the Peace Corps, and otherwise left their cloisters. Once the equal rights legislation got started through Congress, male-only bars were invaded and a housewife on Long Island moved to join the fire department.

The University of Oklahoma announced next summer women will be admitted to its Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps.

And rather than waiting to be picketed into a reform of its abortion policies, the Defense Department directed its worldwide military hospitals to provide abortions and surgical sterilization service for all military personnel and their dependents, regardless of state or local laws.

Two physicians, one of whom may be a psychiatrist, must agree the procedure is necessary — either medically indicated or for reasons involving mental health.

In a spot survey nationwide, UPI bureaus found women's liberation activity ranging from hot to cold. In West Virginia, there is no evidence of bra-burning or anything else.

IN THE ST. LOUIS area, there are about six women's lib units and most of their activities have been discus-

She Voted That First Time In 1920

Miss Margaret Hatch of Mill Valley, now 75 and a member of the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, voted in 1920, when American women got their first chance to cast a ballot nationally.

"I'm sure that I voted that first time . . . but I just don't actually remember doing it," she says. "I have voted in every election for the past 50 years.

"In the 1920s we had quite a bit of propserity, a carefree time; that was why we were not as concerned with politics as we were 10 years later," recalls Miss Hatch, who moved to San Francisco 50 years ago and to Mill Valley in 1935.

"In that age young people weren't so close to politics as the young are today.

"I was typical of a lot of young people — the product of family and work. I was much more interested in my own personal career as business librarian for the Standard Oil Co. of California and coming to the Bay Area to see and do and learn about San Francisco, and I had the general enjoyment of life that the young have.

"It was not until 1930 that I and my friends became interested. We did know young people who were affected by the depression, and the 1930s gave us a real start in paying more attention to politics.

Miss Hatch joined the League of Women Voters about 1950 because it was "doing such good work."

"I really became interested in the political scene, but it was not until I retired in 1959 that I could go to meetings.

"Today's young people hear much more about politics and it affects them. I think it's fine that they are more close to politics today."

Miss Hatch says she never marched in suffrage parades, as did the late Mrs. William Kent of Kentfield, whose husband was a Congressman at the height of the suffrage movement. Mrs. Kent's enthusisasm for women's rights landed her in jail, but what really bothered her was that her husband used his influence to get her out.

The League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, which honored the memory of Mrs. Kent at its heritage tea last year on the 50th anniversary of its founding,

Linda Rankin To Be Bride In Petaluma

The Rev. and Mrs. Henry N. Rankin of Petaluma have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Dennis Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hansen, also of Petaluma.

The future bride is the sister of Jonathan and Wesley Rankin and the granddaughter of Ernest R. Rev of Santa Rosa. She was graduated from Petaluma High School and attended Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and Santa Rosa Junior College. Linda is employed by Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma.

Also a graduate of Petaluma High School, Dennis attended Santa Rosa Junior College and will be a student at Sonoma State College in the fall. He is the brother of Juliana Hansen of Petaluma, Mrs. William Thoma of Mill Valley and Norman Hansen of Penngrove. His grandmothers are Mrs. Clara Hansen and Mrs. Arthur Evans, both of Petaluma.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

A Cop's Wife Describes His Life From Her Point Of View

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for telling a reader that the actions of one bad cop aren't representative of all. Here is a little something I hope you will print, in answer to her:

What Is A Cop?

Most of the time, perhaps, he's just a fellow in a uniform who waves you through a busy intersection. Then suddenly one day he is also the man whose fast, skilled hands on an inhalator bring your baby boy back to life.

He's the fellow who gave you a parking ticket that day you didn't see the sign. But he's also the one who pulled your parents out of their burning, smashed car.

He's the man who spoke tough the time you went through the stoplight. But he's also the genial, friendly guardian the kids joke with at the school crossing.

He's the good Samaritan who knows first-hand of the hardships in your town, and who digs down into his own thin wallet for the price of a hot meal for the youngsters left without food.

He's the bearer of sad tidings when tragedy comes; the untangler of traffic in blizzards, the Solomon who settles squabbles between neighbors.

He's the head of a family, who walked into a darkened warehouse the other night and dutifully let the men back in the shadows fire the first shot.

It's comforting to know, as we sit in our easy chairs on a stormy evening, that over 200,000 Americans like him have been willing to pin on a badge and agree to make our troubles their careers. — A COP'S WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

We are glad to see our daughter dating a nice likable boy, as she has been rather introverted and didn't seem to have as many good times as she might.

However, without making this boy feel unwelcome, how can we tactfully get him to leave when his afternoon visits stretch past our dinner hour?

Is it unreasonable to suggest that our daughter tell him it's time for her to help with dinner. He seems to have no deadline. — INEXPERIENCED

DEAR INEX:

A boy usually gets the message when the girl's mother calls her in for dinner, especially if she adds, "Johnny, can you join us?"

(And if he takes the invitation rather than the hint — well, nice try anyway. Maybe he'll invite her out for hamburgers tomorrow.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Several weeks ago I wrote to your column about the importance of young and old learning to float on their backs before they even learn to swim, and to be especially sure they're adept at floating before they attempt any long-distanc swimming. I didn't see my letter printed, so I'll try again.

Too many people misjudge distances in lakes or rivers. They tire, then they become frantic. Thus drownings occur in tragic numbers.

Swimming is the best and most enjoyable sport of all, but so many panic in unknown situations because they don't realize how long they can float. — OLD SWIMMER

DEAR O.S.:

As one old swimmer to another — you're right. More swimming rules; always practice the buddy system, and if you're trying for distance, have a boat or life belt handy. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so f you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

is celebrating Suffrage Day today by carrying on voter registration from a shiny new camper in Southern Marin.

Central Marin League president Mrs. James Good of San Rafael was interviewed on radio KTIM to commemorate Suffrage Day and the national League which grew out of the suffrage movement.

Mrs. Kenneth Kaulum of Mill Valley, Southern Marin league president, said that the league locally was lending support to the Equal Rights Amendment, now headed for a vote in the Senate.

Is The Drinking Water Safe?

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — In 1965, some 20,000 residents of Riverside and Madera in California drank tap water and got sick to their stomachs. Several died.

In 1968, one-third of the 600 residents of Angola, N.Y., drank tap water. They got sick too, although none died.

Last year, the varsity football squad at Holy Cross College in Massachusetts drank sewage-contaminated tap water. Every member came down with stomach disorders.

The message is obvious. Our water is worse than it should be. It's been bad for years. It's not bad everywhere, but in some places it's unfit to drink. And we're not doing enough to make it better.

THE MESSAGE took a long time to register. But last week, signs appeared that consumers and government are beginning to wake up.

For example, the New England regional director of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare warned some 35,000 Vermonters to boil their water before they drink it.

"The situation is very serious," he said. "Vermont has relied on the pristine purity of nature all these years and didn't realize these contaminants were creeping in."

He was responding to a U.S. Public Health Service report that 69 Vermont water systems are serving up water that is "undesirable — unfit to drink."

The PHS studied 969 systems, supplying water to 18 million Americans across the nation. It found that 14 per cent of these consumers — nearly three million — are drinking inferior water. For 900,000, the water was rated potentially hazardous.

THE PHS found that only 59 per cent of the systems deliver water that meets federal quality standards. But even if his community supplies pure water, the consumer must beware of pollution from household plumbing — which showed up in disproportionate amounts in 36 per cent of the study's 2,600 in-the-house samples.

Another disturbing finding: 77 per cent of treatment-plant operators are "inadequately trained in fundamental water microbiology."

Many of the problems plague small water treatment systems the worst. Big-city water supplies usually are of adequate quality. But even so, PHS investigators discovered two systems, each serving more than 50,000 persons, which neither disinfect, clarify, nor even buy chlorine-treated water.

Water experts dicussed these and other problems last week at the fifth International Water-Quality Symposium in Washington. One of the participants was Dr. Jack I. Bregman, former deputy assistant Secretary of the Interior for Water Quality Research and now a private consultant.

"THE FURTHER we go into it, the more unpleasant surprises we're going to get. Even water experts did not know the extent of mercury pollution until they read recent disclosures in their own newspapers," he said.

However, Bregman added, the situation can only be helped by massive doses of publicity. This will turn government's attention to a cure.

There is little the federal government can do to affect water quality directly; the only water systems it monitors are those which supply water to the trains, planes, buses and trucks which cross state lines. It is at the local-government level, where water purification actually takes place, that the consumer should make his voice heard.

"On an immediate basis," said Bregman, "the consumer can demand that his local community properly analyzes his local drinking water."

"The average citizen has to yell and scream and protest — and let his Congressman know he wants something done."

Five Women In The Tulsa 'Fun And Games Department'

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — They call themselves the fun and games department.

They are the five women members of the Tulsa Park and Recreation Department, and they make up a majority. There are only two men, so guess who runs the show?

The females are responsible for playgrounds, playfields and recreation centers in their respective districts.

"It is a strange but interesting job," says Mary Frances Morrisey, a radio production graduate of Tulsa University with a minor in journalism.

"It's kind of like the landlady of a huge apartment complex," Mrs. Morrisey said. "We're called upon to do everything from going underground to adjust a water spray, write work orders and rescue straying children who find themselves locked in one of the centers at closing time."

The fun and game girls also make deals.

One came in the solving of a problem — where to get some weight-lifting equipment. They contacted some men in a small apartment near a recreation center.

The men didn't have room for their equipment so they were persuaded to leave it at the center where everyone gets the benefit of the body-building exercisers.

Courses at the centers range from slimnastics, painting, ceramics, oil painting, wrestling, archery, swimming, guitar, flag football and basketball.

This season the fun and games bunch has added a youth theater company. The company provides opportunities for young people to explore every area of the performing arts and bring together teen-agers and young adults who have an interest in theater.

"Recreation is an end in itself," says Mrs. Morrisey. "But it should also provide education, physical and mental health and social contact."

"Just plain getting along with each other" is important, she says.

"If you go into one of these programs with just recreation in mind, you can end up with one that does not accomplish anything more than just 'something to do.'"

She sees recreation as a sort of "social rehabilitation" and something which should be done by choice in leisure time. If a person is forced to do it, then "it ceases to be recreation."

The women admit they have their work cut for them. They are called on for a variety of chores from climbing into manholes to hurrying up a ladder to check an air vent. All, while wearing nylons.

Mrs. Morrisey is the recreation publiciay "man" and says she finds time to play golf, ski, play tennis, go boating and play the guitar.

The other women in the fun and games cast:

—Darlene Batt, a descendant of Chief John Ross of the Cherokee Nation. A college graduate, she also is a cattle rancher and someday hopes to convert her ranch near Tulsa into a semi-dude spot.

—Juanita Harris, mother of four and grandmother of two, also practices the recreational way of life she preaches and helps operate. Camping, boating, swimming and jogging occupy her spare time.

—Julie Bliss, with a degree in social work, has five children and between them and her job still finds time to swim and play golf.

—Donna Pond, the department's program specialist, raises quarter horses as well as Doberman show dogs.

Women's Lib—Working For Changes

sions, what one member calls "conscious level raising, dealing with their hangups about themselves."

Some women have been soliciting signatures on statements of support for a law prohibiting male and female designations on want ads and hope to get 10,000 signatures.

Groups in Missouri feel the movement is a little slow compared with East and West coasts and Chicago.

In South Carolina, the Grimke Sisters Union, a liberation group in Columbia, issued a statement in April that it would demonstrate at a beauty pareant and an AAU basketball tournament there. However, the demonstrations didn't take place.

The women said beauty pageants degrade women. The charge is a frequent one among women liberators nationwide.

In San Francisco, local women's lib picketed a meeting of the American Catholic Bishops in May. The male reporter who called for a progress report was told — "We will not speak with a male reporter."

Evidence of women's lib growth in the Minneapolis, St. Paul area: a member of the women's artists group and women against male supremacy says the best measure of impact of the movement is a doubling in the last three months of the circulation of the Twin Cities Female Liberation Newsletter. It is the umbrella for five liberation groups.

GROUPS HAVE picketed a Minneapolis newspaper to oppose its policy of separate male and female ads. Also picketed: a sauna. The management, said the pickets, misused women. Most noticeable is the wrath unleashed on Twin Cities billboards, denouncing the way ad agencies use women's bodies to sell products. One billboard was dotted with spray paint and/or holes.

In Atlanta, NOW has about 100 members, mostly 25 to 50 years of age, professional women generally —social workers, teachers, government employes.

Campaigns have centered on equal pay for equal work and a protest to a department store manager about an all-male restaurant. The women are working privately for equal employment, for an end to female and male help wanted ads.

The biggest recent thing was picketing of the Salvation Army after that organization refused to grant support to a woman lieuenant who was the sole support of children. The army said pensions apply only to men.

No bra-burning in Atlanta. "Personally, I don't think bra-burning is relevant," said Mrs.Kemmon Garofalo, of NOW. "If bras were banned tomorrow, women still wouldn't be liberated."

In Iowa, there are women's lib chapters on the University of Iowa and Iowa State campuses, Ames and Cedar Falls, respectively. The president of the Iowa Civil Liberties Union is leader of the liberation movement in the state.

Susan Abercrombie, public relations director of NOW in Pittsburgh, Pa., said her group feels it is more important to find out what is really going on in the movement than to hold demonstrations.

THE NOW GROUP had 15 representatives from Pittsburgh in Washington, D.C., to support the constitutional amendment for equal rights when it came to a vote in the House.

The start of equal rights legislation on its way to becoming a part of the constitution appears to be the biggest gain of the women's lib movement so far. But it may open a Pandora's box.

Legal experts argue that women wanting equal rights also are asking for equal responsibilities. And that would appear to include the draft.

Jacquie Ceballos, on the national board of NOW, mother of four, and separated from her husband, commented on the question of equal rights to be drafted:

"If women are sent to war there probably won't be so much slaughtering of people. Those who give life and nurture it won't want to slaughter.

"But there are those in the movement who say —how do we know that women, when they get the chance, won't be just as vicious as men?"

Oregon Wedding For Miss Klass

Living in Portland, Ore., are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wall, who were married Saturday at Christ Episcopal Church in Lake Oswego, Ore.

The bride is the former Diana W. Klass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klass of Corte Madera.

Maid of honor was Jill Swenningsen of La Habra, and bridesmaids were Susan Harper of Sherwood, Ore., Selina Mwadira of Salisbury, Rhodesia, and Donna Reeve of Berkeley.

J. Robert Wall of Corvallis, Ore., was his brother's best man and guests were ushered to their seats by Diana's brother, Fred Klass Jr., and the bridegroom's brothers, William P Jones of Estacada, Ore., and Tim Wall of Coos Bay, Ore.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church. The couple went on a wedding trip to Glenden Beach, Ore.

Diana was graduated from La Habra High School and Lewis and Clark College in Portland. Charles is a graduate of Marshfield High School in Coos Bay and Lewis and Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Jones of Coos Bay are the bridegroom's parents, and Mrs. Steven Hanson of Longview, Wash., is his sister.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Marinwood CSD Rejects Fee Proposal

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night rejected a bid by sponsors of a fund-raising event to obtain a reduction in fees charged for use of the community center.

The Marinwood Sunny Hills Guild had asked the board to lower the minimum $50 for four hours fee to $35 because the guild plans to use the center only two hours.

Genevieve T. Bolding, business manager and secretary of the district, reported that the board felt granting the fee variance would set a precedent for such actions, and denied the application.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

VEHICLES — Adopted a policy stating park and recreation vehicles can be used only for district business and cannot be driven more than 100 miles from the district without permission of the board.

TREE — Approved a proposal for cleaning and filling a partially hollow oak tree in the community park at an estimated cost of $200.

FEES — Increased fees for the tiny tot program from $9 to $11 for district residents and $11 to $14 for nonresidents for the eight-week sessions, but postponed discussion of possible fee increases for recreation programs until Sept. 22 because directors Charles H. Roach and Richard O'Brien were absent.

PARK — Agreed to get in touch with Golden West Savings and Loan Association about the possibility of the association deeding a 6.2-acre parcel of property adjacent to the community park to the district for park use.

Driver Sentenced On Two Charges

James Hudson Lenhart, 38, of Novato, arrested by the California Highway Patrol on misdemeanor marijuana possession and misdemeanor drunken driving after a June 1 chase from Highway 101 down Third Street in San Rafael, has been fined and given a weekend jail sentence.

He was placed on two years' probation, fined $250 and ordered to spend five days in jail on weekends.

Led by the one-two punch of a husband-and-wife team, proponents of public access to Corte Madera creekside lost one battle but won another at last night's meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission.

The war, however, was continued to Sept. 8.

The skirmish was over commission consideration of applications by John Moran for variances and architectural approval for a 10-unit apartment development on the north bank of Corte Madera Creek.

The commission first voted against granting the variances and then decided it really hadn't understood the motion.

Commissioner Charles Curley re-explained his motion to grant requested front and rear variances with the condition that a requested sideyard variance be modified to keep the building's roof out of a public utilities easement.

The commission then voted to reconsider the application and Commissioner Leonard S. Rubin switched his vote to join Curley and Victor Donati in granting the variances.

Opponents of the apartment plans, led by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tartaul of 45 via Belardo, Greenbrae, redoubled their efforts as the commission took up consideration of the architectural approval applications.

While they did not win rejection of the application, they did snare a continuance of the application until after a special commission meeting next Tuesday to study in general overall plans for the north bank of the creek.

More than 70 people jammed into Larkspur City Hall for last night's meeting, but most of them remained calm and silent through the discussion.

Ann Tartaul read a prepared statement urging the commission to be mindful of "long standing public rights and interests" in the creek area and requesting the city to take action to acquire public use of a small triangular piece of state-owned propetry between the Moran property and the creek, as well as to acquire public access from the nearest public roads to the state land.

Her husband, armed with maps, diagrams, legal citations and facts, also urged the commission to negotiate to obtain public access tot he state property and suggested it could possibly be over the public utilities easement adjoining Moran's property.

He cited a city council directive to the commission that disputes over ownership should be settled in favor of the owner of record and asked Moran if he was the owner of the property.

Moran replied he was, but Tartaul persisted. "Of record?" and Moran admitted he was not the owner of record, but said he had purchased the property and the deeds were signed, but only the formality of recording the transaction was left undone.

Tartaul told the council that the applications for architectural approval state the application must be signed by the recorded owner, but special city attorney Albert Bianchi said there was nothing in city ordinances to back up the requirement.

Moran reminded the commission and audience that there were still lots adjacent to his for sale and suggested anyone so inclined could purchase them for recreation area.

After two-and-a-half hours of discusion of the Moran applications, Picetti moved the architectural approval application be put over to Sept. 8 and the commission agreed unanimously.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

POTTERY SCHOOL — Granted a use permit and architectural approval for a pottery school and outdoor kiln at 484 Magnolia Avenue. The commission denied the application last month because of inadequate parking facilities, but granted it last night when the applicant, Michael Walsh, presented plans providing the required parking.

RENTAL OFFICE — Granted architectural approval to the Schultz Investment Co. for an apartment rental office at Sir-Francis Drake Boulevard and El Portal, but withheld approval of exterior materials until a building permit is applied for.

LOT SPLIT — Granted a lot split to Samuel F. Miles of property at 69 Magnolia Avenue.

DRAINAGE — Granted an extension to Sept. 15 from the Sept. 1 deadline for completion of an ercsion control system in a ravine above the Escalle property. The system was required under a grading permit previously granted to the Tiscornia Estate.

MEETING — Adjourned to a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at city hall.

3,779 Passengers Ride Ferry On First Full Day

The Golden Gate Bridge District's new ferry between Sausalito and San Francisco carried 3,779 passengers yesterday on its first full day of weekday service.

The vessel, Golden Gate, was to have started weekday service on Aug. 17, but an engine failed early in the afternoon, shutting down the operation until Monday afternoon.

All 21 departures from each terminal were on schedule, reported the district's transit manager, Donald White. The heaviest passenger loads, about 375 persons, were on the 3 and 5:30 p.m. departures from the Ferry Building in San Francisco.

The ferry carries 596 persons, a limit that left hundreds on the dock during its first weekend runs on Aug. 15 and 16.

White said that 21 persons took the 6 a.m. ferry from Sausalito, 124 took the 7:20, and 90 took the 8:35, for a total of 235 commuters.

Novatan Treated For Auto Injuries

A Novato man was treated at Marin General Hospital at 3 p.m. yesterday for injuries suffered in an auto accident in San Francisco.

Joseph Moser, 51, of 213 Montego Key, suffered a fractured rib, the hospital reported. Details of the accident were not available.

Marin City Council Seek Helping Funds

The Marin City Council is seeking funds to help pay the $150 cost of incorporation papers for the community, according to Jack C. Williams, community coordinator.

Persons interested in donating to the cause may contact the Marin City Council office at the Manzanita Center in Marin City, he said.

Arrest Leads To Forgery Suspect

A San Anselmo man wanted by San Rafael police on suspicion of forgery yesterday was booked into Marin County Jail after being arrested Sunday by Sonoma County sheriff's deputies on a traffic charge.

LeRoy Raymond Willey, 39, of 50 Express Street, was held on $500 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Willey rented a car from the Rossi and Hook service station at 902 Irwin Street last Friday, using a lost credit card and signing the cardholder's name to it, police reported.

HOUSECLEANING IN CASCADE CREEK

Framed by a tree's shadowy leaves, workmen scoop silt from Cascade Creek in Old Mill Park, Mill Valley. The work is part of annual preparations for high creek water during the winter rainy season, according to Ross Benson, city director of public works. Similar activity is expected around Marin as wet weather approaches.

Bel Marin Keys Hikes CSD Rate

Bel Marin Keys residents yesterday voted 183 to 86 to increase the community services district tax rate from $1.25 to $3 per $100 assessed valuation.

The district board had set the special election to obtain funds for a silt control project in the Bel Marin Keys lagoons.

Turnout at the polls repesented 53 per cent of the district's 412 registered voters. A simple majority vote was required for passage.

Funds are to be used initially for aerial and topographic surveys followed by a detailed engineering study to determine the type and amount of dredging and other remedial work required to keep the lagoons and connecting waterways clear for navigation, according to Betty L. Zoeller, the board secretary.

The tax rate increase is expected to produce about $71,000 revenue this fiscal year, and $50,000 is available for dredging now, she said.

Suit Filed To Acquire Seashore Lake Ranch

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The U.S. Attorney's office yesterday filed suit in U.S. District Court to acquire the 2,513-acre Lake Ranch in the heart of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The suit seeks condemnation of the entire ranch, including six parcels which have already been sold a prices four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

Rodney H. Hamblin, assistant U.S. attorney and head of the office's land division, said 19 parcel owners and partners are named in the suit in addition to the principal ranch owner, A.W. Sweet of Coos Bay, Ore.

He said the condemnation proceedings were being instituted because negotiations between ranch ownership and the National Park Service have been unfruitful.

If a price cannot be agreed upon out of court, Hamblin said, the case will be tried and a price set by a jury.

The suit does not ask immediate possession of the ranch, he said. Under a policy adopted this year, the government can drop condemnation actions if it believes subsequent jury award is excessive.

Power Failure In North San Rafael, Terra Linda

Many residents in north San Rafael and Terra Linda were late for work this morning because of a large power blackout between 3 a.m. and 5 a.m.

There were 1,800 customers without electricity due to a failure of a 12,000 volt underground cable, said Electric Supt. Leonard O. Robertson of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The company had power restored to 1,500 of the customers by 4:40 a.m. and the remaining 300 by 5:05 a.m., Robertson said.

The cable failed somewhere between E and H street, said Robertson. The outage affected Sun Valley, Rafael Highlands, Rafael Meadows and parts of Terra Linda.

Another failure of a 12,000 volt underground cable came at 7 a.m. today in Unit 1 of the Northgate Shopping Center, cutting power to 50 customers. It was restored at 8:35 a.m. Robertson said.

The cause of both cable failures has not been found, he said.

8-Year-Old Cyclist Injured In Accident

An 8-year-old Fairfax boy was to see his own doctor for injuries suffered yesterday when the bicycle he was riding collided with an automobile.

Fairfax police said Gregory J. Beasley of 16 Napa Avenue suffered a cut face and scrapes on his chest in the collision with a vehicle driven by Lawrence E. Clark, 37, of 1287 McGregor Drive, Petaluma, at 3:10 p.m. no Mono Avenue near Broad way.

State Prison For Would-Be Pusher Of LSD

Andrew Samuel Perri, 21, one of six persons arrested in a 1968 raid on a plush San Anselmo home reportedly equipped for mass production of drugs, today was sentenced to state prison for one-to-five years.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Superior Court refused to accept probation officers' recommendations for probation for the Haight-Ashbury, San Francisco, resident. Perri was convicted by a jury in July of offering to sell 2,000 LSD tablets for $2 each to an undercover narcotics agent.

"This drug destroys the mind and kills . . . there is no more dangerous drug," the judge declared.

Gardiner also ordered $20,000 bail forfeited on a co-defendant, Hamilton B. Henry, 23, who also was found guilty by the jury last month but who has been missing since being freed on bail.

As Perri was led away by bailiffs today, a dozen young men and women in hippie garb left the court, some sobbing openly.

Inmates At Quentin Continue To Strike

San Quentin Prison inmates today again refused to return to their jobs in prison industries after a night of smashing windows and toilet facilities and burning mattresses.

Inmates from two of the prison's four cell blocks did report for their jobs as usual today, according to Irving O. Ritter, business manager at the prison, but most inmates from the other two did not.

Ritter said men from the four cell blocks were taken to the dining room for breakfast at different times this morning, rather than all at once as usual.

Men from the north and west blocks, which had only minor participation in yesterday's work strike, were allowed to go directly from breakfast to their jobs.

South and east cell block inmates were returned to their cells following breakfast and each inmate was asked individually if he wanted to go to his job. Most of the men refused, Ritter said.

Last night, about 100 basins and toilets were destroyed, mattresses burned and windows broken in B section of the south block, Ritter said.

The closing of B section, which houses problem prisoners who are segregated from the rest of the prison population, was among demands presented to Warden Louis S. Nelson during a 10-minute strike Monday.

A strike of 800 men yesterday was ended when guards fired tear gas into the prison yard where the men had congregated.

Pair Seeking Marine World Trip Funds

For many low-income Marin City children whose parents cannot afford vacations or even short trips to recreational areas, summer can be a pretty dull time of year.

And when these youngsters return to school and are faced with the inevitable essay on how they spent their vacation, they have nothing to report.

To make this a memorable summer for between 100 and 150 youngsters two Marin City men who work with young people are attempting to organize a trip to Marine World in Redwood City.

If Daniél Hayden of the Marin City Pre-School and Otis Ames of Project Breakthrough can find the needed $300, the children will go, by bus, on Saturday, Sept. 5.

The two men are going door-to-door in Marin City and other Southern Marin communities asking residents to contribute a dollar toward the trip. Persons wishing to contribute can contact Ames at the Project Breakthrough office or Hayden at the Manzanita Children's Center.

Bagley To Appear On 'Sounding Board'

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, will appear on the KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" tomorrow at 9 a.m. to report on the closing session of the State Legislature and answer questions called into KTIM during the live broadcast.

The program will be repeated by tape-recording, Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

HENRY MARSHALL
New post

Oregon Post To Assistant Tam Principal

Henry A. Marshall, assistant principal of Tamalpais High School, has been named principal of Jefferson High School in Portland, Ore., for the coming year.

Marshall, 37, joined the Tamalpais High staff in 1961 as a biology and physical education teacher. He later was named attendance supervisor and administrative intern before being named dean of boys.

He served as assistant principal the yast year.

Marshall earned bachelor's and master's degrees at San Francisco tSate College.

He has been associated with a number of youth and civic groups and in January 1969 was named "Bay Area Big Brother of the Year" by the Big Brothers group for his work with youth.

Marshall has been living in San Francisco with his wife and four sons.

Suspect Booked In Weed Probe

A 26-year-old Sausalito man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday for investigation of marjuana cultivation after police discovered a number of the plants when they came to his home on another matter.

Alfred Louis Cito of 35 Lincoln Drive was arrested after police, seeking him on a $45 traffic warrant from Merced County, found five planters containing marijuana plants in the living room of his house.

Five other young people in the house were booked on the same charge, then later released when no complaints were filed.

Cito was freed on $1,000 bail to appear Sept. 1 in Marin Municipal Court.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Two persons received minor injuries yesterday in a motorcycle accident on Paradise Drive near the Tiburon Marine Laboratory, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Marie A. Croze, 21, of San Francisco was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes. The cycle's driver, Ernest F. Howard, 20, of Manhattan Beach, Los Angeles County, suffered cuts and scrapes in the mishap, but apparently did not seek hospital treatment.

Howard told officers he was southbound on Paradise about 4 p.m. when the vehicle skidded in gravel while rounding a curve and fell on its side.

$300,000 For Flood Controls Is Approved

Almost $300,000 worth of flood control improvements in Tamalpais Valley and in the Alto Bowl won the go-ahead from the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The work will be financed by the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone.

Charles L. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said Marin Avenue Creek in Tamalpais Valley will be cleaned, levees installed, and a pump station built at the end of Ross Drive and Linda Way. Cost will be $20,000 to $30,000.

An old box culvert along Patricia Lane near Alto School will be replaced with a new concrete culvert at a cost of about $40,000. A 16-inch concrete pipe will be installed along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks north of East Blithedale Avenue in Alto to drain water from Scott Valley into Richardson Bay. This will cost about $212,000.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

CLAIM — Rejected a $1,547,390 claim by Robert E. McKee Inc., of El Paso, Tex., general contractor for the Hall of Justice, for damages allegedly incurred by McKee because of delays in the construction of the building and including funds withheld from McKee's contract to cover items not completed to the satisfaction of the county.

FLOWER FAIR — Received favorably, but deferred action until next Tuesday on a proposal by Gerald Cahill of San Anselmo that the Hall of Justice and administration wings of Civic Center be used for a flower fair.

WINDFALL — Accepted a $98,000 state subsidy for the county probation department's intensive supervision program, which was discontinued last year. Thomas F. Campanella said this money will be provided even if the county does not reactivate the intensive supervision program. Supervisors decided to use this amount to lower the county tax rate this year.

STRIKE — Continued until next Tuesday a request by the Marin County Human Rights Commission that the county support several clergymen urging the Independent-Journal and striking San Francisco Typographical Union 21 to the bargaining table. County Administrator Alan Bruce said the human rights commission asked for the one-week continuance.

COMMENDATION — Approved a resolution commending Ronald L. Usher for "outstanding work" during his five years as Corte Madera town manager. Usher will leave Sept. 4 to become city manager in Juneau, Alaska.

LIENS — Authorized liens to be placed on two pieces of property for weed cleanup performed by the county. William Timmer will be billed for $230 for his property at Las Gallinas Avenue and Merrydale Road, San Rafael; and R. J. Kutsky $273.25 for cleanup of vacant land at the corner of Camino Del Mar and Drake Way, Inverness.

IN MEMORIAM — Adjourned in memory of Silvio F. Oliva, 83, Novato ranch owner, who died on Aug. 10.

Bel Aire Group Resets Meeting

The Bel Aire Flood Control Zone advisory board meeting, set for tonight has been postponed until Monday.

Charles L. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said the board could not muster a quorum for tonight. The Monday meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at Bel Aire School to discuss hiring a consultant to study the Bel Aire flood control master plan.

1,000 Acre Blaze Rages Near Quincy

QUINCY (UPI)—A forest fire burning out of control blackened about 1,000 acres of rolling hills about two miles northeast of here Tuesday.

The U.S. Forest Service said about 250 men were battling the Plumas County blaze.

Auto Insurance Denial Suit Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California State Automobile Association objects to selling insurance to persons who are not fluent in English, a federal court suit charges.

The California Rural Legal Assistance, in a suit filed Monday, asked $102,000 in damages for Arturo Vasquez, 40, and Andres Cruz, 52, both of Healdsburg.

Both Spanish-speaking men said they had been turned away because they are not fluent in English.

Rezoning Is Approved For Teacher Association Office

An office building for the California Teachers Associaton will be allowed in Santa Venetia on the south side of North San Pedro Road, next to the Marin Jewish Community Center.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved rezoning from the present agricultural to an administrative-professional district by 3-to-0 vote.

The decision reversed a July 27 decision by the Marin County Planning Commission, which deadlocked 3-to-3 and thus turned down the rezoning.

Bert Skaggs of Concord, executive director of the California Teachers Association Council of Marin, said he will occupy the office with several assistants and a couple of secretaries. The CTA will buy the 1.7-acre property from Dr. R. J. Tikker.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he had received no opposition from residents of the area.

"The use of this property is so closely related to other offices in the area such as the Catholic Social Services office that I marvel why this couldn't have been granted by a use permit," said McInnis.

Supervisors Louis H. Baar and William A. Gnoss agreed that the CTA office would be an asset.

Lightning Provides Dinner Of Sparrows

MONTEARCHI, Italy (UPI)—A bolt of lightning struck a cypress tree today and dropped dinner into the laps of farmers.

They picked up 560 sparrows killed by the lightning. Sparrows are a delicacy in Italy and are eaten usually roasted with mushrooms.

Gottlieb Back In Court In Deeding Ranch To God

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—Folksinger Lou Gottlieb is asking an appeals court to make a ruling that will probably require the wisdom of Solomon and the patience of Job.

At issue is who owns the Morningstar Ranch — Gottlieb or God.

When authorities took Gottlieb to court for allowing allegedly unsanitary hippie shacks to be built on the ranch, he drew up a deed transferring title to the Almighty.

Last Friday, after a lengthy delay, Sonoma County Superior Court Judge Kenneth Eymann issued a final ruling that Gottlieb was still the true owner.

God did not fit the law's definition of a grantee as a personage "capable of taking title," Eymann said.

Tuesday Gottlieb, acting as his own attorney, asked the District Court of Appeal to overturn the ruling.

Integration Plan Includes Part Of Marin

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco, ordered to integrate its schools, wants to include Marin, San Mateo and parts of Santa Clara counties in such a plan.

Alan Nichols, board of education president, made the request in federal court Tuesday before Judge Stanley H. Weigel who said the board was "propagandizing . . . instead of meeting the (integration) questions head on."

The judge took the matter under study.

"If an integration plan is to be stable, effective, financially feasible, educationally sound, and of lasting value, it must encompass more than the city limits of San Francisco and its school district," Nichols' brief asserted.

"It should include substantial portions of both Marin and San Mateo counties, and perhaps the northern part of Santa Clara County," he continued.

"It would be naive to anticipate that a significant number of school districts in other counties will respond favorably to a request from the San Francisco Board of Education that they voluntarily participate in such a plan," the brief added.

"I expect that only the power of this court will be possible to enlist their participation," the brief said in asking 60 days to draw such an integration plan.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked the court to order the board to submit a total integration plan for elementary schools here by January and to implement it by January of 1971.

Riles Hit For Lack Of Billboards

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Max Rafferty's campaign chairman has accused Wilson Riles of trying to conceal the fact that he is a Negro by keeping his picture off billboards.

Riles, Rafferty's challenger for the post of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, denied the charge and accused Rafferty of making race "the spear point of his campaign."

James Stratten of San Francisco, Northern California campaign chairman for Rafferty, held a news conference Tuesday "to denounce this decision by Mr. Riles as an insult to black and white."

Stratten, a Negro, said the sole source of his information was a nationally syndicated column by Frank Mankiewicz and Tom Braden. The column, which did not identify its sources, said Riles' advisers had decided the candiate should not put his picture on billboards. Riles issued a statement saying, "We do not even know whether we can afford billboards yet. Their actual design is a full step away."

"What Max Rafferty has done," Riles continued, "is to use the mechanics of phony press conferences as a peg to bring up the race issue."

"I am a Negro," said Riles. "My supporters and my campaign organization are neither flaunting nor hiding the fact. I am campaigning as anyone else would for this high office. In contrast, it's obvious that Max Rafferty already has advanced the spear point of his campaign —that being race."

A spokesman for Riles noted that the candidate used his picture on billboards during the primary campaign, and said no policy change has been made for the general election race.

Stratten "demanded" that "Riles repudiate his white campaign managers." He added that if Riles "thinks the white people of California will vote against him just because he is black, he is painting the entire white population with the bigot brush."

Hearing Reset On Drug Raid

Preliminary hearing scheduled yesterday for five men arrested in a June 30 narcotics raid at a San Rafael motel has been reset for Oct. 6.

Municipal Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday set the new court date for Charles Clarence Garcia Jr., 33 of Kentfield; Roe A. Newbill, 43, of Novato; Nathan Shind, 25, of Novato; Lawrence Paul Samuels, 24, of Novato and Peter Simon Kaufman, 29, of San Anselmo.

All are charged with posession of narcotics and possession of marijuana.

Fairfax Council Should End Feud For Sake Of City

They're feuding again on the Fairfax City Council.

We hate to see this happen. Fairfax deserves better. It is one of Marin's most charming cities, and — in spite of the impression one might get from city council meetings — has many of Marin's most friendly people.

But over the years, feudin' and fightin' among city officials have handicapped Fairfax's progress. And a new round of the same is well under way.

WE SEE NO reason for it.

Mayor Frank J. Egger, Councilman Robert H. Souza, and new Councilman Lee Nelder want the city to have a fulltime administrator again.

Councilmen Francis J. O'Connell and Cornelis van Vliet think the present setup, with Frances Lestanguet doubling as city clerk and administrator, is satisfactory.

That is a simple difference of opinion. There is nothing wrong with it. There should be differences of opinion on a city council. Any time that no difference appears in the meetings, you may be pretty sure the councilmen are getting together to fight things out somewhere else, making backroom deals to preserve a show of unanimity before the public — not that the five members really are always in agreement.

BUT DIFFERENCES of opinion are not allowed to be simply that on the Fairfax City Council. They become feuds.

Councilman O'Connell has charged Councilmen Souza and Nelder with under-the-table scheming. He has charged that the move to again hire a city administrator is designed to embarrass Mrs. Lestanguet so that she will quit her job, and that there have been schemes also to goad City Atty. Wallace S. Myers and Police Chief James R. Orr into resigning.

Souza in reply has charged that O'Connell and van Vliet have drawn Mrs. Lestanguet "into their partisanship."

The feud that should not be a feud cannot help the government of Fairfax. Caught in the middle, in a very unfortunate position, is Mrs. Lestanguet, wose longtime service in the city clerk's office has amply shown her dedication to the city government and the city's welfare.

FAIRFAX'S PREVIOUS venture into city administrator government did not turn out very well. How much of its failure should be charged to the man hired for administrator and how much to the council with whom he had to work cannot be determined. But undoubtedly both bore their share.

We were not pleased with Councilman Souza's suggestion that the current feud should be settled behind closed doors on the pretense of going into closed session "for hiring." Too much has been done behind closed doors in Fairfax government. O'Connell's blast, though intemperate, was not wholly without foundation.

THE FIVE COUNCIL members owe it to the people of Fairfax to try to work together — and to do it honestly, openly, in the city council meetings where the decisions should be made in the presence of the public.

Surely all five are big enough men to make the necsesary effort, to bury their petty feuds and work together for the good of the city. If they're not, they shouldn't be on the council.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Three Wrongs Don't Make Right

The explanation of the Marin supervisors latest capitulation to still another employees' raise demand merely confirms what most of us have known for some time, and the supervisors should have known in the first place — that they had no business granting raises this year of "only" 5 and 6 per cent to 862 employees, some of whom were already receiving $19,200, not to mention the group already in the $20,000 to $30,000 reange that were voted TWO whopping raises at one time. Or does belonging to a union or being a government employee guarantee continued raises and financial safeguards regardless of the state of the economy and taxpayers' pocketbooks?

Three wrongs do not make a right. Instead of compounding inflation problems and again letting the taxpayers down, why would it not be better to rescind all previous raises thereby deflating the managerial employees' demand — none of whom would quit anyway? And if they did, what better way to start paring government payrolls?

Unlike Mr. Robert A. Roumiguiere, I am not convinced. And will not be until someone can explain why government spending and salaries should be exempt from customary restrictions necessitated by economic recession; and why property assessments and planning commission budgets should continue to increase despite a slump in real estate activity.

At the current rate, taxpayers will never get relief until there is a drastic change in the reasoning going on out at Frank Wright's Palace.

R. WIEDENMAYER
Novato

On the contrary, a race run from Paradise Park through the downtown area of Tiburon, Belvedere, and on to San Francisco was held recently. Letters of the intent of the group were sent to the city council, and after some discussion appropriate routes and times were agreed upon.

I believe the City of Tiburon is not against having such races through its area, but that the limitations of traffic suggest that some prior agreement be reached with the runners as to times and places that will be mutually satisfactory.

Please, Mr. Sernka, would you and/or your organization come to the City of Tiburon a month or so before the race? We can arrange for restrooms, parking, etc. Tiburon is not only for tourists.

GEORGE L. ELLMAN
Tiburon.

Grand Jury Words Were Disregarded

In 1964 the law enforcement committee of the Marin County Grand Jury, of which I was chairman, submitted the following report:

"Much of the time of this committee was spent in the study of San Quentin matters as related to knifings and stabings. This is of serious concern to Marin County because it takes approximately 25 per cent of the superior courts' time and even more time on the part of the district attorney's office. As a matter of fact during this past year more than 60 per cent of the grand jury meetings were devoted to San Quentin stabbing matters . . . .

"We recommend a San Quentin committee as part of the future grand juries should be appointed to study the problems arising at the prison as this institution alone warrants such attention . . ." such attention . . . "

To my knowledge none of these recommendations were given a second thought. Most certainly the ridiculous and unwise matter of transporting prisoners to the courts many times each month would have been looked into. And who can say, Black Friday may never have happened.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Aug. 26, 1960

Asst. County Counsel E. Warren McGuire of Fairfax asked Gov. Edmund G. Brown to consider him for appointment to the Marin County municipal judgeship.

Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward starred in the film, "From the Terrace" at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo.

20 YEARS AGO

Aug. 26, 1950

Eighteen persons were killed when the hospital ship Benevolence was rammed and overturned by a freighter in a dense fog four miles outside the Golden Gate.

James Stewart starred in the film, "Broken Arrow" at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael.

Runners Failed To Notify City

As a member of the parks and recreation commission of Tiburon, I was somewhat disturbed by the letter from Thomas J. Sernka concerning the annual Tiburon Run held recently. To my knowledge, no contact with the city was attempted by the runners of their organization (AAU?).

Figures Mislead On Street Costs

In the Aug. 15 issue of the I-J a letter from Mrs. Sarah Nome was printed in which certain present and former (San Anselmo city) councilmen were criticized for taking the initiative to improve our deteriorating street system. To support her allegations she presented a number of erroneous and misleading "facts."

To begin with, as of this writing San Anselmo has not yet set a tax rate either at the $2.59 quoted by Mrs. Nome or at the presently anticipated rate of approximately $2.35.

San Anselmo resurfaced 3.2 miles of streets last year, not three miles in five years as stated by Mrs. Nome.

The cost of the Hub signalization was $34,850, not a quarter of a million dollars as stated by Mrs. Nome. However, the cost of land acquistion, reconstruction and landscaping will approach that figure, of which $71,500 was from the county urban throughfare fund. The entire Hub cost was paid for from the gas tax fund and is constructed to fit any future work on Sir Francis Drake or Center boulevards.

Neighborhood residential streets cannot be resurfaced from the gas tax construction fund and, therefore, none of the money expended at the Hub has any effect on residential street maintenance or the tax rate . . .

This year the council voted $145,000 of gas tax funds (which Mrs. Nome says is depleted) for needed projects on major streets and additonal local money for residential streets.

Yes, we did save for two years to finance the Hub intersection and I'm proud to say I voted for this project while I served on the council . . .

Women's Liberation Movement Has Good Reasons For Campaign

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It is time for smart alecks and arrogant males to quit throwing spitballs at the Women's Liberation Movement.

It is earnest and important business.

Women's Lib has its minority of far-outs and trivialities. But it has a strong case against the oppressions that a male-run society has long imposed upon women.

"We want more than to belong to a man," says Verna Tomasson writing in Look magazine about her sex. "We want to belong to mankind."

Well said. We agree.

THERE ARE TWO main thrusts to the Women's Liberation Movement today.

One draws its energy and power from the National Organization for Women (NOW), formed in 1966. It has the very practicable and sound objective of equal opportunity and equal rewards for women in today's society.

The other draws its inspiration from the more radical left which wants to remake society totally.

WOMEN'S LIB seeks to reshape the attitudes and action of society to allow women to be anything their individual talents will let them be; and no less.

That's a lot and as it should be. But it will take more than stirring words to achieve the climate to make this possible.

This is why the nationwide strike engineered by the National Organization for Women is designed not to immobilize the nation but to mobilize the conscience of society to recognize that the "rights of man" mean the rights of all men —and all women — equally.

NOW's immediate goals are wide-ranging; and for good reasons. They are rightly hitting out at all obstacles which keep women unwillingly at home and at the bottom of the job market. They want total enforcement of equal employment opportunities under civil rights law. They want revision of the tax laws to permit full deduction of payments made to child-care centers. They want consistent business policies on maternity leaves, revision of divorce and alimony laws and equal pay for equal talent.

THE DISCRIMINATION against women in the professions of science, engineering and medicine is profligate. This at a time when the national resource in scientific brains is in short supply. The Women's Lib leaders feel an oppressive, punitive, selfish unfairness when they look at these facts:

Out of a total membership of 870, only eight women are in the National Academy of Sciences.

The National Register of Scientific and Technical Personnel is 91 per cent male and the National Academy of Sciences is 99 per cent male.

The average pay for all Ph.D. chemists in 1968 was $15,600. For women Ph.D. chemists it was $11,500.

The disparity in pay adverse to women in the Federal Civil Service is 6 per cent. In private nonprofit organizations, like the large foundations, it is 47 per cent.

NO WONDER the National Organization for Women is marching the streets to proclaim that "NOW" is the time to bring women into full participation in the mainstream of American society."

The more radical New Left groups in the liberation movement reject what they consider patchwork reforms. They want a "total restructuring of society" though they do little to define what they mean. They say they want, as a beginning, a fundamental assault on marriage and the family. They contend it is "motherhood which keeps women downtrodden and guarantees their oppression."

Even here, events are coming to the aid of the liberation movement. The population-pollution crisis is forcing a look at woman's role as bearer of children. Dr. Lee A. dubridge, until recently the President's science adviser, is urging that the U.S. population growth rate be reduced to zero — equal number of births and deaths.

"Unless women have . . . significant alernatives to motherhood as their chief adult occupation," says Wilma Scott Heide of the Pennsylvania Human Rights Commission, "they will continue to want and to produce too many children instead of producing ideas, art, literature, leadership, inventions and healthier social relationships."

Right on, Women's Lib!

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Few Tears Shed Over Loss Of Governor's 'Tax Reform'

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The defeat of Gov. Ronald Reagan's billion-dollar tax shift program brought no surprise, despite the one-vote margin which caused it to go down the drain for 1970 at least — and probably for the next four years, as it now seems to be beyond the realm of possibility that Democratic candidate Jss Unruh nose out Reagan in November.

Nor does it seem to be a possibility that the makeup of the senate will shift sufficiently to give the Reagan forces the extra vote needed to turn the tables next year. If anything, the Democrats stand to gain rather than lose ground this year, as well as in 1972.

This means a probability that in the next couple of years the state could have imposed upon it a tax reform compromise which would be worse than the Republican version turned down this year, for the simple reason it would be an out and out tax increase.

The bugaboo of a tax increase next year grows more compelling as inflation continues.

ALTHOUGH REAGAN has attempted for four years to cut down expenditures of the state, he has met with no success, as each of his budgets has been larger than the preceding one. True, Reagan's activities undoubtedly have kept costs and expenditures from rising as much as they might under unbridled spending, but the overall costs continue to increase.

But getting back to the tax reform problem and its defeat, there were not many tears shed over its demise.

The vast majority of the people would have suffered a tax increase had it passed, for the simple reason the shift from property taxes to income and sales taxes eventually would have been eaten up by property tax increases, despite curbs proposed in the law. Consequently, the property taxpayer would have been no better off in the long run than he is at present.

This was proved two years ago when an abortive sample of tax reform was voted, and the relief that was supposed to have been forthcoming was more than eaten up by local government tax increases.

THIS WAS WHY no one got really excited about the so-called tax reform program sponsored by the Reagan administration. Once burned, the public is bound to look with a certain amount of skepticism at new gimmicks which can do nothing except increase taxes.

If the governor and the legislature really wanted to reduce taxes or at least hold the line against annual increases, they would engage in cooperative program to skim the cream off government and reduce services to needed capacities.

Until such time as this occurs, if it ever does, there is no hope that the taxpayer can look forward to anything except more of the same confiscatory taxes.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A resort owner took advantage of a sudden thunderstorm to confide in a vacationist, waiting to go out on the lake and do a little fishing, "I don't know what to make of my wife these days," he confessed. "Since her 70th birthday, it seems to take her forever to lift our rowboats over her head and carry them down to the lake!"

John Gould warns folks who imagine they can change the mind of a citizen of the New England states. He cites one town meeting where the school superintendent wanted some change or other and pointed out that eight neighboring communities had already made the change. An irate back-bencher hollered, "Whadda we care what they do some place else?" His logic was so appealing that the proposal was snowed under, 53 to 8!

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Role Of Military Reserves Scrutinized By Senator

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Unannounced and without fanfare, a Senate appropriations subcommittee has been conducting an exhaustive study of the nation's military reserve forces and their inactive role in the Vietnam war.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., is spearheading the inquiry. In the frequent absence, due to illness, of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Ellender has been acting as chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee which is considering the Pentagon budget.

Because much of its testimony includes classified data, the subcommittee conducts all its hearings behind closed doors. We are reliably advised, however, that Ellender has bluntly questioned the utility of National Guard and reserve forces, which have made little contribution to the fighting in Vietnam.

CENTRAL TO the senator's complaints, according to our information, is the cost of maintaining the various military reserve forces. From data supplied by the Pentagon, Ellender is said to have determined that the reserves are costing the taxpayers about $2.5 billion each year.

Costs are not the only target for Ellender's complaints.

In the first place, Pentagon statistics show that the Vietnam build-up here in the United States and in Southeast Asia has amounted to about 900,000 men.

At the same time, according to the data supplied to the subcommittee, the military reserve forces had the same number of men—about 900,000 — on a paid drill status. Ellender, therefore, asks why only 37,000 of those paid guardsmen and reservists were ordered to duty in Vietnam. Why was the draft used instead?

DATA SUPPLIED to the subcommittee, according to our information, also indicates that more than two out of three of the paid reservists are what the Pentagon calls "nonprior service personnel." That is, they are participants in programs which offer an alternative to regular active duty service and not a follow-up to it.

Ellender is said to have made the point that those reserve programs have been a popular choice for young men facing regular service during the Vietnam war.

Ellender is not the only person to question the role of the reserves in the Vietnam build-up, but it is highly doubtful that his complaints and his proposed cost-cutting will attract wide congressional support.

President Nixon's plan for an all-volunteer armed force of decreasing size after Vietnam depends, in part, on maintaining reserve forces for a mobilization base when needed. Indications are that it will costs more money — not less — to recruit and maintain such a force.

Seeger Gives Board The Word: MMWD Will Save Environment

Sometimes, hard as you try, you just can't win. The Marin Municipal Water District learned this recently in regard to its efforts at preserving the environment.

At a meeting of the district's board, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger explained to directors a new district policy requiring studies of the impact of new projects on the environment before projects are given final approval.

Seeger then had J. Dietrich Stroeh, the district's senior engineer, explain to the board some of the efforts the district had already made for environmental preservation.

AMONG OTHER things, Stroeh said, the site of a one-million gallon water tank being constructed on a hill above Larskpur was shifted to preserve six large oak trees which would have been destroyed under the original site plan.

Stroeh was doing fine until he told the directors that scotch broom was being planted to hold, as well as beautify, the excavation of a fire road on the east face of Mount Tamalpais.

With that, Dr. L. Martin Griffin Jr. of Kentfield, sitting in the audience, scolded the district for its choice of plants.

"Planting of scotch broom in Marin is an ecological disaster," he told the directors, urging thm to plant shrubs native to Marin County, such as coyote brush.

Resignedly saying, "That shoots that one before we even started," Stroeh ended his discussion of the district's environmental efforts.

IN REGARD to the environmental impact studies, Seeger told the board that a position of environmental inspector will be established.

The inspector, Seeger said, will make field investigations and inspections and pass judgment on any project where the district, whether using its own crews or by contract, will be cutting brush, trees or shrubs.

"It is my primary intention" he said, "that before anything in the environment is disturbed, there is assurance consideration has been given to the effect of the proposed project in the environment and that due and careful consideration has been given to its protection."

The environmental impact reports will insure that district projects are designed and located, Seeger said, "so as to produce the minimum detrimental effect to the environment."

"In such cases where it does become impossible to completely protect the environment, " he said, the reports will insure that remedial measures are taken to keep damage to the minimum.

Personalized Plates Attract Few

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The new law permitting car owners to buy personalized license plates has attracted only a smattering of requests, state Motor Vehicles Department Registrar John L. McLaughlin reported today.

McLaughlin said his office has received only about 200 requests since Gov. Ronald Reagan signed the license bill last week.

But, the DMV official predicted, the number should swell to 200,000 once the idea catches on.

The statute, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, says that for an extra $25 a car owner can get a license plate with almost any combination of letters or numerals on it. The revenue will be used for smog control and other programs to protect the environment.

McLaughlin said motorists in Massachusetts and New York have similar opportunities and his investigations of those states showed that three per cent availed themselves of the option.

His figure of 200,000, he said, was based on a two per cent turnout in California.

Out of California's $25 fee, he said, $20 will go for antipollution while the remaining $5 will be used to make and send out the plates.

"One thing, I'll have to be a one-man censor," he said. "I'll have to weed out the offensive words."

The DMV registrar said, however, he has obtained lists from other states giving offensive words and he will use them in making his decisions.

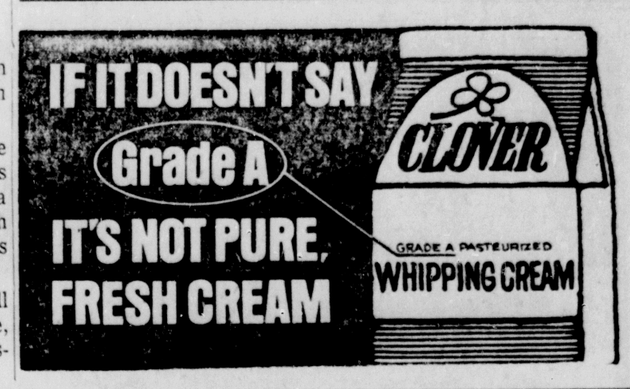
Gobbledygook is out, he said. "This would make it hard for police who are chasing a suspect to get his number," McLaughlin said.

By gobbledygook, he meant combinations like "X10T3Z."

McLaughlin said that from now until Sept. 22 was an open filing period for the plates.

If requests for duplicate plates are submitted during this time, he said, there will be a drawing to determine which owner gets the plate of his choice.

After Sept. 22 the plates will be handed out on a "first come, first served" basis, the registrar said.



THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Doctor Time Here Again As Schools Get Ready

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

(This "People's Schools" column first appeared in September, 1966. We are repeating it to give the writer a bit of vacation.)

"Doctor time" is here again.

The school board may have met infrequently during the summer, and few of its professional staff may have been on hand. But they are all back now that school is about to resume and the board meeting goes something like this:

Dr. Reed, the superintendent, introduces Dr. White, the new assistant superintendent, and Dr. Blue, the new curriculum consultant.

Dr. Brown, the high school principal, describes the seminar he attended during the summer. Dr. Black, who heads the high school social studies department, gives a glowing report on his sabbatical year.

Present also, and undoubtedly to be heard from at future meetings, are Dr. Pink, the head guidance counselor; Dr.Green, the director of pupil personnel, and the rather superannuated Dr. Speckles, who heads the continuation (drop-out) school — a job for which he didn't ask.

It is all very impressive. You are likely to go away quite awed at the tremendous amount of learning represented by such a congregation of doctors (and at such low prices, too).

Do not be over-awed.

THERE ARE DOCTORS and doctors. Those who so carefully address each other as "doctor" at the school board meeting in all likelihod hold either the Ed. D. or the Ph. D. in eduction at least four of every five hold the Ed. D.

This doctorate is awarded on completion of a specified number of graduate units in education courses, with a doctoral dissertation sometimes also required. All of these courses are what, in some other field, might be referred to as trade courses.

James D. Koerner, in his book, "The Misdeducation of American Teachers," charged: "Most of the programs for both the Ed. D. and the Ph. D. in education represent a kind of nadir of utilitarianism and trivality."

KOERNER BASED this brutal charge on a two-year study furing which he visited more than 100 campuses and pored through hundreds of transcripts of credits. He bolstered it with statistics, case studies, and some of the transcripts.

He presented the graduate transcripts of four Ed. D. holders. Two had taken nothing but education courses at the graduate level; the third's only liberal arts class in graduate school was "Survey of Clinical Psychology"; the fourth had 13 units of graduate work in liberal arts and 86 hours in education "trade" courses.

It would appear from these that if the educator is to receive a broad education in the sciences and humanties, he must get it on the way to his bachelor's degree.

CALIFORNIA LAW now requires a major in some jubject other than education to qualify for a teaching certificate. But this was not true when most of our present Ed. D.'s were undergraduates. Most of them majored in education. So they may well have taken undergraduate programs like the 25 education majors whose transcripts Koerner reproduced in his book.

Seventeen of these 25 had taken no foreign language in college, 13 had taken no mathematics, 13 had taken no physics or chemistry. Nine had taken no course in government or political science.

All were eligible to go on to the d. D. without taking any of these subjects.

DR. REDD, Dr. White, Dr. Blue and the rest of them may very well be true scholars, both highly and broadly educated. But they didn't need to be to get those Ed. D. degrees.

So don't be over-awed. One of them may even be the Ed. D. mentioned by Koerner who wrote his dissertation on "A Performance Analysis of the Propulsive Force of the Flutter Kick.'

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Early Detection Aids Outlook For Obstructive Emphysema

Obstructive emphysema is suspected in people over 40 who cough, wheeze, and suffer from shortness of breath. The earlier the condition is detected, the better the outlook. The first step is to eradicate the causative factors — tobacco smoke and air pollution.

The next step is to keep the lungs free of infection. Victims of emphysema have narrowed bronchi due to swelling of the inner lining. The excess mucus in which bacteria thrive is difficult to bring up because coughing is less efficient than usual. This is why these individuals must avoid people with respiratory infections and take antibiotics, such as ampicillin or tetracycline intermittently.

SHORTNESS OF breath occurs because the bronchi tend to collapse during expiration. By pursing the lips when exhaling, the pressure increases within the bronchial tubes and they are less likely to collapse. Breathing exercises also help. The sufferer should learn to use the abdominal muscles to squeeze out trapped air during expiration. He also should pull in the abdomen when exhaling to raise the diaphragm.

Bronchodilators including nebulizers relax the narrowed bronchi and are used at the first sign of tightness, such as occurs in the morning. Those containing isoproterenol or epinephrine should not be used more often than every two or three hours. Drugs that liquefy the sputum are of value when trying to clear the lungs of mucus. Water, one of the best remedies, can be taken by mouth or inhaled as steam or mist from a humidifier.

INTERMITTENT positive pressure breathing (IPPB) provides air or oxygen during inhalation and pressure when exhaling. Thus, at the end of a breath, additional air is forced in allowing the person to breathe more deeply. An attachment for aerosolized medication also is available. The device is most helpful when carbon dioxide accumulates in the lungs and blood leading to narcosis.

DIGITALIS DOSAGE

D.D. writes: When a person takes digitalis twice a day, is this a sign of a very bad heart?

REPLY

The dosage of digitalis is not an indication of the severity of the heart disorder. Furthermore, this drug is not given in all types of heart disease. It seldom is used, for example, in treating the ordinary heart attack (coronary thrombosis) which is our No. 1 killer.

CATARACT AT 20

R.B writes: A 20-year-old woman has 20/20 vision in one eye but a congenital cataract in her other eye. Should the cataract be removed?

REPLY

Removal is not advisable especially if the cataract is stationary because the chance of improving vision in the eye is not good.

HERNIA AFTER SURGERY

H.S. writes: Why do some people develop a hernia after abdominal surgery?

REPLY

This occurs when the wound fails to heal completely. In some instances, one or more stitches pull out when the individual strains or coughs within 24 hours of the operation.

AGE AND CHILDHOOD DISEASES

T.B. writes: Is there any age limit on childhood diseases?

REPLY

No, but most of us develop these communicable diseases in childhood unless we are protected against them.

Sentenced For Reckless Driving

Reginald Bruce Johnson, 21, of Novato, driver in a Bel Marin Keys Boulevard accident which killed a Novato girl on Feb. 25, 1969, yesterday was sentenced in municipal court on charges of reckless driving and possession of a concealed weapon in the case.

The driver was placed on a year's supervised probation and two years' summary probation on the driving charge, and fined $50 for having a pistol in his car.

At the time of the fatal accident, police said Johnson was traveling more than 70 miles per hour on the residential road, when his car went out of control. Candace Louise Wright, 19, was fatally injured.

Burglary Suspect To Juvenile Court

A 19-year-old Forest Knolls youth trapped inside a San Anselmo home Friday after a silent burglar alarm went off, yesterday was certified to juvenile court on a burglary charge.

Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth refused to release Michael Earl Frank on his own recognizance, but requested that juvenile probation officers arrange a hearing as soon as possible to get the youth out of county jail.

Preliminary Set On Weed Charges

Preliminary hearing for a young San Anselmo couple arrested in May on marijuana charges has been continued to Monday, for Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth's ruling on whether arresting drug agents properly gained consent for search of the couple's house at 13 Scenic Drive.

Ernest Lewin, 23, and his wife Kathleen Marie, 22, are charged with possessing, cultivating and being under the influence of marijuana.

Will your store miss the big chance?

Make the last half the better half of 1970

The economy is turning. This is the time to turn it and turn customers your way through consistent and effective advertising. This is the time.

The I-J gives you market command and some surprising advantages you should know about

The green light is now showing for the economy. But don't kid yourself that you can sit and wait for the customers. Only when you consistently tell them about your merchandise, your values, your quality and prices, can you count on their patronage.

THE LAST HALF — THE BETTER HALF!

But only YOU can make it better. Only by connecting your store, through advertising to the consumer, can you really be in the marketplace. Not with one ad or two but with a consistent campaign that sells all facets of your business. This is investment in sales, in traffic, in profitability the most dynamic dollar you can spend.

Why The I-J Moves People, Moves Merchandise

- Delivers a whopping 68.2% coverage of all homes in Marin - paid circulation. No other medium can approach this kind of concentration.

- But the big key is readership. The I-J is "built" to be read . . . designed to interest Marin County families. The page traffic averages 82% of all readers . . . which gives your ad center-stage for attention. Compare your own reactions to reading direct mail, for instance, with reading the I-J. Who has the news - and the eyes?

FACILITIES FOR ADVERTISERS ARE AMONG THE MOST ADVANCED IN THE U.S. NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY

Many retailers are unaware of the I-J's exceptional production facilities and advertising services. These save you money, help provide you better advertising.

- Type set electronically, turned photographically into sharp, clear proofs. This is pasted into position. Type can be blown up, reduced, double-printed. Means better selection, clearer, cleaner reproduction . . . fresh new type, every letter, every time.
- Simple screen effects . . . at no extra charge.
- No engravings needed. Just supply the actual size illustrations which can be pasted in ad. Saves cost of engravings to supply us with original art.
- You can clip and supply us with black & white illustrations from an order book, manufacturer's or supplier's literature. You can provide photos (clear prints with plenty of contrast) and we can reproduce them - a further savings.
- No mats needed when reproducing direct from your clips or illustrations.
- Free I-J Art Library for all types of high-quality illustrations. No charge. Plus art dept. for special layouts, drawings, maps, etc. Nominal fee on this charged on time basis.

Keep up with the Best-seller

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KPIX (5), 8 p.m. —"San Francisco Pageant" presents "Disaster at Dawn," the first half of a two-part documentary recalling the catastrophic earthquake and fire of 1906 that leveled San Francisco. Highlights of the program are interviews of survivors and a film shot as early as 1903.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — The sound of the future mixes with the sound of the Boston Pops in the world premiere concert of Gershon Kingsley's "Concerto Moogo" on the "Evening at Pops" series.

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — "Women's Rally at Union Square" is a special coverage of a women's rights rally held earlier at Union Square. The rally commemorates the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage in the U.S. Equal pay for equal work, legal voluntary abortion and free 24-hour parent-controlled child care centers are discussed.

KRON (4), 10 p.m. — Gary Clarke stars in "The Forest Primeval," an episode in the "Then Came Bronson" series, with regular Michael Parks. It is the story of a motorcycle trip through the mountains of Big Sur and a fight for survival against time and elements.

KQED (9), 10.45 p.m. — "The Toy That Grew Up" offers "The Films of Ben Turpin," three films by the early slapstick comic — "Idle Eyes," "A Small Town Idle" and "The Eyes Have It."

Lagunitas Trustees Study Rental Hikes

The Lagunitas School District board has instructed Supt. Joseph Amato to revise upward his tentative schedule of rental fees for facilities and equipment.

According to board president Gary Giacomini, the board considered the tentative fees insufficient to cover the actual cost of using the facilities. Particularly thought to be inadequate was the $5 fee for the use of the multipurpose room at San Geronimo Valley School. This amount would not pay the salary of a janitor employed to clean the room after use, he said.

Monday night, Amato also presented to the board a draft of an application form to be used for persons and groups seeking the use of facilities and equipment.

Also discussed was a program for encouragement of public participation on committees. Persons wanting to be considered for membership on a committee were urged to submit a request to the district superintendent or board president, Giacomini reported.

Two More Vehicles Are Targets Of Rock Vandals

Two more vehicles have been added to the list of those damaged by thrown rocks near the Highway 101 underpass connecting Marin City and Sausalito.

The California Highway Patrol reported yesterday that a Greyhound bus and an auto received broken windows there between 9:30 and 10 p.m. Monday.

Rock hurlers had used the site for rock throwing so frequently in past years that the state Division of Highways erected a 15-foot high fence along the pedestrian walk to thwart them.

However, protests from some Marin City residents and Sausalito School District pupils that the fence was a symbol of racial repression caused its replacement by a more aesthetic eight-foot high fence last year and the rock throwing has resumed, according to the highway patrol.

Hit first yesterday was a car driven by Herbert Norris of 53 Glen Drive, Sausalito. He told the highway patrol a rock lodged in his windshield at 9:40 p.m. as he was driving into Sausalito.

The Greyhound bus suffered a broken window and a dent from rocks as it passed under the highway at 9:55 p.m. according to the patrol.

Dancer's Trip Appeal Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge decided Tuesday the time is not "ripe" to hear an appeal from Yvonne D'Angers, a topless dancer the government wants to deport to her native Iran.

Judge Albert C. Wollenberg said the time to appeal is when the Immigration Service starts deportation proceedngs.

"There is still a possibility (she) may obtain favorable consideration when and if the government institutes deportation proceedings," he declared.

The government says Miss D'Angers married a Howard S. Ettlinger, an American citizen, only to avoid deportation. On that ruling it revoked her permanent visa.

Bank Chief Attacks Viet War Policies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—American involvement in the Vietnam War "threw the switch" that put student activism in motion, according to the board chairman of the world's largest commercial bank.

"Students who might otherwise have been quite passive about other issues, have been inflamed over this one," Louis B. Lundborg of the Bank of America said Tuesday.

Lundborg, 64, was talking with reporters before the Rotary Club and twice criticized the Nixon administration —concerning statements on the defense of Cambodia and "the angry tone of some of our leaders on student militants."

The white-haired banker said he was "deeply disturbed" because Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told newsmen "We're going to do everything were can to help the Lon Nol government" in Cambodia.

Insteam of the promised calm words from high places, "We have been hearing too many angry words, too much name-calling that can only be inflammatory," he said. Asked if he referred to Agnew, Lundborg said, "You can draw your own conclusions."

Each passing year and "each additional entanglement" in the war have increased student bitterness, Lundborg said, adding he wanted to end the war "more than ever."

In April he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the war was distorting the economy.

A bank of America branch at Isla Vista near the University of California at Santa Barbara was razed last Feb. 28. Lundborg said that was "largely accidental—it was the only symbol of the establishment that anyone could find."

Isla Vista has inadequate housing for students and lacks a "sense of community," he declared

What students in the nation say they want "doesn't sound so different from what our founding fathers said they wanted," he said, asserting those men "wanted freedom to be their own man, the freedoms of self realization."

What did the bank learn when its branch was burned? "We have to cool it — and that won't be easy," he said.

Fingerprint Is Not Defendant's

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A police crime lab expert admitted Tuesday a fingerprint found close to the scene of the slaying of patrolman Joseph Brodnik had for 10 months mistakenly been labeled as belonging to one of six defendants accused of shooting the officer to death.

Inspector James Tedesco testified that the print, found on a car window a few feet away from the spot where Brodnik was slain May 1, 1969, had been attributed to defendant Nelson Rodriguez before it was correctly identified last March.

Tedesco said upon reviewng his files, he learned of his error and found the print actually belonged to one Dennis Calderon, who has absolutely no connection with the incident.

Former 49er, Marin Made For Each Other

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Marin Catholic High School and Bruno Banducci were probably made for each other. Here is a school that for years has produced mediocre football teams characterized by their weak lines. And here is a man, one of the great linemen in the history of pro football, who although he followed his playing days as a successful car salesman, has always wanted to coach at the high school level.

The arrival of Banducci, a member of the all time San Francisco 49er team, as an assistant varsity coach at Marin Catholic surely signals the upturn of football fortunes for the Kentfield school. He and new head coach Rev. John Heaney are determined to upgrade the Wildcats' quality in the next couple of years to the point that they will be able to rejoin the Marin County Athletic League, from which they departed ignominiously three years ago after being perennial league doormats.

Heaney, who last year led the Marin Catholic J.V.s to an eight win, one loss record, is the school's dean of boys, and views himself as an interim coach. Eventually he plans to yield the top coaching job to Banducci.

Every school needs a coach, like Redwood's Bob Troppman, who year after year provides the inspiration that results in a quality, stable football program. In that respect, Marin Catholic could have made no better choice than Banducci. He got his education in inspiration from the legendary Buck Shaw, the 49ers first coach.

Banducci was one of the original 49ers. After playing for Philadelphia of the National Football League in 1944 and '45, he jumped his contract to play with the San Francisco franchise of the newly established All American Conference. His career as the 49ers offensive right guard spanned eight years, and he coached briefly in 1958 with Shaw back in Philly.

He was something of an anomaly as a football player because he had graduated from Stanford in 1943 with a degree in engineering. "People thought I was crazy to be out there with an engineering degree," he says.

Upon his retirement from football, too old to start out as a junior engineer, Banducci began what has become a quietly successful career selling Cadillacs, and in the last few years he has worked in the real estate business as well. Prior to coming to Marin Catholic, he was assistant general manager at Kohlenberg Cadillac in San Francisco.

The desire to coach, which he says he has always had, prompted Banducci to go back to school at the age of 47 to study for a teaching credential. In 1968 he began to take night classes at College of Notre Dame in Belmont. At Marin Catholic he will teach algebra and physical science in addition to his coaching.

Although his playing career was in what could be termed, "the good old days," Banducci adheres to strictly modern football theories. He prefers passing to running, and likes the idea of employing Kansas City — type shifts, both on offense and defense.

The Wildcats will probably be a running team this year, and therefore will go from a power I formation. Banducci would like to use a pro system, but, in the manner of Cincinnati's Paul Brown, would limit the number of plays used to 10 or 15 and develop them to perfection.

Marin Catholic has never had large turnouts for football, but under Banducci that may change. He judges players by their desire first and foremost, and then by their size and speed. That and his approach to the game, which is to "employ a little bit of pleasure and still get the job done," should attract players by the busload.

"If you love the job you're going to be better at it," he says. It's a good bet that the Marin Catholic Wildcats, with Bruno Banducci on the sidelines, are going to get better at it.

Lanier Saves Day With Double Play

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Take a heads-up play by an alert shortstop, clutch pitching by a 40-year-old reliever and a daring run by a 39-year old outfielder and they all add up to a victory for the San Francisco Giants.

Hal Lanier, Don McMahon and Willie Mays were the heroes of last night's 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals as the Giants raced off with their eighth victory in the last 10 games.

Lanier ended the game on a dramatic note as he made an unusual doubleplay all by himself. With runners on first and second and one out, Lanier let a soft hit by pinchhitter Vic Davalillo fall at his feet to start the play.

Quickly he tagged Jose Cardenal, who was standing at second, and stepped on second to force pinch runner Milt Ramirez.

As Lanier raced off the field and toward the dugout some of his teammates lingered on the field, as did three of the four umpires, as if they didn't know what had happened. It took a second or two and then everyone walked off.

McMahon, well rested of late because San Francisco starters have been doing their job, had a lot of stuff although he walked one batter and gave up a hit in his two innings.

"My fast ball is my best pitch," said McMahon, "and it seemed to be running on me. That comes when I have a lot of rest."

McMahon got the big out of the ninth just before Lanier's play when he struckout Joe Hague, who earlier had hit his 11th homer off Skiv Pitlock, the Giants starter.

Pitlock went seven full innings and gave up only four hits as he gained his fourth big league victory compared to the same number of losses.

When Richie Allen and Lou Brock reached Pitlock for back-to-back doubles leading off the eighth, manager Charlie Fox came to get him.

"The kid pitched real good," said Fox. "In that spot I just wanted a more experienced pitcher and McMahon was well rested."

Mays walked four times and scored the 1,899th run of his career on a daring play in the eighth for an insurance run.

Wvtba McCovey up, Mays took off on a 2-1 count and McCovey backed him up by tapping the ball to third. Joe Torre threw McCovey out at first but Mays never stopped running and by the time first baseman Hague realized what was happening it was too late to catch Willie at third.

One out and an intentional walk later Mays scored on a sacrifice fly by Dick Dietz. When Mays scores his next run he becomes only the fourth player in the history to have scored 1,900 runs in a career. C'osest to him is Stan Musial with 1,949.

Cardinal pitchers, starting with Steve Carlton, issued 10 walks in all, seven by Carlton, who suffered his 18th loss. He has won only six.

Walks to Ken Henderson and Dietz, a single by Jim Hart and a doubleplay grounder by Lanier produced two San Francisco runs in the second and a walk to Bobby Bonds, a two-base throwing error by Carlton on a pickoff attempt and Tito Fuentes' sacrifice fly accounted for the other run in the fifth.

Frank Reberger (5-5) pitches today's game against Nelson Briles (5-4).

McNally Latest Obstacle For A's

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Oakland A's are doing exactly what a pennant contender is not supposed to do.

The White Shoes were beaten 5-1 last night by Baltimore to remain 6 1-2 games from the top of the American League West. Oakland has made no move on first place Minnesota, which also has been losing habitually of late.

Dave McNally mystified the dormant Oakland batting order to become baseball's first 20-game winner of 1970.

Campy Campaneris, Tommy Davis and Gene Tenace continued their hot hitting while the remainder of the A's were tamed by McNally. Of the 10 hits allowed by the lefthander, four were lashed by Campaneris and two each were zinged by Davis and Tenace.

Campaneris singled, stole second and scored on Felipe Alou's single to give Oakland a 1-0 lead in the third inning. The Orioles put the game away in the bottom half of the frame with four runs off starter Diego with four runs off starter Diego Segui and reliever Rollie Fingers.

The loss was the eighth in Oakland's last 10 games. A pennant contender must make the most of each opportunity, and the A's have done just the opposite.

If the A's are to snap their four-game losing string, they'll have to do it against the remainder of Baltimore's Tremendous Trio. Jim Palmer tries for his 18th victory tonight and Mike Cuellar tries to join McNally Thursday night in the 20-game circle.

Catfish Hunter, making his sixth bid for victory No. 16, faces Palmer tonight. Hunter went seven innings in his last outing against Cleveland, a losing effort. No Oakland pitcher has survived that far in the three succeeding contests.

49ers Fail In Bid For Washington

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners have failed in their effort to import wide receiver Vic Washington from the Canadian Football League.

General manager Jack White said yesterday that all CFL clubs passed waivers on Washington except the British Columbia Lions, who claimed the speedy University of Wyoming graduate from Ottawa.

Washington was drafted on the fourth round this season by San Francisco. He has played the last two seasons for Ottawa after dropping out of college after two years. The flashy, 5-11 pass catcher also is a dangerous kick returner.

If Washingttn still is with the B.C. Lions as the CFL season opens Sept. 18, there would be no way for him to play in the National Football League in 1970.

Niner coach Dick Nolan pondered his squad's injury situation Tuesday. Cornerback Bruce Taylor, defensive lineman Earl Edwards, running back John Isenbarger, guard Kevin Hardy and linebacker Dave Wilcox all may miss Saturday night's preseason game in Eugene, Ore., against the Denver Broncos.

All-league cornerback Jimmy Johnson left camp to go to Sacramento, Calif., where his father was injured in an automobile accident. It was not known if Johnson would return in time for the Bronco game.

Four players, however, could be off the injury list by Saturday night. They are running back Doug Cunningham, guard Elmer Collett, safety Rosey Taylor and defensive end Stan Hindman.

ANNUAL RACE

Record Field Will Run Dipsea

The 60th annual running of Marin County's historic Dipsea Race over the foothills of Mount Tamalpais will take place this Sunday. More than 800 participants from all over the country are expected to be at Lytton Square in Mill Valley at 10 o'clock that morning for the start of Marin's most famous sporting event.

Although the course to Stinson Beach measures only 6.8 miles, it is considered to be a most difficult test of endurance and has been compared to the 26-mile Boston Marathon. The first part of the race features a climb of 671 steps from Mill Valley's Old Mill Creek area to Sequoia Road on the way to the beach.

Much of the race is accomplished on picturesque trails, weaving in and out of the highways, including a stretch through Muir Woods and by Lone Pine Spring.

The history of the Dipsea Race dates to the early 20th century, before the town of Stinson Beach was founded, when a band of hikers from San Francisco's Olympic Club discovered a small structure labeled "Dipsea Inn" on the Stinson shore. Apparently named by someone from Great Britain with a recollection of his native land, where the ocean is free and the baths cost money, the inn was uninhabited and dreary.

Originally it had been a promoter's dream to establish a world famous maritime resort in anticipation of its selection as the terminus of the Mount Tamalpais Railroad. But the inn, changed in name later to the Dipsea Lodge, was tied up in tideland litigation, and the dream was forgotten.

The hikers who found the inn, according to the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce history of the race, named themselves the "Dipsea Indians," in reference to a similar activity by the Huckleberry Indians of the New York Athletic Club.

The first official race was held in 1905, a year after two of the club's members, Charlie Boas and Al Coney, established a precedent with a race from the Mill Valley Steppes to the inn.

One hundred-ten entries faced the starter in the first race, including runners from the Olympic Club, Lowell, Lick, Polytechnic and the Young Men's Hebrew Association, all San Francisco clubs. Participants that year came from as far away as Hawaii.

For its first 20 years the race was handled by the Dipsea Indians, who turned it over to the Olympic Club in 1925. From 1934 to 1938 the Sunrise Breakfast Club ran things, and in 1939 the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce took over. The race has been handled since 1963 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Last year mosre than 775 runners took part in the race. Open to all amateur runners registered with the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletics Union, it is a handicap event for which trophies are awarded in 10 categories.

A 10-year-old boy, Vance Eberly of San Jose, won last year with a time of 57 minutes, 59 seconds. He had a full, 16 minute handicap. Byron Lowry of San Jose State had the best scratch time, 47 minutes, 39 seconds, only 17 seconds off the best time ever, set in 1937 by Norman Bright of the Olympic Club.

Packers Have Style Again Says Madden

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) —Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders says the Green Bay Packers are on the verge of returning to their status as one of pro football's top teams.

"I was surprised how much they resemble the Packers we played in the Super Bowl in 1967," Madden said Tuesday. "They've gotten back to the basics. Once again they're running extremely well and passing only when they have to."

The Packers, working out at Stanford University, will meet the Raiders Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum in the first clash between the clubs since Green Bay took a 33-14 Super Bowl victory.

Southpay quarterback Ken Stabler missed Tuesday's workout at the Raiders' training site in Santa Rosa. Stabler, who flew to his family's home in Selma, Ala., still was visiting with relatives after the death of his father.

Starting guard Jim Harvey, reserve receivers Rod Sherman and Drew Buie and rookie running back Ted Koy all prepared for Sunday's game after missing last weekend's preseason contest at Los Angeles because of injuries.

Still on the injured list are fullback Hewritt Dixon and tight end Ray Chester, both of whom are hobbled by leg miseries.

GRETEL II LEADS

French Change Crew

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Gretel II, with a 2-0 lead and no need to change anything, and France, with another change of skipper and crew, met again today in the third race of their best of seven America Cup qualifying series.

At the same time on a nearby course in Rhode Island Sound, Intrepid, which won Tuesday, met Valiant again in the U.S. final trials for the right to defend the cup.

Louis Noverraz, a 67-year-old Swiss who lost the first race to the Australian last Friday and was removed in favor of Pierre Delfour, was back at the helm for France today, but with eight of the crew which worked with Delfour in Monday's losing race. Noverraz had his own crew Friday.

In an oddity, France had an extra man for a total of 12 aboard instead of the usual 11.

"Our men are light and we can afford an extra man, which will allow our negigator time to concentrate solely on that work," explained Bruno Bich, spokesman for the French syndicate.

Gretel went with skipper Jim Hardy and the crew which had won twice.

Intrepid, under Bill Ficker of Newport Beach California, won by 3:24 Tuesday as it began a series against its sole remaining rival, skippered by Bill McCullough of Riverside, Conn. It was Intrepird's fifth victory in six races, Valiant's second loss against four wins.

Ficker won the race with a good start, driving straight ahead while Valiant, although across the line first, was sailing almost paraller to it. Intrepid led by 1:22 at the first mark and Valiant never got closer than 53 seconds.

The winds were seven knots at the start and 11 at the finish, and somewhat stronger breezes were forecast for today.

Both Gretel and France took brief workouts late Tuesday and both reported themselves satisfied. Gretel had to repair a winch spring, and said it now functions well. France adjusted sails and mast back to what they were last Friday.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Padres Pull Upset

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There's something about pennant contenders which brings out the best in the lowly San Diego Padres.

The Padres sport the worst won-lost record (49-79) in the National League and are currently 34 games out of first place in the West Division. But the Padres look like world beaters to such powers as the Cincinnati Reds, the New York Mets and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Against the Big Red Machine, pacing the West by 11 games, the Padres are 6-6 and Reds Manager Sparky Anderson recently paid the Padres the supreme compliment by saying, "I'm glad we don't have to face them in the playoff for the pennant."

The Padres also show a 6-6 record against the Mets and Tuesday night they won their fifth game in 11 meetings with Pittsburgh as they edged the East-Division leading Pirates, 4-3.

Dave Campbell, a reject from the Detroit Tigers whom the Padres acquired during the winter and who was batting a less than resounding .225 this season, led the San Diego attack by singling home two runs and belting his 10th homer. Ollie Brown accounted for the Padres' other tally with his 22nd round tripper.

Third place Chicago remained four and a half games back by losing to Los Angeles, 4-1, while in other NL action, Houston beat Montreal, 6-3, in 13 innings; Philadelphia nipped Cincinnati, 3-2, in 12 innings and San Francisco beat St. Louis 4-2.

In the American League, Boston shaded Minnesota, 1-0, California swept a doubleheader from Detroit, 6-4, in 12 innings and 10-6, New York edged Kansas City, 2-1, Chicago got by Washington, 4-3, Milwaukee downed Cleveland, 4-2, in 10 innings, and Baltimore topped Oakland, 5-1.

Atlanta, with the help of Hal King's three-run homer , had a 7-0 lead over the Mets going into the bottom of the eighth inning when New York rallied for four runs and then got two more in the ninth. Donn Clendenon's three-run homer sparked the Mets' eighth inning uprising and Clendenon then singled home two more runs in the ninth before Bob Priddy got Ken Boswell on a fly out to centerfield to end the game. Orlando Cepeda ripped his 27th homer for the Braves as Pat Jarvis gained his 15th victory.

Bill Russell slammed a two-run triple and Von Joshua singled home another run to help Los Angeles past Chicago. Joe Moeller started for the Dodgers but was spiked while covering first base in the eighth inning and had to give way to reliever Jim Brewer who preserved Moeller's sixth win.

Rookie Larry Howard singled in the go-ahead run and Doug Rader followed with a two-run single as the Astros scored three times in the 13th to beat Montreal. Joe Morgan homered for the Astros and Ron Cook, the sixth of seven Houston pitchers, got credit for the victory.

Tony Taylor's single scored pinch runner Denny Doyle with the winning run in the 12th as the Phills nipped Cincinnati Reliever Dick Selma hurled three innings of hitless ball to even his record at 6-6.

Campbell Advances

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) —Action continues today in the 24th annual Little League World Series with Highland, Ind., meeting Wiesbaden, Germany, and Wayne, N.J., taking on Valleyfield, Que., Canada.

In games Tuesday, Chinandega, Nicaragua and Campbell, Calif., gained the semifinals which will be played Thursday at James Howard Lamade Stadium.

Chinandega edged Chiayi, Taiwan, 3-2, and the Californians squeaked out a 2-1 victory over Nashville, Tenn., in the nightcap which went two innings beyond the regulation six.

Tuesdays' losers meet today in a consolation game.

Shortstop Ricky Rother singled to right in the eighth inning to give the Californians the tie-breaking run. He drove in Matt Cary who reached first on an error and went to third on a bunt single by Kelly Linnaner.

Nashville's Bob Potter led off the first inning with a single and moved to second when Dennis Otto was hit by a pitch. The runners advanced on Jerry Wheeler's single after Ron Lewis struck out and Potter scored on an infield out by Bob Paschall.

In the other half of Tuesday's doubleheader, righthander Francisco Paz pitched a two-hitter and batted in all his team's runs to pace Chinandega to its victory over the Chinese team.

Paz had to squirm out of a bases loaded situation in the sixth inning to preserve his slim lead. He got Su Fong-Yuan on a liner to first baseman Jose Martinez for the final out.

PRO FOOTBALL NOTES

'Bad Boy' Wright, Six Others Cut

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Offensive tackle Steve Wright, who spent much of last season in the New York Giants' "doghouse," was among seven players placed on waivers by the club Tuesday.

Wright, a seven-year pro who came to the Giants from Green Bay and immediately took over as a starter in 1968, was suspended last season for "conduct detrimental to the best interest of the ballclub."

Four other veterans were cut as the Giants reduced their roster to 53 players. They were quarterback Bob Davis, obtained from the Houston Oilers in the off-season, running back Pete Larson a free agent formerly with the Washington Redskins, and tight end Butch Wilson, formerly with the Baltimore Colts.

BUFFALO BILLS

Running back O.J. Simpson worked out at full speed as the Buffalo Bills continued pre-season training at Niagara University. Simpson, the 1918 Heisman Trophy winner, and wide-receiver Bubba Thornton, both injured in last Friday's pre-season clash with the Philadelphia Eagles, are expected to play against the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital Friday night.

OILERS-COWBOYS

Seven thousand tickets go on sale today for a closed circuit color telecast of Saturday's Houston Oilers-Dallas Cowboys football game in the Astrodome. Astrodome seats have been sold out for a month and only a few of the 5,000 standing room tickets remain.

CLEVELAND BROWNS

The Cleveland Browns reduced their roster to 54 players by cutting rookie cornerback Honester Davidson, linebacker Rich Stotter and offensive lineman Bob Oliver. The Browns must cut five more players by next Monday.

CINCINNATI BENGALS

Cincinnati Bengals head coach Paul Brown, dissatisfied with his team's showing in Saturday's 41-20 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals, indicated he would probably give rookie quarterback Jim Del Gaizo a shot at the signal calling chores in this Saturday night's pre-season meeting with the Browns in Cincinnati. Del Gaizo, a product of the University of Tampa (Fla.), has been the taxi squad quarterback so far. The Bengals reduced their squad to 52 players as coach Brown cut six men and placed a seventh on injured waivers.

The Chicago Bears announced that they have claimed quarterback Bill Stevens, released Monday by the Green Bay Packers, on waivers. Stevens, who played his college ball at Texas-El Paso, was a 1968 third round draft pick of the Packers.

Berkeley Coach Has The Graduation Blues

BERKELEY — Coach Ray Willsey is trying to restore a respectable punting game now that Gary Fowler, a consistent booter, has graduated from the University of California.

Place kicker Randy Wersching and junior college transfer Steve Sweeney shared punting duties Tuesday as the Bears ran through a two-a-day practice session without pads.

STANFORD

STANFORD — Defensive back Mike Ewing and guard Dan Lightfoot are nursing slight muscle pulls as Stanford University prepares for the 1970 Pacific-8 Conference football season.

John Ralston, coach of the Indians, praised the work of 6-5 defensive lineman Roger Cowan in Tuesday's practice. Cowan is a 230-pound junior college transfer.

OREGON STATE

Offensive guard Dan Zellick suffered a shoulder dislocation and will miss a week of action.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Moore, the top scorer as a sophomore in the Pac-8 last year, appeared in good shape Tuesday while catching passes from quarterbacks Tom Blanchard, Dan Fouts and Harvey Winn.

WASHINGTON STATE

PULLMAN, Wash. — Big Jim Gulledge, down to a "lean" 240 pounds, is counted on to add some depth to the defensive line of the Washington State Cougars.

Offensive line coach Jim Erkenbeck said Tuesday that Gulledge weighed in at 270 pounds when he transferred to WSU last spring.

Football And Baseball Clash Over Stadium

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BALTIMORE — A city court here has been asked to decide whether baseball fans have priority over football fans when the two sports schedules collide in late September.

The Baltimore Colts Tuesday filed suit against the Orioles and city officials over the baseball team's refusal to allow the gridders to use Memorial Stadium on the night of Sept. 28.

Just 15 hours after the rescheduled Monday night season opener between the Colts and the Kansas City Chiefs ends, the Orioles need their diamond back for a doubleheader against the Senators.

The Orioles' stadium lease stipulates that no one else should be permitted to use it within 36 hours of a scheduled baseball game.

But the colts, who rescheduled their opener after the April 1 lease agreement deadline, moved the game to Monday to accommodate national television, and an early season rainout against the Senators necessitated an evening doubleheader on the 25th for the Orioles.

Colts owner Carroll Rosenbloom, in announcing the suit on behalf of the Colts 50,000 season ticket holders, said, "Memorial Stadium belongs to the people and is to be used for their pleasure and benefit.

Named in the suit were Baltimore Baseball, Incorporated: Jerrold Whoffberger, Orioles owner; Mayor Thomas Dalesandro III and the head of the Park Board which operates the stadium.

Also Tuesday, the city's top legal officer was asked to rule on the matter.

Both teams tried to reschedule their games in nearby Washington.

But it would cost the Senators too much money to use Robert F. Kennedy stadium because their home schedule ends two days before the doubleheader.

DAVIS CUP

Too Many Stars

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ed Turville's problem of indecision grows more difficult by the day.

The U.S. Davis Cup team captain must decide by Friday which two men will play singles when American defends the international tennis trophy against West Germany this weekend.

Turville's three biggest problems—Arthur Ashe's sore foot, Cliff Richey's serve and Stan Smith's rustiness after a three-month layoff due to injury—all seemed to clear up Tuesday.

The uncomfortable growth on the foot of Ashe, who has a 22-2 record in Davis Cup competition, was responding well to medicated treatment Tourville said.

"The growth is not one half the size it was two weeks ago. It wasn't noticable today. Arthur moved very well on the court," Turville said.

"It was always thought Cliff's serve was one of the weaker parts of his game," Turville said. 'But today he served some aces and he won his serve quite handily in most of the games.

"Stan is serving 100 per cent, so it's one of those three way deals that makes it very tought to make the final decision," Turville said.

Both Smith and Richey played practice sets Tuesday with Ray Ruffels, the Australian left-hander who arrived for three days of practice with the American team fresh from a tournament triumph in Philadelphia.

According to Turville, Ruffels has the same type of game, powerful but with considerable finesse, as the German south paw ace Christian Kuhnke.

The three top German players, Kuhnke, Wilhelm Bungert and Ingo Buding, tested the cement side courts and the Harold T. Clark Stadium Tuesday and all appeared pleased with the fast cement surface.

The similar center court was to reopen for practice today after a repainting job.

"There's no question about it —this is their surface. Neither team will have any advantage," Turville said.

Bungert and Kuhnke appear certain to play both singles and doubles for the Germans. They have defeated Denmark, Egypt, Belgium, Russia and Spain en route to the challenge round.

Bungert, the only one of the two who permits interviews, said: "I much prefer a fast surface. On a slow clay court, the good players get everything back, no matter how hard you hit it."

"On a fast surface, if you hit one good serve out of three and hit some good shots, you make your game," he said.

Bungert, 31, runs a wholesale sporting goods business. Kuhnke, also 31, is completing law studies. His father is president of a merged company of major German coal mines.

U.S. And Russia Vie In World University Games

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—The opening ceremonies for the sixth World University Games, a kind of kid brother to the Olympics, do not take place until tonight. By that time, three champions will be wearing gold medals.

Competition by more than 2,500 athletes from 63 nations, including the United States and Soviet Union, begins in basketball, diving, swimming and waterpolo.

When the flags come down Sept. 6, either the United States or the Soviet Union—both have more than 200 athletes here—is expected to reign as unofficial champion.

Many countries, such as Tanzania, Kuwait and South Korea, concede they have little chance for medals in any of the nine sports on the program. They sent teams, they said, as a gesture of friendship with students around the world.

The medals go today in the 100 meters free style, 100 meters butterfly and 1,500 meters. The United States could sweep all three events.

Another U.S. victory is likely in basketball. The Americans, who along with the Russians and Yugoslavs, are favored to take the medals, meet Denmark in an elimination match.

Eligibility in the games, which officially began in Turin in 1959, is limited to university or college students—and includes persons who graduated within the last three years.

Except for last year, when Portugal changed its mind and decided not to stage the games, the event has taken place every two years since 1959.

Turin spent $2.4 million getting ready for the games, a sum some opponents said should have gone toward health and housing.

But officials dismissed reports leftists would disrupt the opening day ceremonies to protest the expenditures. Police said no extraordinary precautions—"above what we would do under the circumstances in any event"—were planned.

Lucky Break For New York Champ

Stockton lost last weekend in a bid to qualify for the $25,000 Marlboro Open Tennis championships at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club. But he got a reprieve on Monday when he was called in to replace Ilie Nastase of Romania, who withdrew from the competition.

Stockton decided he would make every attempt to take advantage of this fortunate break. The 19-year-old sophomore at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex. rushed to Roslyn (Long Isand) Racquets club local indoor courts and started to work on his game. He spent two hours boning up on a new serve. His flat serve hadn't been working so he switched to a blistering American twist.

What a difference it made. Yesterday Stockton registered the biggest victory of his career, a 5-7, 6-2, 7-5 success over Dick Crealy, Australia's No. 3 amateur.

Stockton has another tough test today. He goes against Jim Osborne of Bountiful, Utah, ranked No. 9 nationally.

Otherwise, results in the men's division went as expected.

Top-seeded Rod Laver led the field into the third round with a 6-0, 6-4 victory over Premjit Lall of India. Ken Rosewalls, seeded No. 2 ousted Pete Curtis of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-2.

Alexander Metreveli of the USSR made an impressive start after an eight-year absence from this country. The 25-year-old Russian star, who lost as a junior in the U.S. National Championships in 1962, powered past Bill Bowrey of Australia, 6-3, 7-5 and Jaime Fillol of Chile, 7-6, 6-2.

His companion, Volga Morozova, Russia's No. 1 woman, raised a bit of a stir with a 7-5, 6-2 victory over Pat Walkden of South Africa, seeded No. 7. Other seeded women to lose were Francoise Durr of France (No. 3), Virginia Wade of Great Britain (4) and Karen Krantzcke of Australia (5).

Today's feature matches have Laver facing Richard Russell of Jamaica, BWI; Rosewall against Jean-Loup Rouyer of France; Andres Gimeno of Spain against Jean-Baptiste Chanfreau of France; Cliff Drysdale of South Africa meeting Bob Carmichael of France and Metreveli taking the court against Ray Keldie of New Zealand.

MacKay Cracks Down On Temper Tantrums

SAN FRANCISCO — Director Barry MacKay of Ross has employed a special referee to stringently enforce disciplinary regulations in the Pacific Coast Open Tennis Tournament late next month.

"Tennis is an emotional game and there always have been temper displays, but they've gotten out of hand the last few years," MacKay said Tuesday.

"If a player throws his racquet or swears repeatedly, he should be thrown out of the tournament," MacKay said.

Boxing

Lunny, 19, revealed Tuesday his decision not to wait for the 1972 Olympics before shedding his amateur status.

Basketball

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco Warriors have placed veteran forward Dave Gambee on waivers.

Gambee, 33, joined the Warriors in a trade from Detroit last year for his 11th season of action in the National Basketball Association.

The 6-6 veteran averaged 7.2 points per game for San Francisco while serving as an assistant to coach Al Attles.

Tennis

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Garth O'Maley, former tennis star for the University of Arizona, has joined several other Bay Area tennis players in plans to stage exhibition matches for the benefit of dovish political candidates.

"We are concerned Americans who think it's time for a change in our Southeast Asia policy and this might be a way of doing it," O'Maley said Tuesday.

Tom Brown, Chuck Darley, Don Kierbow and a dozen other local tennis players have joined the group, calling itself "Play for Peace."

Football

HAYWARD (UPI)—Tim Tierney, coach at Homestead High School in Sunnyvale, has joined Hayward State College as an assistant to head football coach Les Davis.

Tierney, a defensive back his senior year of 1964 at San Francisco State, will be the defensive coordinator for the Pioneers.

Hayward State won the Far Western Conference title last year.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

Belgian Expert Plays A Slam Hand In Sensational Fashion

A familiar face stopped me in Stockholm a couple of months ago during the world championships. The face was topped by some unfamiliar hair, but the voice was familiar. It was Charles Monk, one of Belgium's leading experts, and he had a sensational bridge hand to talk about.

SPADE LEAD

"This is your hand, and this is the dummy," Monk announced as he scribbled two hands on my notepad. "The opening lead is the jack of spades. You win with the queen, and East plays the jack of hearts. Proceed."

I shook my head dolefully. "I must ruff four red cards in the dummy. If West gets in, he'll lead another trump. But even if I can stop West from leading a trump, I'll have to ruff with dummy's ace of spades. That will set up a trump trick for West."

Monk looked at me triumphantly, so I took another look at the hand. And then I saw the light. Try it yourself, and then try it on some of your bridge friends.

REVEALING SIGNAL

East's signal at the first trick reveals the location of the king of hearts. Therefore lead a low heart at the second trick. East wins with the king and returns a diamond. You take the ace of diamonds, cash the ace of hearts to discard dummy's remaining diamond, and cash the ace of clubs.

Ruff a heart in dummy, ruff a club in your hand, ruff a diamond in dummy, ruff another club, ruff another diamond, and ruff the fourth round of clubs. With two cards left in each hand, you are down to the king of spades and a diamond. Dummy has the ace of spades and a club. West has two trumps.

RUFF DIAMOND

You ruff a diamond with dummy's ace and ruff the last club with the king of trumps. West helplessly underruffs at both ricks.

If you worked this out, perhaps you could be a successful player in Belgium.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ - None
♥ - K J 9 6 2
♦ - Q 10 8 2
♣ - 8 7 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. You may make game if partner shows up with only the ace of hearts and the king of diamonds or some such meager strength in the red suits. There's no way to find out what partner has, but it pays to bid such hands to game even though you will occasionally go down.

Hires Teacher

The Nicasio School District Board Monday night hired Edmond Isacope, formerly a teacher at Tomales High School, to teach seventh and eighth grades for $7,700 a year, Trustee Marie S. Rogers reported yesterday.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 26, the 238th day of 1970 with 127 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1883 the volcano at Krakatao in the Netherlands East Indies began erupting. Before it subsided the next day, two-thirds of the island had been laid to waste and 36,000 persons killed.

In 1920 the 19th Amendment to the Constitution went into effect, giving women the right to vote.

In 1948 Mildred Elizabeth Gillars, known as "Axis Sally," was brought to the United States to face charges of espionage and treason for wartime radio broadcasting for Nazi Germany.

In 1964 President Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Hubert Humphrey were selected to head the Democratic ticket.

A thought for the day: Sir John Buchan said, "We can only pay our debt to the past by putting the future in debt to ourselves."

Jail Sentence For Burglary Of Store

Mark Jefferson Lee, 21, of San Rafael, who earlier had admitted burglarizing the Terra Linda variety store on July 5, has been sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on Monday also placed him on probation for two years.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Bethlehem Steel Is Wait-See Situation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased Bethlehem Steel at 42. Should I sell and take a loss or is recovery possible? — R.E.

A. The uncertainties in Bethlehem Steel's situation do not bode will for its being a prime recovery candidate. Vigorous foreign rivalry is expected to continue as both the Japanese and the Common Market steelmakers expand their capacities. There is also a question of whether the company's operating efficiency will effectively offset higher labor costs, thereby improving its competitive position. Labor problems are a possiblilty since a three-year wage contract expires in August 1971. Moreover, there is a guest deal of uncertainty concerning the impact of competitive materials on the future growth of Bethlehem and the industry in general. Company reported sharply lower results for the second quarter ended June, 1970.

Share earnings declined to 45 cents from 94 cents, while sales edged down 1 per cent to $757 million. These results primarily reflect the slowdown in automobile industry sales, the Teamsters strige and high start-up expenses. The stock's above-average yield of 8.4 per cent — while seemingly attractive — may be in jeopardy if the present earnings trend continues into the second half. Bethlehem shares may experience a slight upturn in the event of a market rebound, however, any major recovery is not expected until earnings reverse and the steel industry comes alive.

Q. Please give me the address and information on Mass. Investors Growth Fund. Do you recommend this for growth? — M.L.

A. Mass. Investors assets of $1 billion place it among the 10 largest diversified mutual funds. Fund's investment goal is long-term growth of principal and future income rather than current income return. Its past performance is better than average, especially in the most recent 5-year period.

In 1969, Mass. Investors' net asset value remained unchanged — a good performance in view of market conditions. The fund's portfolio is invested primarily in growth companies, with business machines, drugs, electronics and oils the largest industry holdings. Address is: 200 Berkeley Street, Boston, 02116.

Market Is Higher At Final Bell

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed higher Wednesday in active trading.

The list moved steadily higher most of the day, helped by further indication inflation was cooling, but late profit taking eroded much of the gains.

Shortly before the bell the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 760.75, up 1.78. The blue chip indicator had risen more than six points earlier. Of the 1,580 issues traded, 869 advanced and 467 declined.

The volume of around 15.3 million shares slipped from Tuesday's 17,520,000 shares.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 45 7-8 off 1-8; Chrysler 23 1-8 up 2; Dupont 126 3-8 off 5-8; Ford 48 3-4 up 1-8; General Electric 78 5-8 off 1-4 and IBM 263 3-4 off 1-4.

The Labor Department reported that because of a sharp drop in prices for farm products wholesale prices in August declined for the first time in two years.

"Investors have a rosier attitude," one analyst said. "They are maximizing the good news and playing down the bad."

Another analyst said the market was becoming increasingly vulnerable to broad profit taking

The National Industrial Conference Board reported that capital appropriations by manufacturers are "posed for an upturn in the third quarter" and current evidence suggests an actual increase in capital spending next year.

City Investing, Chrysler, Occidental, Denny's Restaurants, and Teledyne were active issues.

Motors were mixed. Ford reported it has settled some of its local plant disputes, adding to the general optimism that an auto strike will be averted.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Optoelectronics, Inc., Plans To Switch To Petaluma Plant

Northgate Industrial Park has been adding new tenants consistently month after month with little letdown, and it is only natural that occasionally it should lose a few.

One of these, Optoelectronics, Inc. at 4380 Redwood Highway may move out this month. This will be an expansion move to new quarters at Dynamics Court and McDowell Boulevard, Petaluma, where it will occupy a permanent plant site much larger than the present Northgate location.

Optoelectronics opened here at the Margarita Plaza over a year ago with a total staff of about six, including the working owners in the business. It now employs 22 persons, all of whom probably will remain with the company. Some of them already live in Sonoma County. The firm has been engaged in research, development and manufacture of infrared sensors and related electronic components.

ABRAMS REALTY of Corte Madera will open a northern Marin branch office at 910 Grant Avenue, Novato about Sept. 15. Future expansion plans of owner Jack Abrams include 12 new offices in the next 18 months, to be located in Marin and Sonoma Counties and in the East Bay and Sacramento.

MARIN COUNTY real estate sales took an encouraging upturn during July, reaching a total of $9,773,214 in multiple listing transactions. This was up from $7,470, 601 reported for the same month last year.

Total completed sales for July were also high — $8,471,521, compared with $6,917,845 last year. Multiple listing completed sales for the first seven months at $38.8 million are still behind the seven-month period of 1969 which totaled $43.9 million.
